Annual Pops Concert planned for Feb. 3, 4

The Cuesta College "No Deadwood Big Band Jazz" will be the guest artists at Cal Poly's 10th annual Pops Concert on Feb. 3 and 4. The first performance will be Saturday at 8 pm, and the second program will be Sunday at 3 pm.

Lovers of the Boston Pops Orchestra will find Chumash Auditorium transformed into a New England landmark (Boston's Symphony Hall). The audience will sit at decorated tables and have an opportunity to sip cider, coffee, or tea with dessert.

The Pops Concert will feature the 65-member Cal Poly Symphonic Band and duo trumpeters Irving and Sam Grossman. The concert's popular and semi-classical music will be under the baton of William Johnson, director of the university bands.

The Cuesta College ensemble will be led by Dr. Warren Balfour. It consists of some of the finest jazz musicians in the San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara County areas.

The other special guests are the Grossman brothers (identical twins). They are graduates of the University of Miami and are professional jazz and classical trumpet players in the New York City area.

The concert will also feature works by Aaron Copland, Andrew Lloyd Webber, Ian McDougall, Larry Buck, and Charles Belsterling.

Tickets are $10.50 for the public and $7.75 for students and senior citizens. They can be purchased at the UU Ticket Office, the Theatre Ticket Office, and from members of the Symphonic Band. In addition, tickets can be ordered by calling ext. 2556 or ext 2607.

The Feb. 3 and 4 performances are sponsored by the School of Liberal Arts and the Music Department.

Orchesis Dance Co. will perform Feb. 1-3

The Orchesis Dance Company will present its annual concert, "Dance 20 — A Twenty-Year Celebration," on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Feb. 1, 2, and 3, at the university.

Curtain time will be at 8 each evening in the Theatre. A special matinee performance is scheduled for 1 pm on Saturday, Feb. 3.

The Orchesis Dance Company has consists of 36 members who not only study various dance forms, techniques, and choreography, but also work for seven months on this annual concert.

The 1990 production will consist of a variety of dance ranging from jazz to ballet to modern.

For this anniversary concert, guest choreographers have been invited to create many of the dances that will be performed.

Among those whose compositions will be included are local ballet teacher Gilbert Reed; Orchesis alum Dave Carter; and James McBride, an American who has been living and working in Copenhagen for the past ten years.

Tickets are available at the UU Ticket Office, the Theatre Ticket Office, and Boo Boo Records in downtown San Luis Obispo. Prices are $7 for students and senior citizens and $9 for adults. For reservations, call the Theatre Ticket Office, ext. 1421.

The Orchesis Dance Company is sponsored by the Theatre and Dance Department, and is affiliated with the Associated Students Inc.

Trustees to consider education doctorate

The CSU board of trustees has directed the chancellor's staff to evaluate the development of an independent doctorate degree in education to be offered by the CSU.

In consultation with the Academic Senate Executive Committee, an action item will be presented at the March trustees' meeting delineating the process for the CSU to establish such a degree.

The program is being considered to meet the needs of California residents who find it difficult to pursue graduate studies at the state's doctoral-granting institutions because of distance or scheduling.

Reaccreditation team will visit Cal Poly

The visiting team for the reaccreditation of Cal Poly by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC) will be on campus Tuesday, Jan. 30, through Friday, Feb. 2. Members of the team will be available to talk to any members of the campus community from 3 to 4 pm on Thursday, Feb. 1, in Adm. 301.

CPR schedule

Cal Poly Report is published weekly during the academic year by the Public Affairs Office.

Typewritten, double-spaced copy may be submitted to Jo Ann Lloyd, editor, by 4 pm the Thursday prior to the next publication.
Queen Ida scheduled to play in Chumash

Queen Ida and the Bon Temps Zydeco Band will hold a concert in Chumash Auditorium on Friday, Jan. 26, at 8 pm.

Zydeco is rhythmic dance music rooted in Louisiana's Creole and Cajun culture. Zydeco is part string-band music and part rhythm ensemble, combining the waltzes, two-steps, and jaunty melodies of Cajun music with other styles, most notably blues, country, rock, Latin, bluegrass, calypso, and reggae.

As Queen Ida plays it, zydeco's crucial ingredient is the accordian. She says the accordian is a much maligned instrument, but it is capable of a lot of different and interesting sounds and riffs.

Tickets for the concert are $14 for the public and $12 for students and senior citizens for premium seating, and $12 and $10 for preferred seating. Reservations can be made by calling ext. 1421 between 10 am and 4 pm on weekdays.

Management program Feb. 2 at Shore Cliff

Business people from throughout the Central Coast have been invited to a day-long conference on "The New Age of Human Resource Management."

The program, sponsored by the School of Business, will be held from 9 am to 4:30 pm on Friday, Feb. 2, at the Shore Cliff Lodge in Pismo Beach.

D. Jan Duffy, professor of business law, will be one of the keynote speakers. A specialist in labor and employment matters, Duffy has practiced law in the areas of wrongful termination, equal employment opportunity, collective bargaining, arbitration, and wage and hour laws.

Other speakers will include Harry Wilson, vice president of administration in the Applied Technology Division of Litton Industries, and James Linhart, district sales manager in Southern California for Eastman Kodak.

In addition to the keynote talks, workshops will be presented. Topics will include: Innovative Benefits for the '90s; Office Politics: Managing the Workplace; Coping With Stress: Its Effect on Your Employees; How to Get the Most Out of Your Employees; Hiring the Good Ones, Firing the Bad Ones, and the Legality of it All; and Growing Pains: How to Fill Human Resource Needs in an Expanding Business.

For reservations and additional information on the program, call ext. 2983.

E.O.C. director plans talk on homeless

Biz Steinberg, executive director of the San Luis Obispo County Economic Opportunity Commission, will discuss "Stilled Voices Speak Out: The Homeless of San Luis Obispo" on Thursday, Feb. 1.

The talk, at 11 am in UU 220, is part of the 1989-90 Arts and Humanities Lecture Series.

The program series is sponsored by the School of Liberal Arts. The theme for this year's series is "Silenced Voices: From the Margins of America."

The next speaker in the Cal Poly Arts and Humanities Lecture Series will be Bernard Sanders, former socialist mayor of Burlington, Vt. He will discuss "A New National Voice: The Failure of the Democratic and Republican Parties and the Need for a New Progressive Political Party" on Thursday, Feb. 22.

Domestic violence topic of Feb. 12 talk

Lenore E. Walker, author of two studies on domestic violence, will be one of the keynote speakers at Cal Poly's 1990 Women's Week. She will speak at 10 am on Monday, Feb. 12, in UU 220. The talk is free and everyone is welcome.

In addition, she will address the concerns of community response to battered women. The noon luncheon talk will be of special interest to community workers involved in social service, law enforcement, legal services, child protection and education. The luncheon, in University Dining Room West, will cost $6.80. Reservation deadline is Jan. 30.

The discussion on battered women will continue at 2 pm in UU 220. Dr. Laura King of the Psychology and Human Development Department faculty will moderate a panel on "Battered Women: The Local Response." The participants will discuss the services available to battered women at the local level.

The 9th annual Cal Poly Women's Week will run from Feb. 9-16. This year's theme is "Building Bridges: Connecting Communities."

Luncheon Reservation

I wish to attend the Lenore Walker Luncheon on Monday, Feb. 12 at noon in University Dining Room West. My check for $6.80 is enclosed.
