$7,000 Mistake?

Editor:

We are shocked and horrified by the action taken by SAC on Sunday night. It was most disturbing to find that this incident has taken place. Without question, the motivation behind the decision to hire a new bookstore for the University of California was the desire to provide better service to students. However, the consequences of this action are not acceptable. The decision to remove the bookstore was made on the basis of an entirely new set of criteria, which fail to take into account the needs and preferences of the students. The decision was made with no regard for the impact it would have on the campus community, and it has already caused a great deal of disruption and inconvenience. It is imperative that the university ensure that the students are fully involved in the decision-making process, and that they have a say in the future direction of the campus bookstore.

Friend Of Poly To Retire
After 34 Years Of Service

BY Dunn Kimmich

When he retires, Paul Muffler, manager of Cal Poly's Muffler and Pipe Shop, will be the oldest employee of the university. He has worked there since 1931.

Muffler was born in Montana in 1921 and moved to California in 1930. He graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1941 with a degree in engineering.

After graduation, Muffler worked for five years as a civil engineer before joining the Army. During World War II, he served as an engineer in the Pacific Theater.

After the war, Muffler returned to Los Angeles and worked as an engineer on various projects, including the construction of the Los Angeles Convention Center. He eventually moved to San Luis Obispo in 1955 to work at Cal Poly.

In addition to his work at the university, Muffler has been active in the community. He is a member of the San Luis Obispo chapter of the American Legion and has served as its adjutant for many years.

Muffler and his wife, Betty, have two children and five grandchildren. They plan to continue living in San Luis Obispo after his retirement.

Peace Corps Corpsman Tells Of Ethiopian Adventure

By Dave Kosenberg

As a Peace Corps corpsman, George Couper spent two years in Ethiopia, where he worked with the government to improve its educational system.

Couper, a former history teacher at Cal Poly, said that his experience in Ethiopia was both challenging and rewarding.

"It was a great opportunity to work with a different culture and to see how different their way of life is," Couper said.

During his time in Ethiopia, Couper worked with the government to improve its educational system. He helped to develop a new curriculum for the schools and worked with teachers to improve their teaching methods.

Couper said that the most rewarding part of his work in Ethiopia was the opportunity to work with the people and to see the difference his work made.

"It was a real eye-opening experience," Couper said. "I was able to see firsthand how different their way of life is and how much they are in need of help."
