'91 Early Retirement Program announced

The Chancellor's Office has announced plans for a proposed Early Retirement Program ("Golden Handshake") for CSU state employees. The program would provide employees with an additional two years of service credit in the calculation of retirement income if retirement effective dates fall within July 2 and Sept. 30, 1991.

Before implementation, this program must be authorized by the governor and approved by the Personnel Office, PERS, and Social Security. The Chancellor's Office staff must satisfy any "meet and confer" requirements that may exist with CSU unions. Employees are being notified at this time because it is suggested by the Public Employees' Retirement System (PERS) that employees apply for retirement at least 90 days in advance.

Flyers with more detailed information on the Early Retirement Program are being distributed to all employees. In addition, three identical retirement planning sessions have been scheduled in which representatives from the Personnel Office, PERS, and Social Security will present an overview of retirement benefits. These sessions will be held in Faculty/Staff Dining Room B on Monday, April 15, from 9 to 11 am and from 3 to 5 pm; and on Tuesday, April 16, from 9 to 11 am. Reservations are not necessary.

Questions regarding this program should be addressed to Barbara Melvin or Joyce Haratani, Personnel, ext. 2236. Individuals who wish to participate in the Early Retirement Program should provide written notice of their "Intention to Participate" to Melvin prior to May 31, 1991. Forms for this purpose will be available at the above retirement planning sessions and in the Personnel Office.

Planning meetings scheduled to begin today

Faculty, staff, and students are invited to a series of meetings, this month and next, to help with the development of a planning document for the university.

Some of the suggestions to be explored include: Should Cal Poly change to a semester system? Should the university terminate all remaining two-year programs? Should the university participate in joint doctoral programs?

These and other ideas will be explored in a series of meetings in April and May. A kickoff meeting is scheduled for today (April 4) from 11 am to 1 pm in the Cal Poly Theatre.

Other meetings and topics include:

Dean of School of Business candidate

Dr. David O. Porter, dean and professor, School of Business and Public Administration, Cal State San Bernardino, will be interviewed for the position of dean of the School of Business on Monday and Tuesday, April 8-9.

All faculty members, staff and students of the School of Business are encouraged to attend an informal reception scheduled for Tuesday, April 9, from 11 am until noon in BA&E Room 114.

George W. Cockriel

George W. Cockriel, 73, police and fire chief at Cal Poly from 1957-77, died in Arroyo Grande on March 17. He is survived by his wife, three daughters, and three brothers. Contributions may be made to the Camp Natoma Building Fund, c/o Camp Fire Inc., P.O. Box 1269, Arroyo Grande, CA 93421.
Summer financial aid for students limited

The Financial Aid Office has announced that availability of Summer Quarter funding for students is severely limited and applications for need-based financial aid awards will be processed for the academic year only.

Funds available for the Summer Quarter will be limited to institutional loan monies in the form of short-term emergency loans up to $200 and a restricted number of long-term loans. There are no Pell Grant, Supplemental Education Opportunity Grant, State Educational Opportunity Grant, Cal Grant, Perkins Loan, Stafford Loan or College Work Study funds available during the summer.

The decision was necessitated by a number of factors: 1) Federal funding formulas are predicated on an enrollment period that begins in the fall. 2) There are no grant monies available to students for year-round attendance, thus, the funds from a nine-month award must be disbursed over a 12-month period. During 1990-91, students funded in this fashion have experienced budgeting difficulties due to a shortfall in grants as well as an increase in debt burden that has not proven to be in the best interest of students. 3) Campus computing considerations in the Financial Aid Management conversion as part of the SIS Plus migration over the summer months. 4) Significantly increased reporting, awarding, and disbursement requirements in all financial aid programs have severely curtailed summer aid programs nationwide as campuses prepare for probable cutbacks in financial aid programs.

Pell Grants may be reduced during 1991-92 as a result of domestic spending cutbacks mandated by the expense of the Persian Gulf War. Awards for Cal Poly students cannot be determined until the level of appropriation is established by the federal government and student fees are established by the passage of the state budget. The Pell Grant is an essential component of the student financial aid package upon which all other awards are predicated.

Preliminary financial aid awards for 1991-92 are scheduled to be released beginning late spring. Verification and certification of application data and final award determination will occur over the summer months. The office will remain open with regular hours during the Summer Quarter to serve the needs of Cal Poly students.

Bids for Engineering

East Building opened

Maino Construction Co. Inc. of San Luis Obispo was the apparent low bidder for the remodel and office addition for the Engineering East Building.

At $3.8 million, the Maino proposal was about $90,000 below the project architect’s estimated cost for the project.

Doug Gerard, executive dean for facilities administration, said the bids for remodeling the 2,750-square-foot building and construction of a two-story office addition are being analyzed.

He expects a contract to be issued soon and work to begin about May 1. Completion should take about 24 months.

Deadline reminder

Nominations for 1990-91 Outstanding Staff Employees are due April 12. Nominees must be permanent, full-time employees of the university, or regular full-time employees of the Foundation or ASI who are in at least their third year of employment at Cal Poly and who have achieved permanent or regular status by Sept. 1, 1991. Send completed nomination forms to: Nancy Raetz, Chairwoman, Outstanding Staff Employees Award Selection Committee, Business Affairs.
University Relations assignments change

Recognizing the university's need for increased funding from the private sector, the University Relations Division has reassigned administrative responsibilities effective April 1.

Sue Childers-Kraft, who has been responsible for both the Annual Giving program and University Development Services, has been assigned full-time responsibility for the Annual Giving program with the title of director of annual giving. While continuing to improve and enhance the total Annual Giving program, she will have more time available to develop the major giving societies program as well.

Larry Voss, associate vice president for university relations, has been assigned administrative responsibility for the University Development Services Department in addition to continuing his responsibilities for the Endowment Development Program.

The reassignments are expected to provide greater staff support for the major gift component of annual giving while continuing to improve the effectiveness of University Development Services.

Community service award to Morgan

Ann Morgan of the Psychology and Human Development faculty has been selected as the first recipient of the newly established Distinguished Service-Learning Award. This award, sponsored by Student Community Services, recognizes faculty for outstanding records of involving students in community service through classes, internships, and/or senior projects. The award was presented by President Baker and Student Community Services Vice President Julie Petroni at a recent reception honoring all nominees.

Morgan was cited for developing internships and placing students at a wide variety of human service sites. She was also recognized for her work in establishing the gerontology minor at Cal Poly and for serving as co-chairwoman for Hospice's "Light Up a Light" program in Cambria.

It is estimated that service related to academic programs results in a minimum of 50,000 hours of service contributed to various communities by students each year.

Luncheon reminder

Today (April 4) is the last date to purchase tickets for the annual service awards luncheon to be held Tuesday, April 9. This annual event, supported by the President’s Office, Personnel and Employee Relations, and the University Club, recognizes staff with 10, 15, 20, 25 and 30+ years of service. Below is a list of those with 30, 35 and 40 years of service.

Forty years: Grace Arvidson, President’s Office.
Thirty-five years: James Andresen, Mechanical Engineering; Robert Bostrom, Housing Office; and James Landreth, Business Affairs.
Thirty years: Wallace Glidden, Animal Sciences and Industry; Francisco Limon, Physical Education; Lorraine Ridgeway, Student Affairs; and Robert Wheeler, Animal Sciences and Industry.

Cancer screenings

Student Health Services will offer free oral cancer screenings to all faculty, staff and students. The screenings will take place on April 5, 12, 19, and 26 between 10-11 am at the Health Center. For more information contact Liz Cofer, ext. 1211.

Trustees cut budget, raise student fees

The board of trustees voted unanimously to make deep cuts in the 1991-92 CSU budget and to raise the State University Fee by 20 percent for fall 1991. Facing a shortfall of $402 million — the board had requested a $2.1 billion support budget while the governor proposed $1.65 billion — trustees reluctantly agreed to make substantial cuts that are expected to mean fewer classes available to students.

The $402 million difference between Gov. Wilson's proposal and the trustees' budget will be made up through a series of actions, some by the state, others by the board.

State actions, which totaled $257 million, included: no funding for new programs or program improvements; no salary increases for faculty or staff; no restoration of cuts made in the 1990-91 budget; the increase in the State University fee; no equipment replacement; and no inflation or price increases.

To make up for the remaining $145 million, trustees agreed to: reduce the instructional equipment budget; make 864 permanent reductions in the system's non-faculty workforce through early retirement, attrition and layoffs; reduce 420 faculty positions through early retirement incentives; defer merit salary adjustments by 11 months (This must be worked out with bargaining units); eliminate funding for 229 sabbatical leave replacements. Sabbaticals will be granted, but no replacement faculty will be hired; hold vacant 57 faculty and 16 staff positions resulting from student demand changes; hold vacant 330 faculty and 12 other positions generated by projected enrollment increases; reduce programs in systemwide provisions; use 1990-91 unexpended balances; and increase mandated savings targets (unallocated reductions) at the campuses.
Auditions scheduled for spring production

The Theatre and Dance Department will hold auditions for Moliere’s classic farce, “Tartuffe,” from 7 to 10 pm today (April 4) and Friday, April 5, in Room 212 of the Davidson Music Building.

The show is being directed by faculty member Al Schnupp, who directed the fall production of “Ionesco Tonight.” Performance dates for “Tartuffe” will be Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, May 16, 17, and 18, at 8 pm in the Theatre.

The 300-year-old comic diatribe against hypocrisy was first performed for France’s King Louis XIV at the Court of Versailles in 1664.

Director Schnupp has chosen to present the play as a traveling band of actors would have in Moliere’s lifetime.

There are parts for five women and eight men. Those wishing to audition should prepare to do cold readings from the script, copies of which are on reserve at the Kennedy Library.

For further information, call the Theatre and Dance Department, ext. 1465.

Photos by American Indian on display

“War Bonnets, Tin Lizzies, and Patent Leather Pumps: Kiowa Culture in Transition, 1925-1955: The Photographs of Horace Poolaw” is the title of an exhibit that is on view at the UU Galerie through May 3.

Linda Poolaw, the photographer’s daughter will travel from Oklahoma to deliver a guest lecture at 6 pm on Friday, April 12, in UU 220. A reception in the UU Galerie will follow her talk. She is a former vice chairman of the Delaware tribe, a playwright, and teacher.

Horace Poolaw, a Kiowa Indian, was born on the plains of Oklahoma in 1906. At 17, Poolaw served as an apprentice to a local photographer, and became, over the next five decades, one of the most prolific Native American photographers of his generation.

His lifetime coincided with profound changes in his tribe’s culture: the arrival of white settlers in large numbers to the Oklahoma Territory; the division of tribal lands into farm allotments; and the disappearance of traditional religious practices.

Poolaw, who died in 1984, documented this transition, photographing events as diverse as peyote ceremonies, family picnics, traditional games, rodeos, snake hunts, and the daily life of young and old.

The show is available for viewing during regular hours of the Galerie: Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 10 am to 5 pm; Thursdays, 10 am to 8 pm; Fridays, 10 am to 4 pm; and Saturdays and Sundays, noon to 4 pm.

The exhibit is supported in part by a grant from Cal Poly Arts. Additional assistance has come from Dr. Charles Junkerman, executive director of the Horace Poolaw Photography Exhibit at Stanford; Dr. Steven Marx of the Cal Poly English faculty, who recommended bringing the exhibit to Cal Poly; and Dr. Angela Estes of the Cal Poly English Department for her support through the Arts and Humanities Lecture Series.

Book artists to speak at Cal Poly April 6

Book artists Carolyn and James Robertson, owners of Yolla Bolly Press, will discuss the creation of their handmade limited edition books in a talk on Saturday, April 6.

The program, at 2 pm in Kennedy Library 202, is sponsored by The Library Associates.

Following the presentation, refreshments will be served in the Special Collections Department of the library, where Yolla Bolly Press works are on exhibit through the Spring Quarter.

Yolla Bolly Press is located in Covelo, Calif., on the rim of the Round Valley, ringed at the north by the Yolla Bolly Mountains.

Founded in 1974, the Yolla Bolly Press has been producing high-quality, special edition literary works using traditional letterpress techniques.

The April 6 program is one of a series of events sponsored by The Library Associates. The main purpose of the associates is to promote the growth and development of the Kennedy Library.

Later in April, local historian and Cal Poly professor emeritus Loren Nicholson will lead a one-day bus excursion following the route of the old Pacific Coast Railway in Los Olivos. Called “A Day of History in Northern Santa Barbara County,” it will be held on Saturday, April 27.

For additional information on future programs, call ext. 2305.

2. Electric Range, self-cleaning, almond/black glass, $266 + tax;
3. Dishwasher, portable (butcher block top), almond, $295 + tax; and
4. Microwave oven, touch control, clock, large capacity, brown, $183 + tax.

For more information call Ann Porter, ext. 2031.
New family play coming to Cal Poly

The Mark Taper Forum's theater for young people, the Improvisational Theatre Project, will present a new play by Peter Mattei as the final event in the Cal Poly Arts Family Arts Series for 1990-91.

Titled "Freedom Song," the story of a land without freedom, the play will be staged at 7 pm on Thursday, April 11, in the Theatre.

The Improvisational Theatre Project is a multi-ethnic program for young people. Now in its 19th season, ITP performs for audiences throughout Southern California and also offers workshops and residencies.

"Freedom Song" is a fable that centers around a family of villagers from a faraway land. One day a mysterious wanderer enters the village and warns the family that an evil dragon is approaching. He convinces them to make him ruler and soon begins to deny the villagers their self-expression and controls them through censorship.

An artist arrives and inspires the people to question the authority of the ruler, to reclaim their right to self-expression, and to banish censorship from their community.

Tickets for the "Freedom Song" presentation are $8 and $6 for adults and $6 and $4 for students and senior citizens. Reservations can be made by calling the Theatre Ticket Office, ext. 1421, between 10 am and 4 pm on weekdays.

Santee Sioux Indian will speak April 11

John Trudell, former national chairman of the American Indian Movement, will be the first speaker in the Spring Quarter Arts and Humanities Lecture Series on Thursday, April 11.

The 45-year-old Santee Sioux will discuss his poetry at 11 am in UU 220.

"Native Americans: Traditions and Culture in the Last Decade of the 20th Century" is the theme for the 1990-91 Arts and Humanities Lecture Series, which is sponsored by the School of Liberal Arts.

One of the country's most visible Native American activists, Trudell served as national chairman of the American Indian Movement from 1973 to 1979.

He has also released three albums of spoken-word poetry backed by tribal and rock music. Bob Dylan called Trudell's "AKA Graffiti Man" album the best of the year in 1985.

Trudell's activism halted abruptly in 1979. On Feb. 11, 1979, Trudell was the featured speaker at a rally in front of the FBI Building in Washington, D.C. Part of his display included the burning of an American flag. Twelve hours later, Trudell's three children, his wife, and her mother were burned to death in an arsonist's attack on his Nevada home.

Flowers to be sold

The wide range of cut flowers and potted plants that will be used in the 50th annual National Intercollegiate Flower Judging contest in Chumash Auditorium in April 5 will be sold following the close of the contest. The three-person teams judge both cut flowers and potted plants, according to Virginia Walter, a member of the Ornamental Horticulture faculty and coach of the Cal Poly team.

Purchases can be made between 4 and 5 pm that afternoon in the UU Plaza. Prices will range from a few cents to several dollars, depending on the individual plant or flower.

Auction to be April 6

An auction will be held on Saturday, April 6, to sell state and Foundation surplus equipment. Unclaimed lost and found items will also be included in the sale. The auction will be held at the State Receiving Warehouse (Bldg. 70), with viewing at 8 am. The auction will start at 10 am. Visa and MasterCard will be accepted.

Cal Poly is host of flower judging contest

Sixteen college and university flower judging teams are on campus competing in the 50th annual National Intercollegiate Flower Judging Contest through Friday, April 5.

The three-person teams judge both cut flowers and potted plants, according to Virginia Walter, a member of the Ornamental Horticulture faculty and coach of the Cal Poly team.

Teams from across the U.S. are scheduled to participate in the contest which will take place at 1:20 pm Friday in Chumash Auditorium.
Chancellor’s Bel-Air residence to be sold

State University House, the official residence of the CSU chancellor, will be sold to Los Angeles real estate investor David Maimon for $3.6 million.

Maimon submitted the highest of 18 bids for the 1.94 acre property in Bel-Air. If for some reason the sale does not go through, the next highest bidder will be offered the property.

The three-bedroom house was donated to CSU in 1972 by Mr. and Mrs. John Brown with the stipulation that it, or the proceeds from its sale, be used to purchase a chancellor’s residence.

A new house will be purchased from the proceeds, most likely in the Palos Verdes area.

Ag education faculty get project grants

Faculty of the Agricultural Education Department are involved in four projects designed to assist and improve secondary and community college vocational education programs across California, as well as in Nigeria.

Glen Casey, head of the department, said the projects complement the coursework offered to resident students and are funded by $151,854 in grants from sponsoring organizations.

Brief descriptions of the individual projects, along with the amount and source of each grant, follow:

- The California Community Colleges, $110,000 — This project will provide technical and professional training for California’s 202 full-time and 260 part-time community college agriculture and natural resources teachers.

- U. S. Agency for International Development, $12,916 — An undergraduate teacher training program is being provided for four students from Nigeria.

- California Department of Education, $21,500 — This grant provides office space and support for an agricultural education consultant.

- California Department of Education, $7,438 — Funded by this grant are pre-service and in-service training activities and conferences for teachers and others involved in high school agricultural education programs.

Ag professors get $272,400 in grants

Eleven members of the School of Agriculture faculty and staff have recently received grants totalling over $272,000 to support their applied research and program development efforts.

They are Charles Burt, Agricultural Engineering; Del Dingus, coordinator of international programs; Nana Farkye, Dairy Products Technology Center; Paul Fountain, Crop Science; and L. Joe Glass, Agricultural Engineering.

Also, Brent Hallock, Soil Science; Doug Piirto, Natural Resources Management; Thomas Ruehr, Soil Science; Kenneth Scott, Agribusiness; Mark Shelton, Crop Science; and Phillip Tong, Dairy Products Technology Center.

$40,000 grant to aid in building GrC lab

A $40,000 grant will allow the Graphic Communication Department to build a Color Proofing and Quality Control Laboratory.

The grant was provided by R. R. Donnelley & Sons of Chicago, the nation’s largest commercial printing company.

The laboratory will house the department’s Du Pont and 3M color proofing systems, additional systems anticipated once the lab is completed, and quality control instrumentation.

Housing Department programs honored

National acclaim for two Housing Department programs was bestowed by the American College Student Personnel Association Commission III Student Residence Model Programs for 1991. Coordinators of Student Development Darren Cecil and Christine Hunt and Resident Advisors Steve Wheeler, Len Sims, Mary Panetta and Kory Mingus received the award for the PCI Program: Prevention, Confrontation, and Intervention, a three-step approach to address alcohol use and abuse.

Coordinator of Student Development Christine Tinsley and Aaron Anderson and Resident Advisors Brent Arata, Jill Deems, Kory Mingus, Lawson Reinsch, and Chris Whitaker received the award for JAWS: Student Judicial Advocates Program, in conjunction with judicial awareness workshops for students.

Snuff Out Tobacco Project recognized

The Cal Poly Snuff Out Tobacco Project was recently recognized with a proclamation by the San Luis Obispo County Board of Supervisors.

The project provides smokeless tobacco prevention programming for county youth and cessation classes for current users. The Snuff Out Tobacco Project is sponsored by Cal Poly Health Education/Student Health Services and is funded by Prop. 99, the Tobacco Tax Initiative.

CPR schedule

Cal Poly Report is published weekly during the academic year by the Public Affairs Office.

Typewritten, double-spaced copy may be submitted to Jo Ann Lloyd, editor, by 4 pm the Thursday prior to the next publication.
Sick leave donation for Luann McDonald

Employees in Academic Professionals of California (APC) Unit No. 4 are being asked to donate up to 8 hours of their sick leave balance on behalf of Luann McDonald, who has suffered a non-industrial catastrophic illness. This solicitation is made possible by the CSU/APC contract.

McDonald, a counselor in the Financial Aid department, has been a Cal Poly employee since Dec. 1, 1983. Last November she was diagnosed with Guillain-Barre Syndrome and admitted to Sierra Vista Hospital. In December she was transferred to The Rehabilitation Institute of Santa Barbara. It is anticipated that she will remain totally disabled for an additional five or more months.

Provisions now exist for employees in Unit No. 4 to donate and/or receive sick leave credits under certain circumstances. The following are pertinent sections of the contract which govern this new provision:

- Donated sick leave credits would be used to cover the employee’s absence due to a catastrophic non-industrial illness or injury to the employee;
- Only full-time permanent or probationary employees in Unit No. 4 are eligible to receive and/or donate sick leave credits;
- Eligible employees must be medically certified to have a condition that is expected to be totally disabling for a total uninterrupted period of six months or more;
- Employees must apply for and be granted non-industrial disability insurance (NDI) benefits to be eligible to receive donated credits;
- Credits may be used only during the period the employee is eligible for NDI benefits;
- Donated sick leave credits may be used to supplement NDI benefits up to a maximum of two-thirds of the employee’s regular gross monthly salary on the day prior to the first day of disability;
- APC shall be responsible for seeking presidential determination, publicizing and coordinated one authorized solicitation per eligible employee. Such solicitation shall be limited to APC represented employees at the campus of the disabled APC employee; and
- Employees may elect to voluntarily donate up to eight hours of accrued sick leave each fiscal year in response to authorized campus solicitations.

If you’re interested in donating accrued sick leave credit, please contact Vicky Phillips, coordinator of this solicitation in Psychology and Human Development at ext. 2033, for the proper Sick Leave Donation Form.

MBTI workshop planned for May 3

An all-day workshop for the use and understanding of the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator has been set for Friday, May 3.

The program, from 8:30 am to 4 pm, is being presented by the Schools of Architecture and Environmental Design, Business, and Engineering.

The Myers-Briggs Type Indicator is a questionnaire designed to determine people’s preferences for information input and output and decision-making styles. The MBTI measures four different scales: introvert/extrovert, intuitive/sensate, thinking/feeling, and judging/perceiving.

If you wish to participate, send a check (made out to IMD) for $5 to cover the cost of the questionnaire to Donna Duerk, Architecture Department. A questionnaire will be sent to you. Please fill it out and return it to Duerk by Friday, April 16, so it can be scored and ready for the May 3 workshop. If you have questions, please leave a message at ext. 1321.

Computers donated to Biological Sciences

Zenith Data Systems has donated two Minisport notebook computers to the Biological Sciences Department. The cooperative project is to develop applications using DOS-based notebook computers to enter field ecology data directly into customized databases or spreadsheets while in the field.

The use of the calculator-size computers reduces transcription errors and saves time, said Professor Les Bowker, who coordinated the donation for biological sciences.
