Inquiry '66 explores Grand Canyon

Well, we've survived 22 days of this trip, and everyone is still very enthusiastic. We store up a lot of our energy on the long bus rides during the day. Everyone slaughters a great deal, so that by the time we roll into our campgrounds in the evenings we're ready for hiking before the sun goes down. We're enjoying the country very much, and are looking forward to getting back East. Now how are our most recent happenings?

Our first view of Grand Canyon was rather disappointing, since there were many huge rain clouds overhead. We saw that a rainstorm was inevitable. We set up camp on the very edge of the North Rim and drove to Cape Royal, another point along the northern edge which afforded a better view of the canyon. The rain clouds gave the beautiful formations of the canyon a mystical appearance. Many of us retected the lack of sun, but the clouds were beautiful, especially as the rain started coming down in parts of the ran-course of the sky. We are currently being shown in 150 Year* of American Scenes; Childe Hassam, and Edward Hopper.

Museums hosting the paintings are: University of Southern Calimia; Elizabeth R. Fisher Collections; Oakland Art Museum; Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego; Santa Barbara Museum of Art; California Palace of the Legion of Honor, San Francisco; Los Angles County Museum of Art; El Pueblan Art Gallery; Ahsenian; San Francisco Museum of Art; Pasadena Art Museum.

As I See It

The word is "Fraternity" - not "Frat". But don't say it too loud. It's too modern, up-to-date and not in the style we hoped we could get along with. But it's well-established and any new terminology that takes root on campus and spreads throughout the various educational levels, like crabgrass through a lawn.

The word "Fraternity" is shunned, even under the rug, and forgotten. It is never permitted to be mentioned aloud. Like a moral disease, it is spoken of in whispers, behind closed doors.

It is truly amazing that one little word could strike such an awesome fear in the minds of so many college personnel. During a recent meeting of the EPG, Student Interim Committee, a discussion of the Cal Poly "F" was brought before the board, stating that the "F" would have to be maintained during the summer months. One of the members present mentioned that a fraternity had volunteered to perform the cleaning operation, but at that, the floor was swept, vacuumed, and the idea of a fraternity helping out in any way was dropped.

"Fraternity" really means something to us.

College catalogues and full schedules are available on line.

Do you have a college catalogue? If not, you may pick one up at the Administration office.

Since there is little change from year to year in the general outline of the catalogue, it is not necessary to obtain a new copy every year.

Full class schedules are expected to go on sale Aug. 15, in the bookstore.

Students not in residence at the time may have the schedules mailed to them. The bookstore performs this service at no extra charge; the only charge is the price of the schedule plus postage.

The college catalogues are printed each year, free of charge, by the state printing office. If the books were sold at cost each copy would sell for approximately $8.50.

Leach...

all educational techniques pioneered at Cal Poly.

Participating in the World's Poultry Congress is but one of a number of activities planned by Leach during a six-month-long sabbatical leave from his duties at the college.

Between June 20, when he began the leave, and January 1, when he is scheduled to terminate, Leach plans to take a study tour of poultry industry operations on the East Coast of the United States, take part in the conference in Russia, and attend meetings of several other societies of professional agriculturalists, including a world-wide congress of food technologists in Warsaw.

While in Europe, Leach and his wife, Juarez, who is accompanying him during his leave, will also visit 13 different nations, en route to Russia where he will terminate his leave. Leach plans to take a study tour of poultry industry operations on the East Coast of the United States, take part in the conference in Russia, and attend meetings of several other societies.

The Kiev meeting is being sponsored by the World's Poultry Congress.

The first stop on his planned tour was Moscow, where he attended the 11th annual World's Poultry Congress, Physical Education, and Recreation, and the State Department of Education.

A feature of the nation's top authorities in the field of poultry education, the staff of the department includes such names as Peter Leach, head basketball coach of last year's nationally ranked San Francisco State, and Homer Stritch, whose California State at Los Angeles graduates have won three consecutive NCAA football championships.

Other activities being offered include badminton, baseball, basketball, bowling, football, gymnastics, water polo and swimming, tennis, track and field, volleyball, weight training and wrestling.

The book is expected to go on sale Aug. 15, in the bookstore.

Implement dealers

Students working in the field of agricultural engineering have received scholarships made possible by organization of tractor and implement dealers in the state.

They are Burl W. Hulstroot of Los Osos, a native of San Juan, Ohio; Stanley W. Noehren of Monterey; and William L. Demetian of San Luis Obispo, a native of San Jose.
