Kramer heads Pomona; selection continues here

President-elect of Cal Poly Pomona has announced, while the search for his position continues.

Selection at the Pomona campus was not difficult because Dr. Edward Kramer, former professor at Cal Poly Pomona, was a natural fit for the position. "I'm an Athlete's athlete," Kramer said.

During his stay in Sweden under the International Student Exchange Program, where he was declared queen and host for the effect, "We specialize in large quantities of gold and rare indoor plants from the national garden shows in Sweden," Kramer said. "The new president will not be a(Unknown field)

Troubled by wild Mustangs?

Before the start of a two-game winning streak this year, it had been a long, hard road for the Cal Poly football team. But now, with two victories in a row, the Mustangs are looking to proving their past fortunes as they bring the losing streak down to a season-low two games. The past two games have been against Santa Barbara and the University of California, Davis, both of which were losses.

The Mustangs have been performing well, but they are still struggling to get to the next level. With a record of 2-4, they are currently in fourth place in the conference. However, they have yet to win against a top team, which is something they hope to change in future games.

Coastal Carolina comes to town this week looking to extend their winning streak. They have been on a roll, winning five out of their last six games. The game on Friday night is a must-win for the Mustangs if they want to stay in the playoff hunt. They will be led by Junior quarterback Mike Hitchman, who gave the Mustangs fits last year as a sophomore. As of last week, he was the nation's leader in the College Division total offense category.

Recalling Chuck Merino's Brat touchdown grab, Bampeee commentary, "He caught the ball when nobody was around him. He just made up his mind what he was going to do." The Gauchos will be led by Junior quarterback Mike Hitchman, who gave the Mustangs fits last year as a sophomore. As of last week, he was the nation's leader in the College Division total offense category.

Only one game remains on the season schedule, but the Mustangs are looking forward to the challenge. They want to prove that they can compete with the best teams in the conference, and this game is a great opportunity to do so. The Mustangs will be led by Junior quarterback Mike Hitchman, who gave the Mustangs fits last year as a sophomore. As of last week, he was the nation's leader in the College Division total offense category.

After a most successful scrim­mage trip to the Southland last week, Coach Randy Hitch­man expects his team to perform well on Monday night. The money obtained from these matches will be used in the Block-P athletic scholarship fund. It will be a very good chance to see our National Championship team in action for the first time this year," said Dick Purcell, Block-P advisor.

The contest, sponsored by Block-P, will be used to determine who will represent Cal Poly in the upcoming bout with UC Santa Barbara and the San Jose Tournament. The Mustangs are looking forward to the challenge and hope to come out on top.
