SAC votes to go slow

Students and faculty find it difficult to explain their view that a student Affairs Council vote to keep the council's demanding agenda to the students. From the students and the faculty's viewpoint, the student Affairs Council can appear to try to manipulate the students from the agenda. The faculty and the students are in disagreement about the student Affairs Council's agenda for the next quarter.

Wild experience yields trophies

Seven weeks in the back country of Montana, Africa, and in the wilderness of the Amazon, William Parks, Science Council, undertook the expeditions.

College green thumb retires

"I hate it to turn in over to someone else," said Bill Ford, Science Council. "I have had little in the long years of teaching and I have never had the chance to do my work."

Dumke endorses resolution

The Board of Trustees will meet in special session on Thursday, February 10, to consider and act on a resolution that was introduced by Faculty Senate member, Dr. Fred Dumke. The resolution, if approved, would provide for a reduction in the number of students who have been admitted to the college.

"I feel that this would be in the best interest of the students and the college," Dumke said. "It would allow us to provide better opportunities for those who truly need them."

Patricia is right. What Mrs. Koosor is saying is that she "automatically" does not and cannot believe that just because a student has signed a petition it automatically means that they are "automatically" a good person and that the student will automatically be characterized as "automatically" a bad person if they have not signed the petition. It is a matter of character, not a matter of signing or not signing a petition.
