Audio-visual supervisor displays art work in library

A happy marriage of content, following the principles, the gallery will produce one of the most unusual art exhibits ever to be exhibited at Cal Poly. Paul Stewart, supervisor in the Audio-Visual Department, will show the paintings in the Dexter Library this fall term. Mr. Stewart, who is a graduate student in Cal Poly, has been involved in the project for over a year. He has just completed the first major work, which will be shown at the exhibition.

The exhibit contains a variety of works, all in various stages of development. The paintings will be shown to the public for the first time since they were completed. The show will include paintings by students and faculty, as well as works by professional artists.

Future college teachers want much satisfaction

A study of a select group of world-famous college teachers shows that they expect many satisfactions from their teaching role. The majority of these teachers are willing to teach in order to work with students and help them develop as individuals.

What exactly is the criterion for being defined as a good teacher? A recent study suggests that at least two factors must be considered:

- Good teachers provide students with a meaningful curriculum.
- Good teachers are able to motivate students to learn.

On the plus side, the investigation found that if the curriculum is not meaningful, then the teacher's role is not sufficient to satisfy their needs.

Former chancellor Adenauer dies

BOEN, Germany—Former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who pulled West Germany out of the ruins and degradation of World War II in a spirit of human and power among nations, died in Berlin Tuesday, April 23. He was 83 years old. His death will mean the end of an era in European history, and it will have a major impact on the political landscape of the region.

Faculty protest

WASHINGTON U.P.I.—The entire 232-member faculty of George Washington University voted to strike the week in protest of the cafeteria of John Gorbeau, who is accused of racial discrimination.

Student leaders also appealed to the student body of the university to support the faculty's decision. The strike has now entered its second week.

Fahler Charles C. Earl, 53, told a news conference that the strike would continue if the contract was not renewed for the fall term. Professor Earl said that he had been given an ultimatum by the university administration.

Reagan to sign bill

SACRAMENTO U.P.I.—President Ronald Reagan announced today that he will sign a bill to expand the California Racial Discrimination Act. While the bill was not necessary, the President said that it was an important step in the fight against discrimination.

The bill will make it easier for victims of discrimination to pursue legal action.

Leadership conference scheduled

More than 100 girls from high schools and colleges in the area will meet at Cal Poly for the annual Leadership Conference. The conference will be held on campus on April 24, 1967.

The theme of the conference will be "The Future of Leadership".

The conference will be organized by the Council of Women.

Leaning left?

I had planned on being born left-handed; however, my parents claim that I could not have been. I am not sure how they determined this as they didn't see my left-handed cousin until I was six years old. They claim that they noticed the thumb profile of my left hand differ from the right hand. But I was certainly born right-handed.

As a dedicated conservative, I now wear a tie instead of a tie to work. The tie is a symbol of my commitment to the right. I firmly believe that conservatives are the true leaders of our nation. I stand with the principles of limited government, individual freedom, and free enterprise.

I believe that the left is full of lies and deceit. They cannot be trusted. They are not serious about solving problems, they are only interested in扩大 their power and control over society. Their agenda is to redistribute wealth and to make society more equal. But equality is not the goal, it is the means to their end of power and control.

I am an American conservative, not a liberal. I believe in the value of the American Dream and the opportunities it offers. I believe in the importance of the free market and the role it plays in our society. I believe in the importance of family and tradition.

I am proud to be a conservative. I am not a radical, I am a realist. I believe that the left is full of empty promises and wishful thinking. They cannot be trusted to lead our nation.

 generosity; he too was born left-handed. I was, too, but I learned to write with my right hand. I learned to do everything with my right hand.

I have never worn a tie to work. I believe in the importance of being true to yourself. I am comfortable with my left-handers, I am not afraid of them. I believe that they have a valuable perspective. I believe that we should be open to new ideas and perspectives.

I am a proud conservative. I believe in the principles that have made our nation great. I believe in the value of hard work and the importance of individual responsibility. I believe in the importance of limited government and the role it plays in our society.

I am not afraid to stand up for what I believe in. I am not afraid to speak my mind. I am not afraid to be a conservative.

I am a conservative. I am proud to be a conservative. I believe in the values that have made our nation great. I believe in the principles that have made our nation strong.
Freeman sees satellites aiding farmers in 2000

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Bell, speaking before the National Farmers Association at Dallas, Tex., the secretary declared that farmers and other producers of food and fiber must be better educated to meet the challenges of the 1970's.

Speaking before the National Farmers Association, at Dallas, Tex., the secretary declared that farmers and other producers of food and fiber must be better educated to meet the challenges of the 1970's.

"While science can't promise a first without the help of the farmer," Freeman said, "but science can promise a future.

Bell said that as everyone, the policy makers and the public makers must do the kind of work that will help our nation's future. The work must be done to maintain our food and fiber supply.

Senator committee bills renaming bill

The bill to rename the College on its campus has been killed by the Senate Education Committee. The committee, however, voted to name the College Union Building after the late Mayor of the city of San Luis Obispo.

Baseball set for weekend

Soldiers invite coeds to weekend dances

Because of the response they received from their last提及, the end of Varsity Athletic Activity Base has extended an invitation to Student Body, Friday, April 21, 10:30 a.m. to 11 p.m.

The Moustangs will be on the second floor of Foothill gym, and the doors will open at 10:30 a.m. The dance will continue until close.

An invitation has since been received from the men of Hanford Legion Army Base near King City for an afternoon and evening of entertainment during the dance at 10:30 a.m.

A party for the day includes transportation to the base beginning at noon. Uniformed women will be given a tour of the base.
