After the presentation, the audience voluntarily waited for the next-coming event, and they could enjoy the rest of the day.

Central Valley Rectory was in the middle of the event, and they would enjoy the rest of the day.

At the official opening of this building, the President of Mike Elliott, and several officials, will be seen at the Han Lula Obispo Library.

The 19th Century life... Antiques presses shown

The largest printing presses shown at Cal Poly, was in the public during Poly Royal in the location of the Daily Shaft Building. The museum is open and forever by Pat Poit. The Shakespeare Press Museum was established in 1920 by James A. McPhee, a former president of the museum.

The equipment, which was in great rooms throughout where obtained has been completely restored by Edward R. Pfeiffer. The museum press are used to produce print runs, and is donated to the museum.

The Shakespeare Press in located along the new press shop, complete with an office, composing room, proof room and library. The office is restructured to resemble all new offices of the press shop, complete with a press run, paper deck, and a potbelly stove sitting in the middle of the office for those who want to rest.

The punch and equipment which have done here to the early 1920's, was discussed at the school in the program. In addition to the equipment received from Pat Poit, there have been other donations made to the museum. The equipment which was in great room throughout the museum is donated to the museum.

Art film claimed to be in bad taste

Charges of bad taste and "morning" have been filed in a warrant for a film shown here recently which was not renewed by the Fine Arts Committee in the little theater April 18.

The film entitled "Kill for the Glory of God," was shown twice in front of students who professed and also fired by Ellis Fields, director of the Fine Arts Committee. According to the warrant, the film was not renewed because it was considered a moral issue.

Students exhibit native art with foreign cuisine

Seven foreign nations will be represented in this display: Iran, Pakistan, the Arab Nations as a block, South Vietnam, China, Chile and Africa will all join in the festivities, collaborating to present many colorful accoutrements of their nation.

A small, outdoor restaurant will be set up with the other exhibits, and Pakistani students will serve food, facilitated by their home lands.

There will be a continuous showing of films and clips of Iran, Pakistan and South Vietnam.

The 1967 Poly Royal International Show will differ from those in the past with some foreign countries represented and more students participating.

Music head recalls first years

by Tim Dolan

"It was in those days, and department was run as a shoe-string, and Music Department head I. M. Burns was the music program's only staff member." The first time anyone placed a note on a staff and sang a song was in 1934 with the first high school band. The Music Department grew out of a Chorale that Burns started for the 1942-43 school year. "I had the library for our music department," Burns said. "I ran them through the library." The Department's first chairman was the Music head. He was run on a shoe-string," says Burns. Complete with practice, rooms, a music library, and a major gift from the Student Council, the music department moved to its current location.

Music Department grew from a "We had one room in the old building, and the students were so happy," Burns said. The new director scraped the name and reputation of the old, and the new, now an "M" on the sign. The new director also added a new program. The audience, the director, the president, and the students.

Sweeping the San Francisco scene—of spectacular singing musicians is the Women's Choir Club. It was formed in 1942 and quickly became the "M" on the sign. The new director added a new program. The audience, the director, the president, and the students.

The annual springbody election passed quietly with 12 per cent of the eligible voters exercising a right to vote. "I'm not sure how many people attended," Burns said. "The voting was done by mail." The number of people attending the election was down from last year's record attendance. When asked of his reaction to the election, he replied, "What a surprise!" The number of people attending the election was down from last year's record attendance.

Commenting on the election in general, Burns said, "I think that people are more interested in the local issues than the general issues. They're more interested in the local issues than the general issues. They're more interested in the local issues than the general issues. Thrills and spills highlight rodeo

By Pam Riley

Today’s news is filled with stories of “rodeo fever.” And why not? It is an excellent reason to get out of bed in the morning.

There are many rodeos taking place this week and throughout the month. The National Western Stock Show is one of the biggest events. It runs from January 28 through February 19. The show features livestock exhibitions, rodeos, and Western heritage.

The Grand National Rodeo is another popular event. It takes place from February 16 through 19 and features top riders from around the country. The rodeo includes events such as bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, and bull riding.

Horses, riders spotlight Poly Royal festivities

Poly Royal festivities are also taking place this week. The event is a popular social gathering that attracts people from all over the country. The festivities include a horse show, a parade, and a variety of social events.

Moving or Hauling?

Moving or hauling? It all depends on the situation. For example, if you’re moving across town, you might want to rent a truck. However, if you’re moving across the country, you might want to hire a professional mover.
