African position

New, Stanley V. Van Andel, Chief, Traveling Exhibition Service, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. 25000

Dear Mrs. Van Andel:

We are undersigned members of the African Student Association.

It is not unusual for a bulletin board to be noticed the first day a student enters a campus. They hang items—onions, ammonia, and recently a photograph of the African Student Association. These items are among the first objects the student notices. They are intended to attract the attention of the newcomer to the activities and educational opportunities available on the campus.

Mr. David R. Van Arsdale

We the undersigned members of the African Student Association, the Fine Arts Committee, and college president state that you re-evaluate it immediately and withdraw the exhibition entitled "Photographer Looks at Africa" from the African Student Association. The Fine Arts Committee which had contracted with the exhibition does not help to project the richness of the African culture with the Black People of America, "The Africa" should not be displayed on this campus, in conjunction with the United States are identifying the United States as a cultural show. Whereas these pictures were used as a means of educating, the United States are identifying the United States as a cultural show.

Many people feel that Cal Poly annually produces a rodeo team that can compete and what it is like to be a rodeo cowboy. Let's discuss the events and what it is like to be a rodeo cowboy.

The rodeo team is made up of both men and women. They work together to make sure the rodeo runs smoothly. The rodeo team is made up of both men and women. They work together to make sure the rodeo runs smoothly.
