Two projects in Governor's budget

The 1986-87 budget submitted by Governor George Deukmejian to the state legislature includes two Cal Poly capital outlay projects.

One, for $160,000, would provide working drawings for the remodeling of Engineering East. Built in 1957, the facility would be updated for Electronic and Electrical Engineering. The work would add five laboratory FTE and convert all of the existing multiple offices to single occupancy for 29 faculty plus departmental administration. The project is scheduled for completion in spring 1989.

The second project asks for $270,000 for preliminary plans and working drawings for a rebuilt Dairy Science Instructional Center. The present dairy units were constructed in 1953 from relocated buildings dating to the 1930s. Field support areas are also a part of the proposal. Completion is planned for spring 1989.

Trustees OK new admissions policy for 1988

The Board of Trustees of The California State University took the following actions at its Jan. 15 meeting:

- Amended Title 5 of the California Administration Code (CAC) to implement a comprehensive pattern of collegiate preparatory subjects for first-time freshman admission beginning fall 1988.
- Amended Title 5 of the CAC to streamline the process for trustee approval of the parking fee refund schedule and to make the process consistent with the method of setting parking fees.

Badovinac named interim SID

Greg Badovinac, 23, has been named interim sports information director effective Feb. 3. The announcement was made by Dr. Kendrick Walker, the university’s interim athletics director.

Badovinac has worked in the Cal State Northridge sports information office for five years and has been the assistant sports information director for three years. His duties have included publicity for the men’s basketball program. In August 1985, he was named interim director and served in that capacity for four months.

While earning his degree from Northridge, he worked for the Los Angeles Raiders of the NFL and the NBA’s Los Angeles Clippers as a statistician. He also served as SID at Crespi Carmelite High School in Encino.

He will serve through June 30, replacing Steve Rutledge. During this time a search will be conducted for a permanent replacement.
Community service awards established

Two awards have been established to honor students for outstanding community service. The President's Award for Community Service will be presented annually to a student and to a campus class or group for outstanding service work in San Luis Obispo County.

In the past Cal Poly has recognized students for service to their departments and to the university by awarding certificates to outstanding seniors.

The idea for the new award was conceived by ASI Student Community Services as part of its efforts to encourage student volunteerism. A screening committee including representatives of the faculty, the ASI, the San Luis Obispo City Council and the County Board of Supervisors has been named.

Nominations from the university and the community will be opened in February after the committee has finalized selection criteria. Faculty and staff especially are encouraged to nominate individuals as well as entire classes and/or dubs. The awards will be presented during Human Services Month in March. For further information please call Sam Lutrin at ext. 2476.
