Landreth named VP for Business Affairs

Cal Poly's top business affairs executive has a new title. James R. Landreth, the university's director of business affairs for nearly 15 years, has become a vice president.

In making the announcement President Baker said, 'This title change has been long-deserved, and it recognizes the exemplary job Jim has done in a vital role on campus and in the CSU system.'

The duties of Landreth's position will not change. He will continue to supervise the following departments: Budget Planning and Administration, Fiscal Operations, Housing and Conference Services, Procurement and Support Services, and Public Safety.

A Central Coast native, this spring marks Landreth's 40th anniversary of his graduation from San Luis Obispo High School. He earned undergraduate business degrees from both Woodbury University in Los Angeles, and Mexico City College in Mexico, and an MBA degree from Stanford University's Graduate School of Business. He has studied at a number of other universities including the Institute for Educational Management at Harvard University's Business School.

He joined Cal Poly 30 years ago as an administrative assistant in personnel, when the school had two campuses — in San Luis Obispo, and Kellogg-Voorhis near Pomona. In 1957 he became personnel officer for the San Luis Obispo campus, and two years later he was named assistant to the dean of the college at the Kellogg-Voorhis campus.

In 1961 he took on the responsibilities of personnel and business management analyst, and seven years later was named associate director, budgeting and business affairs. (The two Cal Polys became separate colleges in July 1966.)

He has served as a member of the executive committee of the systemwide Business Officers Association of The California State University. He has been elected to serve on the executive committee of the reorganized and renamed CSU Administrative and Business Officers Association for 1986-87 and 1987-88.

On a number of occasions Landreth has been asked to take part in systemwide advisory committees and task forces. They have included: the Public Safety Advisory Committee, Instructional Operating Expenses, Library Operating Expenses, Chancellor's Advisory Group on Support Budget Issues, Human Resources Information System Technical Committee, and Earthquake/Major Emergency Preparedness Task Force.

Auditions set for lab theatre

The Theatre and Dance Department has announced auditions for three one-act plays to be presented the latter part of May and first of June in the university's Studio Lab Theatre.

On Tuesday, April 15, from 7 to 10 pm, auditions will be held for "Action" by Sam Shepard, directed by Ray Record; "Birth­ day," an original play directed by the author, Gary Adams; and "The Blinder" by Dave Hungerford, directed by Marcy Bona.

The auditions will be held in Room 212 of the Davidson Music Center. There are roles for both men and women in all the plays and no advance preparation will be necessary in order to audition. Students and non-students alike are encouraged to try out.

U.S. Savings Bond drive film Apr. 15

The cast of the TV sitcom 'Golden Girls' will be featured in a brief film promoting the sale of U.S. Savings Bonds. It will be shown at 10 am, Tuesday, April 15, in Staff Dining Room B.

Coordinators from various areas of the university who will provide information on savings bonds are invited to the film. It will be followed by a brief meeting. Others interested in seeing the film are also invited. Refreshments will be served.

According to Jay Eby of Los Angeles, area manager, Savings Bond Division of the U.S. Treasury Department, the current savings bond interest rate of 8.36 percent is 'highly competitive.' Eby, who provided the film and other materials for the Cal Poly drive, said the interest rate and other advantages are 'getting good press' around the nation this year.

Eby cited other advantages, such as no state tax on savings bond interest, and deferred federal tax when interest is not annualized. He said many people buy bonds in their children's names, and then annualize the interest, with the result that no federal income tax is due each year, since the child has little or no income.

Additional information on the savings bond drive can be obtained by calling Mary Smith (ext. 2236), Carol Clifford (ext. 2605), or Jan Pieper (ext. 2844).

Blood drive

Thursday, April 17, the Society of Civil Engineers will be sponsoring a blood drive on campus. It will begin at 10 am in Chumash Auditorium and end at 2 pm.
Ground water seminar topic

Central Coast ground water will be the subject of a seminar that will be presented on Friday, April 18, in the University Union. The program will open with registration at 8 am and conclude with a summary session that is scheduled for 4:10 pm.

Registrations will be taken at the door. The fee will be $23 and lunch cannot be guaranteed.

For further information and a registration form, call or write to the Natural Resources Management Department, ext. 1402.

Sponsors of the seminar are the School of Agriculture, NRM Department, the student chapter of the Association of Environmental Professionals, and R.L. Stoller & Associates.

Entries invited for flower show

Gardners who have planted flowers and other plants for spring are invited to enter them in the flower show which will be held during Poly Royal on Friday and Saturday, April 25 and 26.

Participation in the annual show is open to everyone, regardless of age or experience, and there is no charge for either entries or admission.

Judging will be in six categories — perennials, annuals, bulbs, blooms from flowering shrubs, roses, and container plants.

Fifty-four classes will be judged and ribbons will be awarded for the top three entries in each class. Best-of-show and reserve best-of-show awards will also be given. Members of Cal Poly’s intercollegiate flower judging team will judge the show.

Entries should be delivered to the Ornamental Horticulture Unit on Via Carta north of the university’s main campus between 5 and 9 pm on Thursday, April 24, or between 6:30 and 8:30 am the next day.

All entries in the specimen classes must have been grown by the exhibitor. Containers will be provided by the flower show committee.

The annual floral contest and show is presented by the Cal Poly chapter of Pi Alpha Xi, an honorary fraternity for ornamental horticulture students.

To obtain more information, a list of sections, and rules for the event, please call the university’s Ornamental Horticulture Department at ext. 2279.

Rock critic will speak April 16

Rock’s best-known critic and writer will be speaking on Wednesday, April 16, at 7:30 pm in Chumash Auditorium.

Dave Marsh has been writing books, essays, and reviews about rock and roll since 1970, commenting on the music world and its trends and effects on America and American politics.

Tickets for Marsh’s lecture are on sale at the UU Ticket Office and in San Luis Obispo at Boo Boo Records and Cheap Thrills. They are $3.50 for students and $4.50 for adults. Admission will be 50 cents more at the door. The event is sponsored by the ASI Speakers Forum.

Foundation board to meet April 18

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Foundation board of directors will be Friday, April 18, at 9 am in Admin. 409. This is a public meeting. For further information about the meeting agenda, please contact Al Amaral (executive director, Cal Poly Foundation) in Bldg. 15T-2 or call ext. 1131.

A copy of the agenda packet is available for public review at the library Reserve Desk (Room 114).

Spring Quarter Leisure Classes

The Recreational Sports Office is now offering a wider variety of Leisure Classes. The spring Leisure Class schedule includes two exclusive faculty/staff classes: 1) Faculty/Staff Weight-training; 2) Faculty/Staff Physical Conditioning. These classes are limited to faculty/staff and spouse.

All classes are taught by qualified instructors and are held on campus during the week. They last between four and eight weeks and average about $18. Registrations are being accepted now with classes starting the third week. For information on class topics, days of week, times, starting dates, prices, locations, duration, etc., please contact the Recreational Sports Office, UU 119-A, or at ext. 1366.

Women’s Week

The Cal Poly Women’s Week Planning Committee has begun work on next year’s program. Faculty, staff and students are encouraged to join the committee. For information regarding the next meeting contact Willi Coleman, ext. 2476.
Philomusica will perform April 14

Philomusica, a chamber orchestra made up of distinguished New York musicians, will perform Monday, April 14, at 8 pm at the Cal Poly Theatre.

The concert is the first co-sponsored benefit performance for the Cal Poly Center for the Arts, the ASI Fine Arts Committee and the San Luis Obispo County Arts Council.

Tickets are $15 preferred; $10 reserved; $7 general; and $5 for students. For an additional $10, ticketholders can attend a reception at the UU Galerie immediately following the concert. Attendance at the reception is limited; for reservations, call ext. 1421.

Tickets are available at the Cal Poly Center for the Arts Box Office and at the Arts Council Office, 1160 Marsh St., Room 201, San Luis Obispo. Telephone reservations may be made by calling ext. 1421.

Philomusica has a vast repertoire of exceptional music by renowned composers, which is seldom performed. The group’s mission is to increase public recognition and appreciation of these works. Selections for the April 14 concert include works by Haydn, Berg, Bruch and Mozart.

Students win top 2 places at mgt. competition

Business students won the top two awards at the recent California Management Conference competition held at UC Berkeley.

Brian Henderson was the top prize winner, outdistancing nearly 200 other students from 25 universities. He was named “Outstanding Businessperson,” and he earned a $500 scholarship. Mike Dougherty finished second.

Students competed in four events testing a variety of skills: group discussions, a graduate-style examination, one-on-one negotiations, and impromptu speeches. Executives and industry leaders from throughout California judged the student competitors.
