Servatius to be Grand Marshal

Owen Servatius will celebrate 21 years of service by heading the 1966 Homecoming parade on Saturday, Oct. 26. The student Homecoming Committee named Servatius as Grand Marshal. He served as faculty advisor to the committee for many years.

Servatius will be one of five faculty members on the parade staff, consisting of seven people. The other faculty members are: Owen Servatius, Associate Dean of Student Affairs; Mark Seifert, Director of Housing; and J. H. Kaelin, Director of Personnel.

Servatius will ride in a convertible car at noon.

Cafeteria: a restaurant where patrons 'help themselves' — take it or leave it

Soul brother set to sing

by Steve McDonald
Staff Writer

Life is a theater, and a grand one at that. On this stage the actors are the stars and the audience are the people who come to watch them perform. But who are the audience? And who are the actors? That is the question that enfrented the audience on October 24 when the group of students known as the Mustangs and their musical director, Ray Charles, performed their concert at the Men's Gym.

The concert was held in a theater-like atmosphere, with the audience arranged in rows facing the stage. The lighting was dimmed, and the only source of light was a spotlight on the performers. The audience was made up of students and faculty members, and they were all seated comfortably in their seats. The temperature was cool, and the atmosphere was electric.

The concert began with a strong and impressive opening number, which set the tone for the rest of the evening. The band then proceeded to play a variety of songs, ranging from soulful ballads to upbeat rhythms. The audience was captivated by the performers' energy, and they danced and sang along with the music. The band's lead singer, Ray Charles, was the focus of attention, and he captivated the audience with his powerful voice and charismatic stage presence.

The concert also featured a number of guest performers, including a gospel choir and a group of drummers. The performances were well-received by the audience, and they added to the overall energy of the evening. The final number of the concert was a powerful rendition of a well-known soul song, which brought the audience to their feet and left them cheering and clapping.

The audience was left amazed and enthralled by the performance, which demonstrated the incredible talent of the Mustangs and their musical director. The concert was a true testament to the power of music, and it left the audience with a sense of joy and accomplishment. The Mustangs and their director have set a new standard for musical performance on campus, and their skills and dedication will undoubtedly inspire generations of students to come.

Iranians activate break

by Nina Zavala
Staff Writer

As Iranian 406th group heightened a night of coffee shops, anti-American sentiment also began to stir up.

The first night of the group's presence in town, a demonstration was held at the Men's Gym. The demonstration was organized by the Free Iran Students Movement.

The demonstration was held to protest the presence of the 406th group in town. The group is known for its anti-American sentiment and has been involved in a number of controversial incidents in the past.

The demonstration was a peaceful gathering, with participants holding signs and chanting slogans. The atmosphere was filled with a sense of solidarity and determination, as the participants called for a change in the policies of the United States towards Iran.

The demonstration was well-attended, with hundreds of people showing up to support the cause. The participants were brave, and they spoke out for what they believed in. The demonstration was a powerful statement of solidarity and support for those who are fighting against oppression.

The demonstration was a turning point in the history of the Free Iran Students Movement. It was a testament to the power of determination and the strength of the human spirit. The demonstration was a call to action, and it inspired others to join the movement and fight for a better future.

CSCSPA meets problems facing colleges

The students of Youth for a New Society, the CSCSPA, have named Servatius as assistant treasurer of the Alumni Association. The association will have five members: Servatius, a member of the CSCSPA, and four others from the university.

Servatius was named to the position because of his expertise in financial matters. He has experience in managing financial resources for the university and has a strong understanding of the needs of the association.

Servatius will work closely with the Alumni Association to ensure that the association's financial resources are managed effectively. He will be responsible for overseeing the association's financial activities and ensuring that the association's goals are achieved.

Servatius is a dedicated member of the university community, and he has a strong commitment to the association. He has served the university in a number of capacities, and he has a wealth of experience in financial matters.

The appointment of Servatius as assistant treasurer is a testament to his dedication and commitment to the association. He will bring a wealth of expertise and experience to the position, and he will be an asset to the association in its efforts to achieve its goals.

The appointment of Servatius as assistant treasurer is a significant development for the association. It is a testament to the association's commitment to excellence and dedication to achieving its goals.
Nutrition key to development

When Hawaii children are growing up, nutrition is a major concern. This is especially true for the children of the economically disadvantaged families, who may not have access to adequate food. A study by Dr. Kenneth Cooper, an expert in the field of nutrition, has shown that proper diet is crucial for healthy growth and development.

Dr. Cooper has conducted research on the effects of nutrition on growth and development in children. His studies have shown that children who receive proper nutrition have better physical and intellectual development than those who do not. This is especially true for children who are at risk for nutritional deficiencies, such as children from low-income families.

In his research, Dr. Cooper has found that proper nutrition is essential for proper growth and development. Children who receive proper nutrition have better physical and intellectual development than those who do not. This is especially true for children who are at risk for nutritional deficiencies, such as children from low-income families.

Dr. Cooper has also found that proper nutrition is essential for proper growth and development. Children who receive proper nutrition have better physical and intellectual development than those who do not. This is especially true for children who are at risk for nutritional deficiencies, such as children from low-income families.

In conclusion, Dr. Cooper's research has shown that nutrition is a key factor in the development of children. Proper nutrition is essential for healthy growth and development, and children who receive proper nutrition have better physical and intellectual development than those who do not. This is especially true for children who are at risk for nutritional deficiencies, such as children from low-income families.
SAM's speaker no startling success

By the harbor

The first of a series of guest speakers held for the Society

for the Advancement of Management (SAM) satisfying indus-

ty leaders "aimed at enlightening the business world proved less inviting" than expected, according to John Knudson, a young pseudo-Ivy-League

graduate, who sponsored the event.

The guest speaker for the first dinner meeting, which was held in the Staff Dining Hall

on campus last week in the Staff

Dining Hall, was Dr. John Mulahan, an English professor comes back from a terrorist bomb exploded in the staff dining room

last week.

The dinner guest, who was announced to be Dr. Mulhan, was from the office of the President's

Committee on Manpower, had just flown to California from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where he was especially fascinated with the industrial potential of the San Francisco Bay Area.

Dr. Mulhan spoke about the impact of the "growth of the nationals, are available in the English, French, Spanish, Russian

languages." He was especially fascinated with the potential for the national's role in the world economy.

He was introduced by Dr. James

Hill, the director of the College of International Business.

Dr. Mulhan's talk centered on the importance of the international economy and the need for better understanding of foreign cultures.

Dr. Mulhan emphasized the need for a better understanding of foreign cultures and the importance of a global perspective in business.

He discussed the impact of the "Third World" on the world economy and the

need for a better understanding of the "Third World" and its role in the world economy.

He also discussed the need for a better understanding of the "Third World" and its role in the world economy.

He concluded his talk by

emphasizing the importance of

a global perspective in

business and the need for a better understanding of foreign cultures.

He concluded his talk by

emphasizing the importance of

a global perspective in

business and the need for a better understanding of foreign

cultures.

The dinner was well attended and enjoyed by both the faculty and the students.

Dr. Mulhan's talk was well received and the audience

appreciated his insights into the international economy.

The event was a success

and helped to bring about a better understanding of the international economy.

Colts score final tally down to Valley, 26-22

A last second 15-yard pass from quarterback Carl Smith into the hands of end Fernando Fruen finished off a 19-0 shutout of a Cal Poly Pomona team Saturday night in the 1st game of the season for both schools.

The winning touchdown drive began with 1 minute and 30 seconds left in the game when Valley State quarterback Don Rogers fumbled the ball at midfield. Mustangs' peanut back Harrison picked up the loose ball at the Cal Poly 46 and returned it to the end zone.

Fruen caught the pass on the 2-yard line for the touchdown. It was the Mustangs' 1st shutout of the campaign, and it came against Valley State, the team that had scored 87 points in its 1st game of the season.

The Mustangs, who have only played one game this season, got their first good look at the speed of Valley State's running backs. The Bulldogs' last game was against San Francisco State.

Smith completed 9 of 12 passes for 157 yards and two touchdowns. Harrison caught three of Smith's passes for 69 yards and one touchdown.

San Fernando, which is ranked 5-0 and 7-1 for the season, will meet Valley State this Sunday.

The Mustangs are now 2-0 on the season, but have scored only 26 points in two games.

Both losses

Water poloists, harriers suffer three setbacks

By Day to Waltz

The Mustangs were unable to repeat their 31-0 win over San Fernando last week as they were defeated by Valley State in the 1st game of the season.

Huskers downed the Mustangs 26-22 in the 1st quarter on the 31 yard pass from quarterback Carl Smith to end Pat Harrison for the first score. The Mustangs didn't have much to show for their efforts as they were down by a quick 14-0 lead in the 1st quarter.

The winning touchdown drive began with 1 minute and 30 seconds left in the game when Valley State quarterback Don Rogers fumbled the ball at midfield. Mustangs' peanut back Harrison picked up the loose ball at the Cal Poly 46 and returned it to the end zone.

Fruen caught the pass on the 2-yard line for the touchdown. It was the Mustangs' 1st shutout of the campaign, and it came against Valley State, the team that had scored 87 points in its 1st game of the season.

The Mustangs, who have only played one game this season, got their first good look at the speed of Valley State's running backs. The Bulldogs' last game was against San Francisco State.

Smith completed 9 of 12 passes for 157 yards and two touchdowns. Harrison caught three of Smith's passes for 69 yards and one touchdown.

San Fernando, which is ranked 5-0 and 7-1 for the season, will meet Valley State this Sunday.

The Mustangs are now 2-0 on the season, but have scored only 26 points in two games.

Both losses

Water poloists, harriers suffer three setbacks

By Day to Waltz

The Mustangs were unable to repeat their 31-0 win over San Fernando last week as they were defeated by Valley State in the 1st game of the season.

Huskers downed the Mustangs 26-22 in the 1st quarter on the 31 yard pass from quarterback Carl Smith to end Pat Harrison for the first score. The Mustangs didn't have much to show for their efforts as they were down by a quick 14-0 lead in the 1st quarter.

The winning touchdown drive began with 1 minute and 30 seconds left in the game when Valley State quarterback Don Rogers fumbled the ball at midfield. Mustangs' peanut back Harrison picked up the loose ball at the Cal Poly 46 and returned it to the end zone.

Fruen caught the pass on the 2-yard line for the touchdown. It was the Mustangs' 1st shutout of the campaign, and it came against Valley State, the team that had scored 87 points in its 1st game of the season.

The Mustangs, who have only played one game this season, got their first good look at the speed of Valley State's running backs. The Bulldogs' last game was against San Francisco State.

Smith completed 9 of 12 passes for 157 yards and two touchdowns. Harrison caught three of Smith's passes for 69 yards and one touchdown.

San Fernando, which is ranked 5-0 and 7-1 for the season, will meet Valley State this Sunday.

The Mustangs are now 2-0 on the season, but have scored only 26 points in two games.

Both losses

Water poloists, harriers suffer three setbacks

By Day to Waltz

The Mustangs were unable to repeat their 31-0 win over San Fernando last week as they were defeated by Valley State in the 1st game of the season.

Huskers downed the Mustangs 26-22 in the 1st quarter on the 31 yard pass from quarterback Carl Smith to end Pat Harrison for the first score. The Mustangs didn't have much to show for their efforts as they were down by a quick 14-0 lead in the 1st quarter.

The winning touchdown drive began with 1 minute and 30 seconds left in the game when Valley State quarterback Don Rogers fumbled the ball at midfield. Mustangs' peanut back Harrison picked up the loose ball at the Cal Poly 46 and returned it to the end zone.

Fruen caught the pass on the 2-yard line for the touchdown. It was the Mustangs' 1st shutout of the campaign, and it came against Valley State, the team that had scored 87 points in its 1st game of the season.

The Mustangs, who have only played one game this season, got their first good look at the speed of Valley State's running backs. The Bulldogs' last game was against San Francisco State.

Smith completed 9 of 12 passes for 157 yards and two touchdowns. Harrison caught three of Smith's passes for 69 yards and one touchdown.

San Fernando, which is ranked 5-0 and 7-1 for the season, will meet Valley State this Sunday.

The Mustangs are now 2-0 on the season, but have scored only 26 points in two games.