Servatius to be Grand Marshal

Octavius Servatius will celebrate 21 years of service by heading the 1968 Homecoming parade on Saturday, Oct. 26.

The student Homecoming Committee named Servatius as Grand Marshal. He served as faculty advisor to the committee for many years.

Servatius will be called to duty with a bell sound, and will start the parade in front of the Administration Building at 12:00 p.m.

He will be followed by the Homecoming Court, which is composed of students, faculty, and staff.

The parade will start at 2:00 p.m. at Johnson and Murch Streets. The total route will be announced later.

Homecoming will open with the annual bonfire rally at the Mark's Gym, 7:00 p.m. Wednesday Oct. 24. The rally will be followed by a football game against the University of California at 8:00 p.m.

Five cheers are catering for the 83rd — Dr. Luther Carlston of Pomona. He will be the namesake for the Oct. 26 cheer.

A Ray Charles Concert at 8:00 p.m. Thursday (Oct. 24) in the Mark's Gym will highlight Homecoming entertainment.

While students bring themselves with smiles and a stamp on Friday evening (Oct. 25), the alumni of the university will be given a chance to enjoy the events.

The final point of Homecoming is the football game between the Mustangs and San Fernando Valley State College's Mustangs Saturday afternoon (Oct. 26) in western California.

Alumni will have an opportunity to attend the Homecoming games as a guest in the bleachers at no charge.

An Iranian folk group, highlighted a night of coffee, punch and socializing at the theater with the presence of the group at the Student Union Coffee Shop at 10:00 p.m.

The group, known as "Amerampa," consists of Iranian musicians who have performed in the United States for a month.

The group is comprised of six members, including John Mofidzadeh, a trumpet player, and Farrokh Mofidzadeh, a singer.

Their music is a mixture of traditional Iranian folk music and contemporary Western music.

The event was sponsored by the Alliance for Cultural Cooperation, an organization that promotes cultural exchange between Iran and the United States.

The group performed a variety of traditional Iranian folk songs and modern Western music, captivating the audience with their unique style.

The event was a celebration of cultural diversity and provided an opportunity for attendees to experience Iranian music firsthand.

The venue was set up with seating arrangements and a stage where the group could perform.

The group's performance was met with enthusiastic applause, reflecting the audience's appreciation for the music.

The event was a success, and the group's performance was well-received by the attendees.

State Department guest visit

The U.S. Civil Service Commission announced that a group of judges will visit the United States this summer to examine the practices of the U.S. Civil Service Commission.

The group, comprising seven judges from various countries, will travel to the United States to study the practices of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, which manages the government's workforce.

The group will visit several U.S. cities, including Washington, D.C., Chicago, and New York, to observe the workings of the U.S. Civil Service Commission in action.

The judges will observe the recruitment, training, and performance of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, and will also discuss the commission's policies and procedures with U.S. government officials.

The visit is part of a broader international effort to promote the exchange of best practices in public administration, and to foster collaboration and cooperation between countries.

The visit will be an important opportunity for the judges to learn about the U.S. Civil Service Commission's operations and to share their own experiences and knowledge with U.S. officials.

The judges will also have the opportunity to visit U.S. government agencies and to observe their operations firsthand.

Farmers are invited to participate in a study of the nutritional value of foods consumed by American children. The study will be conducted by the Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the State University of New York at Albany. Participants will be asked to keep a food diary and answer questions about their eating habits. The information collected will be used to develop guidelines for healthy eating. The study is part of a larger effort to improve the nutrition of children in the United States. Participants will receive a small compensation for their time and trouble.
