Reminder of holidays

On June 12 President Warren J. Baker established the work hours and work schedules for the 1981 calendar year. The schedule for the remainder of the calendar year is reprinted below:

Friday (Dec. 11): End of Fall Quarter.
Saturday (Dec. 12) through Sunday (Jan. 3): Academic holiday for all academic employees.
Thursday (Dec. 24) through Sunday (Dec. 27): Campus will be closed except for needed emergency services.
Thursday (Dec. 31) through Sunday (Jan. 3): Campus will be closed except for emergency services.

This schedule closes the campus for two four-day weekends in connection with two major holidays — Christmas and New Year's. This done in recognition of the need for maximum conservation of energy and to provide extended vacation periods for all support staff employees. These four-day periods will increase the safety of those traveling during those times. Compatible with individual office requirements and work schedules, supervisors are encouraged to grant vacation time during this period.

Any items of university interest should be submitted to Betty Holland, Adm. 210, by close of business Dec. 3 for the Dec. 10 issue and by close of business Monday, Jan. 4, for the Jan. 7 issue.

Christmas concert at Mission

Multiple choirs, a brass ensemble, and carol singing are all planned during "A Celebration of Christmas," a concert to be presented by the Cal Poly choirs on Saturday (Dec. 5) at 8 pm. The Cal Poly Men's and Women's Choirs, the University Singers, and the PolyPhonics, all under the direction of James Dearing (Music) will each be featured in segments of the annual Christmas concert at the Old Mission church in San Luis Obispo.

General admission tickets for the concert are $2 for students and $4 for the public. They are available at the University Union ticket office. The Men's Chorus will open the concert with two sacred symphonies composed by Heinrich Schuetz with text from the biblical "Song of Songs." James Brown and Jonathan Pevsner will be the featured soloists. Both are members of the Men's Chorus.

"A Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten will be performed by the Women's Chorus. This popular work is a collection of a plainchant, nine ancient English carols, and an instrumental interlude for harp. Accompanying the chorus will be guest harpist Sandra Dwelle. Kristi Dearing, wife of director James Dearing, and Pamela Brown will be the guest soloists.

The PolyPhonics, accompanied by a Latin American instrumental ensemble, will perform "Navidad Nuestra" by Ariel Ramirez. This composition consists of musical episodes which tell the story of the nativity in a popular Hispanic-American manner. Each of its four movements is based on a different Latin American folk dance rhythm.

The University Singers will round out the evening with music spanning the years from the 16th to the 20th century. Scheduled to be performed are "Inter Brachia Salvatoris Mei" by Heinrich Schuetz, "Four Flemish Carols" by Flor Peeters, and "Christmas Cantata" by Daniel Pinkham.

Interspersed between each segment of the concert by the Cal Poly ensembles will be an opportunity for the audience to join the choirs in singing Christmas carols.

Receptions

A farewell reception for Robert A. Voitle (Head, Poultry Science) will be held on Friday (Dec. 4) from 3 pm to 4:30 pm in Ag 138. Bob's campus friends and their spouses are invited to attend. Effective Jan. 1 Bob will be the Dean of Resident Instruction at Auburn University in Alabama.

Alum Association plans Tahoe trip

Faculty/staff skiers and gamblers are in for a unique treat this winter with a "Tahoe by Train" adventure which departs from San Luis Obispo. The Cal Poly Alumni Association will be sponsoring a combined ski/gambling tour to North Lake Tahoe, Jan. 31 to Feb. 3. Transportation has been arranged by Amtrak aboard the new coast night train. The train will depart directly from San Luis Obispo on Sunday (Jan. 31) 1:30 am. Travelers may also board the train at Oakland and Sacramento.

Accommodations will be provided at the Cal-Neva Lodge. This lodge is the oldest, most famous hotel/casino at Lake Tahoe. Built in 1929, it has been remodeled and expanded several times since (including the 10-story tower section added in 1968). A full service hotel/casino, Cal-Neva offers a panoramic view of the lake from every room, plus 24 hour restaurant, full gaming casino including nightly live entertainment in the cabaret, full health spa with jacuzzi and sauna.

In addition to round trip transportation and 3 nights lodging, travellers may choose a skiers package which includes a Ski-Tahoe North Interchangeable Multiday Lift Ticket good at any one of the following ski areas: Squaw Valley, Alpine Meadows, NorthStar-at-Tahoe, Ski Incline or Homewood; the latter two include a half-day group lesson.

There is also a daily ski shuttle to/from Squaw Valley, Alpine Meadows, and Ski Incline. Gamblers and skiers will receive an "Overnight Casino Package" valued at $17, which includes cash and cocktails. Both packages include one California Railroad Museum admission for an optional tour when the group stops in Sacramento for lunch.

Prices vary from $89-$8220 depending on the location of your departure and whether the ski or gambling package is chosen. Reservations must be made by Dec. 23, contacting Steve Riddell, at Ext 2525 or visiting the Alumni House.

Election notices

"Notice of Elections" prepared by the Public Employment Relations Board (PERB) are being distributed to every Cal Poly state employee. The notices contain important information regarding the collective bargaining elections authorized by HEERA (Higher Education Employer-Employee Relations Act). Employees who have not received a "Notice of Elections" by Dec. 4, 1981, may obtain a copy from their department head or the Personnel Office (Ext. 2236).

Since it is anticipated that the required reduction of $323,610 is a one-time reduction, in developing the financial salary savings/emergency reduction plan, emphasis was given to minimizing the continuing impact of such savings/reductions, particularly in terms of instructional and computing equipment. The continuing freeze on non-faculty positions through Jan. 31 is based upon concern about achieving the projected salary savings in the instructional program during the second, third and fourth fiscal quarters, an anticipated additional budget shortfall of between $60,000 to $70,000 in postage resulting from price increases, and another $50,000 budget shortfall for fuel (gasoline) costs, again, resulting from price increases over that budgeted in 1981-82.

In addition to the continuing position freeze, only 50 percent of the allotment for evening and night shift differential and overtime on the campus will be released at this time as will only 50 percent of the remaining unallocated amount of $54,778 for supplemental funding of long distance and ATSS telephone needs. The reduced shift differential and overtime allotment will affect a limited number of areas, and the Financial Operations staff will be working with the respective program managers to develop supplemental campus financial plans to meet these needs. However, all members of the campus community are urged to do all they can to reduce long distance and ATSS telephone needs.

How the university does in achieving the combined salary savings/emergency budget reductions included in the campus financial plan will be reassessed as a part of the CSUC's Mid-Year Financial Report, which will be completed by Jan. 29. Adjustments in the campus financial plan may be made at that time based on actual experience during the first six months of the fiscal year.

Personnel will be kept advised on the status of the campus financial plan. Meanwhile, continued efforts on the part of all members of the Cal Poly community to increase efficiency and reduce waste will assist the university in meeting the emergency budget reductions. The cooperation of all is vital during this period of forced economy.
