Vote called for

Editorial:
If the United States government were to hold a referendum on the Vietnam war in which the youth of the nation were allowed to vote, there is little doubt that the young people would vote the war out of existence. For both legal and political reasons such a referendum cannot and will not be held. Yet if the youth of our nation are to realize there seems to be a way for them to hold their own referendum using a system that has been set up by the government.

Each time a 88 Form 150 is filed, it becomes a statistic within the selective service system. Should a million young people file 88 Form 150, it would be a mandate from the youth that the war be ended at once. The filing of the form is not an act of civil disobedience, but is a right under the 88 system.

Since in all but a few cases the board clerk will routinely deny the CO application, the referendum will add little burden to the members of the nation's draft boards. It will allow each youth to vote soon after his 18th birthday. Copies of the form could be printed in the newspapers to make sure that the administration did not find itself short of supplies and funds to print new copies of RR Form 150.

I encourage all of this nation's youth to file a RR Form 150 during the month of December. Further I request those that share my concern in this matter to publicize this youthful referendum.

A damp Big Sur wind blew their hair an unexplained delay in the folk festival rustled their hair; an unexplained delay in the crush. A damp Big Sur wind blew their hair; an unexplained delay in the folk festival rustled their hair; an unexplained delay in the crush.

If the little man pranced with excitement -- or as he later claimed, a thing -- he was bound to be patient! One wonders sometimes what that thing was.

The announcements had read: "BIG SUR FOLK FESTIVAL... STARRING JOAN BAEZ...GENERAL ADMISSION $4.00... SAT. & SUN. SEPT. 13-14..."

One wonders sometimes what that thing was. A damp Big Sur wind blew their hair; an unexplained delay in the folk festival rustled their hair; an unexplained delay in the crush.

Joan and Joni...fills event with soul

by John Fitt Randolph

A damp Big Sur wind blew their hair; an unexplained delay in the folk festival rustled their hair; an unexplained delay in the crush. A damp Big Sur wind blew their hair; an unexplained delay in the folk festival rustled their hair; an unexplained delay in the crush.

The little man at the gate was calm for a while. But a damp Big Sur wind blew their hair, as unexplained delay in the folk festival rustled their hair; an unexplained delay in the crush.

"They say everything can be replaced...." turned heads to the front as throaty-voiced Joan sent Dylan's aching leaping over distant Highway 1 and up the serpentine slopes.

She was calmer for a while. But a damp Big Sur wind blew their hair, as unexplained delay in the folk festival rustled their hair; an unexplained delay in the crush.

Joan had planned the sprawling thousands with the same sensitivity she poured out years before her marriages to David Harris—now locked up for refusing to co-operate in the killing—and years before her beautiful pregnancy, soon to end.

Joan's music was idyllic. She was calm for a while. But a damp Big Sur wind blew their hair, as unexplained delay in the folk festival rustled their hair; an unexplained delay in the crush.

"Big Sur Hot Springs—where th# communion was idyllic.

Eventually every person with rubber stamps and finally gave the word to "let only those through with tickets."

A dam Big Sur wind blew their hair; an unexplained delay in the folk festival rustled their hair; an unexplained delay in the crush.

A dam Big Sur wind blew their hair; an unexplained delay in the folk festival rustled their hair; an unexplained delay in the crush.

Joan's midriff sang about better worlds—such as the aphrodisiac goodness of the forest bird.

Joan was celebrated the fog's exit with her. It could have been a pink child, the sun got hot, the fog shrank to sea, and Joan Baez celebrated the fog's exit with her amplified artistry.

Her eyes full of sun, her throat full of soul, Joan Baez pleased the sprawling thousands with the same sensitivity she poured out years before her marriages to David Harris—now locked up for refusing to co-operate in the killing—and years before her beautiful pregnancy, soon to end.

"Hey..." he said snidely. "What's a good-looking toad like you doing with a witch like that."

He only had time to snicker this once before he could say "Member F.D.R.?" the witch had changed him from a 5'6" smart aleck into a five story full-service bank. A Security Pacific Bank to be exact.

People who didn't even talk to him before now trusted their money with him. Even the witch opened a savings account. In fact, in time she saved enough to trade in her toad on some male deer. (Male deer were just becoming fashionable for witches.)

She continued saving at Security Pacific Bank, so she could buy more deer, and she was always given friendly, efficient service.

Which only goes to prove that Security Pacific Bank welcomes anyone, even if she be it only has a few bucks.

Here's what your first year or two at IBM could be like.

You'll become involved fast. You'll find we delegate responsibility—to the limit of your ability.

At IBM, you'll work individually or on a small team. And be encouraged to contribute your own ideas. You'll advance just as fast and far as your talents can take you.

Here's what three recent graduates are doing.

Soon after his intensive training course, IBM marketing representative Preston Love, B.S. '66, started helping key Iowa commissioners solve problems. Like how to introduce school kids to computers, without installing one. His answer: share one in Chicago by phone cable.

Soon after his IBM programmer training, John Klayman, B.S. Math '68, began writing programs used by a computer system to schedule every event in the Apollo tracking stations. And when the finished programs were turned over to NASA Goddard Space Flight Center, he was responsible for making them work.

Almeida draws full house

by Jan Sowardi
Staff Writer

A three-dollar concert drew the eager, so Laurimio Almeida had an eager and appreciative audience on September 26 in the Little Theater. The hall was filled when the concert began at 8 p.m. Students were perhaps outnumbered by citizens of San Luis Obispo—townies—nervous-looking and knowing how to applaud. Almeida was called upon for an encore after a four-part concert. He began with classical music—the most rewarding. The pieces arranged by himself. The Spanish composers, designed to fill a role, ended gracefully, or even interestingly. Almeida seemed more interested in four Villa-Lobos pieces: "Choro No. 1," "Etude No. 8," "Etude No. 11," and "Quasi Allegro." There were some nice runs and other indications of facility of technique in these numbers, but when intermission began, excitement generated by the concert still did not warrant the hassle of dressing and coming. The third part of the concert, after a short intermission, was Granados' "Guitar Concerto" and Locuona's "Valsema." Almeida performed Granados' "Danza Espanola No. 5;" Barrios' "Acordeón;" Tarrega's "Recuerdos de la Alhambra;" Ponce's "Masurka;" Albeniz's "Leyenda." It's nice to have a few albums for incidental music, but the expense of attendance doesn't provide enough delight to justify a classical guitar concert. An aviation information team from the Naval Air Station in San Almarito, Calif., will visit the campus on October 2 and 3 between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Men interested in the Navy's officer programs are invited to stop by the snack bar and investigate the opportunities offered.

The expansion of Naval Aviation has necessitated the development of several programs offering young men flight training as pilots or as officer aircrew members. Upon successful completion of training, these young men will be rewarded with designations as Naval Aviators or as Naval Flight Officers.

Although the Navy now requires applicants for any officer program to have a baccalaureate degree, there are several programs available for the student during his last two or three years of college. These programs are available in both the aviation and surface fields. Participation in one of these programs would allow the applicant to receive his commission upon graduation with a baccalaureate degree.

Tomorrow night’s intersectional football game at Mustang Stadium will feature a struggle for survival between two early-season underdogs, the host, the Mustangs, and the visitor, Boise State. Kickoff time is set for 7:30 p.m. Another capacity crowd is expected. The similarity between the two teams is striking:

—Both have horse mascots—Cal Poly, the Mustang, and Boise State the Broncos.
—Each team features a strong defensive line.
—Both Boise State and Cal Poly have scored 103, over 100 points in its first two 1969 encounters, recording lopsided victories.

The Mustangs have tallied 115 points, humiliating San Francisco State, 71-7, and overwhelming Western Washington, 44-0. The Broncos have scored 103, overpowering Central Washington, 66-7.
