Moratorium talks

The day-long Vietnam Moratorium discussions, which are taking place in the Amphitheater today, are a chance for all students and faculty to listen, learn and participate in discussions about the war in Vietnam.

The group initiating the nation-wide Moratorium talks was originally formed by David Hawk and Sam Brown, leaders in the McCarthy campaign. The Vietnam Moratorium Committee was established to bring discussion of the war into the open. However, according to a campus spokesman, the movement was not expected to gain the solidarity that it holds at the present time.

The position of the Vietnam Moratorium Committee is stated in the Congressional Record of Sept. 24, 1960. It reads, in part, as follows: "... the Vietnam Moratorium Committee proposes that on Oct. 15 all who desire an end to American military involvement in Vietnam should make their views publicly known. Students, workers, clergymen and interested groups of citizens are asked to cease from their normal activities on that day and to take up their anti-war position known as they-see fit. The Committee proposes these actions as expressions of public opinion and hopes they will serve to educate the administration and the public at large. As expressions of legitimate political opinion these public demonstrations are envisaged by the Committee as being totally lawful and orderly. The Committee does not encourage acts of civil disobedience or violent confrontation."

In CBS "Face the Nation" Sunday, Brown expressed the feeling that labor is backing the Moratorium as an expression of public sentiment and the high cost of living, which are directly connected with the war.

Job interview process detailed to seniors

"Employers are not the opposition. Just prepare for the interview," said Eugene A. Rittenhouse recently in the Little Theater while addressing prospective graduates. Sponsored by Tau Sigma, the program dealt with the qualifications needed in obtaining employment after graduation. Sponsored by Tau Sigma, the program dealt with the qualifications needed in obtaining employment after graduation.

In the past decade, UTC has made significant contributions to this country's aerospace technology through research, development, and production of rockets, propellants, and advanced propulsion systems. As a forecaster in the development of solid-propellant rocketry, UTC is now the leader in the field of hybrid rocketry, employing a combination of solid and liquid rocket technology. In addition, UTC has a continuous program to improve materials in the field of hybrid rocketry, employing a combination of solid and liquid rocket technology. UTC is now the leader in the field of hybrid rocketry, employing a combination of solid and liquid rocket technology.

Rittenhouse explained that company representatives are not impressed by interviews and describe the interview process as one of the most crucial steps in the recruitment process. The interview process is critical as it provides an opportunity for candidates to showcase their qualifications and abilities to potential employers.

He stated that all seniors seeking employment after graduation should come to the Placement Bureau early in their senior year. Since most interviews take place in the early stages of the process, it is necessary for seniors to apply early.

Rittenhouse explained that company representatives look for the following qualifications in prospective employees:

- Attractive, well-groomed individuals naturally are the ones sought by company representatives. Sloppy clothes, love beads, bare feet and an unnecessary display of early or shaggy hair obviously doesn't impress the interviewer. Campus casuals are not considered appropriate. Women are advised to use little make-up, along with toned down clothes and hairstyles. Men should wear white shirts, ties and suits.
- Being on time, having previous preparation and having the ability to set natural coupled with good manners, comprise the basic elements which make a good impression on the representative. Cheering gum and smoking are off limits for the interview.
- Ample books and pamphlets on interviews can be found in the Placement Office located in room 213 of the Administration Building.

Candidate should remember that the resume is an example of the senior's ability and should include information about his background. A portrait photograph should be included with the resume. These photographs are used by the company to associate the resumes and therefore should be of quality that will flatter the candidate. Better projects should also be mentioned in the resume. Any photographs showing the work done on the project is beneficial.

Rittenhouse emphasized that company representatives are looking for persons who speak distinctly and discuss their attitudes.

From outer space to inner earth.

UTC has recently completed a multimillion-dollar complex to operate chemical milling plant and to manufacture metal products, ranging from small machined parts to large rocket motor cases. In addition, UTC has a continuous program to develop and market by-products of its aerospace activities. From the knowledge gained in work with glass fiber rocket motor cases, UTC developed and is now mass-producing—the first significant improvement in fluid conveyance materials in the 20th Century—Tecite glass fiber reinforced-plastic mortar pipe.

Achievements such as those require the diverse skills of college graduates with these educational backgrounds:

- Chemical Engineering
- Industrial Engineering
- Electrical & Electronic Engineering
- Metallurgical & Engineering

Rodeo team competing in Redding for opener

The Cal Poly Rodeo Team, in practicing for the west coast region’s first National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association rodeo, was selected to represent Poly at Shasta College in Redding on Oct. 18 and 19.

The men’s team chosen to represent Poly at Shasta’s annual rodeo includes Larry Ferguson, Tom Ferguson, Melvin Dick, Greg Riedel, Richard Melickian and Jerry Koile. Sharon Meffan, Donna Carter, and Robin Duncanson make up the women’s team.

Men’s captain Larry Ferguson, a junior A.B.M. major from San Martin, worked the timed events.

Tom Ferguson, also from San Martin, and a timed events contestant, is a freshman A.B.M. major.

Jerry Koile, a junior animal husbandry major who helped last year’s team win the west coast region and place fifth in the national Intercollegiate standings, also works the timed events.

Melvin Dick, a senior A.B.M. major from Lake View, Oregon, is one of the team’s rough stock riders.

Greg Riedel, rodeo chairman for the coming year and rough stock rider, is a senior animal husbandry major from Jamestown.

Richard Melickian, a senior animal husbandry major from Lonedell, also works the riding events.

Bill Freeman, Baker, Ore., and Dennis Pleasant, San Luis Obispoo, both rough stock riders, are the team’s alternates.

Sharon Meffan, runner-up N.I.R.A. rodeo queen for 1969, is a senior A.B.M. major from Bondono Beach who helped the women’s team place third in the national standings last season.

Donna Carter, a senior P.E. major from Salinas, and Robin Duncanson a social science major from Oakdale, compete in the breakaway roping, barrel race and goat tying events.

Cattle journal praises Ag Dept

This school’s Animal Science Department was the topic of a feature article in the Aberdeen Angus Journal, a 445 page magazine for cattlemen.

The article, written by John V. Buchman, an animal science instructor, describes this School of Agriculture as “...one of the largest and best college agricultural programs in the nation.

Illustrations of students, livestock, and personnel are included in the hard reference edition of the American Angus Association official publication.

Buchman concludes his article: “The students’ experience at Cal Poly is believed to be outstanding as it provides young men and women with both a working knowledge of the ranch operation and an intimate appreciation of the livestock environment.”

“At our college the students find out for themselves if what they study in the classroom really works in the field,” he says.

Minn okayed to ethnic studies

Appointment of Minn Je Minn of the Physical Education Department to the school’s Ribbic Studies Committee has been approved by President Robert E. Kennedy.

A native of Korea, Minn replaces Sharon Kerr of the P.E. Department, who is on leave this year as a committee member.

Other members of the committee, which was established last year, are: Mrs. Marlee E. Pfaff, Home Economics Administration; Allan R. Tilton, Business Administration; Allen C. Saunders, Music.

Richard Martinez, other ethnic studies coordinator, heads the group.

Pratt & Whitney Aircraft: "CAVU* and Visibility Unlimited"

At Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, “CAVU* and visibility unlimited” is not just an expression. For example, the President of our parent corporation joined P & W A only two years after receiving an engineering degree. The preceding President, now Chairman, never worked for any other company. The current President of P & W A started in our engineering department as an experimental engineer and moved up to his present position. In fact, the majority of our senior officers all have one thing in common — degrees in an engineering or scientific field.

To insure CAVU*, we select our engineers and scientists carefully. Motivate them well. Give them the equipment and facilities only a leader can provide. Offer them company-paid, graduate education opportunities. Encourage them to push into fields that have not been explored before. Keep them reaching for a little bit more responsibility than they can manage. Reward them well when they do manage it.

Your degree can be a B.S., M.S., or Ph.D. in: MECHANICAL — AERONAUTICAL — ELECTRICAL — CHEMICAL — CIVIL — MARINE — INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING — PHYSICS — CHEMISTRY — METALLURGY — MATERIALS SCIENCE — CERAMICS — MATHEMATICS — STATISTICS — COMPUTER SCIENCE — ENGINEERING SCIENCE — ENGINEERING MECHANICS.

Consult your college placement officer — or write Mr. William L. Stoner, Engineering Department, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford, Connecticut 06108.

CAVU* might also mean full utilization of your technical skills through a wide range of challenging programs which include jet engines for the newest military and commercial aircraft, gas turbines for industrial and marine use, rocket engines for space programs, fuel cells for space vehicles and terrestrial uses, and other advanced systems.

Nixon views untouched by demonstrations

WASHINGTON (UPI)-President Nixon has reaffirmed his dedication to achieving peace in Vietnam but restated his intention not to be swayed by today's anti-war demonstrations.

"It is obvious to me we can learn from the demonstrations," Nixon said in a letter to Randy J. Dicks, a student of Georgetown University.

"The policies we are now following reflect our own best judgment, based on exhaustive study of all the available evidence," he wrote.

Since Nixon's statement of Sept. 26, there has been strong criticism among supporters of the moratorium-in which demonstrations are planned in all parts of the country-and others.

White House aides subsequently hinted publicly and privately that it would be a mistake to infer from the statement that the President was indifferent to three Americans anxious for the quickest possible withdrawal of Americans from Vietnam.

In his letter to Dicks, made public by the White House Monday, Nixon said he recognized and respected "the right of each American to express his own opinion." But as chief executive, he had a different responsibility.

"If a president, any president, should allow his course to be set by those who demonstrate, he would lose the trust of all the most—those who demonstrate, he would lose the trust of all the rest of the people as well.

"The policies we are now following reflect our own best judgment, based on exhaustive study of all the available evidence," he wrote.

Reagan aids the Viet Cong

SACRAMENTO (UPI)-Gov. Ronald Reagan said Monday that the administration was already well aware of widespread sentiment against the war on the part of many Americans, that some Americans consider U.S. participation immoral and that many want U.S. troops withdrawn immediately and unconditionally.

"There is nothing new we can learn from the demonstrations," Nixon said. "Whatever the issues, to allow government policy to be made in the streets would destroy the democratic process.

"It would give the decision, not to the majority, and not to those with the strongest arguments, but to those with the loudest voices. It would destroy statecraft to slogans. It would invite anarchy. It would reduce statecraft to anarchy.

"I must consider the consequence of each proposed course of action, short-term and long-term, domestic and worldwide, direct and indirect."

"Others can say of Vietnam, 'get out now,' when asked how they can give the simple, flip answer: 'by sea.' They can only conclude that history was rightly condemned 'a president who looked each a corner.'"

Hunger show

HAYWARD (UPI)-Bankers of "Lifeflight Earth" said they have found a site for their "media theater" demonstration of the population problem. Last Saturday, they jammed a group of people into a huge inflatable "pillow" without food to see how they can last without food if they go In. Nixon said.

"We have no idea how the war is going to come out, any more than we know how the [New York] Giants are going to come out," the hackers said.

Reagan said the North Vietnamese government knows "the only way they can win is here in the streets of America and not in Vietnam."

"I don't care how sincere the demonstrators are in their mission, they are heading off a good public relations program," he said.

He then declared:

"I don't care how sincere the demonstrators are in their mission, they are heading off a good public relations program."

"I must consider the consequences of each proposed course of action, short-term and long-term, domestic and worldwide, direct and indirect."

"Others can say of Vietnam, 'get out now.' when asked how they can give the simple, flip answer: 'by sea.' They can only conclude that history was rightly condemned "a president who looked each a corner."

Students to manage sheep beginning spring quarter

Animal Husbandry students here will have an opportunity to gain practical experience with range sheep as the result of development of additional sheep rangelands.

Richard Herriott, Animal Husbandry Department faculty member in charge of sheep programs, says, "A flock of 600 lambs is being grown on land near the main campus. The flock eventually will contain 360 ewes. A former beef range is being converted to sheep pasture.

This development is possible because of the addition of 1,700 acres of rangeland acquired from San Luis Obispo in 1964. In Spring Quarter the department will have sufficient sheep and work on the conversion. As outlined in the range sheep program, students will be able to undertake management of this new enterprise.

The result of the efforts of the former resident of New York City and Mendoza, N. J., in the Latin American nation is the Penny Foundation, which aids 45 self-help projects ranging from cooperatives to the first regular medical care some rural villages have ever received.

Prior to his retirement from business in 1963, Greene had a successful career of buying alling businesses and restoring their health.

In contrast, according to the New York Times, he is now a busy as ever trying to doctor a sick economic and social system in Guatemala.

In Guatemala City inspecting the 360-acre farm, Greene, 71, will be a guest of President Robert E. Kennedy during his stay in San Luis Obispo. He hosted Dr. Kennedy in 1968 while the ruling president was in Guatemala City inspecting the efforts for the Development Program there.

What ever happened to those... Mets?

The Mets in the World Series? Impossible! Yet, through some strange twist of fate, it's happened. The New York Mets, who finished ninth in the National League with an offensive total of 787 losses in their first seven years of existence. In their first year of competition, they led the National League in errors with 810 and their pitching staff gave up a league record of 198 home runs.

What ever happened, you ask, to those fine old clowns who acted as if winning was some dreaded disease and did their best not to catch it? The Mets' style of play was exemplified by their grand total of 177 losses in their first seven years of existence. Yet there were still many others who did not think the young New Yorkers could go beyond the new best three out of five series with the powerful Atlanta Braves. Incidentally, why the Las Vegas oddsmakers made the Mets 8-5 underdogs?

Could it be that the Mets' style of play was that of the young Mets? The Mets spectators by completely smashing the Braves en route to a three-game sweep and the National League Championship.

"Those were the real Mets." The Mets, perhaps taking this to heart, then proceeded to overcome a 9-game Chicago lead and top off with the National League's Eastern Division Title. Many baseball observers believe the Mets have gained a believer.

The Mets surprised even the most faithful of Mets fans by making the World Champions.

The Mets are for real.

One of the biggest indications of how much Mets fans believe in their team is shown by the attendance figures. The Mets, who have always had huge followings in New York (over a million fans in each of their last six seasons), this year set a new high by drawing well over two million packed-stadium New Yorkers to their ball park. A figure the Mets players will become more aware of when it comes time to negotiate next year's contract.
