School to close doors to new students

Only 400 additional students in special categories will be admitted to this college for the Winter and Spring quarters of 1970. Enrollment this Fall quarter was 11,378, about 550 more than projected. More than 300 other fully qualified applicants were denied admission for the Fall quarter when it became obvious that enrollment in a number of instructional departments had exceeded facility and faculty resources.

The reason for the limited enrollment is that state college budgets are developed more than a year in advance of funding by the Legislature and are based primarily on projected enrollment for each college and the system as a whole. Enrollment surges were experienced by most of the other 18 state colleges as there are no extra funds available for redistribution.

Students who complete their work at the end of the Fall and Winter Quarters and those who drop out for other reasons are being replaced by additional students even though this method will give the school an annual average enrollment above its budgeted capacity, according to Pres. Robert E. Kennedy.

Continuing students, those now in attendance at the school, are not affected by the enrollment decision, except insofar as classes will continue to be as overcrowded as they were during the Fall Quarter, Dr. Kennedy explained.

The 400 additional students to be admitted for the Winter Quarter, which begins Jan. 2, include primarily former students, upper division junior college transfer students and graduate students.

Dr. Kennedy said the priorities are intended to provide for students who have already started on this campus, particularly returning veterans who have successfully completed two years at neighboring community colleges. The priorities are: the Spring Quarter's additional 400 students will depend upon an analysis of Winter Quarter enrollment. (Details of the Winter Quarter priorities for additional students will follow.)

First to be admitted under the winter priorities will be returning graduate students, division transfers from four-year colleges in California; no admissions from these categories are contemplated for the Winter Quarter.

The college does not plan winter admissions of out-of-state or foreign students. Exceptions will be made only for Agency for International Development-sponsored students, for which the school has a contractual obligation.

The reason for the limited enrollment is that state college budgets are developed more than a year in advance of funding by the Legislature and are based primarily on projected enrollment for each college and the system as a whole. Enrollment surges were experienced by most of the other 18 state colleges as there are no extra funds available for redistribution.

Students who complete their work at the end of the Fall and Winter Quarters and those who drop out for other reasons are being replaced by additional students even though this method will give the school an annual average enrollment above its budgeted capacity, according to Pres. Robert E. Kennedy.

Continuing students, those now in attendance at the school, are not affected by the enrollment decision, except insofar as classes will continue to be as overcrowded as they were during the Fall Quarter, Dr. Kennedy explained.

The 400 additional students to be admitted for the Winter Quarter, which begins Jan. 2, include primarily former students, upper division junior college transfer students and graduate students.

Blues singer, band please crowd

By GERALDINE MESSR - News Writer

A threat, the foot tapping Negro blues singer performed for a large crowd in the Men's Gym Thursday night.

His unique style and harmonica everyone know right away that he was there to perform. A threat at times like Janis Joplin or Otis Redding he definitely carries on the tradition of blues singers.

Among their many numbers, "Dive into the Blues" was a favorite. From this time, the audience felt he dove into the blues. Some of the other songs "I'm All Right," "Gotcha Change Sometime," and "Easy Rider." The dance-ploy concert also featured the Steve Miller Band.

Steve Miller's "Quicksilver Giant" and "Living in the USA" thoroughly took advantage of the sound system he brought with him. It was loud and even the drums had amplifiers.

Steve Miller, the Steve Miller Blues Band, demonstrated their prowess at playing with the tune "Hey Baby Can't You Hear Your Daddy's Heart Beat."
Letters to the editor

Chicanos condemn action of San Jose judge

Editor:

"We ought to send you out of the county. The only way to keep you is to commit suicide." The article continued: "you are lower than animals in our society probably ought to be destroyed because they have no right to live among human beings."

Were these the mouthings of a lynch mob or the rant of a racist sheriff? No. They were uttered by Judge Gerald R. Chargin, a Judge of the Superior Court of the State of California, presiding at a Juvenile hearing in San Jose.

Before the judge on Sept. 1 was a 17-year-old Chicoan youth accused of Incest involving his 16-year-old sister. He had originally pleaded not guilty, but withdrew the plea in open court.

The judge's indictment of "misbegotten, loathsome, rotten people" led Deputy Public Defender Fred Lucero to object that "the court is indicting the whole Mexican group. But... the Court is saying that Hitler was right in his racist attitude toward the Jews."

Chargin excused his behavior by saying that it is an accepted fact that these lectures are stated in harsh terms to impress upon the minds of the youth the seriousness of the situation in which they find themselves.

Nothing, however, can excuse statements such as these, so as to condemn an entire people for the actions of one individual. The judge's conclusion is made no stronger by his later statement that Judge Chargin is not qualified to sit on the bench.

The U.M.A.S. (Chicanos Unidos) club has voiced its opinion on this incident in letters to Assemblyman Jesse Unruh, State Senator Donald Orunsky, the Assemblyman Jeanne Unruh, State Governor Ronald Reagan, and the San Luis Obispo County College. We hereby publish their letter in its entirety.

Travelen pronounced our fate. We might possibly pass for miracles and leave our name untitled so that others may realize our distinctions we may be able to be proud of whatever meager distinctions we may be able to acquire. We don't hang back our ears. There are those who are proud of whatever meager distinctions we may be able to acquire, but others may have us for miracles and leave our name untitled so that others may realize our distinctions we may be able to be proud of whatever meager distinctions we may be able to acquire.

Sincerely,

Lachlan P. MacDonald Director, Information Services

Columnist's retort

Editor:

If I may, Madam Editor, I would like to comment on your remarks to a gentleman who wrote a letter to the editor on October 25, 1969; Richard J. Krejsa.

Mr. Krejsa, I see you're rather new to the Cal Poly campus scene, hence I assume you have not attended here last year. We here at Poli are proud of whatever meager distinctions we may be able to accomplish in our academic pursuits so when we gain our doctorates, particularly, we see little our name so that others may realize our distinctions. We don't bang back our ears. There are those who are proud of whatever meager distinctions we may be able to acquire, but others may have us for miracles and leave our name untitled so that others may realize our distinctions we may be able to be proud of whatever meager distinctions we may be able to acquire.

All of us experienced in the alleged circumstances, appreciate the observation of due procedures and regulations. Mr. Krejsa, you that whenever this office is notified of the death of a current faculty or staff member of if a currently enrolled student, the deceased shall be accorded the same respectful memorial.

Sincerely,

Lachlan P. MacDonald
Director, Information Services

The Mustang Daily that the Administration Building flag was flown at half-mast recently to observe the death of an Irish Student, Houshang Elmti, on Sunday, Oct. 3. Responsibility for notifying the Security Department to fly flags at half-mast on the day of the funeral or memorial service for any faculty, staff member or student while associated with the college is given to the Director of Information Services, according to Section 580.3 of the College Administrative Manual.

Whenever such a death occurs and this office receives the information we immediately determine whether the person was indeed, at the time of death, a faculty or staff member or an enrolled student. In the case of William Garner, who was killed in September, we were informed that although he was enrolled during the summer quarter, he was not currently enrolled. Therefore, there was no question of comparing the circumstances of the death of an American student, but only of determining whether, within the meaning of the act, which makes him unfit to serve the people of the situation in which they find themselves.

Nothing, however, can excuse statements such as these, so as to condemn an entire people for the actions of one individual. The judge's conclusion is made no stronger by his later statement that Judge Chargin is not qualified to sit on the bench.

The U.M.A.S. (Chicanos Unidos) club has voiced its opinion on this incident in letters to Assemblyman Jesse Unruh, State Senator Donald Orunsky, the Assemblyman Jeanne Unruh, State Governor Ronald Reagan, and the San Luis Obispo County College. We hereby publish their letter in its entirety.

Travelen pronounced our fate. We might possibly pass for miracles and leave our name untitled so that others may realize our distinctions we may be able to be proud of whatever meager distinctions we may be able to acquire.

Sincerely,

Lachlan P. MacDonald
Director, Information Services

RecaPs

7.95

plus

Tax & exchange

any size

(Black)

White $1.00 more

TIRE REPAIR

1351 MONTEREY ST.
543-1900
Forum fails to attract crowd

by BRIAN DAVIE
Staff Writer

The ranks of the silent and un­announced crowd on the stage were evidently swollen on camp­us last Friday.

A forum that scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. last Friday in the Amphitheater behind the library, attracted two groups of students each partici­pating to have a small group discussion.

Among those in the scene of the scheduled forum at 10 a.m. would have seen a tall, lanky figure standing in front of the stage waiting for a gathering that was never going to arrive in the large numbers some had expected.

"The ASI officers wanted to set a place up to give everyone who wanted to have a chance to speak about their views on the war issues," said Krege.

Individuals who had been active in setting up many of the activities for the Oct. 15 Moratorium were present by 11 a.m. as well as the featured speakers from the college representing several different points of view on the issue.

Although the small group of people, numbering 10 at one time, had no need for the microphone and public address system that had been provided it didn't prevent them from sitting down in a circle on the lawn and commencing with a searching discussion that covered more than just the Viet­nam issue.

"It's not just Vietnam but the insanity of other things that are going on," said one student who opened the discussion.

"I was called by several students who questioned allowing the auto caravan from Whittier to make a rest stop here," said Krege. "I told them we were providing a microphone and a place for them to come and state their opinions about it if they so desired."

The auto caravan which was expected to arrive here shortly after 5 p.m. Friday never did show up in strength. It was raining and, cold at the time the caravan was expected to arrive.

Several cars bearing posters and signs advertising the "March Against Death" to San Francisco met in front of the Men's Gym between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. Friday. Cars never did arrive in the numbers that would have made the use of the 84 parking lot that had been scheduled for them necessary.

The auto caravan was destined for Stanford Memorial Church in Palo Alto where it was to join with the demonstrators throughout California for Saturday's "March Against Death" in San Francisco.

KCPR, campus radio trades cramped quarters

After one year of broadcasting from cramped quarters, KCPR, our campus-owned radio station, made its move to a larger studio.

The new "Control Room," as it is called, is located in Graphic Arts Building. Now, a room formerly used by the radio station as a recording studio.

The move, which totally interrupted KCPR's broadcasting Monday night, required 20 hours to complete and cost $80, a staggering figure to an educational non­profit station. The entire cost of relocating was devoted to the wires and cables necessary to move the broadcast facility by just 20 linear feet. According to Glenn Daly, engineering consultant for KCPR, the cost could have been reduced slightly by knocking a hole in the wall that separates the old and new studio rooms and by laying the wires across the floor instead. The more practical solution of feeding the wires through 33 feet of wall and floor conduit was employed.

"Practically, the move is only temporary until January or February," reports Bill Gurui, program director. By that time, we hope to be settled in our permanent facilities next door.

"Next door" refers to room 302 of the Graphic Arts Building. Now used as a classroom, the college plans to renovate it during Christmas break to provide a still newer control room, "plus an empty room, an audition room, and office space for the announcers."

We couldn't afford to wait," Gurui commented. "The majority of our pre-recorded programs are taped in these facilities, and class announcements had to cease immediately, and not, at 4 p.m., so that the DJ could begin his show."

Now the DJs will operate from a new renovated studio facility and production personnel can continue their work during broadcast hours.

KCPR is known as "College Station Radio," began operation in Fall Quarter as a recognized FM educational station at a frequency of 91.3 MHz. Although presently operating with a power of 3 watts, a 10-watt transmitter has been ordered and will be in operation by Winter Quarter. In addition, an extension of broadcast hours, presently 8 p.m. to 2 a.m., has been planned.
Editor's note: Dr. Fred Rizzo is an English Instructor in his first quarter of instruction on this campus. He has published verse and articles in several national and regional publications. Rizzo has experienced draft counselor and in this guest article to Mustang Daily he explains his views on war, draft and patriotism.

by DR. FRED RIZZO

Contrary to what many people think, the great majority of people promoting the U. S. government's policies are promoting precisely because they are patriotic, not because they are critical of patriotism. I have been involved in the peace movement for several years and like most of the other people in the movement my involvement is motivated by a belief in the democratic principles expressed in the Declaration of Indepedence and the Constitution. I have no difficulty signing the oath of loyalty to the Constitution of the United States. But I find it hard to believe that a number of people in our government, Nixon and Agnew can be so out with each other a clear conscience.

What have these leaders done to make their decisions about the country? They have, time and time again, been dismissive of the democratic principles that they profess to believe. There are few examples of the gap between what they have said and what they have done. The U.S. signed the United Nations Charter and agreed not to intervene by force in the affairs of other nations unless the United Nations gave its approval.

Specifically, the U.N. Charter reads:

"All members shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any state, or in any other manner inconsistent with the Purposes of the United Nations."

The United Nations did approve of our involvement in Korea, but has not approved of our intervention there. In fact, the Secretary-General of the U.N., U Thant, on frequent occasions has publicly condemned our intervention there.

In 1964, after the Vietnamese defeated the French in the Indochina War, a number of nations intervened at Geneva and agreed to follow specific procedures aimed at peacefully settling the country and bringing democratic elections. The procedures were called the Geneva Agreements, and the United States didn't sign those Agreements, she didn't even send her delegate, Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, agree to abide by them.

President Eisenhower said:

"I have never talked or negotiated with a person knowledgeable in Indochinese affairs who did not agree that had been elections been held, possibly per cent of the population would have voted for the Communist Ho Chi Minh as their leader."

Because U.S. intervention the country remained divided and a civil war was started by those who merely wanted to carry out the laws that all of the involved parties had agreed upon.

"What is the problem with this war had on the freedom of U. S. citizens? Throughout our attention was focused on market forces, we have at home, the Vietnam War has caused an especially tragic situation for many men of draft age. Those whose consciences tell them the war is immoral are faced with very negative choices, and these choices point out further that the government says and what the government does. We are told that freedom of the individual is one of the main concerns of democracy, but if men of draft age believe the immorality and refuse to be inducted, they can be drafted and have been sent to jail. They can leave the country to avoid imprisonment. They can also apply for the status of conscientious objector (C.O.), but in order to qualify legally to be a C.O., one must be against all wars. The U. S. draft laws do not respect a man's personal decision as to whether or not a war is just or unjust, nor do they respect the Supreme Court of the United States. He has said that there is a moral obligation for Americans to stop the government of the United States today refused to accept the was laughin' while I was hangin' on. That was the best feeling I've ever had. They already flashed it at me through the window. They were diggin' it. Why did they do it?

Mike's traumatic trip

(Continued from p. 1)

Mike said he crawled, walked, ran—and eventually got back to town. He was worried about Steve, afraid of blowing the whole thing.

Back in town, five miles away from the freeway sewer, Mike filed a nine-page report with the city police. "The police in this town are good people," he said, "but there are a few people in this town who would like to see this whole thing fall apart."

"I'm a hippie. I'm one of the hippies," Agnew's rotten people. "We are a minority, but we are a minority."

"Tell me about it."

"Tell me about it." The fact that he is. The fact that he is.

"I'm going to get back to L.A. to make some money... and for myself... and for Steve's folks."

"I'm going to get back to L.A. to make some money... and for myself... and for Steve's folks."

"I'm going to get back to L.A."

A week later, Nov. 11, Mike sat in his living room in Koreatown, more hopeful.

"I just know Steve is gonna make it," he said, knowing Steve's condition was still critical.

"I'm at the point where I don't know what to do. I can't help those two guys or not. I just want Steve to be all right."

"Don't worry about it," Com. He wants to give the money to Steve's folks. He said the hospital bill may come to $20,000. People in the same situation will have to come find them at home. 1099 Phillips Street.

"I'm not down on those two guys. I'm at the point where I think I can identify them... but I'll be happy when Steve gets back on his feet."

The day after the incident, Mike said he wanted to take Steve's guitar to the University of California break-fast program for south county children. A week later, he said the Free University will likely be moving away. He said he may leave, too.

"I'm going back to L.A. to make some money... and for myself... and for Steve's folks."

"I'm going back to L.A. to make some money... and for myself... and for Steve's folks."

"I'm going back to L.A."

The plan called for the proposed tuition free university and state college system to be proposed to the people of the state. This new charge was added in addition to the existing fees, which now average $50 a year at the UC campuses and $18 a year at the state colleges.

According to Dr. Ale,

"The regents are the only ones who can impose tuition at the university. If they do so, the California State College Trustees are expected to do the same."

The proposed tuition is $50 a year for the nine campuses of the University of California at Berkeley and the 18 state colleges. These new charges are added in addition to the existing fees, which now average $50 a year at the UC campuses and $18 a year at the state colleges.

"I'm going back to L.A."

The plan called for the proposed tuition free university and state college system to be proposed to the people of the state. This new charge was added in addition to the existing fees, which now average $50 a year at the UC campuses and $18 a year at the state colleges.

According to Dr. Ale,

"The regents are the only ones who can impose tuition at the university. If they do so, the California State College Trustees are expected to do the same."

"I'm going back to L.A."

The plan called for the proposed tuition free university and state college system to be proposed to the people of the state. This new charge was added in addition to the existing fees, which now average $50 a year at the UC campuses and $18 a year at the state colleges.

According to Dr. Ale,

"The regents are the only ones who can impose tuition at the university. If they do so, the California State College Trustees are expected to do the same."

"I'm going back to L.A."

The plan called for the proposed tuition free university and state college system to be proposed to the people of the state. This new charge was added in addition to the existing fees, which now average $50 a year at the UC campuses and $18 a year at the state colleges.

According to Dr. Ale,

"The regents are the only ones who can impose tuition at the university. If they do so, the California State College Trustees are expected to do the same."

"I'm going back to L.A."

The plan called for the proposed tuition free university and state college system to be proposed to the people of the state. This new charge was added in addition to the existing fees, which now average $50 a year at the UC campuses and $18 a year at the state colleges.

"I'm going back to L.A.

The plan called for the proposed tuition free university and state college system to be proposed to the people of the state. This new charge was added in addition to the existing fees, which now average $50 a year at the UC campuses and $18 a year at the state colleges.

"I'm going back to L.A."

The plan called for the proposed tuition free university and state college system to be proposed to the people of the state. This new charge was added in addition to the existing fees, which now average $50 a year at the UC campuses and $18 a year at the state colleges.

"I'm going back to L.A."

The plan called for the proposed tuition free university and state college system to be proposed to the people of the state. This new charge was added in addition to the existing fees, which now average $50 a year at the UC campuses and $18 a year at the state colleges.

"I'm going back to L.A."

The plan called for the proposed tuition free university and state college system to be proposed to the people of the state. This new charge was added in addition to the existing fees, which now average $50 a year at the UC campuses and $18 a year at the state colleges.
History of California radical dissent

by Verena Trilchke
Senior Court Judge William P. Dart, Jr., speaking before a meeting of the California College Republicans, concisely traced the recent history of radical dissent in California. He began with the famous Abolitionist demonstrations, aimed at the House Committee on Un-American Activities in San Francisco in 1961, and concluded with the People’s Park incidents of last spring in Berkeley.

These two occurrences, as well as most of the other disruptions which radical organizations have perpetrated in the last few years, were accidental. Often the same people were involved in leading both protests and participating in them. The philosophical thread connecting them has been Marxist, basically.

The New Left loves a confrontation; this is the most effective method it has of forcing concessions for its demands from whatever authority it is challenging. The attack usually is aimed at a weak institution, so that every sort of “victory” is more or less assured.

Efforts on behalf of a certain cause no longer bear fruit, radical emotion may be transferred to the centers of possible protest. When Dr. Hayakawa stood fast against the new barbarians at San Francisco State it was not accidental that soon afterward Berkeley became the focal point of violence. The Berkeley confrontation featured an assembly of anti-Semite Berkeley street people and some students in what appeared to be a beautification project.

The radicals attempted to take a “moral” piece of private property for their own use. Had they succeeded, this would have been their masterpiece. The manifesto of the People’s Park protestors is thoroughly anti-capitalistic, and anti-American. These readers who have had the opportunity to bear the propaganda tirades of Radio Peace on the shortwave would be struck by the similarity between the wording of the manifesto and the words of the announcers on the radio voice of Communist China.

Perhaps the greatest victory the New Left has achieved to date is one of deception. Many who oppose the radicals do so because they feel the protesters want to tear down our institutions, but have nothing with which to replace them. That, unfortunately, is not the case. The New Left is attempting a socialist revolution in the United States and in order to pull this deception off against the American people they must tear down our morals, our morals and our resolve to remain a free people.

Today, in the face of common sense and National Unity, the organized militant Left is attempting to hoodwink as many innocent students as possible into its camp of moratorium; this is the most effective method it has of forcing concessions for its demands from whatever authority it is challenging. The attack usually is aimed at a weak institution, so that every sort of “victory” is more or less assured.

For further information contact Sandy Bursan at 546-3714.

Recreation club slates dinner

The Community Recreation Club of this campus is sponsoring a Career, Recreation and Parks Night tomorrow in the Mesa Gym.

Students will be able to visit and obtain literature from many different exhibits concerning the different recreational departments. Also included in the ceremonies will be a steak dinner served in the staff dining room and guest speaker Dr. Stanley R. Gabrielsen chairmain of recreation at Cal State Long Beach.

The activities will last from 6 to 9 p.m. and the charge will be $2.50.

WAGERS STUDIO
Photography by Richard
★ Senior Portraits
★ Natural Color
★ Evening Appointments
864 Higuera
543-5796

Food drive slated

Gamma Sigma Sigma, the girl’s service sorority, will hold a Scavenger Hunt tomorrow night at 7 p.m. Food from the drive will be used for Thanksgiving baskets for the needy.

For further information contact Sandy Bursan at 546-3714.

Sears

MERCHANDISING · CREDIT MANAGEMENT · CONTROLLERS

Interviews

November 25, 1969

Sears

Mustang Daily Tuesday, November 18, 1969—Page 5

An equal opportunity employer
The Fickle Finger

Letter criticizes state school policies

by TIM DOLAN

The following is an open letter to the Governor of California.

Governor Reagan:

First let us congratulate you, your staff, those who voted for you, and the public relations firm of Spencer and Robbins which packed and sold your candidates and gave you suitable scripts to read.

The subject of our congratulations concerns yet another victory for your side in your battle to destroy higher education in this state.

We refer, of course, to the proposal to charge tuition at state operated colleges and universities.

We further congratulate your masterful strokes of public relations in leading the voters of this state to sit still for your education policies.

You and your staff have somehow managed to convince the people of this state that it is better for them in the long run to pay less money, but cost it it's future.

With your tuition program comes the tragic probability that the poor, the black, the brown, and the red members of our society will have an even smaller chance of obtaining an education.

To them, Governor Reagan, you will have closed another door. You will have added credence to their charge that the system is stacked against them.

To your precious private sector, you have dealt a staggering blow. From where will come the scientific farmers to keep the agriculture of the state, the scientists that can be trained in the specialized industry of Southern California which incidentally is the part of the state where you are strongest politically? From where will come the scientific farmers to keep the state's farm production growing?

By the way, farmers form another group that backs you, Governor Reagan. From where will come the managerial talent to staff the businesses, which also support you?

Indeed, from where will come the people you need to staff your public relations specialists who will package and sell future Republican governors and write speeches for them. You, in torpedoing the state, also torpedo yourself.

At the next election, you will only be able to present a list of things that your administration hasn't done—not a list of accomplishments, things that it has done.

A dangerous as all this is, Governor, there is another element in your campaign against education that is truly deadly. There is more than a grain of truth in the statement that educated people disagree with you politically.

When you came into office, you promised to erect certain "benches."—that was the term you used to guide student behavior relative to politics. You subsequently stated that the state education system should be apolitical—that is, without politics.

We suppose that this is a fair policy, provided that it is enforced consistently.

You have gassed protestors at the University of California because they "disrupted the educational process." Coincidentally, you happen to be in violent political disagreement with them.

However, your administration did mail letters to faculty members of the state colleges during President Nixon's campaign a year ago. The letters were not printed at state expense, but they did carry the state seal and were agreed by Houston Flournoy as state comptroller, not as a private citizen.

The letters exhorted the faculty member to get out and work for the Nixon campaign.

We shudder to think what would happen had Rap Brown or Eldridge Cleaver sent such a letter. Governor Reagan, if you intend to keep politics off the campuses, do so, but do so consistently.

One can't help but to conclude that political action is permissible as long as it agrees with you. The tacitly official posture of the state government in squelching student political protest and withdrawing financial support from the colleges—under the guise of economy—because of social and political disagreement (while working at political action on the part of your supporters) is no way to run a democracy.

It is un-American in the strictest sense of the word. It is worthy of Nazis and Communists—whose practices you verbally condemn, but actually emulate.

Unlike you, Governor Reagan, we take the Constitution literally. A man is free to follow his own politics without the threat of being gassed. It is your duty to protect those rights, not to destroy them.

We urge you to stop the persecution of education in California simply because the educated tend to disagree with you. We urge you to stop using the guise of a flag waving Americanism to cover practices which take away the rights of citizens rather than protect them.

It is apparent that as a college student, you weren't very successful. Then as a movie star, you weren't the greatest.

Finally, as governor, you leave a lot to be desired.

Sincerely,

Tim Dolan

Columnist, Mustang Daily.

Showing your horse next Spring?

You can get your horse ready this winter at

REDWING RANCH

Boarding Stables — Indoor Arena

Work your horse day or night

Rain or shine.

5053 Santa Barbara Rd.
San Luis Obispo

543-1476 544-6411

I know the way home with my eyes closed.

When you know the way too well, because driving makes you drowsy, even if you've had plenty of sleep.

If that happens on your way home take two NoDoz, it'll help you drive home with your eyes open.

NoDoz. No car should be without it.

The Fickle Finger

Letter criticizes state school policies

by TIM DOLAN

The following is an open letter to the Governor of California.

Governor Reagan:

First let us congratulate you, your staff, those who voted for you, and the public relations firm of Spencer and Robbins which packed and sold your candidates and gave you suitable scripts to read.

The subject of our congratulations concerns yet another victory for your side in your battle to destroy higher education in this state.

We refer, of course, to the proposal to charge tuition at state operated colleges and universities.

We further congratulate your masterful strokes of public relations in leading the voters of this state to sit still for your education policies.

You and your staff have somehow managed to convince the people of this state that it is better for them in the long run to pay less money, but cost it it's future.

With your tuition program comes the tragic probability that the poor, the black, the brown, and the red members of our society will have an even smaller chance of obtaining an education.

To them, Governor Reagan, you will have closed another door. You will have added credence to their charge that the system is stacked against them.

To your precious private sector, you have dealt a staggering blow. From where will come the scientific farmers to keep the agriculture of the state, the scientists that can be trained in the specialized industry of Southern California which incidentally is the part of the state where you are strongest politically? From where will come the scientific farmers to keep the state's farm production growing?

By the way, farmers form another group that backs you, Governor Reagan. From where will come the managerial talent to staff the businesses, which also support you?

Indeed, from where will come the people you need to staff your public relations specialists who will package and sell future Republican governors and write speeches for them. You, in torpedoing the state, also torpedo yourself.

At the next election, you will only be able to present a list of things that your administration hasn't done—not a list of accomplishments, things that it has done.

A dangerous as all this is, Governor, there is another element in your campaign against education that is truly deadly. There is more than a grain of truth in the statement that educated people disagree with you politically.

When you came into office, you promised to erect certain "benches."—that was the term you used to guide student behavior relative to politics. You subsequently stated that the state education system should be apolitical—that is, without politics.

We suppose that this is a fair policy, provided that it is enforced consistently.

You have gassed protestors at the University of California because they "disrupted the educational process." Coincidentally, you happen to be in violent political disagreement with them.

However, your administration did mail letters to faculty members of the state colleges during President Nixon's campaign a year ago. The letters were not printed at state expense, but they did carry the state seal and were agreed by Houston Flournoy as state comptroller, not as a private citizen.

The letters exhorted the faculty member to get out and work for the Nixon campaign.

We shudder to think what would happen had Rap Brown or Eldridge Cleaver sent such a letter. Governor Reagan, if you intend to keep politics off the campuses, do so, but do so consistently.

One can't help but to conclude that political action is permissible as long as it agrees with you. The tacitly official posture of the state government in squelching student political protest and withdrawing financial support from the colleges—under the guise of economy—because of social and political disagreement (while working at political action on the part of your supporters) is no way to run a democracy.

It is un-American in the strictest sense of the word. It is worthy of Nazis and Communists—whose practices you verbally condemn, but actually emulate.

Unlike you, Governor Reagan, we take the Constitution literally. A man is free to follow his own politics without the threat of being gassed. It is your duty to protect those rights, not to destroy them.

We urge you to stop the persecution of education in California simply because the educated tend to disagree with you. We urge you to stop using the guise of a flag waving Americanism to cover practices which take away the rights of citizens rather than protect them.

It is apparent that as a college student, you weren't very successful. Then as a movie star, you weren't the greatest.

Finally, as governor, you leave a lot to be desired.

Sincerely,

Tim Dolan

Columnist, Mustang Daily.
Students work through college

Well, Ma'am, I'm kind of a bellboy.

This was the answer given by an architecture major when asked: "How do you finance your way through school?"

Not all of us are blessed with a talent, but many students on this campus have their own unique way of earning money to attend school.

Dave Kristof, a math major, plans this summer between San Francisco, Hawaii and Los Angeles, to make between $250 and $300 a week as a bellboy on an ocean liner. The only hang-up was the two months of work and the suit and tie I had to wear.

Pete Vandemeynide, an agricultural business major, makes extra money by selling household products.

"I work about six hours a week as a Janitor. I make enough to support myself."

Dan Lack, who lacks among students, is a part-time employee on this campus. This Insures the availability of jobs for all students applying under the Work-Study Program.

The happy I am when I'm straight is more beautiful than the happy I seemed to be when I was stoned."

"The girl in the picture is named Chris. For over a year, she was on amphetamines, powerful drugs known as "speed." This is how she describes it:

"I think 'speed' is a lot worse than heroin. Kids have got to know about it, because they can fall so easily into taking it through the diet pill hassle, or needing something to help them study. You know, that's crazy. Because the combination of amphetamines and no sleep just blows your memory completely."

"For me to stop taking it, I had to feel that people were caring. And they were. I was really lucky. I was very close to two people that were really into amphetamines very deeply, and I loved them a lot. But as far as they were concerned, the only thing that they had was the 'meth,' and that was their life. And they've both died."

"Dexies," "bennies," "meth" are all called "speed" these days. And people who know "speed" know "speed" kills!

For more facts about drugs, write for free booklets to:

National Institute of Mental Health, Box 1080, Washington, D.C. 20013
UCSB Gauchos slide past punchless Poly

by TERRY CONNER
Sport Editor

The Mustangs gave away their third straight game in as many contests Saturday at Mustang Stadium. The series of three losses occurred as part of a weekend of homecoming when Cal Poly lost to Oregon State and the Mustangs defeated Stanford, 12-23. The final loss this season came as a result of the Mustangs' inability to score more than 13 points. This was the third straight game in which the Mustangs scored fewer than 13 points.

The Mustangs lost to Oregon State in their first game of the season. They lost to Stanford in their second game and lost to Cal Poly in their third game. The Mustangs have not won a game since their first game of the season.

The Mustangs played well in their first game of the season, but were unable to score more than 13 points. They lost to Oregon State, 12-23. In their second game, they lost to Stanford, 12-23. In their third game, they lost to Cal Poly, 12-23.

The Mustangs have not won a game since their first game of the season. They lost to Oregon State, 12-23. In their second game, they lost to Stanford, 12-23. In their third game, they lost to Cal Poly, 12-23.

The Mustangs have not won a game since their first game of the season. They lost to Oregon State, 12-23. In their second game, they lost to Stanford, 12-23. In their third game, they lost to Cal Poly, 12-23.