School to close doors to new students

Only 400 additional students in special categories will be admitted to this college for the Winter and Spring quarters of 1970. Enrollment this Fall quarter was 11,378, about 500 more than projected. More than 300 other fully qualified applicants were denied admission for the Fall quarter when it became obvious that enrollment in a number of instructional departments had exceeded facility and faculty resources. The reason for the limited enrollment is that state college budgets are developed more than a year in advance of funding by the Legislature and are based primarily on projected enrollment for each college and the system as a whole. Enrollment surges were experienced by most of the other 18 state colleges as there are no extra funds available for redistribution.

Students who complete their work at the end of the Fall and Winter Quarters and those who drop out for other reasons are being replaced by additional students even though this method will give the school an annual average enrollment above its budgeted capacity, according to Pres. Robert E. Kennedy. Continuing students, those now in attendance at the school, are not affected by the enrollment decision, except insofar as classes will continue to be as over-crowded as they were during the Fall Quarter, Dr. Kennedy explained.

The 400 additional students to be admitted for the Winter Quarter, which begins Jan. 2, include primarily former students, upper division junior college transfers and graduate students.

Dr. Kennedy said the priorities are intended to provide for students who have taken a year or more off this campus, particularly returning veterans and those who have successfully completed two years at neighboring community colleges. The priorities for the Spring Quarter's additional 400 students will depend upon an analysis of Winter Quarter enrollment. (Details of the Winter Quarter priorities for admission follow.)

First to be admitted under the winter priorities will be returning graduate students, followed by undergraduate students who have completed two years of college or have completed the equivalent in community college divisions. The next 250 (out of the 400) students to be admitted will be in the following categories: (Details of the Spring Quarter follow.)

Category six is for lower division transfers from California community colleges and category seven is for undergraduate transfers from four-year colleges in California; no admissions from those categories are contemplated for the Winter Quarter.

The college does not plan winter admissions of out-of-state or foreign students. Exceptions will be made only for Agency for International Development-sponsored students, for which the school has a contractual obligation.

Concert review

Blues singer, band please crowd

By GERALDINE MEFFRE - Staff Writer

A throaty voiced, foot-tapping Negro blues singer performed for a large crowd in the Men's Gym Thursday night. His unique style and harmonica talent everyone know right away that Taj Majal was there to perform. Rending at times like Janis Joplin or Cab Calloway he definitely carried on the tradition of blues singers.

Among their many numbers, "Dive into the Blues" was possibly the one everyone felt he dove into the blues. Some of the other songs Taj Majal performed were "God Save the King," "One-Footed Woman" and "Easy Rider". The dance-pillow concert also featured the Steve Miller Band. Playing for three hours jointly, the bands thoroughly entertained the audience.

Steve Miller's "Quicksilver Girl" and "Living in the USA" were well received. referee the audience was usually silent. The vocalist and keyboardist were frequently interrupted his explanation with a whirlwind "why?" and "why?"

"Frightened? You'd better be," he said. "I saw Steve jump off that truck, and heard his head hit the road, I flashed. All I could think of was "Easy Rider," "why?", "why?", "why?"

Mike went over the details of the night before, asking himself to be certain he remembered, frequently interrupting his explanation with a whirlwind "why?" and "why?"

"Frightened? You'd better be," he said. "I was a little gung-ho. But all I could think of was "Easy Rider," "why?", "why?"

"I try to look for good in everyone. But it's hard sometimes, I've run into a lot of really obnoxious people. But these guys were punks."

The truck jerked sharply away from the little market at the base of a hill. Steve and Mike hung on dearly as their driver sped south on California; his cab companion singing through the open window.

One block into their ride, Steve and Mike were nearly pitched from the makeshift flatbed truck as it whipped left on Taft Street--away from their intended direction. Frightened? Yes, but the truck was a white cowaboy hat, the other wore a tan one, they both grinned as they looked out the front of the cowaboy hat, the other wore a tan one, they both grinned as they looked out the front of their helmets. The truck roared onto Highway 101 (southbound) and Mike took stock of his surroundings.

Chicanos condemn action of San Jose judge

Editor:
"We ought to send you out of the county, perhaps even out of the state, to go and commit suicide." The article continued: "you are lower than the animals in our society probably ought to be destroyed because they have no right to live among human beings."

Were these the mouthings of a lynch mob or the taunts of a racial sheriff? No. They were uttered by Honorable Herald E. Chargin, a Judge of the Superior Court of the State of California, presiding at a Juvenile hearing in San Jose.

Before the judge on Sept. 1 was a 17-year-old Chicoano youth accused of murdering anemia. He had originally pleaded innocent but reportedly changed his plea.

The judge's indictment of "miserable, lousy, rotten people" led Deputy Public Defender Fred Lucero to object that "the court is indicting the whole Mexican group."

Judge Chargin is saying that Hitler was right in generalizing about Jews.

Chargin excused his behavior by saying that "It is an accepted fact that these lectures are stated in harsh terms to Impress upon the minds of the youth the seriousness of which they find themselves." Nothing, however, can excuse lacing a 17-year-old's name so as to perpetrate as to condemn an entire people for the actions of one individual. There can be no other conclusion than that Judge Chargin is not qualified to sit on the bench.

The U.M.A.A. (Chicano Unions) club has voiced the opinion concerning this incident in letters to Assemblyman Jesse Urub. State Senator Donald Grune and the Commission on Judicial Qualifications and Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Dear Sir:
We, the United Mexican-American Students Unincorporated (UMA.U) of California State Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo, California, do hereby condemn the actions of Judge Chargin on the San Jose Juvenile Case.

Judge Chargin has demonstrated his racist attitude toward the Mexican-American people. His verbal denunciation of an entire race, and his pro-Hitler comments, mark him as part of the backlash of California in an imperial manner. We feel it is impossible for a Mexican-American or any other ethnic minority, to get a fair trial under Judge Chargin, and we therefore demand that he be removed from office.

We hereby demand the actions of the defendant; however, we feel that the comments made by Judge Chargin and their likely impact are intended for all Mexican-Americans.

Respect for dead

Dear Miss Kern,
You are correct in your letter to the Mustang Daily that the Administration Building flag was flown at half-staff. The purpose is to observe the death of an Iranian Student, Houshang Elni, on Sunday, Oct. 31. Responsibility for determining whether, within established criteria, either person currently enrolled student, the faculty or staff member of the institution shall be accorded the same respectful memorial.

Sincerely,
Lechlan P. Macdonald

Editor:
If I may, Madam Editor, I would like to address my remarks to the gentleman who wrote a letter to the editor on October 22, 1969; Richard J. Krejsa.

Mr. Krejsa, I see you're rather new to the Cal Poly campus scene, you've only been teaching here last year. We here at Poly are proud of whatever meager distinction we may be able to accomplish in our academic pursuits so when we gain the knowledge to dispel the ignorance which abounds about us. As faculty, Mr. Krejsa, we have a special obligation to order our thoughts so that we might properly teach and be understood, not propagandize.

G. T. Chaiberg referred to the "democracy of the dead" in speaking of the heritage from which we have gained our moral, social and artistic knowledge.

Max Picard says that the divine home is bubble-headed, and the辌 which the divine home in the bubble of the men's brains.

Finally, Dr. Russell Kirk points to the divine creature which we have gained our moral, social and artistic knowledge. He feels a few corrections should be made in your statement.

I thank you for your time.

Forum fails to attract crowd

The ranks of the silent and un­ moving march on the Vietnam war were evidently swollen on campus last Friday.

A Vietnam Forum which was scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. last Friday in the Amphitheater brought in a surprising number of students to participate in a small group discussion.

About 100 were on the scene at the conclusion of one of the activities for the Oct. 13 Moratorium. Several hundred had been present at 11 a.m. as well as the featured speakers from the college representing several different points of view on the issue.

Although the small group of people, numbering 10 at one time, had no need for the microphone and public address system that had been provided it didn't prevent them from sitting down in a circle on the lawn and commencing with a searching discussion that covered more than just the Vietnam issue.

"It's not just Vietnam, but the insanity of other things that are going on," said an student who opened the discussion.

"I was called by several students who questioned allowing the auto caravan from Whittier to make a rest stop here," said Kresge. "I told them we were providing a microphone and a place for them to come and state their opinions about if they so desired."

The auto caravan which was expected to arrive here shortly after 5 p.m. Friday never did show up in strength. It was raining and cold at the time the caravan was expected to arrive.

Several cars bearing posters and signs advertising the "March Against Death" to San Francisco could be seen in front of the Men's Gym between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. Friday. Cars never did arrive in the numbers that would have made the use of the S-2 parking lot that had been scheduled for them necessary.

The auto caravan was destined for Stanford Memorial Church in Palo Alto where it was to join with the demonstrators throughout California for Saturday's "March Against Death" in San Francisco.

The ASI officers wanted to set a place up to give everyone who wanted to have a chance to speak about their views on the war issue," said Kresge.

Kresge said, "I told them we were providing a microphone and a place for them to come and state their opinions about if they so desired."

Editor's note: Dr. Fred Rizzo is an English Instructor in his first quarter of instruction at this college. He has published verse and articles in several national and regional publications. Rizzo is an experienced draft counselor and in this guest article to Mustang Daily he discusses his views on war, the draft, and patriotism.

by DR. FRED RIZZO

Conscientious objectors is a word many people think, the great majority of people probably can't say exactly what a conscientious objector's policies are protesting precisely because they are patriotic, not because they are critical of patriotism. I have been involved in the peace movement for several years and like most of the other people in the movement, my involvement is motivated by a belief in the democratic principles expressed in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. I have no difficulty signing an oath of loyalty to the Constitution of the United States. But I find it hard to believe that a number of people in our government, Nixon and Agnew can stand with such a clear conscience.

What have these leaders done to make the average individual want to defend the country and do his duty? They have time and time again, been taking actions that are not practicing the democratic principles they profess. Here are a few examples of the gap between what they have said and what they have done:

-+ America has signed the United Nations Charter and agreed not to intervene by force in the affairs of other nations unless the United Nations gave its approval.

Specifically, the U.N. Charter reads:

"All members shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any state, or in any other manner inconsistent with the Purposes of the United Nations."

The United Nations did approve of our involvement in Korea, but has not approved of our interventions in Vietnam. In fact, the secretary-general of the U.N., U Thant, on frequent occasions has publicly condemned our intervention there.

In 1945, after the Vietnamese defeated the French in the Indochina War, a number of nations unilaterally at Geneva agreed to peacefully settling the country and living democratic elections. The United States, however, called the Geneva Agreements a fraud. The United States did not sign the Agreements, and through her delegate, Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, agreed to abide by them.

President Eisenhower said, "we have never talked or agreed with any knowledgeable in Indochinese affairs who did not agree that there would be no elections."

-+ 50 per cent of the population would have voted for the Communist Ho Chi Minh as their leader.

Because of U.S. intervention, the country remained divided and a civil war started by those who wanted to carry out the laws that all of the involved parties had agreed upon.

What bad war has had on the freedom of U.S. citizens? Besides focusing our attention away from the problems we have at home, Vietnam war has caused an especialmente tragic situation for many men of draft age. Those whose consciences tell them the war is immoral are faced with very negative choices, and these choices point out further. The government says and what the government does. We are told that freedom of the individual is one of the main concerns of democracy. But if men of draft age believe the war is immoral and refuse to be inducted, they can be, and have been, sent to jail. They can leave the country and seek asylum. They can also apply for the status of a conscientious objector (C.O.), but in order to qualify legally to be a C.O., one must be against all wars. The U.S. draft laws do not respect a man's personal decision as to whether or not a war is just or unjust. They do not respect the U.S. Supreme Court of the United States has said that there is a moral right to protest, but the government of the United States today refused to accept the private conscience of an individual of draft age who believes the Vietnamese War to be unjust.

After World War II we brought a number of soldiers to trial as war criminals in Nuremberg, Germany. These men served under Hitler and many of them were involved in the killing of six million Jews. When asked why they followed their leaders with such unquestioning faith and loyalty when they were commanded to commit the atrocities they did, one of them answered that it was "not the task of a soldier to act as a judge over his supreme commander." He warned this man, after we condemned him at Nuremberg. We did not accept his argument that a man must follow orders even if these orders go against his personal conscience. But today the U.S. government is forcing thousands of men into the position of having to obey unjust orders, or to face jail, exile, or legal processes.

Our words are fine, but our actions are not—action, we say, speaks louder than words. While we claim to be on the side of law and order, democracy and the constitution, we have violated the United Nations Charter, we have broken the Geneva Agreements, we have prevented free elections and we have used force and forced into exile numerous men of conscience.

To allow such errors to continue when they involve the destruction of thousands of lives is not human—It is animal. And no government is by its acts, claiming its Declaration of Independence and the Constitution is shredded. I want to be part of that group that must work to protect and promote our democratic principles and not one of those who support the destruction of them. I agree with those dissidents who say, 'we don't want to burn the flag—we want to wash it.'

I repeat: I believe in that patriotism which respects the Declaration of Independence. I believe in the patriotism which respects the Constitution. But Nixon, Agnew, and those who support our Vietnam policy—who are they? For those reasons I feel it is not only my right but my duty to support and fight to protect the Constitution and the United Nations, in order to protest against those who are destroying the principles of democracy.

Tuition plan proposed for next school year

Not too many people like to see a tuition rise. That tradition came to an end; especially when the end of the tradition will cost money.

The tradition is the tuition-free university and state college system in California. In 1968-69 the legislature approved the "equal opportunity plan" for the 18 state colleges. These new "teaching chairs" for professors who would emphasize teaching and not research and for financial aid for students who might be kept away from higher education by the new tuition charges.

In a recent statement by State College Chancellor, Dr. C. H. Goodwin, he pointed out that 40 per cent of the students in the state system need financial aid but there are funds to help only 20 per cent. The rest of the students would have to pay the full $520 for the year.

The proposed tuition is $520 a year for the nine campuses of the University of California and $180 for the 18 state colleges. These new charges are in addition to the existing fees, which now average $850 a year. At the UC campuses these $520 are in addition to the $220 a year at the state colleges.

According to Dr. Alex G. Liberman, Education advisor, the governor would like a $1.8 million increase at the state colleges.

History of California radical dissent

by Vernon Trilichka
Senior Court Judge William P. Dart, Jr., speaking before a meeting of the California College Republicans, concisely traced the recent history of radical dissent in California. He began with the American Abolition demonstration, aimed at the House Committee on Un-American Activities in San Francisco in 1961, and concluded with the People’s Park incidents of last spring in Berkeley.

These two occurrences, as well as most of the other disruptions which radical organizations have perpetrated in the last few years, were motivated by the same basic ideas: the people involved in leading and participating in them. The philosophical thread connecting them has been Marxist, basically.

The New Left loves a confrontation; this is the most effective method it has of forcing concessions for its demands from whatever authority it is challenging. The attack usually is on a weak institution, so that any sort of “victory” is more or less assured.

Efforts on behalf of a certain man do not bear fruit, radical action may be transferred to the centers of possible protest. When Dr. Hayakawa stood fast against the new barbarians at San Francisco State it was not coincidental that soon afterward Berkeley became the focal point of violence. The Berkeley demonstration featured an assembly of anti-Semites, Berkeley street people, and some students in what was a beautification project.

The radicals attempted to take a valuable piece of private property for their own use. Had they succeeded, this would have been their propaganda victory. The manifesto of the People’s Park protestors is essentially anti-capitalistic and anti-American. Those readers who have had the opportunity to hear the propaganda tirades of Radio Peking on the shortwave will be struck by the similarity between the wording of the manifesto and the words of the announcers on the radio voice of Communist China.

Perhaps the greatest victory the New Left has achieved to date is one of deception. Many who oppose the radicals do so because they feel the protest is a tear down our institutions, but have nothing with which to replace them. That, unfortunately, is not the case. The New Left is attempting to bring about a social revolution in the United States and in order to pull this deception off against the American people they must tear down our morals, our morals, and our resolve to remain a free people.

Today, in the face of common sense and National Unity, the organized militant Left is attempting to hoodwink as many “moderates” and “peace-wishers” into its own mad scheme of moratorium protest as it can so that its demands will have to be met. I have spoken with members of this organized Left and their attitude is patently that since they have demanded something, no matter what it is, they had better be given to them quickly or they’ll blow your house down.

They also arrogantly feel that since they are going on marches, strikes, and taking to the streets that their demands must be right. If not men, you are resisting the “voice of youth.” This organized Left must and will be met, confronted and defeated. It is the leaves driven in the wind, the young innocents who are caught up in this whirlwind of protest; who are being disfigured with ugly slogans and decimated with body and soul destroying potions of cynicism and pleasure who suffer the greatest loss. And with this loss of youth we all lose as a nation.

If, toward this one end we could all strive, then the New Left will have won. That, I believe is the purpose of our protest.

Recreation club slates dinner

The Community Recreation Club of this campus is sponsoring a Career, Recreation and Parks night tomorrow in the Mesa Gym. Students will be able to visit and obtain literature from many different agencies concerning the different recreational departments.

The activities will last from 6 to 9 p.m. and the charge will be $2.50.

Letter criticizes state school policies

by TIM DOLAN

The following is an open letter to the Governor of California.

Governor Reagan:

First let us congratulate you, your staff, those who voted for you, and the public relations firm of Spencer and Roberts which gave you suitable scripts to read.

The subject of our congratulations concerns yet another victory for your side in your battle to destroy higher education in this state.

We refer, of course, to the proposal to charge tuition at state operated colleges and universities.

We further congratulate your masterful strokes of public relations in leading the voters of this state to sit still for your education policies.

You and your staff have somehow managed to convince the people of this state that it is better for them in the long run to pay fewer taxes than to reap the benefits of an educated citizenry.

We don't know what means you used to foist this monstrously short sighted and narrow policy off on the voters—even if the majority of them aren't college educated.

The espousal of the view that fewer taxes than to reap the benefits of an educated citizenry is INEXCUSABLE.

Indeed, it's criminal.

But, you, Governor Reagan, have made the point again and again in your visits to “safe” college campuses that you are a graduate of Eureka College and that you know what it is to go to college.

One can only conclude that you realy do know very much while you were in college.

You praised during your campaign that you desired to bring the private sector into the solution of the state's problems. You called it the “Creative Society.”

Have you ever stopped to consider what is the ultimate source of the private sector's creativity that educated people disagree with you politically.

When you came into office, you promised to erect certain “benches”—that was the term you used—to guide student behavior relative to politics. You subsequently stated that the state education system should be apolitical—that is, without politics.

We suppose that this is a fair policy, provided that it is enforced consistently.

You have gagged protesters at the University of California because they “disrupted the educational process.” Coincidentally, you happen to be in violent political disagreement with them.

However, your administration did mail letters to faculty members of the state colleges during President Nixon's campaign a year ago. The letters were not printed at state expense, but they did carry the state seal and were signed by Houston Flournoy as state comptroller, not as a private citizen.

The letters exhorted the faculty member to get out and work for the Nixon campaign.

We can only conclude that what would have happened had Rap Brown or Eldridge Cleaver sent such a letter.

Governor Reagan, if you intend to keep politics off the campuses, do so, but do so consistently.

One can't help but to conclude that political action is permissible as long as it agrees with you. The tacit official posture of the state government in squelching student political protest and withdrawing financial support from the colleges under the guise of economy—because of social and political disagreement (while working at political action on the part of your supporters) is no way to run a democracy.

It is un-American in the strictest sense of the word. It is worthy of Nazis and Communists—whose practices you verbally condemn, but actually emulate.

Unlike you, Governor Reagan, we take the Constitution literally: A man is free to follow his own politics without the threat of being gagged. It is your duty to protect those rights, not to destroy them.

We urge you to stop the persecution of education in California simply because the educated tend to disagree with you. We urge you to stop using the guise of a flag waving Americanism to cover practices which take away the rights of citizens rather than protect them.

It is apparent that as a college student, you weren't very successful. Then as a movie star, you weren't the greatest.

Finally, as governor, you leave a lot to be desired.

Sincerely,

Tim Dolan

The happy I am when I'm straight is more beautiful than the happy I seemed to be when I was stoned.

The girl in the picture is named Chris. For over a year, she was on amphetamines, powerful drugs known as "speed." This is how she describes it:

"I think 'speed' is a lot worse than heroin. Kids have got to know about it, because they can fall so easily into taking it through the diet pill hassle, or needing something to help them study. You know, that's crazy. Because the combination of amphetamines and no sleep just blows your memory completely.

There are whole sections of my life which I just can't remember. There was one thing that they had was the 'meth,' and that was their life. And people that were really into amphetamines very deeply, and I was really lucky. I was very close to two people that were really into amphemamines very deeply, and I loved them a lot. But as far as they were concerned, the only thing that they had was the 'meth,' and that was their life. And they're both dead now."

"For me to stop taking it, I had to feel that people were caring. And they were. I was really lucky. I was very close to two people that were really into amphetamines very deeply, and I loved them a lot. But as far as they were concerned, the only thing that they had was the 'meth,' and that was their life. And they're both dead now."

The Mustangs gave away their third straight game in as many contests Saturday at Mustang Stadium. The series of three failed to be a deciding factor in the otherwise close contest. Hills gathered in three of the four passes—all of which were drive stoppers in the fourth quarter.

Excitement in the first quarter saw Polv being charged with three penalties and the Gauchos were assessed one. The Mustangs recovered one of two fumbles by the Gauchos. That was the excitement in the first quarter.

In the second quarter the Mustangs got on the scoreboard. The score came on a pass from Atabe to tight end Jan Juric. A fake field-goal attempt set the stage for Poly's lone score. On a fourth and five situation Tom Valos passed to Juric to set up a first and five situation on the Poly 15 yard line. The next play was a down field pass to John Allman of UCSB, 9-7.

The Gauchos used this break to add three points to their score. The Mustangs turned the ball over on downs on their own 17 yard line. Then the Gauchos then led 9-7.

The quarter leading 7-0. By the end of the quarter saw Poly defensive back Augie Rapanut was blocked by defensive back Jon Silverman. Augie Rapanut was blocked by defensive back Jon Silverman.

As we set the stage for the fourth quarter comedy, the Gauchos have had the ball with a second down. They are forced to punt to Poly a few plays later but it seems that Poly couldn't do anything with the ball so they punted and got the Gauchos on their own 17 yard line. Then defensive end Ed-Davidson recovered a Gauchos fumble on their own 47 yard line and looked like Poly might score again, but Atabe made a mistake and passed the ball to the wrong guy. Hilla got his first interception of the day and it came in the end zone on a pass intended for split end Bill Panion.

The Gauchos were unable to move the ball so they punted. But on second down Fullback Joe Nigon fumbled and UCSB came up with the ball on the Polv 16 yard line. The Gauchos used this break to add three points to their score. The Gauchos then led 9-7.

With less than two minutes left in the game Atabe threw two interceptions. After the second one all the Gauchos had to do was fall on the ball twice to end the clock.

Handouts on defense were Murrell, Davidson and Silverman.

Runners are ninth college nationals

In the snow and driving sleet at Wheaton, Illinois 41 college runners from 21 schools started out on a five mile course. The meet was held Saturday afternoon.

Of the 41 starters seven of them dropped out remaining along the course. Fifty of the 100 schools had men's and women's finishers.

Praised to take the leadership was Ohio State, but at the end of the meet they walked with third place honors. Illinois University was first and East Michigan took place points. The top three were M3 1:46, 110 points respectively.

The Mustang runners were not participated in the NCAA college division run off a few years, pulled down with Greg Tippett placed individually for Poly, finishing in 5 minutes 52 seconds.

In a crucial league confrontation with UCSB, the women's volleyball team won one and lost one. A supreme team effort easily led the B's to 15-7, 15-11 victories over the Santa Barbara "B"s. After losing the first game to the Poly "A"s 15-14, the first team Geacuos roared back to take the Poly girls in two straight, 15-13, 15-13.

The Poly teams must now regroup to face perennial champions Long Beach, November 21 at Grandal Gym. In an earlier meet held at CICL, the Geacuos lost to the Poly spikes. Game time is 7:30.
