BOSTON (UPI) — The first attempt by a Massachusetts serviceman to avoid going to Vietnam under a new state law contesting the legality of the war was rejected by two federal judges.

Infantryman John Griffin, 21, of Holyoke, Friday filed suit to have the U.S. District Court and the U.S. First Circuit Court of Appeals prevent the Army from sending him to Vietnam until the Supreme Court acts on the Massachusetts statute.

Griffin was scheduled to report to Ft. Dix, N.J., today for reassignment to Vietnam.

On Thursday Gov. Francis W. Sargent signed into law a bill obligating the state attorney general to defend the state's servicemen who seek to challenge the President's right to send them to fight in wars not declared by Congress.

U.S. District Judge Andrew A. Callery ruled the court lacked jurisdiction in the suit. One hour later Griffin's attorneys sought an injunction from Chief Justice Bailey Aldrich of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals who denied the request.

Griffin, oldest of five children, was waiting outside the court for the decision. He said "as far as I know, my orders are valid and I will report to Ft. Dix Saturday."

Attorney Joseph Oteri, one of Griffin's lawyers, the GI said "has a conscientious objector claim pending. We don't want to interfere with that. We have told him to think it over and if he decides to seek relief in federal court in New Jersey we will be there on Monday to help him."

Griffin, who dropped out of the University of Massachusetts in his junior year, was drafted last July.

His suit asked the court to issue a writ of habeas corpus forbidding the Army from assigning him to Vietnam.

The strategy behind the Massachusetts legislation is to force the Supreme Court to rule on the constitutionality of the Vietnam War by establishing a state law that conflicts with federal military policy.

If the court accepts as justified the state's role as co-plaintiff, it would have difficulty refusing original jurisdiction since Massachusetts as yet has not become a party to the Griffin case.

Note planned on EOP, elected ASI Secretary

Students will vote April 15 on a proposed ASI fee of $2.00 to fund the Educational Opportunities Program at California State Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo.

The special ASI election ballot was called on the EOP. The special ASI election ballot was called on the EOP.

Question 1: "The Educational Opportunities Program at California State Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo should have the elimination of elected ASI Secretary with the student assistant."

What the jspz?

A sonorous voice droned from the tape recorder. Tapping his feet, the post chimed in with his pre-recorded voice. A television camera whirled to life. In a syllable, Tobie Lurie turned on his "language sheltering" poetry in front of the audience, who Lurie refers to as "Big Brother Dow Industrial Society" on the stage of the English Quad Thursday afternoon.

Poems ranged from satires like "Big Brother Dow Industrial Society" to one word "sea" poems like "Philippic" as Lurie explored and delineated the English language in chanted-like diction. Later in the recital, the audience, who Lurie feels is as much a part of the poetry as the words themselves, turned part in the readings and chanted short phrases at various volumes while Lurie read his works.

Besides his one-word poems and his longer versions, Lurie introduced a new poetry form which his daughter "touched on it.

Lurie would play his typewriter much as he would play a piano—but make no allowance for formation of "known" words.

"The only trouble," the shaggy post noted, "was my keys jamming up on the typewriter when I used to hit a chord."

The end result, or "poem," was a conception of gibberish, maslil, spirit, and other phonetic freaks.

This, Lurie explained, was the freest form of poetry—for it had no restrictions whatsoever to bind the post-like periods, commas, words, etc.

After the recital Lurie adjourned to Yosemite Hall where he held a poetry workshop for interested students.

Measles may delay Apollo

CAPE KENNEDY UPI—All three Apollo Three astronauts have been exposed to German measles, their doctor reported Monday, threatening a month's delay in Saturday's blastoff for the moon.

Dr. Charles A. Berry said James A. Lovell, Thomas K. Mattingly and Fred W. Haise are now in "good physical condition" but he said their state of immuinity to measles will not be known until Wednesday.

Tobie Lurie chanted poetry to approximately 80 students on the English lawn Thursday during College Hour.

Join the speed reading revolution

Just because it’s a quiet revolution—
It’s no less potent! The techniques you master in Reading Dynamics become a vital part of your intellectual life—today and tomorrow in the world! Reading Dynamics really IS revolutionary, because you learn to read in 3 to 10 TIMES FASTER THAN YOUR PRESENT RATE—COMPREHENDING AND RETAINING FAR MORE OF WHAT YOU READ!

You probably know that the late President Kennedy was so convinced of the worth of the Reading Dynamics course that he invited Mrs. Evelyn Wood to come to the White House to train his staff!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

II-S explanation offered

Editor: Thank you for the article which appeared in the April 3 edition of Mustang Daily announcing the change in reporting the enrollment status of Selective Service registrants. Unfortunately, one statement is not correct and I am afraid it will be misleading to students.

The article stated, “Now, according to the new ruling by the State Director of the Selective Service System, a student could attend summer quarter and then drop out for the fall without fear of being drafted.” II-S deferments are given from October to October. Therefore, if a student was not enrolled for fall quarter and an “aas” form was not sent from the college to his local board, he might receive a notice of reclassification to I-A because he did not commence his academic year.

Also, I would like to emphasize that it is the duty and responsibility of the registrant to keep his local board informed of any changes in his status. This is a part of the agreement he signs when he first registers for the Selective Service.

Spring, ah... tender days

by JONNIE FUENTES
Staff Writer

It was an aeriel day when I woke on that morning of the Vernal Equinox breathing the best of air that only knows the first days of spring, for these are the underest of all days. Standing panting, face pale into the green rolling hills, I suddenly remembered all the happy incidents of my winsome winter winds.

I stood for some moments staring into the face of spring, seeing where the sunshine kissed each petal and where each flower wrestled in its greenery and it reminded me of snow days.

Wandering to get where I was going, I no sooner than get out through the trees and the grass and lasting the sunshine, I found that spring was talking quiet, but not as so as though it was interspersed with

...sweet air floated out from in the log close behind the warm air came a great gust of cold, and the voice said,

"Well then, sleep off, oh silly spring, I leave your season with narry a bird to care, let spring lovers fly without a season and humming birds die from no rhyme or reason, who cares if the flowers bloom without care, because, dear spring 'tis no skin off my season.

"Oowl let go of my arm you melting old season, for that I'll call out all my spring flowers and trees 'n out shine the whole year over fall winter, summer, and my whole season will be a spring flinging humming."
Pollution is the establishment of a published study guide of relevant courses and recommendations for new courses, curricula, and organisations relating to environmental pollution. From an initial poll of committee members, the committee discovered that action against the various schools, and individual departments within those schools, are taking environmentally-informative clubs, or informal groups to promote the elimination of environmental pollution.

Within the School of Agriculture, several courses are offered in the use of pesticides. The school has a chemical safety component, and a Chemical Safety School has been developed through the Instructional Materials Program. In natural Resource Management, study is undertaken of the relation between men and recreational areas, the impact of visitors on areas, and how industry is affecting the environment. Soil Science is also concerned with erosion control, environmental insults on campus, such as pollution in streams, scarred hills and washed trails. Department within the Schools of Applied Arts also play a significant role in environmental pollution education. The Journalism Department encourages students to write or broadcast in the areas of environmental concern.

The Printing Technology and Management Department controls the use of materials which could become pollutants. The Home Economics Department, mainly concerned with consumer action and food additives, has discussed the various types of pollution. The Business Administration Department is concerned with the social responsibility of business in its environment.

The Schools of Applied Sciences, Architecture, in the normal course of instruction, would be greatly concerned with environmental pollution as agriculture, since all, in some way, must study the relationship of man to his surroundings. Since chemicals are discussed in terms of their influence on pollution, the Chemistry Department chooses examples of the possible chemical pollution that might result. The department offers a course in agricultural chemicals and studies the contaminating effects of chemicals. Students are now conducting air pollution tests.

Many courses are offered within the School of Sciences which orient the student to the field of ecology—how organisms and their environment. The Save Our Streams Committee contributes to this effort to teach about the relationship between organism and their environment. The Mechanical Engineering Department is studying the effect of toxins in relation to pollution.

A brainchild of students in the Biological Sciences Department, the Ecology Action Committee has an awareness tour. Its most significant contribution to the cause of eliminating pollution on campus has been an "Awareness Tour" of pollen areas. The purpose of the tour is an immediate problem area, of which the efforts of the Ad Hoc Committee to Promote Elimination of Environmental Pollution can be focused.

This college is still a small group of concerned educators who have begun programs in environmental education. By introducing environmental considerations thoroughly into the normal course of instruction, educators are making students aware of their responsibility for the quality of his environment.

BERKELEY (UPI)— California health authorities say they have located a diarist known as Typhoid Mary since 1938 who had 310 recent contacts are spread across 34 states, Canada and Mexico.

Now health officials are attempting to trace down Typhoid Mary's contacts, but they have been considerably by Mary's story, which lists the contacts by name and detailed description.

Dr. Philip Codd, California director of communicable disease control, said Syphilis Mary is a prostitute who did business mostly with truckers and drivers passing through Riverdale, Calif. The U.S. Public Health Service so far has located 310 of Mary's contacts and asked them to take blood tests.

The case was reminiscent of Typhoid Mary, who was a New York City cook who transmitted typhoid bacteria in the early 1900s. Typhoid Mary had passed the disease to persons, three of whom died, and she was confined as "a medical prisoner" on an isolated East River island where she lived in 1938 at the age of 70. Syphilis Mary was located when her teacher and assistant were attended by the Riverdale prostitute and her wife. The wife was uninfected.

'What are your views on tuition?'

Shirley Taves

"There would be an awful lot of people who wouldn't be able to go to school and that would be a shame. It's probably not necessary. If it is charged at the century. It probably won't be as good and we would have to support the schools. If taxes payers can afford to support the schools. If they slap on a tuition it will solve anything."

Marc Neumann

"I think that it is going to pass, there is no doubt about that. I think that they need it. I think that they are concerned with the cost of summer quarter. The extra quarter. Perhaps if they charged tuition they would have extra money so that they could afford to have a summer quarter.""}

"When you have a dummy as a governor and the State of California being what it is, I think it will pass. You've already got $150 each to pay for the assistant antics of the ASI, so you couple that with another one-and-one-half million dollars more in the building fund, and when you can't build anymore the money goes to the regents who'll probably put it either to buy George Murphy a new set of tap shoes or to give Shirley Temple a new lollipop.""}

"I am for tuition if I am guaranteed that the money is going to be refunded back into the universities and state colleges to enlarge and expand the facilities, but if the money is going to be appropriated for something else, I am against it. Netters win CCAA tourney

by RUSS BRAHÉNAC

Sports Writer

The Mustang tennis team, once rated as the dark horse team in the CCAA Championship race suddenly became the team to beat as they won the CCAA Round Robin Tournament last weekend.

The Mustangs, now 4-0 in league play, made decisive victories over the other 4 teams and left no doubt as to who the Round Robin Champion was.

The highlight of the Robin was the victory by the Mustang’s over San Fernando Valley State; last year’s NCAA College Champions. The Poly netters trounced the Matadors 7-2.

Matador George Benedict beat Mustang John Ross 7-4, 3-6, 6-3 in the number 1 slot and Tiega Taylor of the Matador team beat Larry Mores in the third slot 6-4, 7-6. The Mustangs, however, won the rest of the matches.

Joe McGahan slipped by Bria Eisendrath 7-4, 6-1, 7-4, Bert Easley stomped Del Newquist 6-2, 6-1, Greg Piers over Jeff Marshall 6-4, 3-6, 6-0, and Paul Summers beat Tom Conover 6-3, 6-4.

The doubles teams fared as well. Easley and Mores knocked out Benedict and Eisendrath 6-3, 6-4, McGahan and Piers over Taylor and Marshall 6-8, 6-4, and Ross and Summers beat Newquist and Conover 6-4, 6-2.

The Mustangs had an easier time than other teams in the robin with the Matadors. They beat UC Riverside 8-1, Cal Poly Pomona 8-1, and Cal State Fullerton 8-4.

The standings so far into the season show the Mustangs to be in first place with a 4-0 record, San Fernando Valley State College in second with a 3-1 record, University of California at Riverside at 2-2, Cal Poly Pomona in fourth at 1-3, and Cal State Fullerton in the cellar with no victories and 4 losses.

This Robin ended the first half of conference play. The Mustangs will now play each team one more, the next match being the road against Cal Poly Pomona this Friday.

The last day, the teams all stay on the road and travel to UC Riverside for an early morning match on April 17, the netters will return for a very important home stand against San Fernando Valley State. If they win the...
Mustangs are surprised by UCR nine 13-11, 3-1

Two Mustang errors in the sixth inning of the second game of a doubleheader Saturday donated three runs to the University of California, Riverside team and handed the Highlanders their second upset win of the day.

UCR gathered only seven hits in the first game of the set, but downed the Mustangs 1-1. The Highlanders then took the seven inning second game 5-1, despite mustering only three hits.

Allen Noble had opened the series Friday with a 3-0 four-bagger, and the Mustangs stood a strong chance of sweeping the series with Dean Treanor and Bill Wallin drove him in with a single. The rally terminated when UCR's shortstop made a leaping catch of a line drive off Hall's bat and turned it into a double play.

Early in the game the Mustangs had loaded the bases on walks but none out, but after a forceout at home plate a perfectly executed double play ended the inning.

Twice in the course of defensive plays by Mustang fielders the Highlanders scored. Right fielder Mike Nichols threw a strike to the plate nail runner in the first inning and called a similar throw from left field out down a runner in the seventh.

The first contest of the afternoon was a hitter's battle. Lee Smith had a home run, three singles, and three runs batted-in in five at bats, and teammate Nichols, Dave Oliver and Dave Yessell contributed a pair of hits apiece. Tim Searcy paced the Highlanders with three safeties.

The Mustang track team claimed first place in every event and swept first, second, and third in four events to outrun the San Fernando Valley State Matadors 94-51. It was Poly's first Associated Athletic Association meet.

Three Mustang splikers were double winners in the competition on the Poly field Saturday, but no records were broken in the meet.

Mathyas Michael ran a first in the 100 and vaulted 14'6, but Wilke had fewer misses. In the 120 high hurdles, James Love nipped teammate Ernie Holmes, and in the 220 John Healey edged freshman Bobby TURNER. Dale Horton took the three mile run, with Rich Tidwell claiming second. Horton's time was 15:11.5.

After the meet Coach Dick Purcell said, "The Mustangs are very strong this year. The San Fernando Valley track team has talent, but they need more work-out."}
