Dumke to handle discipline

Trustees of the California State Colleges this week passed an enabling resolution that will give the chancellor of the state colleges power to promulgate rules of conduct in matters of student discipline.

The trustees Committee on Educational Policies had earlier this week passed a resolution that would eliminate student and faculty participation in student disciplinary procedures. The resolution was met with much opposition, primarily from Trustee William A. Norris, at the board meeting. The trustees adopted the enabling resolution as an emergency measure to deal with any problems that might occur at the beginning of the coming academic year.

The Committee on Education Policy first passed the enabling resolution as a base on which to form guidelines for student disciplinary procedures. Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State, said, "If we were to adopt this resolution at this time so that in the fall we will have a sound code of conduct for dealing with student disciplinary matters." He went on to say that the entire resolution, in its original form, "is the model of efficiency for dealing with matters such as these." Trustee Dudley Swim commented that he wants this to be "done now so that students will know what's facing them at the time of registration."

There was also at this time some concern over the power that had been delegated to the chancellor. Though the chancellor has the power to promulgate the rules, the Board of Trustees may at any time draw back this power. Dr. Lewern Graves, chairman of the academic senate, said, "It is my experience that it is easier to 'do' than 'undo' things." Graves was referring to the pulling back of the power to be delegated to the chancellor.

The resolution did, however, go from committee to the Trustees meeting, with the intention that it would be a base to work from. Norris, however, said that this was enabling legislation allowing (Continued on page 8)

Possible addition of $9 student fee

The Board of Trustees this week tabled a report by a special Task Force that was to look into the transferring of fees into the Material and Service Fund.

Although the report of the Task Force was released, any action by the trustees was postponed until the September meeting of the board.

President Robert Kennedy was instrumental in getting the report and recommendation tabled when he read from the minutes of the California college president's meeting, and it was noted that the presidents were not in complete agreement with the proposal.

The Task Force was set up to look into the possibility of having a portion of the student fees transferred over to the Materials and Service fund to ensure the funding of "traditional" activities such as intercollegiate athletics. Paul Banks, ASI president, stated that this was taking student money out of student control. He went on record as opposed to any such action by the trustees.

The Task Force report showed that they were not in favor of the change since the use of funds under the heading of M & S would require additional corrective legislation.

Following the recommendation against the transfer of funds, the Task Force did recommend the levying of an additional fee on the students for the purpose of funding athletics, drama, music, speech and communications media. The Task Force suggested that a uniform fee should be adopted at all campuses. This fee would be nine dollars in addition to any Mustang staff member or to James Hayes, Mustang advisor in Graphic Arts, 228.

Freaky flick

Peter Sellers stars as a certain "square lawyer" who becomes unraveled by some turned-on brownies in Thursday night's comedy feature, "I Love You, Alice B. Toklas." The winner will receive a gold statuette of a news photographer in action—suitable for any mantel shelf or trophy case.

The deadline for all entries is midnight Aug. 7. Entries may be submitted to any Mustang staff member or to James Hayes, Mustang advisor in Graphic Arts, 228.

Foto, anyone?

It appears that all potential photography buffs on campus are keeping themselves well hidden from view. Mustang's Flying Flashbulb of Fate Foto Contest has yet to receive any entries. Perhaps this poor response to offers of fame and public praise is due to the somewhat ambiguous review of the contest rules in last week's Mustang.

In all seriousness, Mustang extends a cordial invitation to all photography enthusiasts to enter their best efforts in the Flying Flashbulb of Fate Contest. The winner will receive a gold statuette of a new photographer in action—suitable for any mantel shelf or trophy case.

The deadline for all entries is midnight Aug. 7. Entries may be

This is an example of what might be entered in the foto contest sponsored by Mustang. Photo by Dave Sangster.
Editor:
I am not a little old lady in smackers, but a big old lady in heels, who is shocked by the inexcusable slaughter of young swallows (birds, of course) on Cal Poly campus.

Before I recently enrolled for a three-week course here, I had heard of your famous Poly Royal—The recent commendation from the state for the college's stand on ecology, conservation and balance of nature. My first day here was gladdened by the sight of many swallow nests under the roof overhang of Sequoia Hall and the tireless parent birds ridding the campus of thousands of insects daily to feed their young—Insects destroyed without leaving a residue of poisons to contaminate the air, land and water.

Last Thursday evening I was horrified and distressed to discover that the nests at Sequoia Hall had been ruthlessly knocked or washed down and the dead young birds left dying on the ground, while the frantic parents swooped around in futile desperation.

I concede that perhaps nesting birds may create problems. However, I strongly feel the time to destroy the nests is when they are being built, rather than do it just before the young birds are ready to fly.

I fear the same fate is in store for the young nesting at the gymnasium and other spots on campus. I hope your paper will exert its influence to give these helpless, highly beneficial creatures a little more time to mature so the tireless slaughter will not continue.

The community looks to Cal Poly to provide a good example for the preservation of the balance of nature. The needless destruction of hundreds of beneficial birds who sought safety here, is not consistent with this image.

Very truly yours,
Alice F. Wagenhals

The Cigar Factory
Ask for Our
“SPECIAL” DINNER
$3.75
ENTERTAINMENT NIGHTLY
NO COVER — NO MINIMUM
Call for Reservations
543-8914
726 Higuera

Open to the Public
at WHOLESALE PRICES

TV-RADIO-StereO-HI-FI-PARTS picture tubes—television & radio tubes & parts phonograph needles—recording tape—test equipment tools—citizen’s band equipment—antennas—masts rotors—changers—speakers—enclosures

呼叫 home photo facts & technical books

SONY TAPE RECORDERs, TV’S, RADIOS

Open 11 to 6 p.m. Daily & 9 p.m. on Thursday

The Cigar Factory
543-8914
726 Higuera

THECIGAR FACTORY

STAFF COMMENT

Newsmakers

huff Huntley

by Woody Gogliart

Chet Huntley, the veteran NBC newsman has recently shown that newsmen have some very definite opinions about the news and how it is reported. In an interview in the July 10 issue of Life, discussing his August retirement from television, Huntley spoke out on some of today’s most timely topics. If the general public ever assumed that all newscasters adopted an air of indifference over the day’s news events, Huntley has quite skillfully shattered all their illusions. By taking a few parting shots at the world of news that he grew to know so well, Huntley has scored a striking victory for the news media. He has proven that despite a man’s personal views, his professional self can remain totally objective in presenting news to the general public.

Huntley has been working at NBC with David Brinkley for 16 years. Together they molded The Huntley-Brinkley Report, one of the all-time most popular news programs in the history of television. During his many years before the cameras at NBC Huntley unashamedly found himself reporting news events that he, personally, found fascinating. Yet, his reticent will show his total objectivity in reporting the news. Huntley was never known for his own personal interpretation of news. The opposite was true.

Now, in his last two weeks at NBC, the veteran newscaster reports, “I’ve been with Nixon socially; I’ve traveled with him in his private plane; I’ve seen him under many conditions. The shallowness of the man overwhelmed me; the fact that he is President frightened me.” These comments may seem inconsistent with the Huntley image as a steadfast, conservative newscaster. But more importantly these comments reveal Huntley’s personal opinions which he has for years managed to set aside for a professional sense of broadcast journalism. Only now, in his final hours as a regular NBC newscaster, has he allowed his beliefs to be known publicly.

The Vice President, who delivered an ardent criticism of the news media (particularly with NBC) did not escape a dogmatic coup de grace from Huntley. “Spiro Agnew’s talking to the most base of elements,” said the 55-year-old native of Montana. “All the networks broke their assesputting his famous Des Moines speech on television. We almost created him, for God’s sake. I really being lumped into his Eastern Establishment, effete intellectuals. I’ve had more marathons on my boots than he ever thought about.” Huntley snapped.

Noting the professional job Huntley has done in covering America’s space program, it is surprising to find that Huntley’s opinion of network coverage of events in space is all but flowsy. He said “covering the astronauts was an exercise in boredom. The networks all got trapped. Most astronauts are dull as hell, nice guys, mechanics. The only one who had a real story of their own didn’t last long.”

Retiring to his home state of Montana, Huntley explains the frustrations that have been building up inside of him. “I wanted to get these damn deadlines off my neck. June, six nights a week... the noise... the clamoring for attention... the division in our society...” he said. “I really deliver it night after night you start feeling almost responsible for it,” he concluded.

While showing that network coverage has left much to be desired, but a human being with emotions like all the rest of us who watch him on the screen. Huntley explicitly demonstrated that journalistic reporting of news is not subject to the reporter’s personal opinions. Televised will lose one of its foremost newscasters. Huntley leaves for private life in Montana. He says, “I’m running away to think. I’ve been with Nixon socially; I’ve traveled with him in his private plane; I’ve seen him under many conditions. The shallowness of the man overwhelmed me; the fact that he is President frightened me.” These comments may seem inconsistent with the Huntley image as a steadfast, conservative newscaster. But more importantly these comments reveal Huntley’s personal opinions which he has for years managed to set aside for a professional sense of broadcast journalism. Only now, in his final hours as a regular NBC newscaster, has he allowed his beliefs to be known publicly.

VW People

NC Engineering is where it's at for your complete services and repairs

780 Francis St.
At the corner of Francis and South Broad St., SLO
544-4040

Hi Economics Department!!

CAMPUS DONUTS

large selection of raised, cake, and specialty donuts special rates for campus clubs
6 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.
544-1736

987 Foottill Blvd.
544-1736
Army drills give killer skills

by JOHN FITZ RANDOLPH

I have a confession to offer; but first, a story to tell.

Vietnam was a coming-together of the United States war effort at the time I was in basic training, in 1965. I knew nothing about the war, I knew little about Vietnam. But I figured, as did the rest of the guys in my boot camp, that if Lyndon Johnson was sending hundreds of thousands of American men to fight "communism" over there, we must be on.

If a war was on, rationalised a ignorance, all good boys will fight--whether Vietnam, the West, or Allah looked after them.

My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.

I was in the "Receiving Station" of the 901st Battalion, 32nd Division, Janesville, Wls. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. My train was rolling West, in the gloom of pre-dawn March 5. From St. Louis, we rode a abort 1,000 miles to Fort Marcy. I was beading for St. Louis. I had expected to serve somewhere In my home state, and then the Beatles became my favorite group. A week before, I had been to Chicago--my tickets purchased at a "pay as you go" theater on State Street. I was going to “turn on, tune in, drop out” as the Beatle group were saying at the time.
Why are you at Poly this summer?

Dave Nelson "Mainly, I want to catch up on some units and 'cause I didn't want to go home. I like San Luis, the people, the weather, the whole situation."

Ann LaZansky "I had a job all set up for this summer, but the only way I could get into my major was to come this summer. I didn't want to, but...

Barbara Kennedy "Well, I didn't have any choice. This was the only way to get into the school. I signed into English, but ended up with Speech. It's that way with all the freshmen."

Dave Nelson "Mainly, I want to catch up on some units and 'cause I didn't want to go home. I like San Luis, the people, the weather, the whole situation."

Tom Cadman "Oh wow, that's an easy question. I like San Luis Obispo. Mainly, I had to finish my senior project, but San Luis is groovy. I really like the countryside."

Marilyn McCleery "To finish my master's. I love it here; I live out in Morro Bay, and I hope to come back someday. I'm not that big on the school, but I like San Luis."

Rasa Hassan "Well, that is a touchy question. I want to get the hell out of here as fast as I can. I will graduate in September, and I've got the ticket home in my pocket."

Ben and Pardner shared everything—the gold, the laughs, the songs... even their wife!

Vacation maps

A packet of eight maps detailing the more than 250 national parks, monuments and recreational areas in the United States is available for $1.50 from the Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Ask for the National Parks of the United States packet.

Judi Proctor "There's only one reason why I'm here. That's because I have only eight weeks to go, so I'll be able to graduate in September."

Sierra MOTORS

Cars Sport Cars Trucks Used Cars

1065 Higuera St. 543-4423 San Luis Obispo
Authority: "The man is a pretty big threat. In Berkeley everyone under eighteen is pulled in," states one hitchhiker. Throughout the state it is illegal to solicit rides along the highway. But law officers generally don't enforce the law unless a complaint is made. A local police lieutenant wonders, "It amazes me that they can stand off the highway and people will still stop and pick them up. It's a sad state of affairs."

THE HITCHHIKER

All gone to look for America . . .

Photos by Rich Palmer

The wait: "He's from Toronto and I'm from back east, Michigan. I made it to California, no hassles. But this town has got to be the worst. We've been waiting here just about three hours.

The hassle: "I was trying to get a ride from a corner downtown this morning when some guy in a white, late-model T-bird pulled over and said, 'You sleazy bastard, you can walk to Monterey.' No reason at all. That's bad."

Success: "Other places are worse than this. You do meet a lot of strange people. But, you know, it's the weirdos that make it interesting."

The stop: "Some people just stare at you when they drive by. But hitching is still the best way to go. You meet a lot of groovy people; you share a lot. There's no responsibilities and you always get to where you're going eventually."
Indian opens restaurant

by RICH PALMER
Hamburger is an American tradition, and for many college students, the staff of life. Unfortunately, hamburger is rather uninspiring and gets to be an old grind after a while. Welcome relief is finally here, thanks to science, modern technology, and Avtar Singh Uriba.

Avtar is a student from India who has created a gourmet's oasis in the epicurean wasteland of the Central Coast. If that's difficult to understand, one should go down to the Mission Mail, walk into the Sitar, and eat for himself. Until recently, the Sitar has been an overgrown, multi-stringed, Indian version of the mandolin, usually played by Ravi Shankar or George Harrison. But in San Luis Obispo, it is also a restaurant.

"There is no other place like this between Los Angeles and San Francisco," said Avtar as he moved about the tiny kitchen of the Sitar. "I used to work in the Cigar Factory and people would ask me, why isn't there such a place as the Sitar? So, I did it."

Why would a married math major with three children take this kind of a task upon himself? Avtar replied in a brief pause between filling orders. "I felt there was a need for a place like this, like the Sitar, to attract outside people into the area. This is why I did it."

Avtar broke away as a couple came over to the kitchen to compliment him on his cooking. As he came back, Avtar picked up a round loaf from the counter. "This is special bread, made nowhere else in the U.S." He gestured around him and spoke. "The food I cook is Indian food, very mild, very lightly seasoned. In most food like this you taste only the spices, but I try to bring out the best of all."

As to whether he would recommend this line of work to other students, Avtar commented, "Yes, I think they should, as long as they have something different to offer, something unusual. I would like to start a student night, a special night for students, where they could bring dates and have a good dinner, cheaply." Before he turned to take another order, he said, "Yes, this place is different, really different. It's like a family thing."

---

Trustees plug ROTC

A resolution recommending ROTC on the state college campuses was passed by the Cal State Board of Trustees at their meeting this week. The resolution was introduced by Trustees Dudley Swim, who said, "I want to make it clear that the non-ner that the non-ner is over."

The resolution was knocked down in committee, but was reaching the floor with much discussion. Governor Reagan said that in his interpretation the resolutions simply approved of the existing programs and in no way would mandate the campuses to ROTC. John Twitchell, spokesman for the California student president, said that the ROTC program has continued with success in the past. He said that a resolution such as this one might do more harm than good. Trustee Edward O. Lee pointed out that by adopting the resolution the Trustees would be setting up the ROTC program as a "national welfare program."

After the discussion, the resolution was placed on a narrow role call vote of the Trustees.

---

First Time Ever

$20 Off on Installation Fees

Whirlpool Undercounter Dishwashers
- Three to six automatic wash cycles
- High and low temperature wash
- New white finish
- Optional door trim
- Full-extension rando leading racks

Come in Today and Save!

Lew's Specialty Dairy Products for Cal Poly Students

Store Hours:
Mon-Fri 2:54 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

We carry over 1200 periodicals, a large selection of paperbacks in fiction, science fiction, mystery, western, and family living.

Watermelon feed tomorrow.

What better way is there to spend a warm summer afternoon than indulging in cool, fresh, watermelons for tomorrow's feast. As part of the festivities at the watermelon feed, there will be contests to see who can eat the most watermelons in the quickest amount of time. Besides providing a taste-tempting Friday dessert, or as some people describe it, a mess-course meal, the watermelon feed is sure to prove to be worth quite a few laughs.

Those planning on attending the Sunday feed should call the Library Lawn at 658-4122 as prompt as possible.

---

Save More at Sav-Mor

Low Prices for the Poly Student's Budget

Container meal, the Sav-Mor should be down in committee, but up over at the Library Lawn, into the area. This is why I did it."

As to whether he would recommend this line of work to other students, Avtar commented, "Yes, I think they should, as long as they have something different to offer, something unusual. I would like to start a student night, a special night for students, where they could bring dates and have a good dinner, cheaply."

Before he turned to take another order, he said, "Yes, this place is different, really different. It's like a family thing."

---

Trustees plug ROTC

A resolution recommending ROTC on the state college campuses was passed by the Cal State Board of Trustees at their meeting this week. The resolution was introduced by Trustees Dudley Swim, who said, "I want to make it clear that the non-ner that the non-ner is over."

The resolution was knocked down in committee, but was reaching the floor with much discussion. Governor Reagan said that in his interpretation the resolutions simply approved of the existing programs and in no way would mandate the campuses to ROTC. John Twitchell, spokesman for the California student president, said that the ROTC program has continued with success in the past. He said that a resolution such as this one might do more harm than good. Trustee Edward O. Lee pointed out that by adopting the resolution the Trustees would be setting up the ROTC program as a "national welfare program."

After the discussion, the resolution was placed on a narrow role call vote of the Trustees.

---

First Time Ever

$20 Off on Installation Fees

Whirlpool Undercounter Dishwashers
- Three to six automatic wash cycles with three wash temperatures
- New white finish
- Optional door trim
- Full-extension random loading racks

Come in Today and Save!

Lew's Specialty Dairy Products for Cal Poly Students

Store Hours:
Mon-Fri 2:54 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

We carry over 1200 periodicals, a large selection of paperbacks in fiction, science fiction, mystery, western, and family living.

Watermelon feed tomorrow.

What better way is there to spend a warm summer afternoon than indulging in cool, fresh, watermelons for tomorrow's feast. As part of the festivities at the watermelon feed, there will be contests to see who can eat the most watermelons in the quickest amount of time. Besides providing a taste-tempting Friday dessert, or as some people describe it, a mess-course meal, the watermelon feed is sure to prove to be worth quite a few laughs.

Those planning on attending the Sunday feed should call the Library Lawn at 658-4122 as prompt as possible.
Mustangs aim for victory

by Phil Graham
It's almost that time of year.

The National Basketball play-down still fresh in our minds.
Mud Brickset, just clinched the American League title, 3-2, over the New York Yankees in the World Series. The Mustangs aim to bring home another championship this year.

We have many new players to choose from, but the best will be the one who has the most experience.

Ricky Rums and Tom Montrose will be competing for the job of quarterback for the 1975 Mustang football squad.

Competition will be fierce, and the squad will be looking for a strong, experienced quarterback to lead them to victory.

Four Week DELIVERY

CLARENCE BROWN JEWELERS

862 Higuera

543-2648

Texaco

Products

- Brake Pads & Brakes
- Batteries, Tires
- Car Accessories
- Air Conditioning
- Official CCA Adjustment Station

Tune-up

FREE PICK UP and Delivery

Benelli's Texaco

543-9712

614 Monterey Street

Kimball Parts Center

1134 Monterey Street

 specs in Imported Car Parts

Present Student Body Card

And Receive 10% Discount

Phone 543-7871

Atascadero Speedway Auto Races

- Racing Every Sunday Afternoon
- Gates Open at 7 p.m.
- Racing Begins at 8 p.m.

Just 4 Miles South of Atascadero

Children Under 10 Free

MID-SUMMER BANANA SPLiT SPECIAL

49c

12 Broad St. 643-7948

FRED'S AUTO ELECTRIC

Specialized Motor Tune-up

Dyna-Vision Analysis

IGNITION CARBURATION ALTERNATORS WIRING

JONNY NELSON OFFICE EQUIPMENT

690 Higuera St

Phone 543-3821

MUSTANG CLASSIFIED

Announcements

- CIRCLE IN RANCH N-W OPEN

- Moods of Mustangs Bats, Fans is $2.00 Mr. Student Rate. 543-8236.

SPECIAL

- 127 Monterey 4 p.m.

FOR SALE

- 1970 CHEVY NOVA. 4-speed, radio, 327 engine. Mint condition. $1,400. Call 543-3664. 4:00 p.m. after 4:00.

JACK'S AUTO ELECTRIC

- 543-2643

- 1619 Mead St.

- 1819 Mead St.

SERVICES

- NEARLY NEW FURNITURE

- NEW and Used Furniture. All at the lowest selection of unpriced furniture. We buy, sell, trade. Large supply of dressers, desks, bookcases, mattresses, refrigerators, etc. Free pickup and delivery. Call 543-3193.

- Experienced Tinted. Will do Sr. Projects, etc. 50 percent per page. Leave message for Paulette at 543-1883.

- For Sale

Dumke sees new powers

(Continued from page 1)

for simple operation and that it was in fact not a base on which to build any future disciplinary procedures.

The new resolution was fostered with the intent to have fair and speedy hearings for those charged. Past complaints over the present procedures which use student and faculty hearing panels, are that they are too slow and cumbersome.

Should the chancellor decide to follow the guidelines set down in the original resolution, the panels will be replaced by professional hearing officers trained to determine quickly and accurately what the facts are.

Under the original proposed resolution each campus would have a coordinator who would, as John Twischell, president of the California Student Presidents' Association, charged, act as a prosecutor for the administration. After a hearing, the coordinator would make a recommendation for penalties to the president, who would have final authority in the matter.

Since most of the trustees expressed their wish to see a set of concrete student disciplinary procedures, and the students represented wished to see a fair set of procedures, Chancellor Glen Dumke went on record that he would make himself available to students, faculty and presidents to draw up and present a body of rules to the Board of Trustees that would deal with matters of student discipline. He also expressed his wish to have these guidelines laid out for the beginning of the coming academic year.

Local talent in concert

After overcoming minor technical difficulties, the second Concert Under the Stars got under way. Starring such local talent as Gary Eister and Paul Hanerlak, the concert drew well over 300 people. Other performers included Shannon Avery and a duo called Noel and Jill.

In a relaxed atmosphere, Shannon Avery got the concert started by singing several hit songs, and a few original numbers. Gary Eister did a few songs by Simon and Garfunkel, selections from the rock musical "Tommy" and several of his own songs. He was joined in a full acompañiment by Paul Hanerlak. Noel and Jill did several tunes including a medley of songs, "Tracks of My Tears," "Let It Be," and an original.

The concert was one of a number being sponsored by the Summer Program Committee. The next one will be held Aug. 1 at 7:30 p.m.

---

Camping trip planned

The majestic trees and quiet campgrounds of Sequoia National Park will greet a group of students from this college Friday evening as the Summer Program Committee sponsors a weekend camping and nature tour.

If this outing sounds like fun to you, there is still a chance for you to participate in the trip's activities. Sign-ups for the camping and nature tour are open in the TCU building. The deadline for signing up is noon tomorrow. A $2 fee is charged to cover food expenses, lodging, etc. Transportation is in private cars, with the passengers sharing gasoline expenses.

The campers' caravan will depart tomorrow night at 6:30 from the front of the TCU building, and return here Sunday evening. At Sequoia the campers will enjoy a leisurely weekend in the California wilderness. Dave Thompson, from this college's Biology Department, will be on hand to guide participants through the park on a nature tour.

The Summer Program Committee has planned a number of weekend outings for the Summer Quarter. The group meets Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock in Ag 220 to discuss plans for upcoming outings. These meetings are open to the public.