Murphy will visit campus Friday

A visit from Sen. George Murphy is slated for Friday, Oct. 2 sponsored by the California College Republicans. According to Michael Seaton, chairman of San Luis Obispo County Young Californians for Murphy, Murphy will tour the campus and address the students in the Little Theater from 12 noon to 1 p.m.

By special request from the senator, his topic of discussion will be directed to students of political science, history, economics, and journalism.

Students of other majors are also welcomed to hear Murphy’s talk on pollution, education and agriculture. There will be a 10 minute question-and-answer period following the discussion.

Murphy was elected to the United States Senate in 1964 for a six year term and is a candidate for re-election this year.

Many of Murphy’s accomplishments during his first term have been legislation on education, including a dropout prevention project, a bilingual education program and the Urban and Rural Education Act of 1969. This act provided for special financial help for school districts in urban and rural areas with high percentages of educationally underprivileged children.

The Dropout Prevention Program is designed to reduce the number of students dropping out of school, now estimated at about 1 million a year nationwide. The program concept is a cooperative effort between school and industry. The work-study program combines classroom instruction with practical experience.

Murphy stresses his concern with preserving California’s agriculture during his first term.

The Consumer Agricultural Food Protection Act he cites is intended to restore peace and order to the nation’s farmlands while assuring the working man and the producer of their rights.

Murphy is the author of the “Murphy Amendment” to the 1967 Air Quality Act, which allows California to set the nation’s most stringent antipollution standards for motor vehicle emission.

Councilman offers campus solutions

Possible solutions to joint campus and community housing and transportation problems were briefly outlined by San Luis Obispo Councilman Donald Miller yesterday.

Miller presented his suggestions at a noon meeting of city and college administrators designed to discuss and offer solutions to major problems facing San Luis Obispo and this college.

The present housing shortage could be lessened, claimed Miller, by having the city underwrite new developments. “It is done for highways and it can be done for housing,” he said.

Miller cited limited campus parking availability and said city streets are not of adequate size to hold the increasing traffic. He suggested that instead of reserving valuable land for parking, the college limit vehicle access to the campus.

Parking could be provided on large, undeveloped areas of land, he said, such as unused railroad land. Fast electric train service would be provided from each of the parking areas.

Students living in the community would also use the train service in preference to the present battle for limited campus parking spaces, Miller said.

The presentation by the councilman followed a review of enrollment and funding limitations by President Dr. Robert E. Kennedy, and an outline of two proposed married and single student housing developments.

Dr. Kennedy recognized the concern of the community of problems relating to or caused by the college. He said lack of housing and other facilities has forced drastic enrollment limitations.

He said only about 8,000 new fulltime students could be accepted from over 9,000 applications. He also said that of the 12,400 full-time equivalent students presently enrolled, over 80 per cent live off campus.

“The development of the college in the future is related to what facilities we can build,” he said.

Kenneth Schwartz, San Luis Obispo mayor, said the housing problem is heightened by the shortage of rental to low income families. Landlords prefer to rent to a group of students, each paying rent, he said.

Schwartz said the low income families cannot compete with the students for housing.

Schwartz said the low income families cannot compete with the students for housing.

Douglas Gerard, executive dean at the college, reviewed projects underway to benefit both single and married students. An apartment facility for married couples is being constructed and a single student complex is under consideration.

Construction of the 600-unit married student facility has begun at the site adjacent to Highway 1, said Gerard, and 800 units should be available for use fall quarter, 1971.

He said the single student facility might be under construction by March, 1971, and completed in time for fall quarter, 1972, although community opposition could offset that timetable.

Current work upon proposed annexation of the campus to the city was recounted briefly by Harold Wilson, administrative vice president.

Wilson said no large objection to the proposed annexation was raised in a recent joint meeting of college and city officials, and that the county would probably raise no opposition.

He said the city would gain approximately $80,000 in state funds following the annexation because the students living on campus would then be considered as living in the city.
Last tribute to Nasser

Thursday for President Gamal Abdal Nasser whose death on Monday raised the fears of new Middle East chaos. There also will be a five mile procession to the mosque where he will be entombed.

The death of Nasser Monday from a heart attack at the age of 52 appeared to have ended for the moment any hopes of any early settlement of the conflict with Israel and brought the U.S. peace initiative to an abrupt halt, perhaps for many months to come, while a successor is sought.

Then it will wind through the streets to the mosque close to Nasser's home.

Nasser's body lay in state today at the Republican Kubbeh Palace where hundreds of high-ranking visitors paid their final respects and thousands kept vigil outside. In other parts of the Arab world there were solemn procession of weeping, black clad figures moving through the streets with huge portraits of Nasser and garlands of flowers.

State drivers

Faculty, administrators and certain students who have cause to use state vehicles, must have a Defensive Driver Training Certificate. Two sessions (you need only attend one) are slated for Tuesday and Wednesday, October 6 and 7, from 3 to 6 p.m. in the Engineering Auditorium.

The great and near great already were arriving for the funeral. Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin flew in from Moscow and burst into tears when he walked down the steps from the plane to a greeting by Lt. Gen. Mohamed Fawzi, Egyptian minister of war.

Cairo Radio said the procession in 100 degree heat would begin at the headquarters of the Revolution Command Council in Gezira through the city to the headquarters of the Arab Socialists, Egypt's only political party.

Housing: whose squeeze?

A special meeting of the San Luis Obispo City Council was held Monday night to discuss the local housing situation. Some ideas for lessening the housing squeeze were suggested, but most of the meeting in the City Council chambers was devoted to fault-finding, with everyone trying to pinpoint the source of the squeeze. Contractors in the audience of about 150 blamed the city and "tight money." Landlords blamed increasing taxes and city fees. One gentelman wondered why there was no representative of the college's housing office present to answer questions about the harm they have done.

Representatives of the contractors and developers aimed most of their fire at the city. They said the city is killing chances for new housing by charging fees that raise the cost of building to unrealistic levels. The representatives also claimed that prohibitive zoning laws and unnecessary building codes have only added to the problem.

The landlords also unleashed a few barbs at the city. One landlord summed it up by stating, "To put in a piece of sidewalk or even to connect my hose I have to pay the city," L.R. Shaddix, a Mustang Village housing office present to speak for all when he stated that the problem won't be solved by one committee or one group, but that it's going to take moral commitment from all concerned before housing becomes a pleasure rather than a problem.

Homecoming starts early

The 1970 Homecoming Parade, one of the highlights of Homecoming, will be held Saturday, Oct. 31 at 10 a.m. This year's theme, "No Deposit, No Return," refers to the Homecoming committee's concern for room reservations. Student organizations wishing to enter floats for competition may obtain entry blanks from the Homecoming committee.

The grand marshals of the parade are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Frank, owners of Rose Jewelry. Among the judges are San Luis Obispo residents John Kerr, Robert Johnson, and Bruce Hadden. They will choose the recipients of the trophies and the winners of a special novelty award for entries not in the float category. The first place winners will be given $100, $50, and $25 respectively. These awards will be presented at the Homecoming football game halftime ceremonies.

The Homecoming game will begin at 1:00 p.m. at Mustang Stadium. The San Fernando Valley State College Matadors will be the visiting team.

Oriental clubs first meeting

The first open meeting of the Tomodachi (friendship) club will be held at college hour in room 126 of the Dexter library. It is intended primarily for the Japanese-American students on campus. All nisei, sansei, kibei, and friends interested in promoting the interests and prospects of oriental students are encouraged to attend this meeting.

Milan receives top honor

Quarterback Don Milan's performance last week prompted the Mustang coaching staff to name him "player of the week." Conference officials scanned his statistics and went along, choosing him as CAA "player of the week."

"After the first two passes went for touchdowns, it built up my confidence for the remainder of the game," Milan smiled. Speaking of his two-time TD target, sophomore Mike Amos, Don said, "I feel real confident throwing to him. He had his man completing sight of 12 aerial attempts for 144 yards. He also finished the game with a net of 48 yards, including a 7-yard scoring jaunt."

"This is the first time in my three years on the varsity that I have been chosen player of the week and it means quite a bit to me," commented the 21-year-old Speech major.

"Our offensive line did a fabulous job. I was able to key the defensive backs and pick up the ball seven times for a net of 65 yards including a 7-yard scoring jaunt."

"This takes 11 men to complete any pass," Milan reminded. "It takes 11 men to complete any pass."

"Speaking of his two-time TD target, sophomore Mike Amos, Don said, "I feel real confident throwing to him. He had his man clearly beaten both times and all I had to do was get the ball there." Again giving credit to his mates he reminded, "It takes 11 men to complete any pass for a TD."

There was good news and bad news for the Mustang water polo team last weekend. The bad news was the loss of their season opener to Foothill College on Friday afternoon. The good news was the way the Mustangs came back that very same night against Alan Hancock College and defeated them 14-10.

It was a day of mixed emotions for new Coach Greg Hind. "We started off with a too conservative offense against Foothill and failed to gain any momentum until the second half. The team was also plagued by bad passing which resulted in 14 turnovers and many of Foothill's scores."

Even though the Mustangs drubbed Alan Hancock, Coach Hind was still very disappointed with his team's passing which resulted in 16 turnovers. "If we're going to win against El Camino next weekend we're going to need a lot of hard work."
