Team in air crash

GEORGETOWN, Colo. (UPI) — A twin-engine airplane carrying 31 members of the Wichita State University football team and a crew of four crashed and burned Friday on a flight over the Rocky Mountains.

Early reports indicated that 31 persons were killed in the crash. Several players were rushed to a nearby hospital. Others wandered daiz out of the heavy timber country onto highways and into mountain villages.

The football team was en route to Logan, Utah, for a Saturday game with Utah State. The team was traveling in two planes, twin-engine Martin 404s.

It was the first major crash of a plane carrying a college football team in 10 years.

Buff Rutherford, assistant manager of the Loveland Basin ski area, said the plane carrying the Wichita State team crashed about 1 p.m. in "fairly dense timber" about 16 miles west of Georgetown, a small mountain town about 40 miles west of Denver.

The planes carrying the Kansas team were chartered from Golden Eagle Aviation Co., headquartered at Oklahoma City.

A member of the construction crew near the crash site said the plane came down "right in the middle of a mountain."

"You can see a lot of dense smoke coming out of the timber," Rutherford said.

About 10 persons aboard the downed plane wandered into nearby Idaho Springs where the crash occurred.

The crash of this plane carrying 31 members of the Wichita State University football team, Friday fell 18 days short of being exactly a decade since Cal Poly lost 17 football players in an airplane crash in Toledo, Ohio.

Twenty-two persons were killed in that crash in 1960 which occurred when an Allied Pacific Airline took off from a fog-bound runway, rose 100 feet, and crashed immediately afterward.

The crash site was "up on the hillside" about three-fourths of a mile from Interstate 8.

Brumbaum said the crash started a fire in the forested area. Men and equipment from the U.S. Forest Service and the Colorado State Patrol were rushed to the scene.

Wichita State had lost all three of its football games this season—41-14 to Texas A&M, 53-14 to Arkansas State and 45-10 to West Texas State.

It was the worst crash of a plane carrying a college football team since Oct. 29, 1960, when 23 persons were killed, including 16 members of the Cal Poly team from San Luis Obispo, Calif.

The Cal Poly crash occurred at Toledo, Ohio, when the team was returning from a 804 miles to Bowling Green. The plane was taking off from an airport when it crashed.

Murphy on farm issue

by ERIC MICHELSBEN
Staff Writer

George Murphy, California's senior U.S. Senator, speaking before a crowded audience in the Little Theatre last Friday, commented on almost every area of political controversy while reiterating his faith in the American system.

Murphy is being challenged for his seat by Democratic candidate, Rep. John V. Tunney of Riverdale. Murphy used the talk as a forum to express his platform as his campaign swings into its final month before the November general election.

California's farm labor problems received the greatest attention during the senator's hour-long talk. Murphy was questioned by a member of the audience on just how he had done recently for the farm worker. The senator responded to this challenge in much the same manner as he did in answering other questions throughout the hour: "I've been there, and I know the problems of the worker. I've been one," he answered.

The farm labor controversy has been the focus of heated discussion in California in recent years. Senator Murphy explained his proposed farm labor bill which would set up a new Federal agency to conduct farm labor elections. According to the senator, his bill would help to provide an atmosphere which would protect the rights of the farm workers, growers...but most important it protects the rights of the taxpayer." When lettres rois in the fields, "Who pays for it, the taxpayer pays it," added Murphy.

Murphy expressed a belief that the American technology can help solve the problem of environmental pollution, while providing a concurrent increase in productivity. "We have the scientists and the engineers to get it done," said the senator.

Switching back and forth through the mass of contemporary controversy, Murphy threw out a brief comment on the Middle East haskles, which began in the context of illustrating the great things Israel has done in the area of productivity. Murphy went on to say that "all they [Israel] want is the opportunity to defend themselves." Murphy went on to add that the U.S. should sell weapons to Israel if they wanted to buy them.

"Fists on our campuses. Why should two percent be permitted to disrupt the learning process of the other 98 percent," remarked Murphy as he seemed troubled by the methods employed by a few trouble-makers. Constructive change can come about through a "careful process of planned evolution," explained the senator.

After Murphy's relaxed presentation, he was surrounded by an anxious group of students who fielded questions to the senator directly. He seemed to enjoy the short session in the aisles of the Little Theatre. Afterwards, Murphy left quickly through the side exit and hopped into a waiting car decorated with campaign posters and flowers.

Rodeo Team

To Perform

This college's national championship rodeo team members will perform during the first intramural rodeo of the year at Cobb Arena on the college campus at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 6.

Charles Simmons of Squaw Valley, rodeo chairman for the Rodeo Club, said that participation in the intramural rodeo is open to any student of this college.

Attendance is open to the public. A $1 admission charge will be collected from participants and spectators alike.

Team roping will be added to the six recognized National Intercollegiate Association rodeo events for the intramural contest.

The standard events are saddle and bronc riding, bull riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, and ribbon roping.

Firefighters halt blazes

After being plagued with wind, inaccessible canyons and poison oak, hundreds of men Friday were containing the Los Padres National Forest Fire in Monterey County. Spokesman from the Bucks University information center said that the fire was "90 per cent contained."

Officials said that there was "a hold-a-mile-wide front around a 6-mile perimeter." Weather, a factor which was hampering efforts, was reported as good. An infrared scanner put the total acreage burned at 43,500 acres.

The blaze was fought by 1300 men, 16 round tankers, 16 bulldozers, helicopters, and planes.

One man, George Carrillo, was injured when struck by a falling tree. He was reported to be in good condition. There were 150 mining claim buildings that were destroyed.

The fire was one of three major blazes in a week. Santa Ana, California, was hit by a brush fire in Simi, California, and by another in San Diego and Bakerfield.
Driver training to begin

Defensive driver training sessions are scheduled for tomorrow and Wednesday (Oct. 6 and 7) from 3 to 8 p.m. in the Engineering Auditorium. Interested persons may attend either of the two sessions, according to an announcement from the Business Affairs Division.

Faculty, staff, or students cannot drive the vehicles without having successfully completed the Defensive Driver Training Program. This week will be the only time these sessions will be offered during the Fall Quarter.

Dr. Paul Litchfield will discuss psychological aspects of drug abuse during the "Project 9" meeting being planned for tomorrow evening. The program will begin at 7 p.m. in room 209 of the Ag-Enhart building.

The program is part of a series of meetings designed to familiarize interested members of the campus community with problems of drug abuse in San Luis Obispo.

Dr. Paul Litchfield is the chapter of Beta, Beta, a national honorary society for biological sciences students.

Richard Birkner, coordinator of the series, said the next program will be a discussion on "Marijuana—Should It Be Legalized?" by San Luis Obispo attorney Harvey Wulpejrt. This program is planned for Oct. 13.

Water power

Recreational swimming for students, staff and faculty will only be held Mondays through Thursdays, 5 to 6 p.m. at Cramdall Pool beginning this week.

In addition, the pool will be open Wednesday evenings, 7:30 to 8 p.m. and Sunday after­noons, 2 to 4 p.m., at which time the dependents of students, staff and faculty will be welcome to swim.

Guards set

The Pentagon volunteered 800 enlisted men from all four of the armed services to serve as anti-hijacking guards on commercial airlines.

They will join a small force of civilians from various government agencies who have been riding shotgun on certain flights since President Nixon ordered protective measures three weeks ago in the wake of the hijackings to the Midwest.

A Pentagon spokesman said, all of the servicemen will be volunteers, and that they will be trained by the Department of Transportation for the sky marshal duty. He said they will receive flight pay of $88 a month in addition to their regular pay.

The Army has been selected as executive agent for the project, but the volunteers also will come from the Air Force, Navy and Marines. The spokesman said all or nearly all of them will have had either military police or shore patrol experience.

Jerry W. Friedrichs, the spokesman who made the announcement, said it would be up to the Transportation Department to determine whether the men wear uniforms and to establish other rules.

Meet planned

Alternative, the only literary-graphic magazine on campus, will hold a general meeting this Thursday during college hour in Eng. 311.

Anyone interested should attend this meeting to discuss material for content, art work, design and publicity and sales.

Mustangs march on Gators

by CAROL CHADWICK
Staff Writer

The mighty Mustangs ignored their third game win last week and went on to victory, squashing the San Francisco Gators 65-4. This is their third consecutive win for this season.

For some reason, the whole game seemed to go well. The Mustangs finally won the toss for the ball, and elected to receive. Every play was quick and the first Mustang touchdown came seven moves later. The ball had travelled from the CP 37 to the IF 21 when Don Milan ran in for the score on a keeper.

The second TD was set up by the team of Milan and Amos. A single pass from Quarterback Milan put the ball on the 8 and Milan to Stokes brought it in for a TD. With 12:01 on the clock the third quarter, speedy Darryl Thomas had his second TD of the contest. The fullback from Washington, D.C. just skipped a short four yards for the six points.

Slot end Rick Renz caught a deflected pass off the fingers of flanker Robin Anderson, turned around and galloped in the end zone. There was still 6:56 left in the quarter and the scoreboard read 11-0.

The Gators had managed to score just prior to this, on a long march down the field, and a couple of Mustang penalties. Ralph Nader would have been proud, however, as the Mustangs only suffered seven times for a total of 48 yards.

Renee took a Brenahan pass in for a TD, and four minutes later, tailback Tom Klemens took a handoff in for the final six points. The Mustangs last four games had been won by three touchdowns. The clock run out the last 15 seconds.
