Trustees' actions reported

The Board of Trustees of The California State University and Colleges took the following actions at its meeting July 8:

- Received a letter from Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke announcing that he will retire May 5, 1982 at age 65, after having served 20 years as Chancellor. At the Board's request, the Chancellor agreed to remain beyond the May 1982 date, if necessary, until a successor has been named by the Board.
- Authorized a general salary increase of 6 percent for all academic and non-academic employees, effective July 1 (see article elsewhere in this issue of Cal Poly Report).
- Resolved to ask the Legislature to address the following serious concerns of the Board in regard to the inadequate salary raises and their deleterious impact on the CSUC and higher education in the state: "The 6 percent salary increase provided the CSUC employees in the Budget Act is inadequate and falls far short of anticipated inflation this coming year and does not address the loss of real earning suffered by CSUC employees, and local governments and local educational systems, entities which have substantial state funding, will enjoy pay raises substantially greater than 6 percent."
- Appointed Jewel Plummer Cobb as President of California State University, Fullerton, effective in fall 1981. Since 1976, Dr. Cobb has been Dean of Douglass College at Rutgers University, the State University of New Jersey, where she also holds the rank of Professor of Biological Sciences. Dr. Cobb, who will be the first black woman to head a major public university in western America, will succeed Dr. L. Donald Shields who resigned in January 1981. Dr. Miles D. McCarthy currently is serving as Acting President. At his request, he was not a candidate for the presidency.
- Resolved that the Student Services Fee Task Force develop a rationale and methodology for the Student Services Fee for 1982-83, and thereafter, and prepare a report to the Chancellor to be presented to the Board in fall 1981. (Cal Poly President Warren J. Baker chairs this committee).
- Increased from $10 to $25 the limit on miscellaneous fees the Chancellor is authorized to establish, increase, decrease, or abolish. The Chancellor's limit may exceed $25 when such fees are for the actual or pro rata cost of optional materials, services, or facilities used in connection with courses. Further resolved that these changes relating to miscellaneous fees be provided at a reasonable cost to students. Also requested that an audit be performed at least every three years by the Trustees' Internal Audit staff for adherence to established Board and Chancellor's Office policies.
- Approved appointments of architects/engineers for major capital outlay projects at eight campuses including the Cogeneration Plant and Engineering South at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo.

People help people

People facing a wide range of personal or family problems may find help through SHARE (Self Help and Resource Education), a pilot program sponsored by the Child Development and Home Economics Department. Based on the premise that people sharing similar problems can help each other, SHARE is composed of a number of free discussion groups based throughout San Luis Obispo, all of which are open to the public.

SHARE discussion groups are non-therapy, educational groups intended to build a network of concerned individuals and increase awareness of available community resources, according to Basil Fiorito (Child Development) who is coordinating the program. Dr. Fiorito said the groups are small, informal, and led by someone trained in group leadership.

Twelve groups discussing different topics started meeting the week of July 19 and will run approximately six weeks. Topics will range from single parents, and families caring for elderly members, to stress management, and women victims of assault. Groups addressing different topics may be established if interest is shown. A complete list of topics, times, and locations for the SHARE groups can be obtained by telephoning the Child Development and Home Economics Department at Ext. 2487.
