New Cal Poly Education Professor Receives Service Award

SAN LUIS OBISPO -- George J. Petersen, who joined Cal Poly's College of Education in fall 2004 from the University of Missouri-Columbia, was given a National Service Award from the University Council for Educational Administration (UCEA) for his work as UCEA associate director from 2000 to 2004.

Petersen received a plaque at the 2004 UCEA Plenum Meeting in November in Kansas City, Mo., in recognition of his significant contributions to the work and mission of UCEA.

Petersen, a resident of Los Osos, earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in philosophy from the Pontifical University of St. Thomas Aquinas in Rome, Italy, in 1981; a master's in educational policy, leadership and organizational studies from UC Santa Barbara in 1991, and a doctorate in educational policy, leadership and organizational studies from UC Santa Barbara in 1993.

As a public school teacher in California, Petersen was also a recipient of a 1988 Sallie Mae Outstanding Teacher Award, recognizing the top 100 teachers in the United States.

UCEA is an international consortium of 75 research universities focused on leadership preparation, scholarship and national policy issues.
