Queen finalists chosen

The concert during Homecoming will feature Smith, a contemporary music group of national fame who will present their own flavor of country-rock music. Smith gained national recognition in 1969 with a single recording of "Baby, It's You," which sold a million copies.

The concert will be staged in the Men's Gym on Oct. 23 at 8 p.m. Tickets will be available at the Temporary College Union the week of October 19-23. The price will be $3.50 for students and $4.00 for all others.

Each student will be given an IBM card and asked to list courses they want to enroll in during winter quarter. The cards will be collected and processed by the computer center, and each department head will be given the results of the survey. The survey will show how many students are planning to take what classes, so that department heads will know how many sections of a particular class will be needed to meet the demand.

If all students complete the survey as best they can, and department heads use the survey when scheduling classes, there should be very few problems with closing classes next quarter.

Sierra Club hosts forum

A candidates forum with an emphasis on environmental issues brought together seven legislative candidates seeking to represent the San Luis Obispo area last evening in the City Council Chambers.

The forum, sponsored by the Santa Lucia Chapter of the Sierra Club, consisted of one United States Congressman and six legislators, representing and seeking the representation in legislative offices. They are: Assemblyman William Ketchum, his democratic opponent in the primary this past June, Ervin Berrigan, of Bakersfield; both are vying for the 25th Assembly seat.

The forum was an attempt to schedule for the students the classes they really need.

So all students are advised to do their part next Thursday during college hour. The survey will be worth only what the students put into it.

Registration by computer?

This year's candidates for Homecoming queen were chosen Thursday night. They are left to right: June Kato, who is from Watsonville; Jan Carlseon, from Cucamonga; Jane Garlinger, of Salinas; Bonny Brewer, who also is from Salinas; and Carol Taylor from Madera.

The five finalists chosen Thursday night are: June Kato, who is from Watsonville; Carol Taylor, a sophomore from Salinas majoring in Child Development. She is sponsored by Boots and Spurs; Jan Carlson, a senior from Cucamonga majoring in Social Science. She is sponsored by farm management; Carol Taylor, a sophomore from Madera majoring in Home Economics. She is sponsored by SAM; and Bonny Brewer, a junior from Salinas majoring in Home Economics. She is sponsored by Delta Sigma Phi.

Chavez not supported

Dear Editor,

I want to thank R.D. Seymour for his effective but emotional reply concerning farmers and unions. Apparently, I am just a dumb aggie who has no right to fight for what he believes.

I also want to thank the prejudiced Mustang Daily. It appears that this paper gave unlimited space to Mr. Seymour's letter, whereas my shorter letter had a whole paragraph, statement, and title cut out. Something is rotten and it is not in Denmark.

Unfortunately, Mr. Seymour is guilty of using the same tactics as those he accused me of using. His statements were the most naive, misinformed, and prejudiced ever conceived. He stated his ignorance as facts. It is evident that if Mr. Seymour had ever read both the Teamster and UFWOC contracts he would know why the growers signed with the Teamsters. The UFWOC contract simply placed too many restrictions on the workers. Chavez does not have the support of the farm workers.

Your editorial of 10-7-70 appeared to be, in all visible respects, a very good piece of journalistic structure. The facts were mostly in place, and the style fantastic, but if you'll pardon the expression, your argument is better than your foresight. It has taken approximately eight years to build the Mustang football team back to what it was before the terrible crash of 1960. In the past three years, Cal Poly has made football progress by leaps and bounds. For a starter, the Mustangs captured their first CCAA crown in 1969 and posted a 7-3 record in 1968, not to mention beating cross state rival Fresno State for the first time since 1967, last season.

I personally see the Mustangs, this year, playing a game of decision or proving, whichever bewastes the case. It is true that the Mustangs have rolled over their first opponents, but as a result or cause of the last game, a victory over San Francisco State (63-1), S.F. have decided not to continue to schedule any more games with the Mustang power house.

The remainder of the season will be the proving grounds for the Mustangs, if they can come back again against Fresno State and do as good a job against Long Beach and UCSC as well as upset minded Cal State Fullerton, Cal Poly Pomona, U. Nevada, Reno and Valley State, then the Mustangs will be in contention for bigger and better things; national recognition brings bigger (monied) schools knocking at the Mustang’s door. The Mustangs rising from 18th to 12th in one week in national polling, is the good incentive needed to just keep right on rolling.

Sports rebuttal

Have you ever wondered why it took five years to unionize the grapes, or why after a month strike against the Teamsters he must resort to a boycott? Have you ever wondered why UFWOC does not let the workers vote on unionization? He does not have their support. Would you support a man and his goons who harass you and threaten to destroy your personal property and life, probably not. I have in my possession a copy of 40 different signed accounts of the harassment techniques used by UFWOC goons on farm workers.

The housing question is a problem which should be clarified. There are two major types of housing, (1) housing for permanent workers and (2) housing for migrant workers. Housing for permanent workers is the same as for non-farm people. Some workers own their homes in town or rent. Some live in grover provided homes which are not any more substandard than much of the housing in San Luis Obispo.

Migrant housing is provided by growers, labor contractors, and ordinary citizens. This housing is often in the form of a so called camp or cottage complex. Each year these camps are inspected by governmental officers and must be spotless. Each year, after the migranters leave, the growers must clean up what can literally be termed a stinking mess. This stinking mess caused by the farm workers is what gets the publicity.

Since I received this letter to be published in its entirety I must close now. I prefer my lette to be unbranded by the black eagle of death.

poverty. There is no one to rely

Incumbent Assembly member Ketchum, who represents the San Luis and Kern County, is the author of the California Burning Bill, which regulates trash burning in California. He believes that the fight against pollution should be based on "fact not emotion."

His opponent for the 36th
district, Barragan from Bakers-field, said that his city has a reputation for being the 5th dirtiest city in the union, and if the 36th district seat were his he would do his best to eliminate this situation.

In his representation of Assemblyman MacGillvray, Tim
Terry outlined his support of Bill 130 which was the only bill that restricted legislation against oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel.

Ken Palmer, MacGillvray's opponent for the 35th Assembly seat, said that in the year of the dog, this should be the best time to combat such things as oil
spreading, unsightly power plants, water pollution of the beach and pollution of rapid transit.

In response to a question directed to Murphy asking what his stand was on the new SET Program (Supersonic Transport), Bally stated that Murphy is for this program because it is a quiet and more efficient form of air transportation and it will not stress weather conditions in the upper atmosphere. "SET will be a must of vital element in this regard," said Bally.

In a question regarding damaging of water ways for electrical purposes, Assemblyman Ketchum stated that we must find some reasonable alternative or everyone will be riding bikes...

In the same respect, when asked about the technical advancements in combating pollution, Riordan said, "The first step is to try to avoid further pollution and just work with the technology we can."

In a question directed to Foster
on the immigration policy of this country as a threat to overpopulation he said, "I wouldn't be as strong on this as birth-control sterilization as a check to overpopulation.

Mailboxes are available

Students interested in a per-mament address on campus are now able to rent a mailbox in the International Lounge.

These are the same boxes that were formerly in use in the old Campus Post Office until late last year. That building is currently being used as an architecture lab.

Students interested in these boxes should contact Abe Baakati at the International Lounge, located at the north end of the old Post Office building.
There is a charge of $1 per quarter for the use of a box.

Rental of a similar sized box at the Post Office downtown is $2.15
for a period of three months.
The number of International Lounge boxes is limited. They are being rented on a first come,
first serve basis.

Mustangs clobber toothless Wildcats

Lady luck did not smile on the Wolf Pack from Reno, Nevada last Saturday night as their wheel of fortune landed them a 36-0 defeat at the hands of the Mustangs.

It wasn't an easy defeat, either. The last three games have been won in the first quarter of play. In comparison, the score at the half was only 7-0.

True, the first touchdown came early in the first quarter. Don Milan ran a keeper 34 yards for early in the first quarter. Don Milan passed to Mike Amos in the end zone for a TD. It took a whole five seconds, on the clock, from PAT to PAT.

So what if our defensive ends were playing like halfbacks, it got the Mustangs a touchdown in the middle of the final quarter. It seemed Cal Clark, defensive end intercepted a punt fake intended for Nevada, and kept right on going, 64 yards, for the TD.

Jon Silverman was kept quite busy during the contest, by Nevada defender Hardaway. "They really were tough," Silverman commented on the Wolf Pack.

Coach Joe Harper, after leading his team to their fourth victory, agreed completely. "We were scared going into this game. We were scared going into this game. They are by far, the best team we've played yet." Harper said.

It seemed as though the Nevada defense began to crumble after the half, even though they outweighed the Mustangs tremendously. "The Nevada defense was just run down," Harper explained. "The guys just kept at it, and that's what was necessary to win." Darryl Thornes lead the rushing category with a net of 196 yards and one TD. Right behind him, Joe Nigos brought in 123 yards and one TD.

"They played a good game, but Fresno is a better team than Nevada and we're going to have to be that much better." Harper concluded.
