OVERCROWDING IN DORMS

New housing in 1973

by Mike Bohr

If this college could find ways of housing about 35 percent of its 12,300 students on the campus, it might be able to control the quality and rental price of off-campus housing. So says Hubert Bostrom, director of housing. Right now housing fees are so high because the demand for living space is acute, he continued.

"Even with only 10 percent of the college students living in the resident halls," reported Bostrom, "the halls are still overcrowded." Bostrom explained his problem by saying that there are currently 20 students living in study rooms that have been converted into bedrooms.

Bostrom continued, "So far this year only 16 students have canceled." Of the 18 cancellations, 14 of them have been women while only two have been men. Bostrom felt that the reasons for the unbalanced proportion is because more women are put through college by their parents. "Men, on the other hand, generally pay for their own education and are less financially secure," he said.

BUU seeks cheerleaders

Members of the Black Students Union have proposed that a black cheerleading group be formed that can travel to all California bowl games to support the Mustangs. If a member of the Rally Committee last night, the proposal was passed to represent the BSU before the finance committee in an effort to attain $872 to finance the proposed black cheerleading squad.

According to Bob Erickson, chairman of Rally Committee, members of the BSU seeking to become cheerleaders are not an organized group and cannot legally ask for funds. Rally Committee as an organized body will represent the BSU on the proposal comes before the finance committee Monday, October 26.

The BSU came before Rally Committee last Tuesday, October 20 with their proposal. It was then brought forth Wednesday at the general meeting.

The objectives proposed by the black cheerleaders are: support of the Mustangs, to form an organization that can relate to the black team members as well as the white team members and fans. According to an objective sheet put forth in the proposal, this is not an organization to gain power to take over Rally Club.

"The main reasons people have been canceling," reported Bostrom, "are either financial need, medical problems, a change in their marital or draft status or that they decide to transfer to another school." Filling over 100 percent of its available on campus living spaces, this college is leading all California State Colleges concerning resident hall occupancy. Fresno State College, for example, is filling only 65 percent of its on campus housing facilities while San Francisco State is using a mere 44 percent of its rooms.

"The capacity of our resident halls are 2,145 in the permanent halls, 50 in the temporary halls, 163 in College Avenue housing, a few people in areas such as the firehouse, swine units and auto shop. Bostrom said, "These areas, nevertheless, will not be the only areas that will house students in the future. Two projects are underway that will produce additional student housing. Construction of a new student housing facility is expected to begin this January while another off campus apartment complex will be constructed for married students, and will be completed next year.

Bostrom added, "If we are providing students with only a bed and a roof we are failing. Our objective is to make them feel at home."

The design of the new complex, which will be similar to Yosemite, will be done by fall of 1972. But chances are that it will not be completed until 1973. "The new resident hall will hold 600 students and consist of six towers, each containing 100 people. "It will differ from Yosemite," added Bostrom, "in the respect that it has six towers to Yosemite's 10. It will have only one bathroom per floor instead of two and the acoustics will be better than those in Yosemite." Construction of the hall, which may be called Sierra Madre, if it is approved by Collegen President Robert Kennedy, will begin as soon as the college receives clearances that fulfill federal requirements.

Another new student housing facility is in the advanced planning stages. The complex will be for married couples and act as temporary housing for students. Located on a 30 acre triangular parcel of land that is right off Highway 1, just north of the California State Forestry Station in San Luis Obispo.

Float theme reflects child

For the past twenty-two years, the two Cal Poly campuses have built floats for the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Parade. The floats, which have always been animated, have become a tradition in parade viewers. In the last five years, the float entries have won five of the top awards.

The float, from conception to flower growing, is taken care of by students. The knowledge of mechanics, electronics, flower growing, and design, comes directly from the students in the corresponding departments in the colleges.

This year's float theme, "Once Upon a Dream," adheres to the overall parade theme, "Through the Eyes of a Child." The theme winner, Rick Patterson, is a senior in data processing at the Pomona campus. Ron Shimanowitz, the design winner, is a graduate architect student from this campus.

Robert Kennedy, the float design is a child lying in bed asleep. A clock strikes twelve, waking a toy soldier who, in turn, fires his cannon, which wakes the boy. The boy pushes back his blanket, and rubs his eyes in total amazement, as he sees the toy drummer, jack-in-the-box, and some other toys "living" and moving. The entire arrangement will be automated.

The float will be decorated with a wide variety of flowers. The boy's hair will be composed of orange Cock's Comb, his eyes will be made from blue Bachelor Buttons, and his face and hands will be covered with flesh colored gladisias. Yellow, white and violet mums will form the blanket pattern. The boy's dog will be made from pansy grass blooms, and coco palm husks. The base of the float will contain various colored roses, in a bed of green form. The toys and blocks will be decorated with Bells of Ireland, Birds of Paradise, carnations, Vanda orchids, calendulas, mums, polynesias, and gladisias.

This week, the Rose Parade Float Committee will begin their annual Donation Drive which will run through Nov. 30. A drawing will take place at the Pomona campus football game on Thanksgiving Day. Tickets will cost 25 cents each, or $2.25 for a book of ten. The winner will receive a choice of two tickets to the Rose Bowl game, two tickets to the Rose Parade, or the cash equivalent. All funds collected will go to help building the float.

I think these two individuals have missed the point.

ROTC will stand firm

Why hasn't this college been affected by the nationwide shutdown or cancellation of military installations and programs on college campuses? Apathy? Respect? Concern?

In a recent and informative discussion with the department head of this college's military science program, Colonel William Hastie, Mustang Daily learned that this institution has not and probably will not be plagued with the problems of bombings, burning and rioting that have afflicted the name of military oppression.

The reasons given by Hastie were easy enough to justify. First, students here respect the right and freedom of their fellow students. Second, the population of this college and its surrounding communities is here to better itself, not destroy itself. And third, what has ROTC done to deserve such criticism?

Hastie stated that the Reserve Officers Training Corps program is voluntary and fulfills one's military obligation. And the healthful attitude taken by students here has made this program work very well—harmony between all concerned being the program's main and most functional aspect.

The ROTC recruitment at this college has the largest enrollment of eleven army programs offered at California's colleges and universities. However, enrollment at this facility has dipped from 261 at the spring quarter's end to 211—a drop of almost 17 percent. Why?

Hastie retorted by saying that the military draft lottery and the reduction of manpower (officers included) now needed is visibly less as being the two chief factors in the drop of ROTC enrollment. However, when asked if he felt ROTC would ever be abandoned, the colonel was adamant in his belief that it would not, and likewise it would never reach the level as low as it did in pre-W.W. II days.

The Military Science Department is also involved with one's social service unit, where at football games and sponsors the annual military football team flights, testified by the nation-wide investigation into the crash Oct. 2. Thirty persons were killed, including 13 football players, the team's head coach and its athletic director.

"To the best of my knowledge, the aircraft was being leased on a trip-to-trip basis until such time as the DC-9 which Wichita State had originally intended to lease was repaired," Skipper said.

Editor:

I realize the magnitude of the problems underlying the formation of the Movement. The myth is that the problems almost appear singular in origin. The culprit has always been the male oppressor-racist, sexist, warmonger, anti-feminist, capitalist-imperialist. The response to the problem has to encompass as much as possible of society and the world, not merely the confinement to one facet of oppression with a simple cause-effect relationship and solution. Minimal means with limited ends would only add the abolition of oppression in a particularistic sense and would hamper and fragmentize the Movement.

You can conclude that male oppression is only an integral factor in the perpetuation of female oppression and inequality. Members of both sexes bolster the subordinate role of women by consciously or unconsciously accepting the image mass media, advertising and consumerism have created for women. Consumer exploitation capitalizes on needs and fears which are brought to female consciousness by the mass media, to encourage her to buy. Consumption is thought to compensate for the needs and fears as women will not mobilize in attempt to attain intellectual autonomy and equality.

Ray Rigetti seems to have missed the whole point of women's liberation. The point is there is a major difference between giving women equality of responsibility and responsibility of equality. Women do not want the autonomy to go to Viet Nam and to fight in wars. Wars are largely the creation of men anyway. Responsibility never was a criterion for male freedom so why should it exist for females? Commanding Officers are considered irresponsible to military needs and are in direct conflict with national ideals. Rape, drunks, derelicts, and welfare cases are also irresponsible but all maintain social, moral, individual, and intellectual autonomy by virtue of their male identity.

ENGINEERING is largest school

Paced by a burgeoning young Engineering Technology Department, the School of Engineering and Technology at California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo has become the largest of seven academic schools at the college.

Some 2,580 of the 12,400 students who enrolled for Cal Poly's Fall Quarter last month registered in degree programs offered by the school, a nine per cent increase over last fall's figure.

Engineering and Technology Department, organized just over a year ago, has grown from a first quarter enrollment of 20 to 310 students this quarter, according to Dr. Archie Higdon, dean of the School of Engineering and Technology.

"This growth indicates just how critical and real a need has become the largest of seven school la the Electronic Engineering Department, which is the largest school In the College in San Luis Obispo has nine per cent Increase over last month registered in degree programs this fall.

In addition to the 10 curricula leading to the Bachelor of Science Degrees, Cal Poly's School of Engineering and Technology has 880 students enrolled in a Master of Engineering program which is being offered for the first time this fall.

Prof busted for cars, pot

CUPERTINO (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies said today an automotive mechanic teacher at De Anza Junior College has been arrested for running a stolen car operation in the college auto shop.

They said the teacher, Kenneth Michael Delaney, 24, Los Gatos, would substitute the identification of wrecked cars for that of vehicles stolen from the college parking lot and reinstall them, specializing in Volkswagens and Porsches. He charged $250 for the VW's and $500 for the Porsches, they said.

Santa Clara County Sheriff's warrant agents Al Enfantino and Don Zies reported they had been working on the case under cover over the summer following the arrest of a motorist who was driving a sports car carrying license plates of a car wrecked in an accident.

Delaney and his girlfriend, Michelle Schear, 21, arrested Wednesday and released on bail, face charges of auto theft, violation of marijuana and dangerous drugs.

Students plan to build hilltop wilderness park

Amid the patterned order of the college sphere is a wilderness oasis awaiting landscape adaptation as a campus woodland park. Three students, two from Architecture and one from Ornamental Horticulture, are preparing a plan for utilizing the several acres of untouched campus land behind the Health Center and the President's Residence for a public gathering area.

Pine trees frame the picturesque natural beauty of the hilltop expanse. Once inside the small glen near the top of the hill, the sounds of the campus virtually disappear.

The three students, Bill Paterson, Pete Ketchum, and Jerry Yates, are culminating their three-way effort to provide a specific location for students to gather, take a rest between classes, or to walk amid the natural beauty of the park. The plan also proposes newly landscaped footpaths, a botanical garden area, and a hillside amphitheater in the glen.

The student planners suggest an upcoming College Hour Concert can be held in the glen. In its present state, the hilltop tract has large rocks scattered about the sloping banks of the glen. The audience could sit on the hillside, on the rocks or on the banks, while musicians entertain from the natural curved backdrop of the glen, the planners say.

The Reagan administration plans an investigation at the 10 state college campuses to determine if teachers were being paid for classes they weren't teaching.

Finance Director Verne Orr disclosed Wednesday that the probe was "triggered" by the discovery that at least one teacher and possibly more at California State College at Los Angeles had their classes taught by graduate students.

Orr said the situation at Cal State was uncovered at a Finance Department audit of the college's mathematics department. The inquiry was prompted by a tip from a teacher in the department, he said.

The state official said he plans an "intensive audit" of all other state colleges to determine if each practices are prevalent throughout the system. He said the practice was halted at the OWLMe campus after auditors arrived there. He said a team of auditors will be sent to San Francisco and Sacramento State Colleges.

Orr said a preliminary audit showed other teachers in the department were being taught for classes that were being taught by graduate assistants. He said the Cal State audit was expanded to all the school's faculty and a final report is due in December.
Moscow—The Soviet Union today expelled John Dornberg, the bureau manager for Newsweek magazine in Moscow, for "participation in an anti-Soviet provocation," the official news agency Tass said.

Dornberg was the third American correspondent expelled from or forced to leave the Soviet Union in the last four months. The others were Time and Newsweek correspondents Stanley Cloud and William Cole of the Columbia Broadcasting Corp.

Tass said Dornberg "took part in the passing out of anti-Soviet leaflets by a certain Olivier Moriss and Annell Cuppel." The news of his expulsion was a surprise to Dornberg.

"I know absolutely nothing about this," Dornberg said. "I have not been called by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and the first I knew of it was when my Japanese neighbor brought me a copy of Tass.

"The leaflet incident happened last week in Siam, the large Moscow department store. Moriss and Miss Cuppell were arrested and expelled from the Soviet Union.

"The Newsweek correspondent John Dornberg was told to leave the Soviet Union in connection with his participation in an anti-Soviet provocation," Tass said.
