EOP need: selectivity

"Equal Opportunity Program is good. Something that must be given a lot of thought is that the right kind of students must be chosen for the program," said Early Crudupt, a Los Angeles architect, who taught in the School of Architecture last week.

"I'm here as a professional, not a minority advocate. I try to bring real life problems to the college level," continued Crudupt. "I've experienced some problems—like animals you develop certain senses—I don't feel I've encountered a lot of difficulties.

There have been some but I've tried to avoid them."

Crudupt favors minority students getting out of the big city but said that minority students selected for EOP should have a proper background. "If they don't have the background, they require a special program. They wouldn't be actually admitted but given the opportunity to," added the black architect.

"One step is buiding kids. You have ghetto area kids who have to know more about their community. Getting total involvement having these kids go to different neighborhoods. What is a neighborhood school? Is it a school across town? The whole town should be a neighborhood," concluded Crudupt.

New Archi program

A new organization being structured into the School of Architecture will deal with helping minority students, according to Andrew Merrlam, advisor to the program.

Students admitted under the Equal Opportunity Program quota allows underprivileged people, who do not meet requirements, into school. These people, according to Merrlam, would face a series of difficulties due to deficiencies in background and finances. The program will attempt to bring minority students back into the mainstream of American education.

The program, as yet unnamed, will take form as a union including interested students of all different minorities. Its two main functions will be the exposure of students to opportunities so they can continue studies, and to help new students through cross tutoring.

Merrlam says the school is gearing itself to handle problems beforehand, for the school is serious. He hopes to get firms sponsoring students and to secure summer employment in offices to gain work experience.

As part of the initial program a black architect, Early Crudupt, will be on campus this week.

State funds Questioned

LOS ANGELES—Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke of the California State Colleges recently issued the following statement:

I requested the President of California State College, Los Angeles to investigate and report on the alleged use of graduate assistants for full-time teaching responsibilities as soon as the matter was brought to attention, early in July. Such a practice was in direct violation of the state policy. It was after my request for an investigation, and while the college was conducting its own investigation, a report by an auditor of the Department of Finance was placed in the hands of the Attorney General for potential action should the final report warrant it. This was done with my full concurrence.

I requested President Orantes to take immediate remedial action to correct the situation. He complied with that request.

I was notified by the President that the college stopped the use of graduate students for full-time teaching responsibilities, and, in consequence, had terminated the practice of awarding work-load credit to faculty members for supervising those graduate assistants in question. The President accepted the resignation of the mathematics department chairman.

Additional actions that may be required in regard to personnel and fiscal matters involved, and my further comment regarding these matters will depend upon completion of the study by all agencies concerned.

At this point in the investigation I am not fully satisfied that all necessary steps have been taken. If the investigation indicates that State funds should be recovered, full restitution will be demanded.

Airline list by Dumke

A list of approved airlines for student flight has been formed by the Chancellor's office.

In the aftermath of the Wichita University crash, the Governor has issued an Executive Order which states that only certain carriers qualify for officially sponsored and approved student flight. A list of these carriers who have met the requirements is available in the AIB office in the TCU building.

Official travel of the college and AIB should not be booked on airlines other than those available. For additional information about questions pertaining to student air travel, please contact the AIB office in the TCU.
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Worthy thought left out

Editor:

It was regrettable that the most challenging and inspiring parts of Ralph Nader’s speech were omitted in the Mustang’s coverage.

Mr. Nader pointed out that the issues being used during campaigns this year, such as law and order, student dissent, pollution, etc., are insignificant in comparison to the massive corporate dishonesty and unethical business practices being used against the American nation. Corruption in high places in government and in business are at the root of our country’s difficulties. He suggested that candidates be queried about these matters.

He did not overlook Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen either. He stressed the importance of active participation of all the people. After all, he is the living example that one man can do something if he has the fortitude, and if he is absolutely above corruption.

Mr. Nader presented an idea for students in California that is worth of consideration. He suggested that students employ young lawyers as advocates to present student causes to state and federal officials. The monies for these legal services, could be raised by a small head tax on all students to be in a special fund earmarked for this purpose.

Suzanne Boyd

In praise of:...

Editor:

Most letters to the editor are rebuttals for some article previously published. This letter is somewhat different. I’d like to commend someone for what I felt was excellent piece of journalism.

Carol Chadwick wrote an article following the Fresno State game which not only was a well written article, she used journalistic tact. In athletics it is easy to psychologically rise and fall. Paper clippings can finish a killing, if one has lost. They can also help a team or individual feel proud. Miss Chadwick used the latter point of view in her article.

Miss Chadwick felt that the Mustangs, especially Mr. Nigos, had no reason to lower their heads. They outclassed a team even in defeat. As she pointed out, feeling badly after such a fine performance would be superfluous.

In college writing Jim Murray’s don’t come up every year. Having a female sports writer is a novelty. Having a good female sports writer is an asset to the paper. In a paper, which leaves something to be desired, Miss Chadwick is certainly an asset to the sports section.

Gary Williams

Model campus

Cal Poly never ceases to amaze me. Can it be possible that four out of five of my instructors take rolls? The junior college I attended led me to believe that college students are adults and it is their responsibility whether or not they attend their classes every day because it is their future. Mommy and daddy have let go by now and so should teachers.

It is hard for me to fathom an instructor who bases one-quarter of the grade on attendance and “attitudia,” in other words, her personal opinion of each student.

I realize that Cal Poly is not exactly a liberal arts school, but when I heard a philosophy instructor, when asked about Herman exercise, reply “Herman, who?”

I have heard this school referred to as “Governor Reagan’s Model Campus” and every day it becomes clearer why.

Nancey Tavare

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Worthy thought left out

Editor:

It was regrettable that the most challenging and inspiring parts of Ralph Nader’s speech were omitted in the Mustang’s coverage.

Mr. Nader pointed out that the issues being used during campaigns this year, such as law and order, student dissent, pollution, etc., are insignificant in comparison to the massive corporate dishonesty and unethical business practices being used against the American nation. Corruption in high places in government and in business are at the root of our country’s difficulties. He suggested that candidates be queried about these matters.

He did not overlook Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen either. He stressed the importance of active participation of all the people. After all, he is the living example that one man can do something if he has the fortitude, and if he is absolutely above corruption.

Mr. Nader presented an idea for students in California that is worth of consideration. He suggested that students employ young lawyers as advocates to present student causes to state and federal officials. The monies for these legal services, could be raised by a small head tax on all students to be in a special fund earmarked for this purpose.

Suzanne Boyd

In praise of:...

Editor:

Most letters to the editor are rebuttals for some article previously published. This letter is somewhat different. I’d like to commend someone for what I felt was excellent piece of journalism.

Carol Chadwick wrote an article following the Fresno State game which not only was a well written article, she used journalistic tact. In athletics it is easy to psychologically rise and fall. Paper clippings can finish a killing, if one has lost. They can also help a team or individual feel proud. Miss Chadwick used the latter point of view in her article.

Miss Chadwick felt that the Mustangs, especially Mr. Nigos, had no reason to lower their heads. They outclassed a team even in defeat. As she pointed out, feeling badly after such a fine performance would be superfluous.

In college writing Jim Murray’s don’t come up every year. Having a female sports writer is a novelty. Having a good female sports writer is an asset to the paper. In a paper, which leaves something to be desired, Miss Chadwick is certainly an asset to the sports section.

Gary Williams

Model campus

Cal Poly never ceases to amaze me. Can it be possible that four out of five of my instructors take rolls? The junior college I attended led me to believe that college students are adults and it is their responsibility whether or not they attend their classes every day because it is their future. Mommy and daddy have let go by now and so should teachers.

It is hard for me to fathom an instructor who bases one-quarter of the grade on attendance and “attitudia,” in other words, her personal opinion of each student.

I realize that Cal Poly is not exactly a liberal arts school, but when I heard a philosophy instructor, when asked about Herman exercise, reply “Herman, who?”

I have heard this school referred to as “Governor Reagan’s Model Campus” and every day it becomes clearer why.

Nancey Tavare

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Worthy thought left out

Editor:

It was regrettable that the most challenging and inspiring parts of Ralph Nader’s speech were omitted in the Mustang’s coverage.

Mr. Nader pointed out that the issues being used during campaigns this year, such as law and order, student dissent, pollution, etc., are insignificant in comparison to the massive corporate dishonesty and unethical business practices being used against the American nation. Corruption in high places in government and in business are at the root of our country’s difficulties. He suggested that candidates be queried about these matters.

He did not overlook Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen either. He stressed the importance of active participation of all the people. After all, he is the living example that one man can do something if he has the fortitude, and if he is absolutely above corruption.

Mr. Nader presented an idea for students in California that is worth of consideration. He suggested that students employ young lawyers as advocates to present student causes to state and federal officials. The monies for these legal services, could be raised by a small head tax on all students to be in a special fund earmarked for this purpose.

Suzanne Boyd

In praise of:...

Editor:

Most letters to the editor are rebuttals for some article previously published. This letter is somewhat different. I’d like to commend someone for what I felt was excellent piece of journalism.

Carol Chadwick wrote an article following the Fresno State game which not only was a well written article, she used journalistic tact. In athletics it is easy to psychologically rise and fall. Paper clippings can finish a killing, if one has lost. They can also help a team or individual feel proud. Miss Chadwick used the latter point of view in her article.

Miss Chadwick felt that the Mustangs, especially Mr. Nigos, had no reason to lower their heads. They outclassed a team even in defeat. As she pointed out, feeling badly after such a fine performance would be superfluous.

In college writing Jim Murray’s don’t come up every year. Having a female sports writer is a novelty. Having a good female sports writer is an asset to the paper. In a paper, which leaves something to be desired, Miss Chadwick is certainly an asset to the sports section.

Gary Williams

Model campus

Cal Poly never ceases to amaze me. Can it be possible that four out of five of my instructors take rolls? The junior college I attended led me to believe that college students are adults and it is their responsibility whether or not they attend their classes every day because it is their future. Mommy and daddy have let go by now and so should teachers.

It is hard for me to fathom an instructor who bases one-quarter of the grade on attendance and “attitudia,” in other words, her personal opinion of each student.

I realize that Cal Poly is not exactly a liberal arts school, but when I heard a philosophy instructor, when asked about Herman exercise, reply “Herman, who?”

I have heard this school referred to as “Governor Reagan’s Model Campus” and every day it becomes clearer why.

Nancey Tavare

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Worthy thought left out

Editor:

It was regrettable that the most challenging and inspiring parts of Ralph Nader’s speech were omitted in the Mustang’s coverage.

Mr. Nader pointed out that the issues being used during campaigns this year, such as law and order, student dissent, pollution, etc., are insignificant in comparison to the massive corporate dishonesty and unethical business practices being used against the American nation. Corruption in high places in government and in business are at the root of our country’s difficulties. He suggested that candidates be queried about these matters.

He did not overlook Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen either. He stressed the importance of active participation of all the people. After all, he is the living example that one man can do something if he has the fortitude, and if he is absolutely above corruption.

Mr. Nader presented an idea for students in California that is worth of consideration. He suggested that students employ young lawyers as advocates to present student causes to state and federal officials. The monies for these legal services, could be raised by a small head tax on all students to be in a special fund earmarked for this purpose.

Suzanne Boyd

In praise of:...

Editor:

Most letters to the editor are rebuttals for some article previously published. This letter is somewhat different. I’d like to commend someone for what I felt was excellent piece of journalism.

Carol Chadwick wrote an article following the Fresno State game which not only was a well written article, she used journalistic tact. In athletics it is easy to psychologically rise and fall. Paper clippings can finish a killing, if one has lost. They can also help a team or individual feel proud. Miss Chadwick used the latter point of view in her article.

Miss Chadwick felt that the Mustangs, especially Mr. Nigos, had no reason to lower their heads. They outclassed a team even in defeat. As she pointed out, feeling badly after such a fine performance would be superfluous.

In college writing Jim Murray’s don’t come up every year. Having a female sports writer is a novelty. Having a good female sports writer is an asset to the paper. In a paper, which leaves something to be desired, Miss Chadwick is certainly an asset to the sports section.

Gary Williams

Model campus

Cal Poly never ceases to amaze me. Can it be possible that four out of five of my instructors take rolls? The junior college I attended led me to believe that college students are adults and it is their responsibility whether or not they attend their classes every day because it is their future. Mommy and daddy have let go by now and so should teachers.

It is hard for me to fathom an instructor who bases one-quarter of the grade on attendance and “attitudia,” in other words, her personal opinion of each student.

I realize that Cal Poly is not exactly a liberal arts school, but when I heard a philosophy instructor, when asked about Herman exercise, reply “Herman, who?”

I have heard this school referred to as “Governor Reagan’s Model Campus” and every day it becomes clearer why.

Nancey Tavare
Ethnicology in'  (Continued form page 1)

program became the Ethnic Studies Department in July. Mr. David J. Sanches, an experienced teacher of minority and disadvantaged students, who taught at this college on a part-time basis while carrying full-time responsibilities in a neighboring school district, was appointed to the department. He was invited by Kennedy to submit material for relevant courses to Sanches. As a result, a number of "experimental" courses were approved for this college; some of the new ethnic studies classes are Barrio Mexican, Chicano Heritage, and Teaching the Chicano. In particular, the Coordinating Committee for Chicano Studies, was approved in the college catalog, it is likely, that many of the courses will be offered first on an experimental basis in accordance with the much speeded up procedure for obtaining interim approval of those courses deemed essential and for which qualified faculty are available.

Kennedy said that in addition to the mutual working together of administration, faculty, and minority students on the projects related to ethnic studies, EOP, and employment of minority race individuals by the college, other being studied. Included among the issues of mutual concern are the other items which concern the college president and minority race representatives are (1) discriminatory practices in the community, particularly against minority race representatives seeking housing; (2) admission of a more representative number of minority students into the college; (3) employment of more minority race students as readers, laboratory assistants, and other appropriate student assistants; and (4) the use of minority race students in "team teaching" efforts in appropriate courses, particularly those requiring understanding of certain ethnic group problems.

If you were an hour late to your nine o'clock class this morning, it was because of the Uniform Time Act of 1960. The Act controls the setting back of the clocks at the end of daylight savings, and, according to US Coast Guard Commander Leon Santman who oversees the nation's clocks in the Department of Transportation Building in Washington, the changing of the clocks "happens automatically." "We put out some kind of press release twice a year, and that's that." Being perhaps one of the few laws we have that doesn't need to be enforced states that clocks would be turned back an hour in the last Sunday in April.

There is, however, a provision in the law which authorizes the secretary of transportation to get a court order to force compliance with the law. So far, it has not been necessary to use the provision. Santman doubts if there will ever be a need to use it, either. "I doubt if we'll ever use that provision. The trend is toward acceptance of daylight saving." That's no surprise. Who thinks they can fight time?

Spread the word! Go

MUSTANG CLASSIFIED

For Sale

Relatives for sale, P. 3-83 ins with case. Used but in good condition. 463-1199. Eve.

PORCH & NEEDS PARTS: Pft heads, front and price, & complete Porch set. - Money owner. 3.1.0 B 10-0 3. 434-7503.

Head Sticks. 200 Standards. Nevada Top Farming. 463-200-4564. After 7 p.m.

Spray B. 5noint. Can't be a tain quiet. Waterp. 16 st. can only 32.53 many. Bird. 453-9117. Free delivery. Please phone 463-3080 between 1 p.m. & 5 p.m.

Lost and Found

Stolen Briefcase from bookstore. Would appreciate return of Napa binder and senior project. No Questions Asked. Return to Last and Found.

Stolen Tool Box. Must have. Are means of only income. No questions asked. 453-1919.

Services

Get a thick stuff bring it to the association. N. Associates 3 months. Write to P.O. 100 against Prices for those of longer means. Call 453-053 or 543-7503.

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES & SORORITY! T-shirts designed in your order. Special Discounts to 1st day, or more. By Seabright, 453 Main St., Avila Beach. 543-1919.

Housing

TRACITONE Contact Girls. Available for Winter Quarter. Phone 543-1279.

THE INKSPOT COPY SERVICE

RESERVED FOR A HUNDRED "NO JOB TOO SMALL"
340 HIGUERA B.L.O.
open 10 a.m. - 8 p.m.

THE BEST SHOE VALUE IN THE WORLD
785 Higuera
(Downtown B.L.O.)
453-6999
THUR-SAT EVENHS.

ANDRE BEAUTY and BARBER SUPPLY

Young Men and Women for your everyday beauty need at the right price. See Andre'
by Eric Michelsen
Staff Writer

Football fans basked in perfect football weather, as the 1970 Mustangs climaxed their Homecoming festivities and home season with a second-and-a-half filled, emotion-packed victory over the San Fernando State Matadors, 45-21.

It was a memorable game for the Mustangs, many seniors played their last game ever in Mustang Stadium. Senior Don Milan can look back on four seasons of football as the all-time total offense leader, out-distancing Gary Abate’s standard set last year.

The first quarter was dominated by the Matadors, who ran 36 offensive plays, compared to 13 for the Mustangs. Quarterback Roger Pacheco riddled the Mustangs just could not get a sustaining drive. After a short drive moving, the Mustangs were 3-7 in the first quarter. The Mustangs, following the Matadors drive, took over, picking up a Pacheco pass on the 38 for a bomb one more time, for 43 yards to the endzone. The Mustangs were in front to stay 7-7.

While victory awaited the Mustangs in their locker room, Milan went to the air with the bomb, one more time, for 43 yards and was hauled in spectacularly by basketman Amos, setting up the first score. Mike Church, who sat out the Fresno game with a sore leg, returned for the first time in a first quarter, the Mustangs just could not get a drive moving. After a short series, following the Matador kick, Pat Young again was referred to punt, and booted the ball 43 yards to the Matador 35. But, on the first play of the subsequent series, Pacheco fumbled and the alert Bob Crume quickly pounced on the ball at the 35.

The Mustangs almost blew this break when Joe Nigos fumbled, but tackle Vic Eklund recovered to sustain his team’s drive. Darryl Thomas finally burst from two yards to tie the score at 7-7.

The Mustangs picked up another, two touchdowns later in the period, to leave the field at halftime on top of a 21-7 lead. Amazing Mike Amos teamed with Quarterback Milan on a 38-yard bomb to set up a Tom Klemens’ touchdown, which came six plays later from the two yard line.

Just a couple minutes later, Mike Church, who set out the Fresno game with a sore leg, illustrated his worth to the Mustangs, picking off a Pacheco pass on the 38 and taking it to the 3. It took 4 hits in the line, but Joe Nigos finally burst across from 3 yards to round out the first half action. The fans had barely settled down for some more action and the score was tied again 21-21.

Milan once again seized the initiative and hit his favorite receiver, Mike Amos who outran his defender to catch the lofted football and race into the endzone. The Mustangs were in front to stay 27-21.

As exuberant fans began leaving the park, back-up quarterback Steve Bresnehan replaced Milan to lead the Mustangs to a final score. Rich Wegis came right back to intercept yet another Matador pass to place the Mustangs right back at the throats of the Matadors. Tom Klemens carried across from 3 yards, his second touchdown.

Huge Selection Of REBUILT BATTERIES
6v $9.95 12v $14.95
Bob’s Beacon
1705 Monterey 842-4858

LEON’S BOOK STORE
USED BOOKS BOUND
AND BOUND
Phone 842-8030
680 Higuera Street
San Luis Obispo, Calif. 93401

FRED’S AUTO ELECTRIC
Specialized Motor Tune-up
Dyna-Vision Analysis
IGNITION CALIBRATION ALTERNATORS WIRING
GENERATORS REGULATORS STARTERS BATTERIES
Monterey & California Blvd. Phone 842-3821

MID STATE
Electronic Supply Inc.
543-2770
1441 Monterey
San Luis Obispo

OPEN TO THE PUBLIC
wholesale prices
TV-RADIO-STERO-HI FI PARTS picture tubes—television & radio tubes & parts phone needles—recording tape—test equipment tools—citizen’s band equipment—antennas—microphone—micros—changers-speakers—enclosures film’s photo parts & technical books

SONY TAPE RECORDERS, TV’S, RADIOS

LEON’S BOOK STORE
USED BOOKS BOUND
AND BOUND
Phone 842-8030
680 Higuera Street
San Luis Obispo, Calif. 93401

CAMPUS DO-NUTS
large selection of raised, cake, and specialty donuts
special rates for campus clubs
8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.
987 FOOTHILL BLVD. 543-1736

WANTED
CLEAN GLASS
GALLON JUGS
PAY 10c EA
595-2236

ANNOUNCEMENT
The Board of Directors of the California State Polytechnic College Foundation wishes to announce that copies of the audited fiscal statement of the California State Polytechnic College Foundation for the fiscal year 1969-70 are available for inspection at the office of the Manager, Room 120, Administration Building.

If you’re in love give a portrait
by McLAIN
767 chorro st.

HAMLET
NOT
Cliff’s Notes
Take one before studying
Lincoln, Nebraska 68501

MIDNITE SPECIAL: TUES & WED ONLY
Introducing
Speedy Burger’s Homemade Takitos

Yes with the purchase of any of our hamburgers, at the regular price, with this coupon you can purchase great specials
Takitos 2/4c
Tacos 12c
Fries 10c
Orange Drinks and Lemonade 5 & 10c
Order good only with this coupon on Tuesday Oct. 27th and Wednesday, Oct. 28th
OPEN 10 a.m. MIDNITE Fri. & Sat. Til 1 a.m.
11 Santa Rosa

Cliff’s Notes—always the right prescription when you need help in understanding literature. Prepared by educators. Easy to use. Tapes available now covering nearly 200 frequently assigned plays and novels.

Copyright 1970 by Cliff Notes

Lincoln, Nebraska 68501