State makes rules for campus dorms

by Randall Fry

In the State of California the worst or the best landlord a student could hope to deal with? Specifically, exactly what conditions must a student adhere to if he or she wishes to reside in one of the several on-campus residence halls?

In a recent meeting of the newly-formed Tenants Union, the group argued as to just how favorable it is to rent living space from the State of California. Following up this question on campus housing led to some interesting facts on state controlled campus housing.

The cost of living in a residence hall is about $33 per month, or $396 a year. Considering local inflationary rent prices, this is certainly reasonable, if not downright cheap. Living on-campus is certainly convenient, its proximity to the rest of the school puts it within walking distance, an asset when one looks at the parking situation at the school.

A linen service, access to cleaning appliances, washing machines and dryers, as well as the athletic and social programs available to the dorm resident all add up to a wholesome and pleasant place to live. In fact it's almost like home. Almost.

There is one rather distinctive difference. Instead of a mother telling a dorm resident to pick up his room, to make his bed... and to keep things clean and dress properly, (all admirable endeavors) there is the State of California.

In the 1970-71 version of the Campus Housing Manual, a complete system of social behavior has been created by which a student, while within the boundaries of the campus, is expected to honor. Some of the regulations deal with restrictions which apply to all students while on school property, such as the ban on alcoholic beverages.

The majority of these rules are reasonable and justifiable, but the manual doesn't stop at the rules pertaining to matters of the preservation of school property and administration. It also makes some moralistic judgments on student behavior. College regulations prohibit what is referred to in the Housing Manual as "law and obscene signs or pictures" in any of the residence halls. What it does not do is specify exactly what constitutes "law and obscene," or whether the distinction is left up to the student or the administration.

The implications are equally vague concerning the regulations restricting visitors of the opposite sex. The rules state that there are specific times for such visits, and that all liaison between members of the opposite sex within the (Continued on page 2)

Luckman speaks here on violence in schools

"We're living in an era of chaos and confusion. If the trend continues, will there be a future for you or just a past for me?" These ominous words were spoken by Charles Luckman, chairman of the five largest firms in the world. Among the firms accomplishments was the designing of the master plan of Cape Kennedy and of the Houston Space Center.

 Luckman spoke before an overflowing Little Theater audience yesterday on the topic of "Trustee Views of Higher Education." He has been a member of the California Board of Trustees since it was first established, back in 1960.

"One man's conformity is another man's heresy," he stated. "For many years I have marched to a different drummer and I want to establish the premise that I care." Addressing himself to violence, Luckman stated that none of it made right.

"Our system is founded on law and order. "Academic freedom means freedom from interference, not freedom to break laws. When the institutions rules are broken, the guilty must be penalized. When the civil laws are broken the guilty must be penalized. "There can never be any virtue in violence. When liberty destroys order the hunger for order will destroy liberty."

"Student violators should be subject to expulsion while teachers who attempt to disrupt the orderly process of a campus should have their tenure terminated."

Luckman ended with the sentiment that "Freedom is not for each but for all. Only we can preserve America. Freedom did not begin with us. Do not let it end with us."

"The bombing of the Bank of America is a terrifying example of uniformed ignorance," he stated.

"The tragedy is that radical bombers correlate badness with bigness."

"All who are part of higher education must be devoted to academic freedom. We who have responsibility cannot permit willful lawbreaking. We must teach respect for laws on our campuses. We cannot accept the principle that minority rights make right."

"The majority of these rules are reasonable and justifiable, but the manual doesn't stop at the regulations pertaining to matters of the preservation of school property and administration. It also makes some moralistic judgments on student behavior. College regulations prohibit what is referred to in the Housing Manual as "law and obscene signs or pictures" in any of the residence halls. Kennedy receives award

President Robert E. Kennedy recently received the Outstanding Citizen Service Award from the United States Department of the Army.

Dr. Kennedy received the award from Maj. Gen. Richard W. Whitney, deputy commanding general, 6th U.S. Army, the Presidio, San Francisco.

The award cited Kennedy for “his outstanding contributions to and support of the ROTC program from April, 1967, to September, 1969, as president of the ROTC program as a viable, proper, and essential activity of the college, emphasizing its importance in relation to the goals of national security and the welfare of our system of higher education.” The award continued: “By his dedication to his profession and the college’s tradition, Dr. Kennedy has attested prominence, thereby reflecting great credit upon the Military Science Department and this college,” the citation concluded.

The award presented to Dr. Kennedy consists of a framed certificate and a medal. It is the second highest civilian service award presented by the department of the Army.

Participating in the presentation were Col. William Haaste, head of the campus Military Science Department; Lt. Col. George L. Silva, military science instructor; and Capt. Bob Shriner, aide to General Whitney. Representing the School of Science and Mathematics, which includes the Department of Science and Mathematics, was Dean Clyde P. Fisher.

I have seen a number of students who live together behind closed doors. Cuesta College measure passed by a 3-1 vote

County Measure A, the $8 million bond measure for construction of a permanent campus for Cuesta College, was approved in a 3,395 yes to 7,586 no vote by San Luis Obispo County residents. This is a 74.5 percent margin, with a 99 percent, 23 vote necessary for approval.

Dr. Merlin Eisenblute, president-superintendent of Cuesta College, issued the following statement in response to the 3-1 vote:

"We have worked hard the past two years to bring about a building package which would be acceptable to our voting citizens.
Now that it has passed, the administration and board of trustees will do everything possible to bring about a good, substantial, reasonably priced plan of a permanent which residents can be proud.

"We do thank the voting public for their support and accurately trust that by our forthcoming decisions we can merit their continued support."

"We also want to express our appreciation for the excellent cooperation of newspapers, television, and the individuals who brought the information concerning the bonds to the voting public."

Why isn't a big company like General Electric doing more to clean up the environment?

How much can one company do to clean up the environment?

Until the problems of pollution are under control—until its effects are reversed—no company can ever doing "enough."

What follows is a listing of things General Electric is doing to ease environmental problems.
Some are new. Some are, as old as twenty-five years.

Should we be doing more?
Yes, of course. Every company should. These are only a few of the more important ones. But every day sees us take more steps in many more directions.

► General Electric is working towards a fuel that will use bacteria to convert garbage into a high-protein food for cattle. One possible answer to the mounting garbage problem.

► Modern, pollution-free mass transit from General Electric is carrying more and more commuters into cities without their cars.

► GE pioneered the development of nuclear power plants. A nuclear plant makes electricity without making smoke. While there is still the problem of thermal effects, it's being tackled on a site-by-site basis and can be solved. But for now, increasing demands for power can be met without an increasing output of air pollution.

► GE has developed a waste-treatment unit to significantly reduce the water pollution from ships and boats.

► We have been chosen by the federal government to solve the problem of jet-engine noise for the aviation industry. Our present jet is already quieter than those on the passenger planes of the Sixties, and yet it's nearly three times as powerful.

► GE designed and built an undersea habitat called "Tektite." Several teams of scientists have lived in the habitat while studying coral-control of water pollution.

► Our newest jet airplane engine, for the DC-10, is designed to be smoke-free. Of course, there's more to jet exhaust than just smoke. And our goal is to one day make them run totally clean.

► General Electric makes high-temperature vortex incinerators for the complete combustion of many types of solid waste. Complete combustion drastically reduces the amount of leftover ash, as well as virtually eliminating air pollutants.

The problems of the environment are many. And some of the solutions will be difficult and costly. But, as you can see, we're working on them.

Why are we running this ad?
We're running this ad, and others like it, to tell you the things General Electric is doing about the problems of man and his environment today.

The problems concern us because they concern you. We're a business and you are potential customers and employees.

But there's another, more important reason. These problems will affect the future of this country, and this planet. We have a stake in that future. As businessmen. And, simply, as people.

Frosh take on Cal Bear-Cubs

Having slipped the Stanford frosh around last week before losing a 30-17 heartbreaker, the adventurous freshman football team of Coach John Crivello takes off for Berkeley this Friday to clash with the California frosh. The opening kick will sail downfield at 1:00 PM in Cal's Memorial Stadium.

“Our guys gained a lot of confidence against Stanford. Now they know they can go out and play a Pacific 8 team on equal terms,” Crivello commented. “This will help our preparations for Cal this week.

“All our kids gave us 100 percent effort last week. It’s hard to single out players without films to study but I can say this,” Crivello continued, “our players are winners and they will be assets to the varsity next year.”

The Colts will take a 51-4 record into Saturday’s contest with the Cal Bear-Cubs. Prior to their 30-17 loss to Stanford, a team rated as the best in the nation, the Colts defeated Cuesta College 14-0, stopped Santa Clara’s frosh 35-28, and the USC frosh, 43-32. Both contests could have ended either way, so it’s really hard to determine Berkeley’s capabilities.

The opening kick will sail to clash with the California frosh. Mike Foley took over Gliniac’s duties, rushing for 96 yards on 22 carries, against Stanford. Foley is a very capable ball handler.

The Cal frosh are winless in two starts having lost to UCLA froshman, 30-28, and the USC frosh, 43-32. Both contests could have ended either way, so it’s really hard to determine Berkeley’s capabilities.
