Symphonic Band paints portraits with music

Intriguing "Symphony for Band" opened the second portion of the evening's entertainment. Light, happy selections were written by Joseph Wilcox Jenks.

The third selection of the evening's program was the "Finals from Symphony No. 1" by the contemporary Russian composer Dmitri Shostakovich. Originally written for orchestra, the piece was transcribed for band by Charles Richter. Vic Ford's "Encore in Jazz" comprised the fourth piece on the program. The evening's number was well performed by the Percussion Ensemble, which consists of the entire drum section of the Symphonic Band. It introduced the encore of 'Maria.'

Closing the first half of the evening was a short intermission, the "American Overture for Band" performed by Charles Rightor. The concert, of course, was well received by the audience. Following the intermission, the "American Overture for Band" opened the second portion of the evening's entertainment. The light, happy selection was written by Joseph Wilcox Jenks.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Prof's meeting attacked

Editor:

What was witnessed at Cal Poly on Thursday was reminiscent of Hitler's Germany or Lenin's Russia, but I hope it is not typical of America and the democratic process.

I am referring to the meeting sponsored by SNAP and the presentation of several faculty who were not retained for next year. Some speakers were using an emotional appeal filled with half truths or outright lies in order to promote sympathy. Publicity and some of the speakers claimed there was no academic freedom and license. Academic freedom carries with it a sense of responsibility which was absent.

My main objection to the Thursday meeting is that SNAP did not present both sides of the picture. Faculty evaluations are kept confidential by those who make them. Now that the confidential label has been removed by those evaluated, it is only fair that the students and other faculty hear another side as yet unmentioned.

The Biological Sciences Department has an evaluation committee for each member being evaluated. The five faculty (tenured) are chosen by the man being evaluated. Their recommendation is then presented to all the tenured faculty of the department. No mention was made at the meeting that the vote on Dr. Williams was overwhelmingly against retention: 17 no, 3 yes and 1 abstention. This is a part of due process for which everyone has great concern.

It is the desire of this college and the Biological Sciences Department to retain good teachers. This means not just classroom presentations, but all aspects of work within a department. It includes working cooperatively with a number of faculty in larger courses in the preparation of laboratories, conduct of the course and administering of examinations. Each new member of the team must carry his load. It has nothing to do with dictating how it is to be done, but agreement of all faculty members.

Dr. Williams has not learned how to do his. Neither should he be excused by the committee against another faculty member. A part of the responsibility of academic freedom is to use appropriate speech. Flabby four-letter words are not acceptable.

A large number of students may not know that it is possible for a faculty member who has been approved by his department, but not retained by his dean, to appeal to the Personal Review Committee of the Academic Senate. This independent group of faculty members and many students to help me on this action. My own department may make the final evaluation and possibly appeal for his retention. No man was made of this at the SNAP meeting. This is not possible in Dr. William's case because he resigned and thus his evaluation was not forwarded beyond his department.

The English professor who tried to show the dignity of the teaching profession and then cut into Dr. Kennedy, the president of the college, was using a radical political technique that is far worse than any fault of the present system. This college has many faculty members of liberal persuasion within different departments, including our own. A conservative majority would not remove them. They are part of the team. The radical element which was on display for SNAP would not even permit their way about it.

Let's be certain we get the facts from both sides before we are led by mass hysteria into a program of irrational action.

Dear President Kennedy:

I am writing this letter as Chairman of the Committee of Sixty Questions. I have many faculty members and students to help me on this committee according to principles which I have specified. So far, the response has been very good. The committee is still forming and anyone who wishes to do so can participate.

With this letter, the Committee of Sixty Questions is putting into serious dialogue. We are students and faculty concerned about academic freedom at our school. Our meeting with you will not be a publicity stunt. We will not challenge you to debate. We want to know you as a person. We want to know the man who is behind the role you play.

Sir, you are often accused of being shallow, diplomatic, waffly, wishy-washy, a fence-straddler, and the like. We want you to give us a chance to prove the sort of man you really are. If you remember, I was a guest in your home last year and we spent a Sunday afternoon sharing our thoughts about many "relevant" issues. I respected you very much then, but I am not sure whether I do now.

The questions we want to answer will be quite specific because we want to give you the least possible chance to duck them. It is not our purpose to expose you to personally accusable, inflammatory, or rhetorical questions. We simply want to touch and be touched by your conscience. We simply want to know that you recognize and feel the moral crises we all face in these historical times.

The following are examples of the sort of questions we will ask:

1) "Do you, Robert Kennedy, think it is Constitutionally permissible to use the armed forces against their moral conviction to fight the war in Vietnam when the Congress has not declared it?" If a teacher admitted to being a Communist, would that be sufficient grounds for firing him or her? And how far would you go in firesing a person who performs his role as a teacher flawlessly? Should being a Communist be sufficient grounds for firing a teacher?" If so, you will be asked to give precise answers to the questions asked. As a former journalist you know how frustrating it is to ask someone a good question only to have it avoided with measured and noncommittal responses. We are most experienced with this problem of ducking questions, we are attempting to form a committee of journalists who are impartial and from the outside to score your performances. Your answers will be rated in three categories:

1) Clear and clean answer;
2) Vague, but an answer is not given;
3) Polished non-answer.

The terms of our meeting are as follows:

1) You will be given the 60 questions exactly one week in advance of the meeting for our consideration.
2) No other questions will be asked unless you choose to throw the meeting open after you have finished answering the 60 questions. We will not be pressured to do so.
3) This meeting will be open to the public and the press in a room or place sufficiently large enough to handle the expected crowd.
4) No other questions will be asked unless you choose to throw the meeting open after you have finished answering the 60 questions. We will not be pressured to do so.
5) We want to share this meeting with the students and faculty concerned about the role you play.

We want to know the man who is behind the role you play.
Sociology, a response

What is sociology? This is one of the main questions asked of the student of sociology. Man is born an animal; it is only as he learns the appropriate responses to others around him that he becomes a social, or human, being. This socialisation is an ever-going process. Learning how to respond to others is brought about by the socialisation of the ideas that significant others have of right and wrong, real and unreal, etc. By responding first to his parents, the child learns what is right and wrong, good and evil, etc. Without socialisation, a person may develop into a person who is unable to live together.

In socialisation, with regard to role vis-a-vis someone who is a role behavior, we find one thing that is true of all social systems: one cannot act as a student, a teacher, a husband, a wife without a set of rules and regulations. The same time that we play one role we anticipate the actions of the person playing the reciprocal role, and thus learn the other roles as well. When the time comes we are prepared to play that role. We learn to get along with our fellow man.

Two members of the faculty at this college have been named consultants in the Republic of China's Ministry of Education. Dr. Frank Barrows and Robert Cleveland will begin their duties as consultants on a $5 million project to improve vocational and technical education in public schools in Taiwan, in the next few weeks.

A member of the Industrial Technology Department faculty, Dr. Barrows has been appointed to depart next week to begin his assignment as an educational advisor and assistant director of the program. He will be on leave, without pay, from his duties at the college.

Cleveland, who joined the faculty of the college's School of Architecture and Environmental Design last fall, will begin his new duties following the close of the Winter Quarter this week. He is resigning from the college faculty in order to accept the appointment in Taiwan.

According to Dr. Barrows, a member of the faculty since 1968, the Taiwan project involves expansion of vocational China's Ministry of Education's vocational high schools, construction of a new technical junior college in the Taipei area, and expansion of vocational and technical teacher programs at Taiwan Normal University.

The program is being operated by the Republic of China's Ministry of Education and post-secondary education programs in Taiwan.

Sincerely,
Skip Kelley

Taiwan bound

Both Cleveland and Dr. Barrows are well-qualified for such a project. Cleveland was associated with Charles K. Schmandt of Santa Barbara in private practice as an architect from 1961 until he joined the school faculty last September.

A graduate of Ohio State University, where he earned his bachelor's degree in architecture, he is the immediate past president of the Santa Barbara Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Dr. Barrows is a graduate of both the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy in Kings Point, N.Y., and Utah State University, where he completed his doctor's degree requirements last year.

Both have taught at the high school, community college, and college levels, and each claims he became an engineer in his line of work and is a former U.S. Navy Officer. He also spent two years teaching with development of Malawi Polytechnic College in Malawi, Central Africa.

for political reason but in an effort to seek accreditation for the Physics Department, he was disbarred because he did not have a doctorate degree. He said, "I should be noted that Dr. Vrana's warthou research and subsequent appearances at meetings concerning the Diablo Canyon Nuclear powerplant site all occurred subsequent to the recommendation regarding nucemture."

Kennedy did say that Vrana would be welcomed back to the school if he did complete his graduate work and obtain a doctorate. "If Vrana receives his doctorate degree and there is space in the Physics Department, I would request that he be retired," he said.

In a public meeting, we know that what we are asking will be very hard for you to do. To you it may seem unethical. You may disagree with me, but you do it for the good of the community. I have said, from time to time, that role vis-a-vis someone who is a role behavior, we find one thing that is true of all social systems: one cannot act as a student, a teacher, a husband, a wife without a wife and a husband. Mustangs success story:

wins keep on rollin’ in

The victories keep rolling in for the Mustang baseball team. Angius Garcia, a member of the University of Redlands 19-2, 6-0 and 3-2 last weekend to run its season mark to 6-1-1. By winning its eighth last weekend the Mustangs are five weeks ahead of their pace last year. Eight more wins and they will have surpassed their entire total of last season.

Kent Agler and Charles Wilbur shared hurling duties in the 13-2 rout, with the win going to Agler. An 11-run second inning put the Mustang ahead to stay.

In that frame after five walks were issued first baseman Gary Knuckles slugged a three-run homer. Dave Kline followed with a solo homer and, after Dave Oliver walked, Lathan powered his third-round tripper of the season.

Robin Baggett, Howard Casey and Dave Oliver each collected two hits in the game.

In the Saturday doubleheader, the Mustangs scored in the first on a Knuckles single, sacrifice and an error, and added two more in the third. With two out Kline walked, stole second, and after Oliver singled he stole home. The Mustangs coasted home on Marsh’s safety.

In the fourth, a triple by Pat Gill won the triple header. Redlands tallied once each in the sixth and seventh.
