Peace attempt gets revealed

Becca Wilson, a member of the National Student Delegation that went to North Vietnam last fall, in an effort to bring the war to an end and seek a treaty was chief speaker yesterday in a rally in the College Union Plaza sponsored by Students for New Action Politics (SNAP).

Miss Wilson, a student at UC Santa Barbara, said that the delegation wasn’t allowed to go to South Vietnam, but was allowed to visit North Vietnam. The 15 members of the delegation spent a week in Hanoi.

While they were there, they received a peace declaration from the National Union of Students in South Vietnam. Miss Wilson explained that the declaration was the basis for the People to People Treaty of Peace, which was circulated after the rally. She said the treaty will be presented to the U.S. government in May of this year.

A question and answer session followed her speech. One student began by questioning the validity of the treaty since it is a proposal from the people of Vietnam to the people of the United States and clearly ignores such groups as the National Liberation Front and the Provisional Revolutionary Government, of North Vietnam. Miss Wilson replied that the whole idea of a North Vietnam is nothing but American propaganda. “There is no North Vietnam.”

In an interview with that same student after the rally, he said the treaty can accomplish nothing. His main reason for not signing it was that it could not effectively establish a peace with all the elements of Vietnam. About 300 people were present at the rally. A continuing discussion kept remants of the crowd until 1 p.m.

Students hear tuition

Two steps backward and one step forward seems to be the way of the new budget now before the state legislature. President Robert Kennedy explained the results of his visit to Sacramento and then played a tape of a conversation with State Senator Grunsky.

Kennedy spoke before a special meeting of foreign students yesterday during college hour.

The state college trustees and the Senate Finance Committee had already decided on a $500 raise in foreign student tuition. This brought the total tuition per year for foreign students to $1100.

President Kennedy successfully argued retention of the “grandfather clause” and for an additional $1.9 million to serve for hardship cases in reducing the unplanned and extra burden on these students. Approximately 74.40 per cent of the foreign students could be declared hardship cases because standards have not been set and the purpose is to continue the cross-cultural education of the students here and at other state colleges.

Almanac opens to public

The Mustang Almanac, a music marathon that will go for some ten hours on May 1, is now open to the public. The Almanac was previously going to be restricted only to area students, administrative officials being a bit nervous about having to cope with a “rock festival” on campus.

After a meeting yesterday, in which the program was dealt with in depth, it was decided that the public would be invited to attend the event. Everett Chandler, dean of students, said that he was at first hesitant on opening the event to the public because a problem might arise “of people from highway one coming in.” Chandler said yesterday that he did not think that transients would be threatening to an event that bad yoders as a feature.

Music in the Almanac is to be stepped in Americana, from country and western, to blues and to folk songs of the Appalachian Mountain area.

Artsite run the musical gamut and will come from all parts of the country. Charley Musselwhite will be heading the blues singers and Ramblin’ Jack Elliot will be knocking them dead with his country-wanged truck-drivin’ sagas.

The event was originally planned to take place last year, but had to be cancelled at the last minute when Gov. Reagan closed down all the state colleges following the deaths at Kent State University.

Editor:
While reading the many articles and hearing people's comments of the recent burning of the Administration building at U.C. Santa Cruz, I can no longer be sucked in by diseased and warped comments I've heard of this situation. It seems people get very excited when something like this occurs on campus and possibly for good reason. Burning or destroying in any form a supposedly good and worthwhile thing, to most people is bad. In using the term "bad" it seems people selectively term what things are bad and what things are not bad according to how close the incident relates to their lives.

The point being, the people who say how terribly awful, bed and disgusting the burning was and that those involved with starting the fire must be sick and should be institutionalized must look further. So those same people realize that things such as these go on unnoticed every day. Our government, in a recent case is finally (thank God) doing something about it. Countless numbers of Vietnamese homes, schools, yea schools although not near at architecturally appealing, market places and places of worship go up in flames everyday, yet we don't make near such strong accusations against these people, who do it ironically enough in the name of "freedom" as the ones doing it here at home.

Wouldn't you agree, their homes and schools mean equally as much to them as our's to us?

Shriveled hand

Here comes the A.S.I. elections. Hallelujah. Everybody get ready for nothing, for once again the student body will be subjected to the throes of the campus politics.
The major offices of President, Vice-President and related offices, plus the posts of members of the student judiciary are up for grabs.
As usual, we will have a minority of the student body vote on candidates that represent a microcosm of student opinion.

Will student government be different next year? Probably not. Once again glorious schemes and plans will be subject to the dilution of administrative approval. When the students need a viable, free thinking legislative arm, they instead have the shriveled hand that possesses a rubber stamp for the administration.
Where was the A.S.I. when faculty members were dropping off like flies? Will there come a time when a student body candidate will be an individual that will mirror the thoughts of students? Not only reflect the thoughts on campus activities, but crucial issues that college students now face: war, the draft and education.

How effective has student government been? State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke, speaking of the California State College Student Presidents Association (CSCSPA), which this campus is a member of, gloomily referred to the fact that the body represents more than 240,000 students on 19 campuses. He said that CSCSPA, which boasts 15 of the 18 State Colleges with student government as dues paying members, "provides a strong student voice in systemwide policy deliberations."

Is the student viewpoint of this school represented through the government? Is Dumke getting the true picture of what student attitudes really are?

I think not.

Students have a choice. They can pick another puppet, or they can demand an individual that will insure that the students, not a clique, is represented. Let us hope it is the latter.

Sun, moon and the stars

The following is provided as an astrological forecast according to your Sun Sign for the period between Friday, April 16 and Thursday, April 22.

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—Your enthusiasm is contagious. An idea you have now may seem impossible to the average unimaginative person, but let your leadership qualities take over and soon you will see your idea become a reality.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—Your basic conventionality may soon find you accepting the customs of the circles in which you find yourself, not necessarily because you believe in them, but because you don’t see any point in the discomfort rebellion would cause.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20)—Your health may be impaired in the near future if you don’t somehow manage to “get away from it all” for a little relaxation. You need plenty of sleep, exercise, and fresh air and you haven’t been getting enough of any of them.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22)—Your ties to home are becoming increasingly strong during this period, mostly because you are basically a domestic type. Be careful that you are not just trying to escape an uncomfortable situation, however.

Leo (July 23 to August 22)—Your overpowering ambition may soon put you in a position where you will have to fight for something you want very badly. Just be careful not to adopt underhanded methods, and you will be more successful in the end.

Virgo (August 23 to September 22)—Your tendency to be quite thorough and exact and to watch details closely is great, but beware against not seeing the forest for the trees, one of your occasional downfalls.

Libra (September 23 to October 22)—Your sense of justice is your most typical characteristic. When you feel you have been treated unfairly, you tend to respond by being antagonistic and cold, but try to carefully weigh all the factors involved so that you may be sure you are not treating someone else unjustly.

Scorpio (October 23 to November 21)—Your worst traits—jealousy, sneakiness, and vengefulness—may show themselves very soon, and if they do, you will probably be very sorry afterwards. Remember this, and be careful of what you say and do, a lot rests upon it.

Sagittarius (November 22 to December 21)—Your desire to be admired by other people may cause you to do the wrong thing because of it. Try to determine beforehand whether you really want the respect of the people you are trying to impress. Chances are they are the wrong sort of people anyway.

Capricorn (December 22 to January 19)—Your strong sense of duty sometimes causes you take on a full load of responsibility all by yourself. Try to realize that sometimes you need help yourself—find someone you can trust to give you help that you need.

Aquarius (January 20 to February 18)—Your contemporaries may consider you impractical because of your great power of foresight. However, if your ideas are based on fact, go ahead with them, what you predict is usually so.

Pisces (February 19 to March 20)—Your ability to do things for those you love with little fuss may cause people to not fully appreciate what you do for them because it is seemingly so effortless. Don’t let their ingratitude hurt you—you were not kind in hopes of a reward anyway.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22)—Your ties to home are becoming increasingly strong during this period, mostly because you are basically a domestic type. Be careful that you are not just trying to escape an uncomfortable situation, however.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—Your basic conventionality may soon find you accepting the customs of the circles in which you find yourself, not necessarily because you believe in them, but because you don’t see any point in the discomfort rebellion would cause.

IN UPSET BID
Titans tackle Mustangs

Last place Cal State Fullerton moves in today with the hopes of upsetting the Mustangs in a three game series after losing to Long Beach State yesterday. Today's game, weather permitting, begins at 3:30 p.m. in what could be tomorrow's game start at noon.

The weekend series is just a start for the Mustangs as they tackle nine games in nine days, all league play. After Fullerton comes the Brood of Cal Poly Pomona on Monday and Tuesday of next week. During the Royal team travels to Riverside for a three game set.

But Mustangs cannot look past the Fullerton series. If the Green and Gold are to stay on top of the CCAA, the series is a must. Green and Gold are to stay on top of the title race. But Fullerton Mustangs, have played 14 league games. A loss would be crucial to the Mustangs in this early stages of the league.

Valley State, though it has lost two more games than the Mustangs, have played 14 league games. A loss would be crucial to the Mustangs in this early stages of the title race. But Rick Sylva sport winning pitching corps of Berd Harr.

Dave Oliver continues to hold down the second spot in the batting order. Last week he had a .370 average last 19 points behind the leader. Lathan Marsh is in a hot battle for the third spot but is currently sixth. His average of .389 is just one point behind and one behind the fourth spot. Oliver is second in total hits with 80 to his credit while Gary Knollkis is tied for third in total hits with eight.

Weariness could be a factor in the Mustangs travel to Riverside for the weekend series. Just a start for the Mustangs as they continue through Saturday, that summer is about to begin. But the Mustangs cannot look at the opponent's .201. But when one has fallen to do the job the other has risen above the occasion to upset the Mustangs in a three game set.

Titan's Junior Varsity have a 3-4 league record. Because of the Home Concert in town. On Saturday, last running event.
