Mellow was the feeling

by JULIE WIDOREK

For those people who went to the Danny Cox concert Friday night looking for a way out hunting for love and light shows with plenty of groovy people, they couldn’t have been in for a bigger surprise. Instead of the usual concert audience affair, what emerged was a gymnasium full of warmth and happiness resulting from the performance of four talented artists to a small audience genuinely willing to listen and enjoy.

First, there was Kajaa Ohman, guitar about her, a little like Buffy Saint Marie, a little nervous but so romantic that there could be no dispute. With flowing dress and long dark hair she shared her experiences with songs of friendship, hope, dreams and failures with a warm sincerity.

Next were Cheech and Chong, billed as the only Chinese and Mexican comedian team in the world and probably the only one who could deliver funny material that was blasphemous, obscene and satirical but also at the same time totally approved by its listeners.

Then came Danny Cox with straw hat, pink shirt and mustard colored pants with a voice all the more colorful than the garments he wore. With sweat pouring from his face onto his chest and gutter, eyes radiant and body erect, he talked than sang of life which he and others have experienced. He went from blues to folk with the cool conviction of one who has total faith in the world and probably the only one of the controversial Mexican comedian team In the world about him.

With Cox’s last song, the concert ended as naturally as it had begun—no electronic circus but just a feeling of an evening well spent.

Pentagon Papers freed

by TERRANCE W. MCCABY

Los Angeles (UPI) - A federal judge Friday freed Anthony J. Russo, the only person jailed in the Pentagon Papers leak, and In a precedent-shattering ruling voided the government to give a copy of the secret grand jury testimony to make public.

The decision was an un-granted victory for Russo and Daniel Ellsberg, former aide to the Rand Corp. think tank, who have said they wanted together on the public disclosure of the controversial Pentagon report on the origins of the Vietnam War.

“Wonderful, wonderful,” exclaimed Ellsberg. “This is a great victory.” Ellsberg has been indicted for violations of the Espionage Act, for leaking the Pentagon Papers to newspapers, by the same grand jury that jailed him for 17 days for refusing to testify about his association with Ellsberg.

Eellsberg, who said he gave it to Russo, who no longer lives, no longer lives, was taken into custody, was in the courtroom to see him freed. They walked through the courthouse door with their arms around each other’s waists, smiling happily.

“I am proud to have a friend like Tony—a friend who will go to jail for you,” said Ellsberg.

Russo agreed Friday to give the grand jury the testimony the government has demanded—but only on the condition that be given a copy of the official transcript of the proceedings, saying he intended to make it public.

Coalition plans war moratorium

The Oct. 15 moratorium, and its local impact, were the main issues discussed at the San Luis Obispo Peace Coalition meeting last Thursday. Plans for action involving the community as well as the campus were clarified.

“A movie, “Time is Running Out” depicting the horror of Vietnam, and American and Vietnamese reaction to the war, was shown to the 40 people at the meeting. “We wanted to show this film as a reminder,” commented chairman, Penny Cooter.

The next meeting is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 9, at 5 p.m. in the Assembly Room of the United Methodist Church. The church is located 1635 Fredericks, and all interested persons are invited.

Dorm visiting hours vary

Visiting hours vary from dorm to dorm although there is a maximum set by the college. Most halls are still using the hours voted upon by hall residents last year although elections are expected to be held soon.

Yosemite, Santa Lucia, Fremont, Sequoia, and Muir Halls are all using the maximum visiting hour schedule—from noon to midnight, Friday and Saturday and from noon to 10:30 week nights.

Trinity Hall has the strictest set of rules. According to a resident manager there, the hours are: Monday through Thursday, noon to 4 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. and Sunday, noon to 10:30. The R.M. added that guests are required to be escorted according to the girl's own vote.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Honesty, morals and cells

Editor:

This is an open letter to all on-campus residents.

The Swingline "Tot 50" is the only thing we can think of that asks for them. It's one of the world's smallest staplers. Our Cub Desk Stapler and Cub Hand Stapler are only 11.95. Both Tot and Swingline Staplers are available at Stationery, Variety and College Bookstores.

The Swingline "Tot 50" in 1950, 1955, 1964 in 1971. If you can name something else that hasn't gone up in price in 10 years, let us know. We'll send you a free Tot Stapler with 1000 free staples and a handy carrying pouch. It staples, tacks and mends. It's unconditionally guaranteed. It's one of the world's smallest staplers.

And it's the world's biggest saver. Could be that's why it hasn't gone up in price in 11 years. If you're interested in something a little bigger, our Cub Desk Stapler and Cub Hand Stapler are only $1.86. Both Tot and Cub Staplers are available at Stationery, Variety and College Bookstores.

Name one thing that hasn't gone up since 1950.

Hey, kiddies, don't you like the way Uncle Bob Kennedy, Uncle Ev Chandler, and Uncle Bob Robinson are taking care of us here in the residence halls? Boy, it's just like San Quentin where you've got guards and cells! There's someone watching you all the time to keep you honest and moral. Boy, they make you feel right at home here.

How many of your parents made you follow the rules you have to follow here? How many of your parents made all your visitors sign a list before he or she could come in to see you? How many of your parents tossed your girlfriend out at 10:30 p.m.? How many of you have eaten food like you eat here? Not many of you. I'll bet 5 or 4 at all.

Yeah, the Tricky Trio are taking care of us as good that we can't even live normal lives.

The pink cards circulated during registration to survey students about personal information about human sexuality have been tabulated, but results are not going to be announced until the second part of the survey is completed.

All President Pete Evans says is that the study committee will now extend questionnaire to campus organizations in order to insure that the greatest number of student get a chance to reply. Committee members will send survey cards to any organization that asks for them.

The reason for the survey, according to Evans, is to find the potential interest in a seminar or class in the study of human sexuality. Cards were sent after several members of the counseling staff, Health Center staff and interested students met to discuss the problems of a large number of students who had come to them for help in personal relationships.

EDITORIAL

Work ahead to end draft

President Nixon signed a military conscription bill last week. It is a signal to once again extend the draft for another two years. Hopefully, his action will signify the final extension of that unfortunate piece of legislation.

When he signed the extension Nixon was reported to be hopeful that this is the last time the President must sign such a bill. Unfortunately, he refused to grant an $8.2 billion-a-year military pay raise because of his wage-price freeze.

It's fine and dandy to say it but it's something else when it boils down to action―the "It" being to terminate the draft. As one of the major incentives toward small volunteer army, a pay raise is essential. And Nixon's decision did run contrary to an interpretation by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and others who contended the draft-pay increase bill superseded Nixon's authority to enact the freeze.

Some argue it makes little difference whether military pay is raised now or later. But, every procrastination is of the utmost importance.

One of the major reasons the Senate first voted for debate-limiting closure and then passed the draft bill was due to testimony of members of the Pentagon and Nixon administration who claimed the nation was facing a military manpower shortage. Fair enough. But why do there be there a "manpower crunch"? Just what is the new military volunteer-incentive program shored up service levels?

Critics of the all-volunteer concept used that excuse―of the manpower shortage during the three-month draft drought―as leverage against ending the draft. Based on enlistment level reportedly far below necessary, their argument ran that a volunteer system could never work.

But there really was no comparison, because when the draft is finally eliminated, wages within the service will necessarily need to be made much higher in present. Consequently, along with other benefits, a hitch in the Army or Navy or Air Force will be much more appealing.

To insure that the system will be workable when the draft bill again comes up for passage, in 1973, action must be taken now. Military pay raises are essential. Different criteria must be established. In general, precautions must be taken so that in 1973 the nation is prepared to accept the new program. Both senators from California, Alan Cranston and John Tunney, opposed passage of the new draft extension. They failed. Both must now turn towards eliminating the draft in 1973. It is imperative that the details be completed prior to the next vote. The groundwork must be laid now to abolish the draft.

This year's draft ceiling has been set at 140 according to local board memorandums recently issued by the national headquarters of the Selective Service.

A representative from the local Draft Education Center said, "It is advisable for anyone with a number above 140 to give up any deferment and take his period of service in the armed forces. Anyone having questions concerning the draft is urged to contact the Draft Education Center located at 900 McCallum Street, San Luis Obispo. The center is non-profit and is open Monday through Thursday from six to nine p.m. The phone number is 543-4323.
New DJ

Sightless rock

Paul Hutton, a 21-year-old particular major from Colorado, is a disc jockey at KCPR, the campus FM educational-rock station. Besides spinning platters, reading announcements and joking with callers on the telephone, he announces the time occasionally.

Nothing unusual about this except that this DJ is totally blind and has been so from birth.

Being blind hasn't stopped Paul from doing the things which he enjoys most: one of those is broadcasting.

"I guess I've been into radio all my life. It's in my blood," he said. "Last year at my junior college I had my own radio program, but they wouldn't let me do it there. At college I had my own radio show. But I can do most anything else, only in some cases slower."

If you wonder how Paul can listen to the first few bars of a song and tell what group it is, his hobby is listening to and taping music in his Sequoia Hall residence.

Paul would like to stay in the San Luis Obispo area and work as a DJ at a local station, or possibly move into television after graduation.

"I realize that it won't be an overnight thing," he said. "It's going to be a long and hard struggle."

Paul's immediate supervisor is Steve Ruegnits, who said of Paul's ability as an announcer:

"Paul is one of the fastest mouth of our other trainees."
Lumberjacks fall to Mustang attack

by STEVE GALE

Coach Joe Harper and his Mustangs utilized a strong rushing attack Saturday night to gain their first victory of the year over the Humboldt State Lumberjacks 29-
31. Junior halfback Mike Thomas arose from the injured list to lead the Mustangs in rushing performance before 6,000 fans at the Redwood Bowl in Arcata, the hometown of Humboldt.

Both teams had difficulties in finding the handle on the ball as a total of 11 fumbles were recorded, the Mustangs losing five of them.

The Harpermen let losses in the first period and piled up 17 points before the Lumberjacks scored a touchdown in the second quarter but retained its 17-0 lead at the half.

Once again, the Mustangs relied heavily upon their ground game to forge ahead in the second half. Lumberjacks went 29 for 308 of Poly's total 447-yard offensive yards were from rushing attempts, while 303 of the Lumberjacks' 84 total offensive yards were from passing.

Poly quarterback Steve Bresnahan entered the Humbolt defense with a net gain of zero yards in the first half, while allowing only 19 yards in passing. However, the Mustang pass defense encountered problems in the second half as Lumberjacks quarterback Gary Peterson threw for 82 yards and three touchdowns.

Making the score 10-0, Thomas closed out the first half on a ten-yard run into the end zone with 19 seconds remaining in the first quarter. Bresnahan gained its initial score with 16 minutes left in the third quarter on a pass from Peterson to Mike Bettiga for 58 yards. Bresnahan reached 21-0 with 11:16 gone in the same period on a five-yard run. Milne made the fourth period, Bresnahan threw 27 yards to Anne while John Petas (extra-point holder) reached the end zone on a broken play for a two-point conversion.

Peterson passed 17 yards to Rich Baker for the second Lumberjack score with 4:31 to play. 38 seconds later, Thomas broke loose for 30 yards on a run to the end zone for Poly. Humbolt finalized the score on a Peterson-to-Bettiga for 36 yards and the TD.

The Mustang record now stands at one win and two losses as they take an extra week to prepare for the Fresno State Bulldogs who will visit this campus October 29th

Return of the ugly man is slated

Ugly is in! After centuries of degradation and oppression, eligible uglies can now flaunt their formidable features with a new sense of pride. Recognition and fame will be bestowed upon the winner of the forthcoming Ugly Man Contest, to be sponsored by the Ugly Man Committee and the A.F.P.O.O.M. at the Coronation Ball, besides receiving prizes from the football game, and leads off the Coronation Ball, besides receiving prizes from the downtown merchants.

Beginning Oct. 4, the Counseling Center will offer its services in the evening, according to Dr. Robert Barrows of the Counseling Center. Monday through Thursday of each week a Campus Drop- in center will be open at the CU 2:30 to 6:30 p.m. Counselors will be available in residence halls one or two days per week at the following times: South Mountain Hall 8-12 p.m., Yosemite Hall 8-12 p.m. Additional information is available by calling 543-3111.
