Over-population crowds land life

by STEPHANIE HINES

Over-population is a greater threat to terrestrial life than any geological event possible. San Luis Obispo is getting its share of the problem as was discussed by city councilman Keith Gurnee at last Thursday’s Zero Population Growth (ZPG) meeting.

Gurnee expressed his concern for the population-growth problem in last Thursday’s charge* and dividend payment*, Zaro Growth Population mooting.

Energy, meaning industrial growth, causes San Luis Obispo residents to suffer the impact of development and reap little benefit. Transportation, dealing mostly with the Highway 1 project, will bring more people to San Luis Obispo than are already migrating into this city, not to mention the automobile pollution that will result from this project.

Land speculation, over-planning and promotional schemes find out-of-town realtors selling in-comm community at their profit. These speculation schemes bring new people to San Luis. If you plan for growth, you plan for it "some planning must be done, but it is better if it occurs in a planned manner." Some of the recommendations brought up by Gurnee would include transferring the costs of capital improvements on the Obispo taxpayer, also in this transfer would be damages and environmental impact.

TAXES

Cost restraint

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Besides creating new boards to control wages and prices, President Nixon has started machinery designed to restrain interest charges and dividend payments, starting medical costs and raising state and local taxes.

In his nationwide television address, Nixon concentrated on the two boards to regulate paychecks and prices during his post-depression economic policy. He also announced an all-government commissary to bring about voluntary restraint in interest charges and dividend payments to stockholders.

But, in a series of background briefings, administration officials also explained Nixon's plans to appoint new boards to zero in on "dramatically rising medical costs", and climbing state and local taxes.

A fact sheet on the new "committees on the health services" explained that the application of the overall program to reduce prices "presents special difficulties in the health field because of the lack of standardization of the product and for other reasons."

The health panel, it was explained, would advise the Cost of Living Council on "ways to apply the standards of the price control program in this area and to entail the full voluntary cooperation of the industry in restraining cost and price increases."

Members of the medical cost board would include representatives of the medical profession, consumer interests and the public generally, officials said.

Another commission to be called the "committees on state and local government cooperation," will be formed to find ways of holding down state and municipal government payrolls and taxes.

As with the creation of the wage and price boards, the administration shed few details and gave only a broad outline of objectives for the other committees.

Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, was named by Nixon to head the "committees on interest and dividends."

UAW leader has demanded full autonomy

by DAVID W. CHUTE

Detroit (UPI)—United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock said Friday he will refuse to sit on President Nixon's Phase II Pay Board unless the board is given complete autonomy.

Woodcock also told a news conference at the UAW's Solidarity House that the giant union won't cooperate with the administration at all until "conflicting interpretations" of the workings of the Pay Board (Continued on page 4)

Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, was named by Nixon to head the "committees on interest and dividends."

"If we are going to say something is right or something is wrong the next logical step is — who says?" in these few words Rev. Bruce Tjaden, campus pastor, summed up the main topic for discussion at the Project 9 meeting held Thursday evening.

A small and varied group of people heard the pastor give a short, informal talk on "Ethics and Morality." Tjaden said one of the main problems in making a value judgement, such as whether to use drugs or not, is what authority is used as a basis for the judgement.

The authority may stem from God, church, school, family or ourselves, depending on what bases are present. Tjaden pointed out that although using yourself as the authority for your own morals sounds handy, it is impossible to separate yourself from your environment completely.

Highway route Hearing tonight

A public hearing of the proposed rerouting of Highway 1—an action opposed by local environmentalists—will be held by the San Luis Obispo City Council tonight.

The matter is scheduled to be heard by the County Board of Supervisors at a later date.

The meeting tonight is not a regular City Council meeting. The council meets regularly on the first and third Monday of every month. Meetings are held at 7 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, City Hall.

The authority may stem from God, church, school, family or ourselves, depending on what bases are present. Tjaden pointed out that although using yourself as the authority for your own morals sounds handy, it is impossible to separate yourself from your environment completely.

Highway route

Hearing tonight

A public hearing of the proposed rerouting of Highway 1—an action opposed by local environmentalists—will be held by the San Luis Obispo City Council tonight.

The matter is scheduled to be heard by the County Board of Supervisors at a later date.

The meeting tonight is not a regular City Council meeting. The council meets regularly on the first and third Monday of every month. Meetings are held at 7 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, City Hall.

Soviets expel Britons In expected retaliation

by DAVID NAGY

Moscow (UPI) - The Soviet Union Friday ordered 18 British diplomats and businessmen expelled or banned from returning to Soviet soil in retaliation for the ouster of 106 Soviet officials from Britain.

The action, announced by a British Embassy spokesman here, came two weeks to the day after Britain expelled the Russians on grounds of spying.

The Soviet Union based the expulsion order on the charge that the Britons had been "engaged in activity incompatible with their official status" — a diplomatic euphemism for spying — and British Ambassador Sir John Killek immediately rejected those grounds.

"This I know not to be true, and I do not," Sir John told newsmen at the British Embassy after he was handed the written notice of retaliation that Britain has been awaiting since its action of Sept. 26.

The Russians have denied the charges of spying by the Britons. They accused Britain of trump— (Continued on page 5)
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Get dorm facts straight

NOW! Mr. Young isn't possibly know the conditions. He doesn't live here now.
Nostalgia isn't gonna help
the future.

We all live in Sequoia Hall. We were denied entrance to the meeting because it suddenly became closed to all students but Premont Dorm residents.

The reasons we were given were totally inadequate and went against the very rules that "The Team" makes. The rule states that dorm meetings held by on-campus organizations must be open to all students. Fromont
Hall residents were denied entrance.

As for Mr. John Young, we found out from the records office that he attended Palm Royal and That aura isn't on the Cal Poly campus. The group formed after we were given reasons we wore given to the Fremont meeting, we have "grapevine") Informers. We got their information from the Mustang Daily reporters will get school recognition when it knows what else could happen if the proper precautions

The traffic accident that occurred in front of Yosemite Hall is characteristic of the new bicycle system of near-collisions between cars and bicyclists have been included the scheduled trip to Moscow in February of British skeletal at present. The others were forbidden to return.

The retaliation also involved canceling of planned visits by Soviet and British leaders to Moscow in October. The Russian foreign trade minister, to Britain.
Evans to speak

The Social Sciences Club will hold its initial membership meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in CU 203.

Dean Edward Barker, head of the School of Business and Social Sciences, will discuss the curriculum for social science majors and aspects of the political science department. All President Pete Evans is scheduled to speak at the meeting on campus and community involvement. Plans will be drawn up for future activities such as workshops and field trips. New club officers will be nominated.

The meeting is open to the public. For more information, call Mo Nathan, club president, at 543-5402 or the Social Science office at 546-2960.

Chinese invite every student

The Chinese Student Association will meet tonight to a general meeting at 6:00 pm. in the College Union, Room 804. Topics of discussion will be the formation of bowling leagues and ping pong tournaments, and the picnic with Fresno State College at Montana de Oro S.P. Park. All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting and further information can be obtained by contacting Richard Yee.

Apartment Cooks Attention!

Seek relief at Stenner Glen

"Tank-up" meals are available

Bring the entire apartment—meal tickets are offered at new low prices at Stenner Glen Student residence.

Several Meal plans are offered.

5 of 7 (including STEAK night) for $72.75 per quarter
5 of 5 for $68.20 per quarter
5 of 5 lunch only for $50.00 per quarter
Any 12 meals per week for $159.00 per quarter
Full 19 meals per week for $182.00 per quarter

STENNER GLEN 1050 Foothill Boulevard, San Luis Obispo Phone 544-4540

p. for remaining 10 weeks of quarter

Attica takeover charged as 'large scale race war'

by KENNETH CAPARELL

Providence, R.I. (UPI) - A member of a five-man observation team at the uprising at Attica state prison said the takeover which claimed 41 lives was a "large scale race war."

"Only the most naive person would believe the same thing would have happened if the prisoners were all white," Julian Tapper said Thursday at a news conference prior to a speech at Brown University.

"Six percent of the prisoners at Attica were black or brown, probably 75 percent in Yard D. All the guards, all the state police and all the National Guardsmen were white," he said, and blamed New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for not going to the prison.

"If Rockefeller had met with the observation committee, which was what we asked him to do, it would have given us more time. With time non-negotiable demands became negotiable," Tapper said. He also said if the governor had been there the prisoners might have lent more credence to the negotiations.

Tapper said he thought the armed rush by prison authorities and others was "wrong."

"We found a stable situation in Yard D, akin to a town meeting. There was a police function, a governing function, a feeding function, all being carried on capably. The prisoners told us the hostages were being treated better than they were," he said.

"We all knew if the prison was retaken by force, death was inevitable," he said.

"What happened at Attica was predictable and inevitable. There was no way not to know that it would happen and will happen again in other places," he said.

Providence, R.I. (UPI) - A member of a five-man observation team at the uprising at Attica state prison said the takeover which claimed 41 lives was a "large scale race war."

"Only the most naive person would believe the same thing would have happened if the prisoners were all white," Julian Tapper said Thursday at a news conference prior to a speech at Brown University.

"Six percent of the prisoners at Attica were black or brown, probably 75 percent in Yard D. All the guards, all the state police and all the National Guardsmen were white," he said, and blamed New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for not going to the prison.

"If Rockefeller had met with the observation committee, which was what we asked him to do, it would have given us more time. With time non-negotiable demands became negotiable," Tapper said. He also said if the governor had been there the prisoners might have lent more credence to the negotiations.

Tapper said he thought the armed rush by prison authorities and others was "wrong."

"We found a stable situation in Yard D, akin to a town meeting. There was a police function, a governing function, a feeding function, all being carried on capably. The prisoners told us the hostages were being treated better than they were," he said.

"We all knew if the prison was retaken by force, death was inevitable," he said.

"What happened at Attica was predictable and inevitable. There was no way not to know that it would happen and will happen again in other places," he said.

EL CORRAL RECORD SALE

Oct. 11

600 ALBUMS

Something for everyone.

½ Classical—½ Popular

From$1.59
UAW leader demands...

(Continued from page 1) and Price Commission are resolved.

"When different people of equal cabinet rank, presumably speaking for the President, say different things we want to know what the President means," said Woodcock.

He said labor secretary James D. Hodgson assured Woodcock and other labor leaders at a briefing Thursday that the Pay Board would have the final say-so and that the Cost of Living Council would not have veto power.

Then, Woodcock said, Budget Director George Shulte said the council, headed by Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Jr., would have veto authority over the orders.

U.S. meat inspectors face bribery charges

By CHARLES CALLEY

Boston (UPI)—A Federal grand jury indicted 46 U.S. Department of Agriculture meat inspectors Thursday on charges of accepting bribes from meat processing companies.

Also named in the indictments were three Boston meat packing companies and six company officials whom the government charged gave bribes to the inspectors to influence their decisions on the firms' meats.

U.S. Attorney Herbert F. Travers said the grand jury returned 48 separate indictments alleging bribery, perjury, conspiracy and related charges.

However, Travers said there was no charge alleging that "unwholesome meat products reached consumers."

The indictments said one inspector took $84,000 and $70,000 in bribes.

Inspectors are charged with not grading and classifying meat by quality.

There are some 75 government meat inspectors in the Boston area serving about 98 meat processing plants.

The inspectors, employed by the Agriculture Department's Consumer and Marketing Service, were removed from their jobs and replaced by the federal agency.

Officials said an investigation of federal meat inspection in the Boston area started in 1969 with a tip from the marketing service about possible bribery.