Speaker hits U.S. policy

by Jeanne Wiles

A concentrated study of the present state of affairs in the East was the main topic for Robert Scheer's moratorium speech to 400 people Wednesday night. Billed as speaking on "The Nixon Doctrine," in mellow tones Peace and Freedom party leader Scheer told his audience, "Nixon is a Wall Street corporate lawyer trying to hold on to his world real estate interest without sacrificing U.S. boys."

He attempted to present the U.S. involvement in Vietnam as part of a worldwide picture rather than as an isolated event. The audience responded to Scheer's reasonable voice with approval indicated by intermittent applause and a standing ovation. After speaking in a relaxed manner for about 90 minutes Scheer took questions from the audience. Another 90 minutes of question and discussion ensued.

Scheer, a former journalist and editor of Ramparts magazine, said he lives in a Berkeley collective, The Red Star. His major occupation is fighting for children, two for four years old.

Shah of Iran prepares big feast for kings

by Robert Musel

Perspolis, Iran.—The Shah of Iran gave a fairy tale banquet Thursday night in a vast tent-a style revived from the days of King Louis XIV and luxurious tent, while chandeliers swayed in high winds above the excited heads of more than 100 representatives of 69 nations could see kings, queens and presidents standing above the anxious heads of more than 100 representatives of 69 nations. There were 12 ruling princes, 13 presidents, 12 prime ministers, a cardinal and three vice presidents including Spiro T. Agnew of the United States.

The battle was fought five miles inside Cambodia and considered the last major battle of the war. Seventy-two Americans were killed and the war ground on with American combat deaths dropping to eight last week, the lowest since the battle at Khe Sanh in February, 1968. Seven CIA were killed. Seventy-two Americans were wounded last week, a reduction of 40 from the previous week.

South Vietnamese battle deaths, however, converged on a weekly basis of about 150 men, caught a North Vietnamese army heavy equipment company in a crossfire. The North Vietnamese were apparently pulling back to enclave toward the east. According to intelligence, 100 rounds and allied fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships moved in to support the South Vietnamese battle as the battle raged on.

Meanwhile the week's U.S. battle casualties dropped to eight last week, the same for the past week as the previous three years, indicating that while the American role in the war is winding down, the war is not. As if to prove the point, North Vietnamese forces who opened up an offensive against the allies to sticking to stiffly organized notes. The topic he most frequently discussed was the cultural revolution that has taken place in Red China during the past five years. Scheer said he considers the Chinese cultural revolution to be "the most important historical event in human history." (Continued on page 3)

U.S. death toll hits record low

by Don Davy

Bills for food to people who approve of the program were cut 20 percent.

Washington (UPI)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, continuing to permute the foreign aid bill, voted to slash the U.S. military assistance program by 20 percent Thursday.

Working to complete the $5.5 billion bill and send it to the floor, the committee voted 7 to 6 to cut the military aid section from $782 million to $568 million.

It was the latest in a series of severe cutbacks and restrictions imposed on the bill, which many members of the committee consider a root cause of U.S. troubles in Indochina and around the world.

Highway route shelved from lack of support

by Roger Vincent

The proposed recnoucting of Highway 1 was threatened after a five hour debate last Monday night. In the aftermath, the proposed highway construction has been shelved by the California State Division of Highways, but personal feelings on the matter remain.

Councilman T. Keith Gurnee, who was an opponent of the highway from its inception and made the motion against the proposal, and he was left with a kind of funny feeling about the whole thing. "I'm happy with the outcome, but I do not consider it a full victory. The others who voted against it didn't have my sense of urgency. We got caught and shot it down for different reasons, but I'm happy we did it. I can't take any real credit for the victory, though it was rewarding."

On the other side, Councilman Emmore Blake, who voted for the measure, still feels that San Luis Obispo will eventually have to route Highway 1. However he did say, "I will support the council's motion."

Blake also pointed out that all the people who came to the meeting and protested that cars should service us instead of us serving them, only one person said that she would like to get rid of her own car. He supports the mayor's contention that people would oppose the measure because it was popular. "When the council voted on the city's four million dollar budget a short time ago, only two people showed up. Something with high emotional impact like that passes them."

Blake didn't buy the arguments against the proposed freeway, and will support it should it come up again.

Meanwhile, the California State Division of Highways has shelved the project for lack of public support.

Military assist cut 20 percent

Washington (UPI)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, continuing to permute the foreign aid bill, voted to slash the U.S. military assistance program by 20 percent Thursday.

Working to complete the $5.5 billion bill and send it to the floor, the committee voted 7 to 6 to cut the military aid section from $782 million to $568 million.

It was the latest in a series of severe cutbacks and restrictions imposed on the bill, which many members of the committee consider a root cause of U.S. troubles in Indochina and around the world.
STAFF COMMENT

Politicoecologist needed in SLO

by JOHN HANSBURY

Have you been thinking ecologically lately? Or are you politically inclined and wondering why you have been kept from open to events occurring that tend to shape your life? A "yes" answers means that you are a candidate for the San Luis Obispo City Council meetings in the form of a politicoecologist.

The meetings are held the first and third Mondays at 7 p.m. in the Council Chambers at 900 Pacific Avenue. They are open to the public and many times comments are solicited from the audience—giving someone with something to say about a particular subject a forum.

True, the meetings last three or four hours and are not exactly the most exciting part of an evening. But it is in these chambers where the action is—where all political changes in SLO stem from.

Councilman T. Keith Gurnee, who is also a student here, is batting for ecology—supporting student efforts to keep up a high level of political competition from other councilmen. He could probably do with some support.

But Gurnee is not the only one with good ideas worthy of your support. The councilman's crusade is just one of five "members," each with a different viewpoint, who are trying to get people to "good guy and bad guy." Each represents a certain faction of the community. It is such people like Gurnee probably represents the student community more than the others, although he is a failure.

Talking about such subjects as ecology is one thing, doing something about it is another. You can bitch about the destruction of the campus—whether you're blue in the face, but see how far it will get you. Or you could get to a council meeting and present a proposal or simply support one already presented by a councilman—either way you will make yourself heard.

But don't take my word for it. A resolution was passed last month by the City Council chambers to catch the action. You may be surprised to see that politics isn't just man-eating, bone-throwing and other useless action. SLO is a community, even if it is just for four years. Those four years will be just what you make of it and just what you put into it.

LETTERS

Survival of elections

Editor:

I purposely failed to attend the S.A.C. meeting of Mon., Oct. 11, because, after talking with Pete Evans and Marianne Dodhi, it was evident that the business I was most concerned about would not be brought up.

This "business" was, namely, action on the election bill, previously initiated by Joe Osteyee, which would call for a student body vote on the type of voting system they want (majority or plurality) assuming that the present preferential system is thrown out the window. I made sure, however, that I found out soon enough (Tuesday morning) if I had missed out on anything. It was then I was enlightened with the proposal for "improving" Election Committee's survival in coming years.

Suddenly, I find myself blessed with a capable 7-man Committee for this year, but it is true that the future must be provided for.

And, I know that, despite Election Committee's importance, it is not the most appealing extra-curricular activity on campus, that's all there is to it!

With the help of a few radio shows, and many testimonials to the fun of operating a polling booth, the Committee will manage to stay the total drag last year. But I'll admit people are looking for something to do with their time.

Nevertheless, as Marianne Dodhi and I have tried to point out, Elections Committee plays a much more vital part on this campus, particularly in the elections process, than most people realize.

Steve Greenberg
Elections Committee Chairman

Own decisions

Editor:

The last paragraph in your article about Project No. 9 (p. 1) doesn't tell the whole story. In fact, Osteyee's idea that "anyone who lives in this community should be involved" is a little misleading, as they know what they're dealing with.

"The statement is misleading, however, in that it implies that the basic philosophy behind Project No. 9 is anti-drug. In fact, the philosophy is that each person should make his or her own decisions about psycho-active drugs. The basic philosophy behind Project No. 9 is that each person should make his or her own decisions about psycho-active drugs. This statement is misleading, however, in that it implies that the basic philosophy behind Project No. 9 is anti-drug. In fact, the philosophy is that each person should make his or her own decisions about psycho-active drugs. This statement should have been more accurate, more individual and represents what Project No. 9 is all about. It is not any Project No. 9 I know of both the students and the faculty. Each person is responsible for his or her own decisions about psycho-active drugs. This statement is misleading, however, in that it implies that the basic philosophy behind Project No. 9 is anti-drug. In fact, the philosophy is that each person should make his or her own decisions about psycho-active drugs. This statement is misleading, however, in that it implies that the basic philosophy behind Project No. 9 is anti-drug. In fact, the philosophy is that each person should make his or her own decisions about psycho-active drugs. This statement should have been more accurate, more individual and represents what Project No. 9 is all about. It is not any Project No. 9 I know of.

I hope that everyone realizes what Project No. 9 is all about. It is not any Project No. 9 I know of. The answer is simple: look in a mirror. What are you wearing? All of the above? Some of the above? None of the above? Before ready to wear). They wear the Cali lamia Watt Polytechnic Calaft, Ian Unt Obitpe OMica team M*.

TRY IT YOU'LL LIKE IT!

GO BOWLING

RENT A LANE

Sunday Mornings Only

8-10 a.m. $1 per lane
10-11 a.m. $2 per lane
11-12 a.m. $3 per lane

NO LIMIT TO NUMBER OF BOWLERS PER LANE

No shoes with street id.

See us for information concerning league parties, tournaments, and group get-togethers.

We feature Elephant Beer!

Mustang Daily

Editor-in-Chief

Paul H. Simon

Managing Editor

Claudia Galloway

Paul Tokunaga

News Editor

Thomas Hannum

Business Manager

Michael K. Kashiwagi

Head Production Manager

Don Tuttle

Advertising Manager

Kathleen Beasley

Photo Editor

Carol Hooper

Sports Editor

Day Editor

Bruce W. Kyne

Why is real 'in' fashion?

The campus fashion scene... Christina enters the Home Ec building and makes her way across campus, a beaded Oriental Rug purse under one arm, Aard Extra Dry (unconcealed) under her other arm. She is jogging across campus in casual chocolate criss-cross wide-strapped Joseph Morgan ($25), donning a baby-blue body romper complete with thigh-high socks (size 5 to 13, $99, by Innovations for Young Dimensions, innovative young dimensions held together by an 8.88 plus Maidenform bra ("The Lingerie You Can't Take Your Eyes Off Of," her golden-glowed lips in em' in mural). And, to finish off, a super-sweater with a dainty American flag... Brian walks across campus, books under one arm, Christina under the other. He is wearing casual clothes in classic collegiate creations: a brown corduroy suit, a black coat with epaulettes and pockets. A regular steal (did he or didn't he?) at $165. Underneath is a Givenchy shirt, a blue tie, black "Stanley Blacker buckskin suede shirt- jacket ("Par right," the guy exclaims). From a new section titled with beautiful spangles and pockets. A regular steal (did he or didn't he?) at $165.

But don't take my word for it, I purposely failed to attend the S.A.C. meeting of Mon., Oct. 11, because, after talking with Pete Evans and Marianne Dodhi, it was evident that the business I was most concerned about would not be brought up. This "business" was, namely, action on the election bill, previously initiated by Joe Osteyee, which would call for a student body vote on the type of voting system they want (majority or plurality) assuming that the present preferential system is thrown out the window. I made sure, however, that I found out soon enough (Tuesday morning) if I had missed out on anything. It was then I was enlightened with the proposal for "improving" Election Committee's survival in coming years.

Suddenly, I find myself blessed with a capable 7-man Committee for this year, but it is true that the future must be provided for. And, I know that, despite Election Committee's importance, it is not the most appealing extra-curricular activity on campus, that's all there is to it!

With the help of a few radio shows, and many testimonials to the fun of operating a polling booth, the Committee will manage to stay the total drag last year. But I'll admit people are looking for something to do with their time.

Nevertheless, as Marianne Dodhi and I have tried to point out, Elections Committee plays a much more vital part on this campus, particularly in the elections process, than most people realize.

--A. STAFF COMMENT--

"I purposely failed to attend the S.A.C. meeting of Mon., Oct. 11, because, after talking with Pete Evans and Marianne Dodhi, it was evident that the business I was most concerned about would not be brought up. This "business" was, namely, action on the election bill, previously initiated by Joe Osteyee, which would call for a student body vote on the type of voting system they want (majority or plurality) assuming that the present preferential system is thrown out the window. I made sure, however, that I found out soon enough (Tuesday morning) if I had missed out on anything. It was then I was enlightened with the proposal for "improving" Election Committee's survival in coming years.

Suddenly, I find myself blessed with a capable 7-man Committee for this year, but it is true that the future must be provided for. And, I know that, despite Election Committee's importance, it is not the most appealing extra-curricular activity on campus, that's all there is to it!

With the help of a few radio shows, and many testimonials to the fun of operating a polling booth, the Committee will manage to stay the total drag last year. But I'll admit people are looking for something to do with their time.

Nevertheless, as Marianne Dodhi and I have tried to point out, Elections Committee plays a much more vital part on this campus, particularly in the elections process, than most people realize.

--A. STAFF COMMENT--

"I purposely failed to attend the S.A.C. meeting of Mon., Oct. 11, because, after talking with Pete Evans and Marianne Dodhi, it was evident that the business I was most concerned about would not be brought up. This "business" was, namely, action on the election bill, previously initiated by Joe Osteyee, which would call for a student body vote on the type of voting system they want (majority or plurality) assuming that the present preferential system is thrown out the window. I made sure, however, that I found out soon enough (Tuesday morning) if I had missed out on anything. It was then I was enlightened with the proposal for "improving" Election Committee's survival in coming years.

Sometimes, I find myself blessed with a capable 7-man Committee for this year, but it is true that the future must be provided for. And, I know that, despite Election Committee's importance, it is not the most appealing extra-curricular activity on campus, that's all there is to it!

With the help of a few radio shows, and many testimonials to the fun of operating a polling booth, the Committee will manage to stay the total drag last year. But I'll admit people are looking for something to do with their time.

Nevertheless, as Marianne Dodhi and I have tried to point out, Elections Committee plays a much more vital part on this campus, particularly in the elections process, than most people realize.
Old instruments used in concert

Planning a Merger?

You could tell your world about it with a stunning DIAMOND from BRASIL'S. Join the growing number of happy people we've helped solve the problem.

BRASIL'S is at 730 Higuera St. . . . next door to Cigar Factory!

HOURS: TUE - SAT 10:00 to 17:00

COLEGIAL HOURS

1971, Friday, May 5

The first College Hour Concert of the quarter held Thursday, May 5,2011, left some of what it had not expected—excitement.

The music was from the Baroque period (1600-1750) and performed on authentic instruments for a memorable period. This is not usually done in concerts because it's easier to use modern substitute. As a result the sound was much like it was over two centuries ago.

Two Standard University graduate students, Nancy Joyce and Kenneth Ruth, took special time from their studies to perform here. She played the flute and he played an oboe, both of early design. They also played the treble recorder commonly known as the English Flute.

The Viola da Gamba, a 17th century instrument similar to the viol, was played by Sara Wood of Los Osos, and music instructor Ronald Ratcliffe played the harpsichord.

One highlight was the Fantasia in C minor for Harpsichord by J. S. Bach. A very difficult piece, it can easily be spoiled by the performer; however, this wasn't the case. Ratcliffe who was playing from memory seemed to have some difficulty half through, but made an otherwise good musical statement.

The trio sonata by Locatelli was removed from the program and substituted with one by John Hammond, an English composer credited with only two compositions. The one performed was in C major, for Flute, Viola da Gamba and Continuo (played on the harpsichord). The piece was published in 1744.

---

U.S. Policy . . .

(Continued from page 1)

He said before traveling to China he considered himself to be very rational, but even he had difficulty understanding the revolution that has taken place there. As he said, he said, "It was communism that was understood," he said the Chinese people have been changed by political means, rather than material incentives.

Ratcliffe made reference to the Chinese people as "whole human beings" who are not isolated from their work." According to him, the reason the family economy has broken down there is because it is not needed.

The speaker said "China is different from any other country in the world. It's people are very communal and they have no concept of a government elite."

This is basically considered by the Western mind to be essential media does not exist in China, he said, because it became imperative and unnecessary there. "The Chinese clearly tell you their position on everything— you don't have to go picking between the lines."

---

Planning a Merger?

You could tell your world about it with a stunning DIAMOND from BRASIL'S. Join the growing number of happy people we've helped solve the problem.

BRASIL'S is at 730 Higuera St. . . . next door to Cigar Factory!

HOURS: TUE - SAT 10:00 to 17:00

Listen to KSLY for Super Sales
Super-Sales
Around-the-Clock
UPERTHON SUPERIOR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR

---

Planning a Merger?

You could tell your world about it with a stunning DIAMOND from BRASIL'S. Join the growing number of happy people we've helped solve the problem.

BRASIL'S is at 730 Higuera St. . . . next door to Cigar Factory!

HOURS: TUE - SAT 10:00 to 17:00

Listen to KSLY for Super Sales
Super-Sales
Around-the-Clock
UPERTHON SUPERIOR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR

---

Planning a Merger?

You could tell your world about it with a stunning DIAMOND from BRASIL'S. Join the growing number of happy people we've helped solve the problem.

BRASIL'S is at 730 Higuera St. . . . next door to Cigar Factory!

HOURS: TUE - SAT 10:00 to 17:00

Listen to KSLY for Super Sales
Super-Sales
Around-the-Clock
UPERTHON SUPERIOR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR

---

Planning a Merger?

You could tell your world about it with a stunning DIAMOND from BRASIL'S. Join the growing number of happy people we've helped solve the problem.

BRASIL'S is at 730 Higuera St. . . . next door to Cigar Factory!

HOURS: TUE - SAT 10:00 to 17:00

Listen to KSLY for Super Sales
Super-Sales
Around-the-Clock
UPERTHON SUPERIOR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR

---

Planning a Merger?

You could tell your world about it with a stunning DIAMOND from BRASIL'S. Join the growing number of happy people we've helped solve the problem.

BRASIL'S is at 730 Higuera St. . . . next door to Cigar Factory!

HOURS: TUE - SAT 10:00 to 17:00

Listen to KSLY for Super Sales
Super-Sales
Around-the-Clock
UPERTHON SUPERIOR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR

---

Planning a Merger?

You could tell your world about it with a stunning DIAMOND from BRASIL'S. Join the growing number of happy people we've helped solve the problem.

BRASIL'S is at 730 Higuera St. . . . next door to Cigar Factory!

HOURS: TUE - SAT 10:00 to 17:00

Listen to KSLY for Super Sales
Super-Sales
Around-the-Clock
UPERTHON SUPERIOR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR

---

Planning a Merger?

You could tell your world about it with a stunning DIAMOND from BRASIL'S. Join the growing number of happy people we've helped solve the problem.

BRASIL'S is at 730 Higuera St. . . . next door to Cigar Factory!

HOURS: TUE - SAT 10:00 to 17:00

Listen to KSLY for Super Sales
Super-Sales
Around-the-Clock
UPERTHON SUPERIOR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR SUPERHOUR
Flying from the balcony of the College Union, this sign set the tone for the Moratorium events on Wednesday. Participants spent the day listening to lectures and talks, adhering to the principle "no business as usual, no classes as usual, no war as usual."

---

Moratorium

Maryanne Dash, ASI vice-pres., started the ball rolling at noon with a speech that was followed by over two hours of speeches.

ASI Pres. Pete Evans not only sat in the audience but also spoke about the war: "We must make more noise in more places."

Photos by Alex Stewart

Many campus groups had representatives present to speak in Chumash Hall; among them were SNAP, Mothers for Peace, and, pictured above, Veterans for Peace.
Is it Organic?

by MARK BREEWER
ALTERNATIVE FEATURES SERVICE

Berkeley, Ca.-As more and more consumers become aware of the health hazards of synthetic agriculture, they turn to organically grown foods, long available only through the careful efforts of small stores or, and operated by conscientious organic food producers. But now many items dubbed "organic" or "natural" are turning up, much like the daily cabinets of supermarket shelves, which are not so careful.

I drove to a nearby independent supermarket which carries an extensive assortment of health and natural food items, raw grains in barrels and an array of "organic" produce. "Are you the manager?" "Yes, I am," he smiled.

"May I ask where you get your organic fruits and vegetables?" "Well...uh," the smile disappeared, "that's confidential; we don't have to give out that information."

"Oh?"

"Well, we get it all from Sun Circle Ranches (large well-known farm near L.A.)."

"You test every sample to make sure it's what they say it is?"

"No...there was agitation in his voice, "nobody has to test it. We believe every grower.

Although some retailers may accept organic produce unconditionally, others are more wary.

New Age, of San Francisco, commissioned test results from photometric and microcoulometric detectors at Pioneer Bio, San Jose, which revealed impurities in some Sun Circle produce.

To compund the problem, no one agrees on the meaning of "organic." A seller of lettuce may consider it organically grown because it has not been chemically sprayed, cut or fertilized.

Ultimately, of course, much of the solution to the problem of obtaining quality food must depend on individual consumers, who can only learn the purity of products by demanding responsibility on the part of retailers. Ask them what "organically grown" and "natural" mean, and find out for yourself; ask if samples of produce have been tested and certified; and demand to see the results; be openly suspicious of affidavites. In this way only can we weed out the clerks who only want our money.

Outing planned to rescue beach

The Ecology Action committee is planning an outing to save the doomed Pico Creek Beach tomorrow. The outing to Pico Creek Beach is to begin at noon and last all afternoon.

According to John Stinson, the former owner of the beach front property, Pico Creek Beach, one of the best surfing beaches on the upper coast, has been condemned and taken away from him by the local sewer district. Stinson la battle plan is to invite any concerned students to come up and help fight the move, and part of his fight plan is to invite any concerned students to come up and help fight the move, and part of his fight plan is to invite any concerned students to come up and help fight the move, and part of his fight plan is to invite any concerned students to come up and help fight the move, and part of his fight plan is to invite any concerned students to come up and help fight the move, and part of his fight plan is to invite any concerned students to come up and help fight the move, and part of his fight plan is to invite any concerned students to come up and help fight the move.

The beach is located about three miles north of Cambria and three one half miles south of the Hearst Castle entrance. Car pools for the trip will form at the Uncle Tom's a e a parking lot at 9 a.m. Participants should bring their own food and drink and some means to bring home their own trash.

Voter Coalition to begin push on registration

Voter registration for students 18 years old and older will soon begin on this campus.

The movement to register approximately 6,000 would-be voters in this county is undertaken by a group known as the Voter Coalition.

According to the 36th Amendment, a person eligible to vote in elections at all levels must have the following qualifications:

- Be at least 18 years of age
- A U.S. citizen
- A resident for 54 days prior to the next state or local election
- A resident of the locality for 30 days before a federal election

Those persons who have previously registered in another county and would like to register here should simply register here. The county will transfer the registration information. Whenever a change of address is made in the county, the county clerk must be notified. A person who stays registered as long as he keeps voting in general elections. If he fails to vote he must re-register.

The Voter Coalition intends to register as many students on this campus as possible by recruiting deputy registrars for this purpose. Tables for voter registration will be set up around campus at 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. on registration day. Applications may be made with the County Clerk Ruth Wamkon on Palm Street.

People, People getting to know other people from different nations. That's what the whole thing is about and it is also the name of a campus organization—People to People.

People to People club members will get together in the International Lounge today and every Friday from 1 to 6 p.m. Their purpose for gathering is not to have a formal business meeting. Instead, they eat doughnuts, sip coffee, and talk with each other.

As the club meetings are strictly be-yourself-type situations, some members discuss trials and tribulations encountered in classrooms, while others inquire about social customs in foreign countries—foreign to U.S. citizens, that is. Or a few may be discussing the new fad hitting for foreign students. Some perhaps are comparing amusing anecdotes occurring during their first few weeks in a totally new social and educational environment.

Membership procedures are as informal as the meetings. Club dues are $1, but are not mandatory. The International Council sponsors most of the club's activities. Collected dues are used for a supplementary fund.

We have moved

Watch for our new open house

555 Marsh
Open Mon.-Sat. 9:00-6:00
Thurs 9:30-9:00 p.m.

We have moved

PROBLEMATICAL RECREATIONS-22

While still at a sizable distance from the Pentagon building, a man first catches sight of it. As the distance from the observer to the Pentagon gets larger, what limiting value does the probability of seeing 2 sides (as opposed to 3) approach?

For the answer to this problem, write:

LITTON INDUSTRIES
EMPLOYMENT OFFICE
18800 BAYBERRY STREET
Van Nuys, Calif. 91404

An Equal Opportunity Employer M/F

838 Monterey

the aardvark

IT'S HERE

The Last Whole Earth Catalog

October 18, 1971, Friday, Morning Daily

Page 1
Cold war thaw and Tito gains

by PHIL NEWROM

The most important cold war shift since World War II is bringing in an unexpected bonus to more than one small or impoverished nation.

Among the recipients are those nations currently on the visiting list of Soviet Union's troika composed of President Nikolai V. Podgorny, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Party Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The particular case in point is that of Yugoslavia and the sudden thaw in relations between the United States and Communist China.

Yugoslav President Tito, having just played host to the Soviet party leader with some profit, is scheduled to visit the United States toward the end of October, also, he obviously hopes, with profit.

Relations between Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union may be considered on three levels: state, party, and economic. Despite a certain chill on the state and party level, Yugoslavia has continued to do about a third of its trade with the Soviet bloc and early this year concluded a five-year agreement calling for the exchange of $2.8 billion worth of goods.

What the country wanted, and got from Brezhnev was a reaffirmation of a 1965 Soviet pledge recognizing Yugoslav independence to develop her own path toward socialism and recognition of her policy of nonalignment.

In return, Yugoslavia pledged increased contact between the Soviet and Yugoslav Communist parties, a price Tito apparently considered cheap in return for Brezhnev's public renunciation of the doctrine of "limited sovereignty" of Socialist countries. A doctrine he denied even existed.

It was the doctrine of limited sovereignty that the Soviet Union used as its excuse for the invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968, and it had contributed heavily to the subsequent chill in Soviet-Yugoslav relations.

Concentrating intently on a chord is classical guitarist David Grimes, who will be performing in concert in the College Theater at 8 p.m. tonight. The program will be sponsored by the Fine Arts Committee and admission will be $1.25 for students and $2 for the public. Known to many as a "poet of the guitar," Grimes' repertoire covers five centuries of music.

Performing as a soloist, he has been hailed for his appearances throughout California, the East Coast, and Mexico. Tonight's performance will include such pieces as Fantasias 9 and 10 by Alonzo Mudarra. Variations on a Theme of Milan by Joaquim Rodrigo, and Danza Pomposa by Alexandre Taneyev.
"Great shades of the days of prohibition, Motorcycleman!"

"Yea, Boss, it is a sad day indeed, for us."

What tragedy has befallen our hero to cause such wailing, lamenting and gnashing of teeth? Well, for all of you who love 30 cent beers, or like dirt track motorcycle riding, there is a lot to cry about.

The glorious days of the Pozo Saloon have come to an end. Pozo Saloon is closing.

As unbelievable as it may seem, one of the favorite playgrounds of 8AM, Phi Kappa Psi and even the Poly Penguins is about to close its door on Sunday, Oct. 17.

The Pozo Saloon, located near Santa Margarita, has been a place for the Western folk to moan over to on a Saturday night for a swinging dance, and for hard working students to relax and have a study break on Sundays.

Now it will be no more.

According to the owner, former sheriff Paul E. Merrick, the land and saloon are for sale since the lease has run out and he does not plan to renew it. He plans to make the move to Atascadero and open the Branding Iron with business as usual.

But what will become of the motorcycle enthusiasts who enjoy the dirt track that is cut back of the saloon? The track draws riders of all ages from all over to challenge the sharp, muddy curves and steep banks of the rocky creek bottom.

And what of the 30 cent beers? Where else nearby, can you enjoy such a rustic western setting and a bar with a brass foot rail? The tables are wooden as the floor and those who do not wish to risk their lives on the motorcycle track can play pool in one corner of the room.

Around the room there are relics from the days of old. Cow heads, trophy size buck antlers, old pictures of the good old days stand as friendly reminders to the oldtimers. Even the famous people who once visited Pozo remain immortalized on the wall.

No one knows for sure if this is the absolute end to Pozo. Surely, no one would want to put apartments up in the middle of the middle of nowhere. But what awaits the Pozo Saloon is anyone’s guess. Maybe it will be back to sarsaparilla and orange soda.

Photos by Steve Peterson

Student Peter Templeton finds quiet relaxation after a hard day of punching the books.

One of the county old-timers stops in for a glass of his favorite brew. Tales of the past? He’s got lots of ’em.
Rugby Grogg renewable practice

Practices for the San Luis Obispo rugby team, the Grogg, will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays at 3:15 p.m. Any athlete interested in playing rugby is invited to attend. The first practices will be held on the soccer field near the Man's Gym. Later, the rugby team gained national recognition by knocking off one of the top ranked teams in the nation, the Olympic Club of San Francisco. The Grogg then went on to capture second place in the league standings with a 6-1-1 record. This season looks even more promising for the team, which now includes two ASI/Cal players, Dave Ritchie and Thom Dimmitt.

On the job shoremen to face court order

by RICHARD M. HARNETT
San Francisco (UPI) — The longshoremen's union in the Long Beach-Los Angeles Port complex voted Thursday to return to work under an arbitrator's ruling and in face of a federal court order.

However, a clear cut end of the West Coast dock strike was still unaverted.

Local 8 of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, representing 1,600 workers in the second largest port in the nation, adopted a recommendation by ILWU President Harry Bridges that they comply with the back to work order.

But a union spokesman said that "individuals" among the union still were opposing a condition under which the rig operators would pick the first "steadsly" men to return to work by name.

The Pacific Maritime Association said it was prepared to begin picketing as early as tonight or Saturday morning.

Carp's Liquor
Lee Casa
Party on a shoe-string:
Boe & Wine
Doll
Open 7 days
8 A.M.-11 P.M.