Probe set; group upset

by MALCOLM STONE and NORMAN MORKENTHORN

Students here have created an ad hoc committee to retain three math instructors who may not be reappointed for next year.

The three instructors are Dr. Day, Feastermore, Dr. O. C. Ramsey and Dr. Dennis Zill. They are among the second-year faculty members whose positions are subject to evaluation, and who did not get clear recommendations for re-appointment at each of the steps in the evaluation process.

Jim Patterson, spokesman for the ad hoc student committee, said the three math instructors have student support because students are concerned about them. He said there are other faculty members in the same situation, but no one has brought them to the committee’s attention.

His committee is supported by the Math Club which has appointed Ron Welker, a fourth-year math student, as its representative.

The committee is running an ASSET program in the three instructors classes today. Paterson said, “We are writing the program to get some student input.”

A committee member will attend the hearings representing students in support of the three instructors. Their personal actions will be heard this evening and Tuesday evening.

Leon V. Makrdishian, chairman of the Personnel Review Committee, said the committee will give serious consideration to written teacher evaluations from students. Patterson said students who wish to submit evaluations should have them in the office by noon today. The evaluations will be taken to the College Board of Trustees for its consideration.

The Personnel Review Committee must have its recommendation to the Academic Vice-President by Dec. 1 and a final decision must be reached by Dec. 15.

The first step in the process is a vote for re-appointment by tenured faculty members and from there the recommendation goes to the department head for his evaluation and recommendation. Those two recommendations are then forwarded to the dean of the respective school for his evaluation and recommendation.

The recent publication has appointed Ron Welker, a fourth-year math student, as its representative.

The committee was comprised of volunteers except for the chairman who is appointed by the vice-president.

There is also to be a report from the Finance Committee, Kent State resolutions to be discussed and Bill 71A, the corporate lawyer proposal.

Bill 71A asks that the Elections Committee be re-elected from each school during the general ASSET spring elections. Two students from each school would be elected.

At the present time the Elections Committee is comprised of volunteers except for the chairman who is appointed by the vice-president.

There is also to be a report from the Finance Committee, Kent State resolutions to be discussed and Bill 71A, the corporate lawyer proposal.

The committee was comprised of volunteers except for the chairman who is appointed by the vice-president.

The candidates for re-appointment are: James F. Brinley, assistant to the Dean of Students; and Dr. Dennis Zill, assistant professor of mathematics.

The committee has five members from each of the three colleges who were appointed by the administration.

The committee must have its recommendation to the Academic Vice-President by Dec. 1 and a final decision must be reached by Dec. 15.

PARKING: SWIM OR SINK?

Editor:

It has recently come to my attention that we have a parking problem here on campus. Not that I am complaining, but the Taco Bell people are beginning to get upset when I have to use their lot when the campus parking areas are full.

May I draw out a suggestion? There are twenty spaces designated for pool parking in the lot across from the M.E. lab. It is an injustice to myself and other students who cannot swim.

Other students who cannot swim.

STATE COLLEGES

Name change possible

A California legislative measure, presently awaiting signature by Gov. Ronald Reagan, which would redesignate certain state colleges as universities may be among the major items to be considered by the state college Board of Trustees today and Tuesday in Los Angeles.

The bill, authored by Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, recently passed both the Assembly and Senate despite intensive lobbying in opposition by supporters of the University of California administration.

The state college trustees may discuss the implications of becoming a university system although direct action cannot be taken until the bill is approved by the governor.

Although definite criteria for redesignation have not been established, the state coordinating Council for Higher Education and the trustees, it is expected five to ten of the 19 state colleges would be redesignated as universities and the state college system would then be renamed "California State University and College System." Because the criteria has not yet been established, it is not known whether this college would qualify as a university. However, another administration official agreed, primarily because of the number of accredited programs here.

The attempt by Barnes, who has had similar measures die in the Assembly, was opposed by University of California lobbyists who want the UC system to remain the designation of California state along with the exclusive right to grant doctoral degrees.

The purpose of the conference is to promote a better understanding and closer bond of fellowship among international students from all parts of the state.

The conference will be held Nov. 34-35 at the First Baptist Church in San Francisco. The cost is $8 including a $2 registration fee.

Drug Influenced music grouped into two areas

Grace Klein and the Jefferson Airplane belted out "White Rabbit", Bob Dylan pronounced that "everybody must get stoned", and there were the Byrds, Donovan, and Jimi Hendrix. Although it may sound like a super rock concert, it was Project discussing "drug influenced" music.

KALY disc jockey Dave Mott spoke about today's music and said he divided it into two general categories, music written about drugs, and music influenced by drugs. Mott demonstrated the two categories with topics of "drug influenced" music, and discussed each song individually.

Mott said it isn't feasible that any of today's music would cause anyone to get involved with drugs. "I don't know of any instances when someone has listened to some music and then wanted to jump up and run out and buy some marijuana, or some drugs and get loaded just because of the music."

Governmental suppression of drug influenced music may not help reduce the drug problem, Mott said. He said that suppression may be adding to the problem by placing too much emphasis on drugs.

Questions: "It state funding for higher education has not been cut, then why do we hear so many educational projects being abandoned because of a lack of funds?

Hi! Financing poses a sticky situation. We plan to elevate money for state colleges. State colleges help us tremendously by establishing priorities on their projects. State universities daily refuse to set priorities. We project, state Universities research."

Mustang win that counts

by STEVE GALC

The Mustang football team moved into close to their third consecutive California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) title on Saturday night when they beat the Cal State Fullerton Titans 26-14 at Mustang Stadium.

The victory was the third consecutive for Poly who now has five wins and four losses and a 2-4 CCAA slate. The Mustangs will need to beat Cal Poly Pomona December 4 to win the CCAA championship.

Although the score fluctuated throughout the game, the Mustangs never trailed after the first quarter behind the Titans, who have been mourning the loss of three of their football coaches killed in a plane crash last week.

Steve Bresnahan returned as the starting quarterback for the Mustangs after missing two games because of an injury to the abdomen. He completed five passes for nine attempts.

The Titans opened the scoring with 4:46 left in the first quarter when Fabian Blanchett took an eight-yard pass from quarterback Mike Ernst to cap an 80-yard drive. The extra-point attempt was missed.

Tailback Darryl Thomas then took the kickoff and ran 84 yards for the Mustangs' first score of the game. The Titans put back the Mustangs' only touchdown late in the second period when Thomas ran three yards for a touchdown, and Mike Guerra added the extra point with a kick.

Poly added another touchdown late in the second period when Bresnahan threw a 14-yard pass to junior backschad Dan Canseco to complete a 64-yard drive in three plays. Guerra added another kick to make the halftime score 14-6.

The teams exchanged interceptions early in the third quarter and Fullerton continued with 13 minutes left in the period on another eight-yard pass from Ernst to Chapman. Ernst again threw to Chapman for the two-point conversion to tie the score at 14-14.

Bresnahan threw two more touchdown drives in the third period to reestablish the Mustang lead. Cornerback Gary Fascilla intercepted a pass from Ernst and returned it for 16 yards to set up the tie-breaking score in the fourth quarter. Guerra kicked a 39-yard, field goal with seven seconds left to give the Mustangs 17-14.

Fascilla intercepted another Ernst pass late in the game and returned 43 yards for the clinching touchdown with 31 seconds left. The Mustangs put the game out of reach with a 23-26 victory.

Three Mustangs carried the ball for Poly.
