Nixon’s trip to China set

Washington (UPI)—President Nixon will travel to Mainland China next month. The White House announced this in a simultaneous announcement with Peking Monday.

The brief announcement did not specify how long the trip would be or what cities the President would visit. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that more complete details of the trip would be announced within the next 24 hours.

The government of the People’s Republic of China and the government of the United States of America have agreed that President Nixon’s visit to China will begin Feb. 15, 1973. However, this is only a tentative visit, Ziegler said. The visit will be continued until both the United States and China are satisfied with the developments of the meeting.

Ziegler said Nixon “shall try in the meetings to seek a new nation in the interest of both our two countries and to improve relations between the two countries which have been estranged from each other for 22 years since the communisation of the China mainland.”

The Peking trip will proceed by about three months from President Nixon’s visit to Moscow, announced for the latter part of May. Ziegler said the data for the trip to Peking was agreed to as “mutually convenient” by Nixon and Chinese leaders.

A Chinese scholar, Mark Naeunt of Stanford University, will give a public lecture Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 8 p.m. in the Cuesta College Auditorium.

Described recently by Time magazine as “Rushton’s most prominent Chinese Scholar,” a widely travelled historian of Sino-Soviet relations and a dominating teacher, Naeunt will give his analysis of the developing new relationship between the United States and China and its ramifications. The Cuesta College program will be open to the public without admission fee.

For Campus leaders, Ziegler said that he did not know when Nixon would begin his journey or where his jet liner would stop for refueling. But he said the President would be in Peking on Feb. 15.

At the same time, he stressed that in the talks in the coming high-level discussions with Nixon, “we shall be looking at the conditions for the continuing superpowers ‘allied unity’ would not be sacrificed to relax tensions’ behind the border earth and blue countries’ official’s sessions with free world leaders still will be possible.” Nixon will visit the following Chinese leaders: Zhai, Liu, Deng, and “a number of others” that Ziegler would not disclose.

On the CU second floor, the four bulletin boards are specifically labelled. According to Donant the regulation of campus bulletin boards is described by President Donant’s director. The regulation of bulletin boards is described in the Cuesta and Snack Bar.

On the bulletin boards are available for any campus organization. Any campus organization may use the bulletin board for promoting activities. The bulletin board is regulated for a “first come, first served” basis. Again, the maximum limit of two weeks posting applies.

A display case in the Snack Bar is available for any campus organization use. Individuals desiring to use this project must see Donant or Dr. Dan Lawrance. Donant is director of student activities. Posters may be placed in the Cuesta and Snack Bar once a permit is received.

According to Donant, the regulation of campus bulletin boards ascribes to President Kennedy’s directive for use of state college buildings and grounds. He said the policy is subject to change. Students who may question bulletin board regulations must submit suggestions to Dr. Lawrance, President Donant or to the CU Board of Governors, which meets every Thursday from 5:40 p.m.

Censorship moves in to take over postings?

by TONY SANTOS

“I do not consider myself as a censor. I am just trying to accommodate more space on the College Union bulletin boards,” said Randy Donant, student activities technician. “I dislike removing improperly posted material. In all fairness to campus organizations and interest groups, someone has to do the job.”

One of Donant’s duties as a student technician is to regulate the use of bulletin boards in the College Union.

Fortunately, he does not have to handle the task alone. Two campus service organizations, Alpha Phi Omega and Circle K, have offered Donant some much needed assistance.

The team’s first concern is to make sure that materials posted are not objectionable. Because of the limited space offered by campus bulletin boards, the team requests notices to be posted for a maximum of two weeks or until the event has passed.

Donant believes regulations set in the CU bulletin boards may seem stringent but hopes the plan put into effect will centralize posting in the CU. Boards in this area are specifically labelled.

On the CU second floor, the four bulletin boards are intended for events listed in the Pony, student involvement, the Student Affairs Council and the CU Board of Governors. The first floor bulletin boards are oriented toward general student use. These boards are titled lost and found, services and discounts (for non-commercial use only), housing, rides and riders, buy-sea-trade, and community and central coast events. Maintenance of these boards will strictly adhere to each bulletin board’s intended use.

If material is posted on an incorrect board, it will be removed and possibly placed in the proper bulletin board. Students using the facilities are requested to use thumb tacks only. No written permit is required for posting material.

The CU balcony was described by Donant as “fair game.” Any campus organization may use the balcony for promoting activities. The balcony is regulated with a “first come, first served” basis. Again, the maximum limit of two weeks posting applies.

For several years this school has had the distinction of being one of three college campuses in the state system still producing a yearbook. However, last year’s appreciable lack of demand for the annual meant that the time for planning the yearbook was relatively short.

decision making was taken of the students involved in the project. They wanted the students to be involved in their stories. “They can relate to the readers what their stories are about,” Kyse said. “I don’t like the yearbook style of portraying college life. We want to find out about things relevant to students and that can be done better with a magazine.”

Kyse believes that with magazines, writers have the chance to get involved in their work. The staff members will have an opportunity to work on their assignments and will be able to add depth to their stories. They can relate to the readers what is going on. Outpost is a service to inform the readers and we are sticking to topics which affect the campus directly,” he said.

“Free type of writing is encouraged for Outpost,” said Kyse. “It is more like interpretive writing. It offers a lot more leeway.”

Outpost is self-supporting, according to Nancy Seal, editor of the magazine. “We want to make it as professional as possible in the format.”

The magazine consists of about 48 pages with a new edition to be printed by a company outside the school.

According to Kyse, Outpost will have informal stories, feature stories, entertainment articles, and art work such as cartoons, drawings, color photographs, and editorial columns. “It will not be a jumble of unrelated subjects, though,” said Kyse. “There will be a continuity throughout the magazine.”

Many of the stories being investigated were suggested by the staff writers themselves. Other ideas came to the editors while looking through other magazines. Still others have come from suggestions to Dr. Lawson, president, the Student Affairs Council, and the CU Board of Governors, which meets every Thursday from 5:40 p.m.

Nixon’s trip to China set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon will travel to Mainland China next month. The White House announced this in a simultaneous announcement with Peking Monday.

The brief announcement did not specify how long the trip would be or what cities the President would visit. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that more complete details of the trip would be announced within the next 24 hours.

The government of the People’s Republic of China and the government of the United States of America have agreed that President Nixon’s visit to China will begin Feb. 15, 1973. However, this is only a tentative visit, Ziegler said. The visit will be continued until both the United States and China are satisfied with the developments of the meeting.

Ziegler said Nixon “shall try in the meetings to seek a new nation in the interest of both our two countries and to improve relations between the two countries which have been estranged from each other for 22 years since the communisation of the China mainland.”

The Peking trip will proceed by about three months from President Nixon’s visit to Moscow, announced for the latter part of May. Ziegler said the data for the trip to Peking was agreed to as “mutually convenient” by Nixon and Chinese leaders.

A Chinese scholar, Mark Naeunt of Stanford University, will give a public lecture Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 8 p.m. in the Cuesta College Auditorium.

Described recently by Time magazine as “Rushton’s most prominent Chinese Scholar,” a widely travelled historian of Sino-Soviet relations and a dominating teacher, Naeunt will give his analysis of the developing new relationship between the United States and China and its ramifications. The Cuesta College program will be open to the public without admission fee.

For Campus leaders, Ziegler said that he did not know when Nixon would begin his journey or where his jet liner would stop for refueling. But he said the President would be in Peking on Feb. 15.

At the same time, he stressed that in the talks in the coming high-level discussions with Nixon, “we shall be looking at the conditions for the continuing superpowers ‘allied unity’ would not be sacrificed to relax tensions’ behind the border earth and blue countries’ official’s sessions with free world leaders still will be possible.” Nixon will visit the following Chinese leaders: Zhai, Liu, Deng, and “a number of others” that Ziegler would not disclose.

On the CU second floor, the four bulletin boards are specifically labelled. According to Donant the regulation of campus bulletin boards is described by President Donant’s director. The regulation of bulletin boards is described in the Cuesta and Snack Bar.

On the bulletin boards are available for any campus organization. Any campus organization may use the bulletin board for promoting activities. The bulletin board is regulated for a “first come, first served” basis. Again, the maximum limit of two weeks posting applies.

A display case in the Snack Bar is available for any campus organization use. Individuals desiring to use this project must see Donant or Dr. Dan Lawrance. Donant is director of student activities. Posters may be placed in the Cuesta and Snack Bar once a permit is received.

According to Donant, the regulation of campus bulletin boards ascribes to President Kennedy’s directive for use of state college buildings and grounds. He said the policy is subject to change. Students who may question bulletin board regulations must submit suggestions to Dr. Lawrance, President Donant or to the CU Board of Governors, which meets every Thursday from 5:40 p.m.
Confused over abortion

Editor:
Re: Dr. Derrill's letter of Nov. 21.
I agree that people are of far greater value than oak trees. But all I set out to show by my analogy was that just because an x is valuable doesn't entail that an embryonic x is valuable, too, a line of argument which I think Dr. Zark adopted.

I think that Dr. Derrill and others are confused as to where the burden of proof lies in the abortion controversy. It lies not with me, but with the anti-abortionists. Here's why: No one doubts that people, like you and I, have a right to life which outweighs any amount of inconveniences which our lives might cause others. But I don't think too much of us feel this way about embryos. (Ask yourself this: Do you think that the law ought to preserve abortionists for homicide? Do you think that we should hold funerals and print obituaries for miscarriages, and send sympathy cards to the bereaved, would-be parents? If you don't then this is a sign that you don't take embryo's all that seriously.) Because most people aren't inclined to take embryos seriously, anti-abortionists have tried to argue that to deny em-

by WARNER CHAROT

This Saturday, the recycling bin will be opened for the first day of operation. The success of this project will depend on you and willingness to make it work. The whole idea of recycling is one of the many ways we have found to adjust our lifestyles in a direction toward living more compatibly with nature and reducing our impact on the environment.

The following is a list of suggestions on how you can make changes in your own place of work, within your own home. They are only ideas from many friends and I all I need to show, is that people, like you and I, use them in the spirit in which they are given.

The Kitchen: This is often the center of the home and therefore - a major site of over-consumption and waste. Electrical and natural gas energy can be needlessly wasted if appliances are used on too long a duration and are not turned off when not in use. Limit the use of electric appliances as much as possible. Turn off lights and equipment when not in use, During the summer the use of air-conditioning can be reduced by using more natural light and/or by opening the windows. If you are using air-conditioning, please use the economy setting. Electrical appliances may be a little more convenient but increase your consumption of electricity and your Electric Bill.

Speaking of electric bills, they are a lot of abortions being performed today under the worst of conditions and by completely unqualified people butcher, as they are rightly called. In most of these cases not only a two month old embryo is killed but a 10 year old desperate girl as well. Some are even killed in the second half of pregnancy. These arguments can go on and on but I need to show, is that people, like you and I, have a right to life which outweighs any amount of inconveniences which our lives might cause others. But I don't think too much of us feel this way about embryos. You don't take embryos all that seriously, antl-abortlonists have tried to argue that to deny embryos a greater value than oak trees. But I don't think too much of us feel this way about embryos. (Ask yourself this: Do you think that the law ought to preserve abortionists for homicide? Do you think that we should hold funerals and print obituaries for miscarriages, and send sympathy cards to the bereaved, would-be parents? If you don't then this is a sign that you don't take embryo's all that seriously.) Because most people aren't inclined to take embryos seriously, anti-abortionists have tried to argue that to deny em-

A special purchase from our distributor allows us to pass this savings on to you.

Four colors: Black, Blue, Red, Green. The quantity is limited, so hurry. These markers cannot be re-ordered at this price.

ECOLOGY

Economically operate your electric dryer, can replenish her supplies. Stop and think about ways you can reduce your consumption of electricity and your Electric Bill.

Speaking of electric bills, they are a lot of abortions being performed today under the worst of conditions and by completely unqualified people butcher, as they are rightly called. In most of these cases not only a two month old embryo is killed but a 10 year old desperate girl as well. Some are even killed in the second half of pregnancy. These arguments can go on and on but I need to show, is that people, like you and I, have a right to life which outweighs any amount of inconveniences which our lives might cause others. But I don't think too much of us feel this way about embryos. (Ask yourself this: Do you think that the law ought to preserve abortionists for homicide? Do you think that we should hold funerals and print obituaries for miscarriages, and send sympathy cards to the bereaved, would-be parents? If you don't then this is a sign that you don't take embryo's all that seriously.) Because most people aren't inclined to take embryos seriously, anti-abortionists have tried to argue that to deny em-

A special purchase from our distributor allows us to pass this savings on to you.

Four colors: Black, Blue, Red, Green. The quantity is limited, so hurry. These markers cannot be re-ordered at this price.

EL CORRAL

Pre-Finals Special

Today thru December 7

Autopoint Markers
(Made by the company that makes Flair)

30c

A special purchase from our distributor allows us to pass this savings on to you.

Four colors: Black, Blue, Red, Green. The quantity is limited, so hurry. These markers cannot be re-ordered at this price.

El Corral

The following is a list of suggestions on how you can make changes in your own place of work, within your own home. They are only ideas from many friends and I all I need to show, is that people, like you and I, use them in the spirit in which they are given.

The Kitchen: This is often the center of the home and therefore a major site of over-consumption and waste. Electrical and natural gas energy can be needlessly wasted if appliances are used on too long a duration and are not turned off when not in use. Limit the use of electric appliances as much as possible. Turn off lights and equipment when not in use, During the summer the use of air-conditioning can be reduced by using more natural light and/or by opening the windows. If you are using air-conditioning, please use the economy setting. Electrical appliances may be a little more convenient but increase your consumption of electricity and your Electric Bill.

Speaking of electric bills, they are a lot of abortions being performed today under the worst of conditions and by completely unqualified people butcher, as they are rightly called. In most of these cases not only a two month old embryo is killed but a 10 year old desperate girl as well. Some are even killed in the second half of pregnancy. These arguments can go on and on but I need to show, is that people, like you and I, have a right to life which outweighs any amount of inconveniences which our lives might cause others. But I don't think too much of us feel this way about embryos. (Ask yourself this: Do you think that the law ought to preserve abortionists for homicide? Do you think that we should hold funerals and print obituaries for miscarriages, and send sympathy cards to the bereaved, would-be parents? If you don't then this is a sign that you don't take embryo's all that seriously.) Because most people aren't inclined to take embryos seriously, anti-abortionists have tried to argue that to deny em-

A special purchase from our distributor allows us to pass this savings on to you.

Four colors: Black, Blue, Red, Green. The quantity is limited, so hurry. These markers cannot be re-ordered at this price.

EL CORRAL
Students eligible or those who think they are eligible for early registration can remove all doubts by going to the foyer of the Library today.

If omia are found, students are encouraged to list and report them to the Registrar’s Office, Administration 218, before Dec. 10, 1971.

The requirements are listed as follows:—

1. Students—students who have completed 136 quarter units prior to the beginning of Fall Quarter and are currently or have previously enrolled in 461-462 Senior Project courses, Arch 971-972 design project courses, History 460 Senior Project, or English seniors as determined by their department; Fall graduate students.

Commander Chong Sun Fong, a 1963 graduate of this college, is on campus today to meet students and answer their inquiries about the navy. Commander Fong is with the command headquarters of the naval electronics system in Washington, D.C.

He will visit electronics and math classes and plans to meet with students at 11 a.m. today in room 203 (Student Council Chambers) of the College Union.

Fong was a double major in electronics and mathematics while he was a student at this college.

Have you thought of giving RECORDS for CHRISTMAS?

Save up to $3.00!

Major label LP’s! Top artists!

Many, many selections in this special purchase. Classics included!

Make life easier on your Christmas Budget.
Take advantage of this special sale!
SALE ENDS DECEMBER 7.
Wife of coach moonlights as 'star' runner

What do you do when your husband is a coach and PE instructor at a State college? A typical housewife Cheryl Bridges?

Cheryl, a graduate student, led the Los Angeles Track Club to a 4th place team finish.

Over the past seven years Cheryl has placed in the top seven in the women's cross country nationals, a race which annually includes over 100 runners. Three times she has represented the United States in the World Cross Country Championships, placing 11th in England in 1960, 9th in Scotland in 1969, and 18th In England in 1968. Cheryl has placed in the top two seven times in the women's cross country nationals. In 1960 and 1970 she led the Mustang cross-country team to the national title. In 1968, fourth in England, she recorded the fastest time in the country in the three mile 8000 meter run with times of 10:36 and 11:27. She placed sixth in the two mile in the national championships in Bakersfield in 10:58.

Cheryl's daily schedule involves morning and evening workouts with a full day of teaching in nearby Arroyo Grande squeezed in between. Before she returns home to cook dinner for her husband, Larry, who is a health education instructor, she has a health education instructor here.

Intramurals

Sign-ups for the winter quarter intramurals will be held beginning today, according to Intramurals director Dick Heaton.

Cheryl Bridges, wife of coach Steve Simmons at UCSB last week. The Mustangs were left behind with a score of 11-3. Coach Steve Simmons said, "It was really antediluvian. Nobody cared."

Above, a Mustang runner moves out for his team.

The Mustang cross-country team met UCSB last week. The Mustangs were left behind with a score of 11-3. Coach Steve Simmons said, "It was really antediluvian. Nobody cared."

Cheryl Bridges, wife of coach Steve Simmons at UCSB last week. The Mustangs were left behind with a score of 11-3. Coach Steve Simmons said, "It was really antediluvian. Nobody cared."

Mountain Sports has gotten it together with the best names in skiwear

Roffe Demetre Aspen Head Swinglet

858 Higuera

Mountain Sports has gotten it together with the best names in skiwear.

Snowflake Fantasy

An open house with new Christmas ideas for everyone.

Tree Lighting 7:00 pm

Guest Designer Mr. Ed Connors

Will do demonstrations at 7:30 and 9:00 pm

Door Prizes, Decorating Ideas, Caroling throughout the evening

OH UNIT December 1, 1971 7:00-10:00 p.m.