Homo habilis haunts campus

The world's foremost anthropologist, Dr. Louis S. B. Leakey, who took the history of man back 2,000,000 years, will talk to you on this journey through time when he speaks here March 27, at 8 p.m. in the Men's Gym.

Speaking on "Adam's Ancestors—Evidence of Man's Evolution in Africa," the 63-year-old British anthropologist will relate how his discoveries in East Africa have upset theories of man's origin and caused textbooks to be rewritten.

At Olduvai Gorge, in Tanzania, Leakey and his wife, Mary, found the fossil remains of the 2,000,000-year-old Homo habilis, a tiny tool-making creature within man's genus, and the famed near-man Zinjanthropus, aged 1,700,000 years.

Leakey advanced the startling theory that these two creatures and a third hominid lived side-by-side in prehistoric Africa. He believed that nature was experimenting, in effect, and that only Homo habilis survived to become a direct ancestor of man.

The Africa-born scientist's activities and interests are so broad that he has been called a modern counterpart of... archeologist, zoologist, dentist, and author. His many books include the popular Adam's Ancestors and an authoritative grammar of Kikuyu language.

Leakey is the only known white member of Kenya's huge Kikuyu tribe. He identifies himself as an East African, not as a Kenyan or Britcher.

He became interested in anthropology while studying at Cambridge University in England. Completing his studies, he made two expeditions to Kenya before beginning his excavations at Olduvai.

The Leakeys spent nearly three decades exploring Olduvai before making their first great discovery of the Zinjanthropus.

Muskie claims most delegates

by JOHN MILNE

With about 50 per cent of the precinct reporting and the results trickling in, Muskie held 13 delegates to eight for McGovern—but the races were so close the results were changing virtually by the minute.

Muskie had hoped a big win in his neighboring state would propel him to the Democratic presidential nomination, but nearly complete returns showed Muskie receiving 48 per cent of the vote to 37 per cent for McGovern.

A subdued Muskie, speaking to reporters here before flying to Florida for the nation's second primary next Tuesday, said, "We did the best we could with what we had and we won. We didn't have the time or the resources to make a maximum showing."

But even Muskie conceded that McGovern "made a good showing here and I should think that would be helpful to him."

The South Dakota senator had been showing for 38 per cent of the vote.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and Henry W. Jackson, two leading Democratic presidential hopefuls who stopped the New Hampshire primary, said the outcome was a setback for Muskie.

Humphrey said Muskie would go into the Florida primary "with his pants on, but his arrows down."

Jackson called the majority vote for candidates other than Muskie "a protest against Muskie."

In the Republican primary, President Nixon rolled up a decisive victory, as expected, over Barry Goldwater.

All insurance 'not bad deal'

Editor:
In reference to Pete Evans's letter, if he bought an insurance policy from some clown he must be a real chump. Buying insurance should be the same as any other personal brochure. With the many different insurance companies in San Luis Obispo it should be easy enough to compare prices, benefits and reputations.

Evans doesn't state why he was ripped off, but it seems likely it was from his negligence or stupidity. To imply insurance is a rip-off, one must feel he's being cheated. Certainly there are instances when a person buys life, medical, or casualty insurance, pays the premium, and never has a claim. All types of insurance are based on statistics. If your father died when you were young, or you were in an auto accident or your house was broken into and you had a claim, Mr. Evans, would you then yell rip-off?

Racist system?

Editor:
As members of the Student Discrimination Study Committee we would like to express a general feeling of disgust that certain students of Cal Poly continue to perpetuate this racist system. We are referring to the issue that Theta Chi fraternity is more concerned with a previously arranged contract with the Elks Club than with the idea that this organization continues with their discriminatory practices.

It is not important that SAC has any ties on this fraternity, but rather that we as students should be united in our fight against racism. It is our recommendation as a concerned group of students that those who are planning to participate in this activity—boycott.

ASLI: It's too late, baby but don't worry about it

Editor:
Student government is not deaf, however. Mr. Cuder obviously has not been checking with his fellow students. John, you ask us to speak out: WE DID. In a little less than three days, over 300 persons signed my letter. All I did was knock on doors and found an overwhelming majority in support of student government concerns.

Co-ed dances into first

Alyce Dottle captured both audience attention and first place in the Speech Contest sponsored by Speak Easy Tuesday night when she demonstrated and explained different body movements used in Afro-American dance. Effective background music and tree branches added to her presentation.

Appropriately clad in African animal skins, Miss Dottle told the audience that to fully enjoy primitive dance, they should be able to understand what the dancer is portraying.

Sally Yates earned the place of second runner-up in the contest with her presentation of "Money, Money, Money." Miss Yates explained how money is created and stretched in society by the use of paper money, credit cards, and loans.

She concluded her pleasant delivery by saying, "If it is not money that is the root of all evil; it is the LOVE of money that is the root of all evil."

Third runner-up was Ed Wicks, who cleverly told how women should go about changing a flat tire if they should ever find themselves in such a predicament.

To make his presentation more appealing he wore a short, curly wig, and added a touch of humor to his step-by-step solution.

The other finalists were Sue Ann Hanatee, who gave an amusing speech on "The Art of Walking," and Marilyn Farmer, who gave an informative talk about "The Paradox of Trans-sensuals" in society today. Judges were Ed Penson and Jan Wise, and the head of the speech department, James R. Emmel.
Rugby after victory over Eagle Rock

San Luis Obispo Rugby Club will challenge Long Beach on March 1.

The San Luis Obispo Rugby Club will take their six-game win streak to Long Beach on Sunday to meet the Long Beach Rugby Club at DeKilie Field. Match time is set for 1:30 p.m. with a second match between the two clubs to follow.

The Grogs, who last met their first two Southern California Rugby Football Union (SCRFU) matches back with six straight league victories, are the last of which was against Eagle Rock Athletic Club of Eagle Rock, on a scoring, tempered day.

San Luis Obispo fell behind Eagle Rock, 6-0, but were able to fight back to within one point on try by Mike Young and Ed Elmer to trail 9-6 at the half.

The Grogs continued their scoring spree by adding 16 more points in the second half to win, 36-9. After trailing 9-4, the Grogs came back to score 31 straight points, while Eagle Rock was held scoreless: a feat not often attained in rugby. Scoring in the second half for the Grogs were Jim Goddard, Jeff Jansen, Vic Ecklund, and George Hurley, with conversions by Jan Juric.

Commenting on the hotly contested match, Grogs coach Dave Richie said, "We really had a fine effort in coming behind to beat this fine club, especially considering the heat factor (86 degrees)."

The SECONDS will face the Marines from Twenty-nine Palms on Saturday as a tune up for their match against Long Beach the following day. Match time is set for 1 p.m. on the men's practice field, below the gymnasium.

Currently, a four-way tie exists for first place in the SCRFU, as the Grogs share the lead with the San Diego Optimists, Los Angeles Rugby Club, and Gold Mission Bay Athletic (GOMBA) Club of San Diego, all with 6-2 records.

The San Luis Obispo Rugby Club and Long Beach Rugby Club will meet at the Long Beach Rugby Club's field. The match will take place on March 1 at 1:30 p.m. The Grogs are currently leading the年末 Collegiate Rugby Football Union (SCRFU) with six straight wins, while Long Beach is trailing with six losses. The Grogs' victory over Eagle Rock Athletic Club on a scoring, tempered day has momentum building for the upcoming match against Long Beach.
