Daytime beach use may be dime-a-dip

by JOHN TEVES

Admission charges for daytime use of beaches south of Arroyo Grande Creek is the subject of a current dialogue between County Supervisor Howard Manskin and the California Department of Parks and Recreation Director William Mott.

Manskin has come out solidly against the admission charges for daytime beach use south of the Ocean Beach overpass. Mott, head of the department proposing the admission fee, favors a county-wide system of collecting an as yet unspecified charge of beach users. The purpose of the fee would be to support the cost of new sanitary facilities which would have to be installed on the beaches as a result of recent legislation.

Restrictions both in the fee and in the hours the beach is open to the public are to be worked out for every thousand people on the beach according to the new laws. Manskin maintained the expense necessary to pay for these facilities is minimal enough that the overnight camping fee is not opposed by Manskin. He said he believed the charge would be more than reasonable when compared to costs preferred at private camping spots.

Manskin has registered his objections with Mott in a letter, but plans to meet with the director next week. Manskin hopes in discussions with Mott on the daytime beach use charge and the wet sand camping before a final decision is made.

In his communications with Mott, Manskin maintained that the people of San Luis Obispo County would not approve of the two proposals. Manskin urged all concerned citizens to register their opinions on the matter with his office, by mail. He hopes to present a tentative support for the proposals when he meets with Mott.

Manskin has been receiving approximately 80 letters a day in opposition to the Mott proposals. More than 60 of these are from the names and addresses of San Luis Obispo County residents and their letters to his office in the County Courthouse in San Luis Obispo.

SAC clarifies campaign laws

by CATHERINE PHOENIX

As election campaign rules were examined and approved—with very specific discussion of active campaigning—at Wednesday night’s Student Affairs Council meeting.

It was decided that active campaigning would not include visits to residence halls.

Recruitment candidates speaking at organisational bodies. This means that candidates will be able to speak to groups and inform them that they are running, but candidates will not be able to solicit votes from these groups. Prior to this definition of active campaigning candidates were not able to speak to organised groups until after the final filing date.

Also decided at this time was the definition of an official candidate, as one who files his petition by April 14.

Stricken from the campaign rules is the section which said no material could be used in any candidate’s campaign that could be “considered obscene or unseemly to any prudent person.”

All Press, Pete Evans, suggested it be thrown out because of the words prudent person and the difficulty of definition. This suggestion was agreed upon by all SAC members.

Contrary to the election campaign rules, SAC determined it would be all right to hold dances, rallies or demonstrations.

Last chance

The last day for students to withdraw from classes with no penalty is Monday until 5 p.m.

Students may drop classes from the second through the seventh week, but are subject to a W or WF grade. The grade is left to the determination of the instructor.

After the seventh week no drops are allowed unless there is company certified medical emergency, according to Gerald Pancha, director of Registration.

In the vicinity of residence halls after 7 p.m., with the approval of the student’s roommate, another change in the campaign rules was the approval for candidates to participate in student events such as dances and parties.

Poly Royal's domes will appear Saturday

In the Dorm Committee report, Steve Lager, representative from Poly Royal's domes on April 15 flat. "We need to do something about the public's opinion polls of dorm policy taken in 1971."

Lager felt that these polls would be of statistical validity. After this point was made clear by Chamberlain, Lager withdrew his motion.

Also in the Dorm Committee report, Pete Chamberlain, chief justice, said that judiciary can't do anything about doubts representation of Inter-Hall Council (IHC) on SAC until something was put on the books concerning the issue.

It was decided that since STA withdrew its complaint against SAC that there was no more issue. Greg Williams, from agriculture, and natural resources, moved to reinstate the flag salute in the SAC agenda "to show that we support the United States."

Prisco White, proxy for architecture and environmental design, said, "This is a board of directors, not a governmental body, and should not have the flag salute in the agenda." The motion failed 8-1.

Sky domes and mushroom clouds will soon be an addition to this campus as the School of Architecture and Environmental Design readsies itself for Poly Royal with its theme "The Dawning of a New Environment."

The two conduit structures, designed by students of John Feldman's class, are ready to jump off paper and begin initial construction at 9 a.m. this Saturday.

The sky domes will rise to form an open air display in conjunction with the gallery outside Engineering West. The mushroom clouds, to rise after the sky domes are completed, will serve as a reference point for Poly Royal activities and will be built adjacent to the library lawn.

"The third, fourth, and fifth year labs are endeavoring to communicate an expression by means of creative lab design. The designed expression shall further enforce our desire as one school of architecture and environmental design that recognises the need for change, and the need for a "dawning of a new environment," said Scott Meares, communications chairman for his school.

"Everyone is invited to come out today and help put it together," he added.

Flower frolic

Three Ornamental Horticulture students from this college will test their skills at the National Intercollegiate Flower Judging Contest today at 1:30 p.m. in Chumash Hall Auditorium.

The campus judging team is comprised of Roberta Mountain, Randall Cooper and Noel Mon-telone, with John Wood as the alternate. These students began preparing for the contest during Winter Quarter.

According to Ray Houston of the ornamental horticulture department faculty, teams representing eight colleges and universities will compete in the all-day event. Among these are Penn State University, Purdue University and Kansas State University. Each of the schools offers classes in horticulture.

The student teams will spend about two hours rating entries in 22 classes of flowers, including cut, potted and bedding plants. Some of the flowers have been grown here.

Experience gained by the judging teams will be valuable in their careers, said Houston. Trophies for team winners and certificates for individual winners will be presented at a banquet following the contest.

The event is sponsored by Pi Alpha Xi Fraternity and the Society of American Florists.

Coeds look forward to being 'loved,' 'spiked,' 'fenced,' 'netted'

Female students will be 'loved,' 'spiked,' 'speared' and 'netted' this quarter in the various sports programs being offered by the Women's Physical Education Department. The programs are tennis, track and field, fencing and basketball.

The women's intercollegiate basketball teams, under the direction of Mary Ballard, come to the end of their rigorous season next week. After competing against UCSD in Santa Barbara Wednesday, the dribblers return home for their final game against Fresno State at 4 and 8:30 p.m. Friday in Crandall Gym.

By qualifying through league play, the A team can compete in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Tournament April 19 through 21 at Cal State Fullerton.

April 14 and 16 the female fencing team will travel to Rancho for its most significant contest, the Women's Westerns competition. Following this event, the fencers, trained by (Continued on page 4)
Baseball faces big test

Coming off two big league wins over UC Riverside last weekend, the Mustang baseball team travels to Chapman College this weekend for a three-game series. The locals will be trying to improve their 8-4 road record as they have the number four-ranked team in the nation. The Mustangs have won 17 games at home this season.

The Poly signs will send Mike Kruskis for his 4-4 record, Lee Otis, who has an 8-4 record with a 1.71 earned run average, and Doug Alderman, a local boy from San Luis Obispo with a 1-0 record, against Chapman.

After last weekend's series, Coach Ange Gerviso reviewed some of the good aspects in the games. He said, "I was disappointed over the loss, but I was pleased with the pitch and determination we demonstrated in last Saturday's game. Our concentration was good and we operated most efficiently both offensively and defensively and we received some timely hitting in the series."

Gerviso was also pleased with the play of freshman catcher Larry Sivlera who is hitting .371 with two home runs and 10 runs batted in. Sivlera said, "I'm improving right along and has worked very hard and continued well since taking over the starting job behind the plate. What I like is his willingness to work at all times."

He added, "He needs time in the lineup to develop, and being only a freshman he has the time."

Second baseman Dave Oliver continues to lead the team in hitting with a .367 average. Oliver has three home runs and has 11 stolen bases. He also leads the club with 31 runs batted in and has not struck out in 388 times at bat. Third baseman Dave Shaw is close behind with a .367 average.

New leads in doubles with seven and is second to Oliver in hits with 37. Ted Bailey, who has taken over the right field duties, follows with a .367 average.

The shortstop-second base combination of Steve McFarland and Oliver has turned over 15 doubleplays and in many of those doubleplays they have helped the pitchers out of jams. The defense of the Mustangs continues to be one of the bright spots as they have an excellent .971 fielding percentage. An amazing fact is that the locals have outscored their opponents by 83 runs in 80 games.
