Twenty students ended up in Student Affairs Council but seats when the election results were announced Tuesday night.

Five thousand, three hundred and seventy-three students turned out to choose between 28 candidates running for SAC representatives, according to Bob Walker, alumni coordinator.

The School of Agriculture and Natural Resources led the highest voter turnout with 1,131 students selecting four representatives. John Waller topped the list with 696 votes, followed by Greg Williams with 60, Lee Pitts with 483 and Dan Graham with 438.

Engineering and Technology produced 1970 votes to seat another four representatives. Tony Leazer placed high with 718 votes Ray Righotti, with 60, was closely followed by Chris West, who had 548 votes. The fourth seat was also closely contested, according to Walker, and court setting Robert Chappell edgering out Bramer Wing 940 to 168.

Eight hundred and nineteen members voted in the Social Science election last night to elect two representatives and 477 people voting. Dave Depper received 535 votes to win the business seat and James Hulbau took the social science seat with 335 votes.

Robin Baggett nuded Pete Evans in one of the closest ASI presidential races in school history but lack of a voting majority sends the candidates into a runoff election May 6. Runoffs will also determine the new ASI vice president, Dennis Johnson or Jim Patterson, and the new ASI secretary, Mary Boviar or Laura Lampson. Jim Lange was elected chief justice.

Baggett totaled 587 votes. Evans pooled 550 and Paul Toshakana had 496 with 494 students casting ballots over the two day election period. In the vice presidential slate Johnson totaled 420 votes. Patterson had 390 and Joanne Wims Garner 260. The count was Boviar, 350; Alice Marksline, 1721, and Susan Markley, 1563, for secretary.

Lange drew 2741 votes against Prisco White's total of 1985 in the two-day bid for chief justice. The results were released close to 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, an hour later than planned. The delay was caused by brief malfunctions within the computer center.

"We had a couple of problems, that weren't anticipated in the machines not working, but they were quickly worked through," Jim Smith, Elections Committee chairman, said. "The ballots were tallied, because of some people's ignorance. Some people just need an education in using computer cards."

The runoff for president was not wholly unexpected by election officials, although the vote turnout fell far below expectations. The 524 figure was 500 below last year's runoff balloting.

Smith said all signs must be removed for the remainder of the week due to Poly Royal. Active campaigning will resume Monday and signs may be erected at 12:30 a.m. that day.

All student groups must vote last Monday and 3000 Tuesday. "We had expected a little more turnout last year," said Smith, "but we were pretty satisfied with what was received."

The runoff situation is new to students at this school, who have voted under the preferential system in past years. In a special election two years ago the student body chose to make the transition to a majority system.

Following the majority election system, a candidate must have a majority of the total votes in order to win. Student Affairs Council representatives need only a plurality in the nature of the positions open.

Semana para chicanos

by ALFRED RUCKER

Chicano Week gets underway on the campus on Monday with a bulletin board set up on the 2nd floor of Varsity Hall. The show will feature contrasts from different regions of Mexico and live mariachi music will be provided by Los Aguilas De Oceano.

An art exhibit will be on display for the entire week in the college library, and films and speakers will be featured at other times throughout the week, at no charge to viewers and listeners.

A film entitled "La Hora Del Horco" will be shown at noon on Monday, in the College Union, and a guest speaker will comment on the implications of the film afterwards. Several films are planned for Tuesday.

Alberto Chavez, poet and instructor at San Diego State College, is scheduled to speak at 11 a.m. on Wednesday in the College Theater. A film entitled "I Am American," will also be shown.

On Thursday during College Hour, Ponce Javier Ruiz, a worker in community legal services in East Los Angeles, plans to speak.

Raul Ruiz, editor of "La Raza," and a recent candidate for Partido De La Raza Unida, is the scheduled speaker for 10 a.m. on Friday in CU 230.

To climax the week of celebrations, a dance will be held Saturday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Veterans Memorial Building in Santa Maria and will feature music by Los Navagantes De Lomang. Admission is $1.50 for each person and tickets will be available at the door.

A Mexican Dinner with live mariachi music will get the final day of celebrations underway on Saturday. The Veterans Memorial Building in Santa Maria will be the location of the dinner and the ballet, "Folklorico De Mexica." and tickets may be purchased for the 1 p.m. affair at the information desk in the College Union Building. Tickets are $2.00 per person.

The week of events will be held in conjunction with Mexican Independence Day, and will be sponsored by MECHA.

U.S. advisers: Saigon troops not fighting back

(UP)—The South Vietnamese army has shown a certain lack of initiative during the current Communist offensive, that, if extended, could meet Saigon the war, senior U.S. military advisors said Tuesday.

They noted that invading Communist forces not only are holding territory gained earlier in the Mekong offensive but also are making rapid gains on new fronts such as in the Central Highlands region.

These military successes are being accomplished despite the fact that the Communists are outnumbered and by official reports are suffering more than six times the number of combat dead than the South Vietnamese army ARVN.

The Americans said they were more distressed by the Vietcong's ability to use any type of significant ARVN counter-attack than by the territorial losses.

"They're just sitting around, waiting for another Communist attack," said a senior U.S. military aide. "That kind of strategy will lose the whole country for them."

U.S. B-52 Stratofortresses, fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships attack Communist positions on that front and others almost daily to blunt or slow further Communist advances.

At the outset of the invasion March 30, South Vietnamese troops withdrew within a few days from the entire northern defense line.

ASI offices in runoff...

(Continued from page 1) Six-hundred and sixty-nine mathematics and science teachers placed two people on the council, A. J. Kato with 379 votes and Ken Kaygood with 300.

"The School of Architecture and Environmental Design students cast 174 votes, electing Brad Leeds with 133 votes and John Harrison with 41.

The smallest voter turnout was in the School of Communicative Arts and Humanities with 404 students voting. Paul Simon bagged big honors with 364 votes, followed by Georgiana Hayes with 350 votes.

A comparison of the results shows that at least one representative from each school scored a majority of votes out of the ballot cast.

All four of the seats from the human development and education and the two spots for architecture and environmental design were won by students with a majority of the votes cast.

Three out of the four engineering and technology representatives also took a majority.
Stolen telephone gear brings another arrest

Another student from this college has been arrested in connection with stolen telephone equipment.

Hearald Craig Hines, 19, of 401 Foothill Blvd, was booked Monday, but released on his own recognizance (promise to appear in court). He is an employee of a local radio station.

Detective Cary Grant said Hines surrendered at the police station on a warrant charging him with possession of stolen Pacific Telephone property.

No further arrests are expected, Grant said.

Arrrested earlier were student Louis Henry Sturm, 21, of 66 Casa Dr, and Steven Allan Rosenberg, 19, who lives in Fremont Hall. They were charged with grand theft and Sturm is accused also of misuse of telephone lines.

Poly Royal fitness relay to test a variety of skills

The Poly Royal Fitness Relay, an unusual race involving runners, cyclists, and swimmers, will take place at 9 a.m. Friday in front of the Men's Gym. Sponsored by the Physical Education Department, the event is open to all students who are currently not participating in inter-collegiate sports. Teams planning to compete must consist of four individuals, at least one of whom is a girl.

Competition begins as the first team member runs a two-mile course followed by a four-mile cycle race by the team's second member, a 10-second paddle. The next contender of the team, most likely the girl member, must run approximately 800 yards into the swimming pool area where she will signal her fourth member to finish the relay with a 100-yard swim.

Have that hard water checked

The Chemistry Department will offer a free water hardness analysis during Poly Royal. The public is invited to bring a water sample to the Chemistry Department between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Friday or Saturday for a total hardness analysis without charge. The Chemistry Department guarantees that they did not represent the majority of the people in the state of California. Berman contends that the occupational groups that make up 81 per cent of California's population go unrepresented on the board.

Nixon to talk on TV again

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon will address the nation at 7 p.m. PST today on his assessment of the new offensive in Vietnam and its effect on future U.S. troop withdrawals. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon will report on the situation in Vietnam and his decisions on future troop levels after consultations with South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu and other top level diplomatic and military advisors. Ziegler said the President will achieve his goal of reducing the U.S. troop ceiling in South Vietnam to 60,000 by May 1 despite the communist offensive.

No strike for banquet

Emmitt Ashford, the popular, retired umpire of the American League, will be the guest speaker at tonight's awards banquet of the California Association for Physical Education, and Recreation tonight in Chumash Auditorium.

Ashford is the first black to umpire in the major leagues after working several years in the minors. He retired recently to take a public relations post in an division of the New York World Journal Tribune.

All participants, fitted in physical education uniforms, will meet prior to the race no later than 8:30 a.m. in the Men's Gym.
