Budget matters dominate SAC

Finance Committee budget allocation took top priority at Student Affairs Council Wednesday night.

One issue of top interest was the $57,792 asked for by the Board of Athletic Control (BAC) for letterman’s award jackets. Ken Bruce, architecture and environmental design representative, moved to amend the ASI policy by letting no ASI funds be spent for jackets as an award. Bruce said his council had already approved this motion. It was decided by BAC to postpone the motion and amendment so that the representatives could take them back to their respective councils.

Another matter that was discussed was the $16,000 that the Cal Poly Children’s Center has asked for. Lachlan Bower, Finance Committee representative, asked that BAC give some direction to Finance Committee as to what they wanted to do about the Children’s Center.

Steve Leger, business and social science representative, moved to take the matter back to each council. This failed, but it was decided to postpone the entire matter for one week when some representatives from the Children’s Center could be present.

Award plaques for the wrestling team, costing $167, was cut down to $4. The original request included individual pictures and frames for each member of the team. SAC felt this was too much and reduced the awards down to pictures for each of the members and one framed picture to go in the display case.

Further allocations from contingency included $1,944 to send the Rodeo Team to the National Championship Rodeo, $364 to the child development and, $38 to Outings Committee for a new canoe.

Pete Evans, ASI president, announced in his report that he had received a letter from Richard Cassel, ASI lawyer, concerning the dorm license application. Cassel stated that it taken to court the dorm license might be declared unconstitutional.

Evans asked the chancellor and trustees to change the license without the necessity of going to court.

The dorm congress presented five proposals: the establishment of co-educational dorms, quarterly contract, visiting hours, changing the Inter-Foil Council code and the rights of students.

The approval of the proposal was postponed for one week so the representatives could take them back to their councils and get some reactions.

Joe Martinez, representative from agriculture and natural resources officially resigned his position Wednesday. Instead of having a special election for a candidate to take Martinez’s place, SAC overrode the operational code and allowed the school’s council to appoint someone from agriculture.

Van cancelled; refunds today

Faced with difficulties, the Poly Royal concert never got off the ground Saturday night.

Van Morrison cancelled his appearance due to illness, according to Charlie Mendenhall of Information Services. Morrison was to replace Ray Charles, who cancelled his engagement.

Refunds will be given to ticket holders today at the College Union Information Desk, according to Mendenhall.

Different strokes for different folks

by MALCOLM STONE

The two candidates for ASI president got together Wednesday in the Mustang Daily office to discuss the results of the campaign.

Evans was disappointed in the vote turnout, but he was even more disappointed that the voters were unable to decide on a candidate.

"A lot of people aren’t voting because they don’t see a difference," he said. He said he wanted student to make a choice based on rational information.

"I think there’s not a lot of interaction between candidates and the students," Evans said.

He blamed it on the tendency of people to hear only what they want to hear. He noted he was not asked many questions because of that attitude.

Baggett maintains that although they are both essentially for the same thing, the difference is their approach.

"You and I both know what has to be done here, but our approach will be different," he said. Baggett said he thought Evans’ approach turned people off. He said his big thing is being open with people and listening to everyone.

"The biggest advantage I have is people listen to me," he said.

Evans took exception to that statement and its implications. "I don’t think there’s a massive discontent with me," he said.

He said he had talked to several people and their displeasure was not so much with him as with Mariane Dhali. Evans said he did not understand why that was, but he was convinced his image was not bad.

The two candidates agreed something would have to be done to get the voters out with clear cut choices in their minds.

Baggett suggested they go to the students rather than wait for them to come to rallies and debates.

"Maybe we have to make the effort," he said. "I think we have to take it to the people more."

Here we go again

Once again President Nixon has shown the United States and the world his insincerity in Vietnam withdrawal and once again the American people are the suckers.

Nixon rose to the nation's highest office pleading to minimize U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia. The Vietnamese people will be able to handle their own affairs, he said, and the war will not be an issue in 1972.

This is 1972. And the war is just as much an issue as it ever was, in view of the U.S. bombing raids over North Vietnam during the past month. Publicly, Nixon's advisers say the bombings are to protect American troops, to continue and to give South Vietnam a chance to defend itself.

Just as the bombings will have no affect on the fighting in the south, they surely will not drive the Soviet Union and North Vietnamese to any agreement at the Paris negotiating table.

On one hand we are committed to removing our ground troops from the country, admitting we no longer want a part of the war. On the other, we're replacing troops with bombing missions, indicating we will never accept the inevitable.

That fact that Nixon has the vast power to play with thousands of lives is chilling to the human spirit. Americans are tired of Americans being killed. They are tired of Vietnamese, many of them civilians, being killed. They are tired of "big brother" choosing for a country how it is to be divided, who is to rule it and by whose rules it shall play.

The plain facts are that we—now—are wrong being in Vietnam and our President is wrong for refusing to realize this country is just plain sick of our involvement. We are sick of war, bloodshed and spending billions of dollars for nothing.

How far will Nixon go to maintain a regime that may not be able to stand on its own? We thought he resolved that when he faced reality and increased troop withdrawal. What did he expect to happen when he left? The whole concept of Vietnamization is to let South Vietnam assume its own burdens.

We cannot afford to be blinded to killing and destruction, especially when there is so little to gain, militarily or personally. Neither can we afford to sit out the bombings in silence, confident "everything will return to normal"! Because until Nixon is convinced otherwise, he will continue to commit American personnel and equipment to South Vietnam.

One additional life lost is too much. There is no reason to continue the air strikes. Sooner or later, if there is ever to be peace in the world, someone must take the initiative. It may as well be the United States.

Wildlife flicks

The state of Alaskan wildlife will be the topic of discussion at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday evening in Science 8d.

Bill Martin, Alaska Senior Wildlife Protection Agent, will talk and show movies concerning wildlife conservation. The talk is sponsored by the department of Natural Resources Management.

Candidates for county supervisors will be gathered for a candidate's night at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in CUC 34.

The meeting is being sponsored by Ecology Action. The candidates are from three of the five county districts which will be on the ballot June 6.

Three of the 17 candidates are from this college. Dr. Richard Kvasny, a biology instructor, is a candidate in District 3. Joseph Creecy, an architecture instructor, and Kurt Kopper, a fourth-year student, are candidates from District 2.

According to Glen Holstein, of the Ecology Action, the values of the supervisors elected next will play a major role in the next few years in determining the future of this area.

Only voters registered in the districts will be able to vote. Districts one, three, and five have candidates running in the election.

The district covers an area including all of San Luis Obispo County and stretching from Monterey County to Grover City.

Senior cards on sale

by LINDA HARTER

As the academic year来进行 a close, and it is nearing the time for "Senior Week." Senior week activities round out the final days on this campus for the graduating senior. A special card is on sale in the College Union Foundation Business Office that offers admission to all of the activities for $6.25. A brunch for the graduates is the first event in the week's activities. This year the brunch will be held on June 4 in Chumash Auditorium. Forensics win in tournament

Spring play features unusual props, sounds

Shakes that sway and squirm, a human skull candy dish, and an earth-shaking fireworks explosion are among the unusual props and sounds that will enliven the Drama Department's upcoming play "You Can't Take It With You."

The props crew will have to rig a special system of pulleys and rigging that will raise the stage at feeding time. They will also have to build a skull out of paper mache with a removable top for candy-seeking fingers.

The explosion will probably be the most difficult task for the sound crew, according to Murray Smith, technical director. Puffs of smoke and startling booms will burst from the stage trap door.

The play will be presented in the College Theater on the evenings of May 11, 15, and 17.

The first 23 cars to finish the Mint 400 were Volkswagens.

275 cars started the 400-mile desert endurance race in Las Vegas. Only 78 finished. And all of them were Volkswagens or Volkswagen-powered, including the first 23 finishers. It was a Volkswagen victory.

Surprised? You shouldn't be. Not when you understand that VW engine is built to take punishment. All kinds of punishment in all kinds of driving conditions. And, because it's air-cooled, you never have to worry about it boil ing over.

Add all of this to the chassis and suspension system of a VW and you've got yourself a winner. Fact is, our tough little cars continue to be among the winners in competition where many cars don't even finish, and, not, we're beating out cars with bigger engines and four-wheel drive.

Sure, our off-the-road cars are modified. But in their hearts they're still Volkswagens.

Almost living up to this superwoman billing, eight women spikers from this college captured a fourth place in the Hayward Invitational Tour ment held recently.

Through plagued by injuries and inexperience, the locals fared well against six competing schools.

"We are a young team. None of the members have ever competed in collegiate track and field athletics before," explained Coach Carol Townsend. Not in the least disappointed with her athletes' performance, Mrs. Townsend attributed the Mustangs' placement to their rigorous conditioning and determination.

Eight hours a week for four months, the spikers worked out in preparation for their first triangular meet against Chico State and Cal State Hayward. In order to maintain the team's joint average in the numerous meet events, each member specialized in three of four divisions ranging from the 100-yard dash to the long jump.

"Outnumbered three to one by the larger teams, the locals faced a considerable disadvantage against their nationally acclaimed rivals. Although the spikers ranked high in the 100and 300-yard dash, and the long jump, Chico and Hayward clinched the need and placed them third. This didn't stop the Mustang drive as they returned home to continue practice for the next meet in Hayward. Their optimism was hampered, however, by numerous cases of shin splints and muscle cramps.

Amid dismal outlooks for the Hayward Invitational, Nancy Janowsky emerged as the team's number one contender. Setting the pace, Nancy earned a third place in the 440 and 880 relays.
