Different votes for different quotes

by DEWITT RUSSELL

The candidates will receive the support of those who voted for last week's losers.
In the race for ASI vice president, Danny Johnson and Jim Patterson now must work for their share of the deciding 860 votes that were cast for candidates Jeanne Wise. Last week's results showed Johnson with 5,122 votes and Patterson with 5,085. Following that election, Johnson expressed his opinion that the supporters of Miss Wise and presidential candidate Paul Tokunaga had looked at the available offices and ignored party politics when it came time for them to vote.

Jim Patterson viewed the situation in another way, saying that Tokunaga and Miss Wise platform was essentially what he and Evans's supporters had been doing all year.

He said that many of his supporters have worked with Miss Wise toward a number of goals and that she and Tokunaga are "both aware of what we are doing."

Johnson and Patterson speculated on the level of cooperation each of them might receive if they were elected with each other's running mates.

"I'm more interested in getting things done," said Patton. "It's not whether I can work with him (Baggett), it's more his willingness to work with me."

He said that it would depend upon whether Baggett really wanted to "get it in there and work."

Johnson said he felt confident that he could work with either Evans or Baggett.

A large portion of the ASI vice presidential work is entailed in presiding over the weekly Student Affairs Council meetings.

"SAC is a powerful organization," said Patterson.

"But I feel that twice as much can be done in half the time."

He said he was confident he would proceed SAC and that he would "keep a watchful eye" over the problems that have been plaguing that body.

Johnson said that next year's SAC will be a very efficient body.

Antiwarc movement on upswing

by WAYNNE CARTER

The Student Mobilization Committee (SMC) is alive and growing in its quest to end the war in Southeast Asia.

According to a mobilization spokesman, over 100,000 people marched in the rain recently in New York and 15,000 people demonstrated in Los Angeles for "Out of Southeast Asia Now."

Local demonstrations throughout the country, coupled with an Emergency National Student Antiwarc Conference held at New York University on April 21, produced overwhelming evidence that the antiwarc movement after a brief lull, is with us once again.

The Conference resolved, among other things, to organize campuses and high schools into sustained antiwarc activities by bringing the entire student population into action, to utilize the facilities and resources of the campuses and to reach out to the American people, and to hold a national moratorium and student strike on May 4 in memorial to those murdered at Kent, Augusta, and Jackson two years ago.

Fred Lowgren, national coordinator of the SMC, urged students at the conference to use the facilities and resources of the university to build the antiwarc movement.

Talk tonight

A forum for the 17 candidates seeking positions on the San Luis Obispo County Board of Supervisors will be held at 7:30 tonight in CU 234.

The candidates are from three of the five districts on the June 6 ballot. Ecologists is sponsoring the meeting.
Student help necessary but ‘worth little money’

Editor:

On April 27, a group of student employees of the Foundation, with the aid of the present ASI officers and SRA met with Mr. Fryer, Head of Personnel for the Foundation. We had this conference because of our dissatisfaction with the present policy of student wages and meal deductions. At this time, the majority of student employees working in the food service are paid $1.46 per hour with no raises no matter if they are cooks or busboys. Ninety cents is deducted per work shift for meals. This means if a student works a shift from 9-11 and he has $1.80 left off from his pay check for meals he may not have eaten or even wanted. Non-students are higher paid, for the same work the students do, if they have a meal allowance deduction, as in essence, they pay nothing for their meals.

Why should students performing the same job be paid so much less money and also have his meals deducted?

According to Mr. Fryer, full time employees receive more money because it is difficult to obtain regular help on a nine month basis, yet he states, “We could not run this dining hall without students and everyone knows it.”

We believe it is time for present and future student employees to find out why we are necessary but worth so little money-

We are now organizing with the help of the food service and Foundation. If you are interested lend your support by writing the up-coming meetings.

Furry friends opposed by resident ‘cat haters’

Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to make known to the entire campus, that there are “Cat Haters” in Yosemite Hall. We realize that we are not allowed to have pets in the dorms, however, we fail to see why cats cannot be free to come and go as they wish. The best thing they’ll do is put nets around the trees so that the birds won’t land in them.

The cats that came to call at Yosemite, were hauled away like criminals. What did they do? They were cleaner than some of the residents, they caught mice, they ate scraps that would have been thrown away, and they brought happiness to the hearts of many.

The joy these cats gave us, was like a therapy for the release of our academic pressures. What some people call “naturally high.” By now these cats have probably met their death in the compression chamber, and it’s sad. With so many loop holes in college rules, I’d think there’d be no reason for patchin’ the noose around our furry friend’s neck.
