HAIPHONG IS MINED

by NORMAN KEMPSTER

Washington (UPI) - President Nixon ordered U.S. forces Monday night to clear out North Vietnam's supply of weapons by mining its harbors and bombing rail links from China in a new phase of the war which risks confrontation with both Peking and Moscow.

The President said mines were being dropped by airplanes in Haiphong harbor even as he spoke. They would automatically explode in 10 days.

A grim, determined President, in a brief address to the nation on radio and television, he said North Vietnam has increased the number of U.S. prisoners of war released or escaped and that they were being held in 17 million people in South Vietnam and American force at war.

Nixon said he had no choice but to act. In the last two weeks, he said, "It is clear that a communist government may be imposed on the 17 million people of South Vietnam, and the lives of 60,000 Americans in the war zone were 'gravely threatened.'"

He vowed no backdown from "the strong action.

"We shall do whatever is required to safeguard American lives and American honor," he said.

But at the same time, he said, U.S. troops will not withdraw from South Vietnam until the peace of South Vietnam will continue. The blockade recalled.

The blockade recalled President John F. Kennedy's 1963 blockade of Cuba to prevent the Fidel Castro regime from establishing missile bases 90 miles from the American shore.

Spock calls for a total withdrawal from Viet war

by NICK BARD

Attacking the last two actions and administrations for "deceit," Dr. Benjamin Spock, presidential candidate for the Peace and Freedom Party, called for immediate withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Southeast Asia and the world when he spoke at Mitchell Park Saturday.

Spock, famous for his work as a pediatrician and peace activist, said President Richard Nixon, and Lyndon B. Johnson lied to the American people about the reasons for U.S. presence in Vietnam in his speech to about 500 people, mostly mothers and their children, and students.

"The whole damn thing has been supported by lies," Spock said. "We were never invited there except by our puppet. When a burglar enters your home and invites another burglar in, that doesn't constitute and legitimate invitation.

"I supported Johnson for president because he said there would be no escalation of the war in Southeast Asia. Little did I know what a scoundrel he was," Spock said. (Continued on Page 3)

Fee increase to even income, outgo

by TOM MARSHALL

College Union fees will be increased beginning this summer. The announcement of the College Union Committee's increase was made at Thursday's meeting of the College Union Board of Governors (CUBO) by Chairman Tony Turkovich. According to Turkovich, approval of the fee increase has been received from Chancellor Glenn B. Dunkle in the turn of an Executive order.

Turkovich said the fee will be increased because "the income from the building will not meet the operations cost."

According to Turkovich, the College Union Projected budget for 1975-76 shows a deficit of $38,000. A deficit of $18,000 is projected for the 1976-77 budget. New CU fees for the summer and Spring Quarters will be $8.00, the Fall and Winter Quarter fees being raised to $7.00. Costs for Summer Session students will be raised to $8.00 for the precession week and $1.00 for each post season week, 8.10 for each four-week session. A maximum of $30.00 will be charged for students concurrently enrolled in the Summer Quarter and Summer Session.

According to Turkovich, college unions across the United States average an annual income of $46 per student from college union fees and activities fees. The $46 at this college will receive only $10 from each student annually for college union fees, even with the increase, because all activities fees go to AUI.

In another CUBO action, the possibility of a local boutique occupying CU will be discussed. Roy Gerson, director of all business affairs, said interest in the site has been shown by a local boutique. He requested authorization for the CUBO to receive bids.

"Foundation Executive Director, Alfred Armstrong said a boutique would be in direct competition with the bookstore on high profit items, such as posters, cards and gift items. It would be difficult for the bookstore to compete with the boutique on high profit items."

The proposal for the proceeding with bids for the boutique was passed by the CUBO with eight favorable votes and two approving the measure.

Injunction halts officer approval

by MALCOLM STONE

Complaints and counter-complaints have been filed with the Student Judiciary about the recent AUI election campaign. The result is an injunction prohibiting Student Affairs Council from approving newly elected officers for AUI president, vice president and secretary. A complaint was lodged against the Robin Baggett-Denny Johnson ticket by Tom Corl, RAC representative from the School of Engineering and Technology.

Baggett and Johnson filed their complaints against Pete Evans, James Patterson, Max Boveri and Student Rights Alliance on May 40.

The Baggett-Johnson complaint states: "It is the plaintiff's matter contention that irreparable damage was done to his election campaign by the defendant's actions and by members of the defendant's campaign. That wasn't the major charge against Evans and Johnson along with complaints about the placement of signs.

Corl's major objection was his contention that Baggett and Johnson spent over the agreed-upon $170 limit on mass media advertising. That wasn't the major charge against Evans and Johnson along with complaints about the placement of signs.

A phone call received through the central administration at 10:10 a.m. prompted evacuation of the building and a search for the bomb, according to George Cockrell, chief security officer.

"There's a bomb and it's going to go off at 11:10 and it's in the English Building," were the only words from a husky, male voice, Cockrell said.

Cockrell and a security officer failed to turn up a bomb after hours-long search. The building was reopened shortly after noon.

Injunction halts office approval

The result is an injunction prohibiting Student Affairs Council from approving newly elected officers for AUI president, vice president and secretary.

A complaint was lodged against the Robin Baggett-Denny Johnson ticket by Tom Corl, RAC representative from the School of Engineering and Technology.

Baggett and Johnson filed their complaints against Pete Evans, James Patterson, Max Boveri and Student Rights Alliance on May 40.

The Baggett-Johnson complaint states: "It is the plaintiff's matter contention that irreparable damage was done to his election campaign by the defendant's actions and by members of the defendant's campaign. That wasn't the major charge against Evans and Johnson along with complaints about the placement of signs.

Corl's major objection was his contention that Baggett and Johnson spent over the agreed-upon $170 limit on mass media advertising. That wasn't the major charge against Evans and Johnson along with complaints about the placement of signs.

A phone call received through the central administration at 10:10 a.m. prompted evacuation of the building and a search for the bomb, according to George Cockrell, chief security officer.

"There's a bomb and it's going to go off at 11:10 and it's in the English Building," were the only words from a husky, male voice, Cockrell said.

Cockrell and a security officer failed to turn up a bomb after hours-long search. The building was reopened shortly after noon.

1. Place an injunction against BAC prohibiting approval of newly elected officers.

2. Demand a new election.

3. Instruct Elections Committee to accept formal complaints issued 4-73.

Election procedures require ballots to the next two weeks before approving new officers. If the present controversy is not settled before that time of that period, AUI cannot act.

With the result of the quarter only four weeks away time becomes a crucial factor in the event of a new election.

Robin Baggett declined to make any comment on the outcome.
EDITORIAL

Trustee snag good for students, colleges

It is gratifying to see that the Senate Rules Committee has listened to student leaders, both in government and in the press, and is holding back confirmation of four trustee appointees.

Mustang Daily twice has spoken against confirmation of Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointees on the basis that the California State University and Colleges board of trustees does not reflect any part of the makeup of the 285,000 students it governs.

Reagan's appointees consisted of three men and one woman. All white, politically conservative and only semi-educationally oriented.

Mustang Daily in connection with other state college papers and student presidents took a position on principle against the appointments. The Senate Rules Committee has twice taken a close look and will reopen consideration next week. All or some of the appointees may be rejected. Taking a position on principle is not an invincible position. It just may be one of the newly appointed trustees, Roy Brophy, may be partially qualified. As pointed out in an editorial in the Fresno State College Collegian, Brophy is a graduate of the state college system—therefore he is not presently serving on the board—and he has taken time since his appointment to visit Fresno and this campus to find out for himself what needs and concerns of the students are.

Brophy does have a background in education, through his schooling in the state and his serving on the San Juan Unified School District Board of Education and on the California Community Colleges Board of Governors.

Nevertheless, a sharp imbalance exists on the board of trustees. There is one minority and one woman and a heck of a lot of wealthy businessmen. All are over 40 years of age. The board traditionally has decided to attempt to understand the concerns and needs of the students.

Mustang Daily's stand has been one against utilizing appointments to the board as political favors or for political support. The present appointments appear to fit into such a category.

While Roy Brophy may be more qualified than the others, it is imperative the racial, ideological and age imbalances be in the board. It is important the board of trustees reflect more of the views of the students and colleges and be able to judge with all concerns in mind. The board openings present just such opportunities.

Once again Mustang Daily urges all students having anything to say on the matter to inform James Mills, chair of the Senate Rules Committee, at the capital building in Sacramento, and to express your viewpoint through the paper.

The time to speak up is now, when your views can be heard.

Endorsement clarified

Editor:
The Finance Committee has been chastised many times this session on various issues. Unfortunately we believe that once again some of our "non-partisan" members on Finance Committee have done a cardinal no-no. May we exploit:

Various members of the above-mentioned body received coverage in Mustang Daily Wednesday supporting Robin Brophy and Derry Johnson. As the letter was printed, it is obvious that many people have misinterpreted the endorsement as coming from the official body rather than individual members.

Not so! SAC promptly took action Wednesday night by passing a resolution denouncing the action as being misleading, unprofessional and unrepresentative of the authority delegated to Finance Committee. Regrettably the letter was printed and benefit has been derived from the deceptive document.

Tom Critchfield, editor of Mustang Daily, says the letter is the work of Robin Brophy and Derry Johnson. The letter is printed verbatim as it was printed and distributed.

Paper covers fall into mess

Editor:

I wonder how many students other than myself have trustingly purchased our class syllabus or lab manual at the bookstore, only to find that instead of three weeks later with a confused assortment of loose pages on their hands. Those yellow paper covers and paper fasteners just don't hold up. It is my conviction that the average student would pay twenty cents more for a cover that would last 10 weeks, if not longer.

Jeffrey Cook

Price of gold receives raise

(UPI) - The official price of gold-and with it the value of the U.S. dollar-was formally changed Monday for the first time in 38 years.

In a brief statement, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) announced the change in the par value of the dollar, climaxing a process begun last November when the world's major economic powers negotiated a change in their currency arrangements.

Mustang Daily

Labor officials face demands

The creation of a mediation committee composed of lay officials from throughout the state was announced this week in Sacramento by John F. Henning, executive-secretary of the California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO.

The committee has been established to seek action on demands sought by the 37,000 members of California College, AFL-CIO. According to Henning, they will seek to improve wages and working conditions of state college faculty members and assure easy access to higher educational opportunities by all California students.

Once again explaining the mediation committee will seek a meeting with the state's 109 legislative leaders the next eight days as a first step toward the development of a coordination program, "to win effective action on some of the more easily felt needs of these workers."

Those on the list of demands which are most important to students in the state college systems are a 12 percent increase, the continuation of the Educational Opportunity Program grant funds, the continuation of the non tuition policy at the state college level, and assurance of material and service fees.

Vegas recalled

Detroit (UPI) - General Motors Corp. Monday announced recall of 306,500 1971 and 1972 Vegas-about half the total number produced-to fix a flaw that could cause the throttle to lock.

A spokesman for Chevrolet said there have been no accidents reported.
Almanac brings blues

by JOHN TEVES

Music from other places, other times settled on to the campus this past weekend during the second annual Mustang Almanac.

Disappointing crowds attended the blue portion of the two day affair on Friday night and the country and bluegrass presentations Saturday afternoon in the Mustang Ballroom.

Almanac promoter, Doug Kuestel praised the performances on both days, but wondered openly about the future of the Almanac in light of the small turnout.

Highlighting the Friday evening performance was Willie Dixon and his All Stars. Dixon teamed with quality guitar, harmonica and piano blues performers to provide the evening's best entertainment.

"I've seen BB King and plenty of others and what Dixon did Friday night, especially with his own songs, was the best I've ever seen," commented Kuestel.

Dixon wrote "Spools," "Dark Doorknob," "Rosin the knot," "Seven Son," and several other of the legendary Chicago music songs he performed during the evening. The rhythm of the performers as they played with Dixon swaying life he was in his natural position up there behind that big bass, called to mind the legendary Chicago nightclub life the group hails from.

Another crowd pleaser was a Paul Simon character by the name of Sam Chatmon, who could also play a pretty mean tune and said his way into more than a few hearts. Dressed like Buddy Emson just out of Mississippi swampland, the aging veteran sang in a voice smooth as white flour and sweet as syrup about the real things in life those long legs, hard-to-keep-at-home woman.

Saturday, the rich country harmony of Colorado music favored by Ray and the Paterson set off the day's activities.

Bessie Jones and The Georgia Sea Island Singers and Caners followed, introducing the audience to the gospel sound out of the deep south. Jungle based, but tempered by ol' man time, their sound was a low, mean rolling one. Two men and three women, a tambourine ad a canthrum on the side. Didn't need volunteers to provide the evening's best entertainment.

Injection halted approval...

(Continued from Page 1)

administration in the area of interference in an all election.

The charge against the faculty is labeled faculty misconduct in a court of law.

Several coaches encouraged and instructed their teams and classes to vote for Baggett and Johnson.

"Another coach cut an advertisement from the Mustang Daily supporting Evans, Paterson and Seifert," wrote Seifert. "I think that constitutes a violation of the student code of conduct.

There's no way we can determine how many votes were swayed by it, it was wrong," he said.

"We're going to ask for a new election. We aren't trying to get anyone disqualified. We just want everything on the up and up this time."

Students who think of quality first think first of Ross Jewelers

Diamond Rings

ALL AUTO PARTS
(STUDENT DISCOUNT)

SUN: 10:00 to 4:00
MON thru Sat: 8:00 to 5:30
544-7050
Senior quarterback John Pettas throws one of three touchdowns scored during scrimmage Saturday in Mustang Stadium. He also ran once for a touchdown and has gained praise from Head Coach Joe Harper for his performance this spring.

Future plant to be reviewed

The environmental question has reared its head from the depths of despair to once again challenge the Diablo Canyon project.

The Atomic Safety and Licensing Board, recently appointed by the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), will conduct a hearing into the construction activities at the Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant, Units 1 and 2.

This hearing will consider whether construction at the site should be suspended pending completion of a broadened environmental review.

According to a commission spokesman, the hearing will begin at 10 a.m. on May 17, in the Board Meeting Room, (building 19315) at Cuesta College.

Parties at the meeting will include Pacific Gas and Electric Corporation officials, the AEC Regulatory staff, and the San Onofre Preservation Conference, Inc., said the spokesman.

"On December 7, 1971, the Commission Director of Regulation made a determination, under AEC regulations, not to suspend overall construction activities at the Diablo Canyon station pending completion of AEC's full environmental impact review.

On December 30, a request for hearing on the determination was filed by the San Onofre Preservation Conference, Inc. and on April 21, 1973, the Commission directed that a hearing be held," reported the spokesman.

SPRING FOOTBALL

Pettas provides spark

by ERIC NICOLAND

Quarterback John Pettas continued to lead his team with confidence and his passing has improved a great deal. His work at scrimmage in Mustang Stadium.

Pettas is doing a phenomenal job this spring. I'm very pleased with his progress, he has gained confidence, and his passing has improved a great deal. His work with the option is as good as any we've had here."

Without the services of receivers Mike Amos and Dan Caccavo, and running back Mike Foley (all temporarily sidelined with injuries) Pettas relied on the play of tight end Randy O'Brien and halfback Mike Thomas. Both played well in accounting for the offensive attack, and their coach was "very pleased with their efforts."

The defense, also understated, turned in what Harper felt was it's best day of the spring. Particularly impressive up front were linemen Tom Chantler and Wayne Robinson, along with the entire linebacking corps, led by Greg Lee and Jeff Van Dyk. Lee and Van Dyk are presently battling for the starting middle linebacker slot, and, according to Harper, both have been playing so well they have created a dilemma as to who will get the starting role. Spring football is a time for experimentation, and when Amos and Caccavo return to the field, a few changes may be seen in order to best utilize their talents.

Amon, whom Harper considers the best all-around athlete he has on his squad, will be tried at a very critical area—the defensive secondary. The Alameda Junior, who has done such an exceptional job at wide receiver during the past two seasons, will be called upon to help fill the gap at safety, thus playing both pass defense and pass offense.

Caccavo, on the other hand, will be moved from slotback where he pass receiving talent can now be more widely used. Harper admits he wants to "put more run in the offense next season and have most of the passing come off of play action."

As a result, George Freudenberg, who has done such an exceptional job at wide receiver during the past two seasons, will be called to fill the gap at safety, upon to help fill the gap. Harpman wants to "put more run in the offense next season and have most of the passing come off of play action."

Amon, whom Harper considers the best all-around athlete he has on his squad, will be tried at a very critical area—the defensive secondary. The Alameda Junior, who has done such an exceptional job at wide receiver during the past two seasons, will be called upon to help fill the gap at safety, thus playing both pass defense and pass offense.

The offense, after a rough start, is well on its way to offensively on offense. The defense, after some early struggles, has turned in its best performance to date. Harper, in his first appearance on offense, has some problems to work out, but he has a solid core of running backs and receivers with which to work.

Harper admits he wants to "put more run in the offense next season and have most of the passing come off of play action."

As a result, George Freudenberg, who has done such an exceptional job at wide receiver during the past two seasons, will be called to fill the gap at safety, upon to help fill the gap. Harpman wants to "put more run in the offense next season and have most of the passing come off of play action."