BOMB SCARE

Town meet relocated

by JOHN TEVES

A bomb scare brought to an abrupt halt a town meeting held Tuesday evening in San Luis Obispo.

Called to consider possible actions for protesting the latest military developments in Southeast Asia, the meeting closed when Keith Goeree, city councilman, informed the crowd of the threat.

"Someone phoned police headquarters and said 'There's a bomb underneath the stage and I'm not kidding,'" Goeree admitted.

Contrary to the cautious tone advanced by Goeree, several of the audience members continued to express concern that the meeting should be continued without any head of the threat.

After a short consultation, Goeree announced that the meeting would be continued in the student union, and the crowd cleared the recreational hall facility. No bomb was found.

Adoption of one or many of the several courses of action suggested by members of the exit favored by Democrats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats on the House Foreign Affairs Committee Wednesday voted to withdraw all U.S. forces from Vietnam by Oct. 1, subject to release by Hanoi of American prisoners.

Chairman Thomas F. Morgan, D-Pa., said 14 or 15 of the 21 Democrats on the panel attended a caucus of Committee Democrats and approved the resolution by voice vote. Morgan, who has opposed measures in the past that would have set a withdrawal date, said he voted for the proposal "because the President Monday night set a four month withdrawal deadline himself."

One committee source said an effort to write a ceasefire provision into Wednesday's resolution failed on an 84-voice vote.

Rossola

meeting continued investigation of several avenues of protest. Caucuses to consider the various proposals were formed and concrete programs delivered at the meeting's close about midnight.

Peaceful, education-oriented protests were predominant in the consideration of the participants. The chief approach appeared to be a massive city and countywide education drive.

Educational forums, presenting information on the Viet Nam situation, on campus, and in the community, were stated.

Establishment of a headquarters at The Arts, arrangements for protest meetings in the northern and southern areas of the county, and a nonaggression pact in Mitchell Park were among other programs taken up as a result of the confab. Another program favored by the audience was selecting signatures for the Air War Bulletin through out the community.

Editor:
The Mustang Daily will not be daunted by letters denouncing the President’s recent actions in Southeast Asia. Please consider this letter as heartily endorsing our President’s peace initiative. This may just be the substantial action which will force the North Vietnamese to reconsider their aggressive role in South Vietnam. Bombing alone has proven insufficient; by miners major ports we will insure certain response.

Throughout the years, the North Vietnamese have proven their flagrant disregard for human life and liberty. They no longer will be able to depend on unending shiploads of sophisticated weapons from the USSR. The railroads from China will be devastated to insure certain withdrawal. I ask that you cooperate in furthering this important peace initiative. The lives of 46,000 American servicemen will have been for naught, as will the possible hundred thousand civilians who may perish as a result of Communist takeover of South Vietnam.

This proposal enables us to leave South Vietnam by a definite date without sacrificing more lives and integrity. We must unite to stand together behind this peace proposal—for my brothers and 46,000 other servicemen who gave their lives for God’s sake, we need a just peace.

Now that Robin Baggett has won the election, we can breathe a sign of relief, knowing that we no longer need to worry about the fate of such beloved Cal Poly traditions as the lettermen’s jackets. A true Cal Poly Mustang like Baggett would never allow such a blare to school spirit, motherhood, apple pie, and Old Glory.

Cal Poly is one of the few remaining schools to stand up and fight for the things that really matter: letterman’s jackets, pre-season meals, and TGI. Under the dynamic leadership of Robin Baggett, we students can be assured that by dealing with these relevant issues in our college years, we will be prepared to assume the roles of active citizens in the years to come.

Kitchen utensils sought

Kitchen utensils of all kinds are needed for a service project conducted by Winner’s Incorporated, a women’s service group for prison inmates and their families.

The service group is organizing the construction of four mobile bungalows for use by families of the San Luis Obispo Men’s Colony, said Randy Donant, advisor to Student Community Services (RCS), a campus service organization.

“The things they need except kitchen utensils,” said Donant. “They haven’t had any help from the community, so they asked us (RCS) to help. They felt that college students could identify with their problem.”

Collection will take place in the XIS office beginning Friday and will continue until May 14, said Donant.

Canoe trip set

The Outings Committee is sponsoring a canoeing trip down the American River on May 15. Transportation will be arranged by the committee through the use of private vehicles. The cost for both food and canoe ride will be less than $10. A planning meeting is scheduled at 7 p.m. on May 15 in CU 204.

With all the excitement about the Vietnam War, voting is one way to express an opinion. According to Thelma Iaola, San Luis Obispo elections room official, 48,380 people in this county will be able to voice their opinion on the ballot on the June 8 primary. Although there are 51,358 registered voters, only the 48,380 people who declared affiliation with the Democratic or Republican Parties can participate in the California presidential primary. Rodeo team competes in regional finals after win

With the National Finals coming closer and closer, the Mustang rodeo team is really turning on the steam. It smothered its opponents last weekend at Pierce College by winning the team championship with 300 points. The closest competitor, Hartnell, had 256 points.

In the last three rodeos that Poly has participated in, the Mustangs have practically doubled the score of the team in second place.

The women’s team was well represented at the Pierce rodeo by Terri Mac Garcia, who shared the three-way split for second place in the barrel race, and by Linda Gill and Colleen Kerns, who were second and third in the breakaway roping. The girls accumulated 200 points to take second place in the women’s team standings.

The Mustangs took the all-around cowboy-category with Tom Ferguson placing first and Lee Rosser placing second. Ferguson won first in the calf roping and Rosser, a first year man from Marysville, was first in the saddle bronc and also first in the ribbon roping.

Three individual Mustang riders, although not team members, did well in their events. Lindsay McLachy took third in the bareback riding, while Ward Wallace was second in the ribbon roping, and Bruce Holhouse was second in the steer wrestling. Team members Dave Clark of Bakersfield, and Larry Ferguson of San Martin continued to carry on the winning streak. Clark won the bull riding and Ferguson placed third in the calf roping.

This weekend the team travels south to the regional finals at Cal Poly Pomona. Although Poly View will be on Friday and Saturday, the rodeo will be on Saturday and Sunday with two performances, each beginning at 3 p.m. The team roster will change for the rodeo on the girl’s team. Linda Gill, who sprained her ankle at Pierce last weekend, will be replaced by Linda Stockdale.

Baseball finishes today

Junior southpaw Dennis Root will attempt to become a Mustang record holder for most wins in a single season as the baseball team closes out its 1972 season today with San Diego State College at 3:30 p.m. at Poly Field. The Mustangs lost to Cal Lutheran on Tuesday, 4-1, with Mike Krukow absorbing the loss.

Other records for the team: Mike Spence set new single-season mark for the most assists in league play with 19. This may also be Dave Oliver’s last game as a Mustang. Oliver, a junior, may get the opportunity to sign in the upcoming draft in June. He leads the team in hitting with a .358 mark, runs batted in with 33, and leads the team in hits with 85.

The Mustangs also set new league records and tied three others in league play.

Second baseman Oliver set new records for most times at bat in league play with 91 and most hits with 52. He held the old record in both categories last season. First baseman Gary Knuckles set a record for most points with 114.
