Protesters call for no business

by STEVEN BURGHOFF

"No business as usual" is the theme for anti-war protests in San Luis Obispo today as well as across the nation. The call for no business as usual came from San Luis Obispo City Councilman T. Keith Gurnee as well as other anti-war protesters in a rally held Thursday afternoon in Mitchell Park.

Today a 10 a.m. rally is planned at Mitchell Park. Gurnee said he hoped the rally would be "the biggest rally this city has ever had."

The Mitchell Park rallies are designed to be of an informational nature about Pres. Richard Nixon's actions on the Vietnam war.

Gurnee concluded his remarks by saying, "I don't know about you, but I'm not going to rest until this war ends."

Also supporting the protesters was ex-councilman Donald Q. Miller, who made a brief speech at the rally.

In an interview with Mustang Daily, All Pres. Pete Evans encouraged everyone to join today's protest and to set aside some time for each individual to consider his own morality.

Evans considered this time extremely important because, "now our imperial executive has endangered the welfare and safety of the world."

Evans voiced his concern regarding the possibility of "a day of their lives away from business and work on ending this war."

In a resolution presented by Chapman, a recognized campus group, the resolution most likely would be taken for insuring a significant turnout for no business as usual came from San Luis Obispo and as well as 13 other veterans from all branches of the service.

In their final remarks, they called upon the president to withdraw all military forces from Southeast Asia and all military support to the government of the Republic of South Vietnam.

Events scheduled for today are various talks and forums in Mitchell Park. The teach-in begins at 10 a.m. with Ramon Tras and Tom Friend talking about the Air-War Initiative. Nixon will talk about the history of Vietnam at 11 a.m.

Reports from sources will be given at noon, followed by an update report on world-wide anti-war activities.

Senate forms new committee

This college's Academic Senate has taken a step to improve the quality of education by imposing the new college senate here. The improvement is in the form of a new committee.

According to Dr. Howard Rhodes, chairman of the faculty last fall, sets standards of more human lives."

She explained that the code, which was accepted by the faculty last fall, sets standards of professional excellence and conduct. With the advent of the committee, the faculty can now (Continued on Page 8)
Twinkle-hooves perform

by KAY HAMILTON

The Royal Lipizzan Stallions of Austria, whose blood lines extend back 200 years, will be performing in Mustang Stadium at 8:15 p.m. on Tuesday.

More than a score of these beautiful white ballet horses are being brought to this school under the direction of Col. Ottomar J. Herrmann. Highlighting the program will be the classical equestrian ballet "airs above the ground."

Many of the ballet movements will be seen for the first time anywhere, such as triple caprioles by Furioso Favory. He is the first horse to perform this difficult feat in more than 200 years and the only one to perform it in this country.

Herrmann, whose family has trained Lipizzaners for seven generations, began bringing the white stallions to America six years ago and today has about 40 of the famous horses at his holding ranch near Myakka City, Florida.

The equestrian art performed by the horses really began about 600 BC, when the Greek general Zenophon instituted what is known today as "airs above the ground," intricate ballet steps. Following the crumbling of the House of Hapsburg after World War I, the Herrmann family acquired several of the Lipizzaners and began a career of private training. Gen. George B. Patton, Jr., saved the horses from extinction during World War II.

The public is invited to share in this opportunity to view the world famous performing Lipizzan Stallions. The reserved seat tickets, at $6 each, have been sold out, but adult tickets at $3, $4 and $8 for different reserved sections of the stadium are still available. Children and students with ID cards may obtain seating in these sections at half price.

Dave Oldfield, ART program manager, pointed out that a student is eligible to buy two tickets at the special rate when he presents his ID card at the ticket counter in the College Union or at the stadium ticket office on the evening of the performance.

Pot recycling

Pot recyclers are invited to the Ornamental Horticulture Unit for an annual spring plant sale, according to instructor Robert Gordon.

A penny-an-inch credit will be earned toward cash, quickie bouquets, bedding plants, vegetables and stock for each pot brought in. The sale is set for Saturday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

PASO ROBLES

A Garden Motel
COMPLETE FACILITIES FOR:

- BANQUETS
- CONVENTIONS
- WEDDINGS
- CATERING
- 70 BEAUTIFULLY DECORATED UNITS
- INDIVIDUAL CATERERS
- 2 SWIMMING POOLS
- TV - TELEPHONES
- COCKTAIL LOUNGE

238-2660

PASO ROBLES

Paso Robles Inn

mustang editors elected

Malcolm Stone and Kathleen Beasley

A new editor for the 1972-73 Mustang Daily was elected at the Wednesday night meeting of the Publisher's Board.

Kathy Beasley, a junior journalism major, ran unopposed and won the election with an 8-1 decision by the board.

At the same meeting, Malcolm Stone was unanimously elected editor of the summer Mustang. He is a senior in journalism and was the managing editor of last year's summer Mustang.

Miss Beasley is presently the managing editor for the Mustang Daily and in the last two and a half years on the staff has been wire editor, news editor, photo editor and day editor.

"My major goal is to produce the best professional newspaper possible," said Miss Beasley.

Stone has been a reporter on the Mustang Daily for one year, following his transfer here from Santa Barbara City College.

He plans to make the summer Mustang an "in-depth newspaper," publishing an eight or 12 page paper each week.

CAL POLY
ACTIVITIES PHONE
546-INFO

T. Kassenbaum
Fine Leather Goods
Purses, belts, sandals
783 Higgins

Four Week DELIVERY
CLARENCE BROWN
JEWELERS
802 Higuera
543-5648

Four Week DELIVERY

Paso Robles Inn

A Garden Motel
COMPLETE FACILITIES FOR:

- BANQUETS
- CONVENTIONS
- WEDDINGS
- CATERING
- 70 BEAUTIFULLY DECORATED UNITS
- INDIVIDUAL CATERERS
- 2 SWIMMING POOLS
- TV - TELEPHONES
- COCKTAIL LOUNGE

238-2660

PASO ROBLES

Paso Robles Inn

MUSTANG DAILY

Managing Editor: Paul M. Stuebe
Assistant: Fred Williams
Copy Editor: Homer Smith
Head Business Manager: Malcolm Stone

inside Mustang Daily, March 12, 1972, Page 2
PLAY REVIEW

'Never a dull moment'

by JOAN PETERSON

Kaufman lies in the appropriate (or should it be inappropriate?) placement of lines. The charm of the actual play came out Wed­nesday in the Sycamores with which the actors carried them off. The audience never missed a laugh. Penny Syracmores, (Barbara Harris) finishes a wad game with her family and various acquaintances (ranging from a flamboyant Russian ballet teacher to a subdued and prominent Wall Street businessman) with the word "sex." "That was sex," she says, "everybody got sex!"

Grandpa (Kris Van Der Werf) casually asks the tax collector, "Will I pay this money?" The flabbergasted collector stam­mered If I pay this money?" The collector replied, "Protection, of course." "Protection from what?" replies Grandpa.

The beauty of the play written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman lies in the appropriate (or should it be inappropriate?) placement of lines. The charm of the actual play came out Wed­nesday in the Sycamores with which the actors carried them off. The audience never missed a laugh. Penny Syracmores, (Barbara Harris) finishes a wad game with her family and various acquaintances (ranging from a flamboyant Russian ballet teacher to a subdued and prominent Wall Street businessman) with the word "sex." "That was sex," she says, "everybody got sex!"

Grandpa (Kris Van Der Werf) casually asks the tax collector, "Will I pay this money?" The flabbergasted collector stam­mered If I pay this money?" The collector replied, "Protection, of course." "Protection from what?" replies Grandpa.

The beauty of the play written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman lies in the appropriate (or should it be inappropriate?) placement of lines. The charm of the actual play came out Wed­nesday in the Sycamores with which the actors carried them off. The audience never missed a laugh. Penny Syracmores, (Barbara Harris) finishes a wad game with her family and various acquaintances (ranging from a flamboyant Russian ballet teacher to a subdued and prominent Wall Street businessman) with the word "sex." "That was sex," she says, "everybody got sex!"

Grandpa (Kris Van Der Werf) casually asks the tax collector, "Will I pay this money?" The flabbergasted collector stam­mered If I pay this money?" The collector replied, "Protection, of course." "Protection from what?" replies Grandpa.

The beauty of the play written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman lies in the appropriate (or should it be inappropriate?) placement of lines. The charm of the actual play came out Wed­nesday in the Sycamores with which the actors carried them off. The audience never missed a laugh. Penny Syracmores, (Barbara Harris) finishes a wad game with her family and various acquaintances (ranging from a flamboyant Russian ballet teacher to a subdued and prominent Wall Street businessman) with the word "sex." "That was sex," she says, "everybody got sex!"

Grandpa (Kris Van Der Werf) casually asks the tax collector, "Will I pay this money?" The flabbergasted collector stam­mered If I pay this money?" The collector replied, "Protection, of course." "Protection from what?" replies Grandpa.

The beauty of the play written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman lies in the appropriate (or should it be inappropriate?) placement of lines. The charm of the actual play came out Wed­nesday in the Sycamores with which the actors carried them off. The audience never missed a laugh. Penny Syracmores, (Barbara Harris) finishes a wad game with her family and various acquaintances (ranging from a flamboyant Russian ballet teacher to a subdued and prominent Wall Street businessman) with the word "sex." "That was sex," she says, "everybody got sex!"

Grandpa (Kris Van Der Werf) casually asks the tax collector, "Will I pay this money?" The flabbergasted collector stam­mered If I pay this money?" The collector replied, "Protection, of course." "Protection from what?" replies Grandpa.

The beauty of the play written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman lies in the appropriate (or should it be inappropriate?) placement of lines. The charm of the actual play came out Wed­nesday in the Sycamores with which the actors carried them off. The audience never missed a laugh. Penny Syracmores, (Barbara Harris) finishes a wad game with her family and various acquaintances (ranging from a flamboyant Russian ballet teacher to a subdued and prominent Wall Street businessman) with the word "sex." "That was sex," she says, "everybody got sex!"

Grandpa (Kris Van Der Werf) casually asks the tax collector, "Will I pay this money?" The flabbergasted collector stam­mered If I pay this money?" The collector replied, "Protection, of course." "Protection from what?" replies Grandpa.

The beauty of the play written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman lies in the appropriate (or should it be inappropriate?) placement of lines. The charm of the actual play came out Wed­nesday in the Sycamores with which the actors carried them off. The audience never missed a laugh. Penny Syracmores, (Barbara Harris) finishes a wad game with her family and various acquaintances (ranging from a flamboyant Russian ballet teacher to a subdued and prominent Wall Street businessman) with the word "sex." "That was sex," she says, "everybody got sex!"

Grandpa (Kris Van Der Werf) casually asks the tax collector, "Will I pay this money?" The flabbergasted collector stam­mered If I pay this money?" The collector replied, "Protection, of course." "Protection from what?" replies Grandpa.

The beauty of the play written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman lies in the appropriate (or should it be inappropriate?) placement of lines. The charm of the actual play came out Wed­nesday in the Sycamores with which the actors carried them off. The audience never missed a laugh. Penny Syracmores, (Barbara Harris) finishes a wad game with her family and various acquaintances (ranging from a flamboyant Russian ballet teacher to a subdued and prominent Wall Street businessman) with the word "sex." "That was sex," she says, "everybody got sex!"

Grandpa (Kris Van Der Werf) casually asks the tax collector, "Will I pay this money?" The flabbergasted collector stam­mered If I pay this money?" The collector replied, "Protection, of course." "Protection from what?" replies Grandpa.

The beauty of the play written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman lies in the appropriate (or should it be inappropriate?) placement of lines. The charm of the actual play came out Wed­nesday in the Sycamores with which the actors carried them off. The audience never missed a laugh. Penny Syracmores, (Barbara Harris) finishes a wad game with her family and various acquaintances (ranging from a flamboyant Russian ballet teacher to a subdued and prominent Wall Street businessman) with the word "sex." "That was sex," she says, "everybody got sex!"

Grandpa (Kris Van Der Werf) casually asks the tax collector, "Will I pay this money?" The flabbergasted collector stam­mered If I pay this money?" The collector replied, "Protection, of course." "Protection from what?" replies Grandpa.

The beauty of the play written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman lies in the appropriate (or should it be inappropriate?) placement of lines. The charm of the actual play came out Wed­nesday in the Sycamores with which the actors carried them off. The audience never missed a laugh. Penny Syracmores, (Barbara Harris) finishes a wad game with her family and various acquaintances (ranging from a flamboyant Russian ballet teacher to a subdued and prominent Wall Street businessman) with the word "sex." "That was sex," she says, "everybody got sex!"

Grandpa (Kris Van Der Werf) casually asks the tax collector, "Will I pay this money?" The flabbergasted collector stam­mered If I pay this money?" The collector replied, "Protection, of course." "Protection from what?" replies Grandpa.

The beauty of the play written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman lies in the appropriate (or should it be inappropriate?) placement of lines. The charm of the actual play came out Wed­nesday in the Sycamores with which the actors carried them off. The audience never missed a laugh. Penny Syracmores, (Barbara Harris) finishes a wad game with her family and various acquaintances (ranging from a flamboyant Russian ballet teacher to a subdued and prominent Wall Street businessman) with the word "sex." "That was sex," she says, "everybody got sex!"

Grandpa (Kris Van Der Werf) casually asks the tax collector, "Will I pay this money?" The flabbergasted collector stam­mered If I pay this money?" The collector replied, "Protection, of course." "Protection from what?" replies Grandpa.
The Mustang track team will be shooting for a batch of season's best marks today at the West Coast Relays in Fresno.

"I'm looking for season best marks in six or seven events and a good competitive effort this week at Fresno as we get ready for the conference meet next week," coach Dave Simmons said.

One of the weekend's major objectives is qualifying the mile relay team for the nationals. "Haley (John) is running well now and Markham (Art) is returning to form after being slowed by injuries," Simmons said. "I plan on running Markham number two and hope this will challenge him more in the mile relay."

"The mile relay should be one of the most competitive events at Fresno with Cal Poly Pomona, Sacramento State, Occidental, Cal State Hayward, Idaho State and Long Beach State all hoping for fine marks," he said.

The fastest time by the Mustang 88 relay team is 3:17.8. The goal is 3:16.

The 440 relay team had its poorest showing of the season at San Jose State last week with a 42.3 clocking. The season's best is 41.8 and Simmons thinks it will have to be better to finish ahead of Pomona, Sacramento, Long Beach and Idaho State.

With sophomore Russ Grimes still out with a hamstring pull the Mustangs will go with Lowell Henry, Haley, Kerry Gold, and Dave Hamer.

Simmons said the most encouraging thing about last week's performance was the improvement of his half milers. Even Nielsen went 1:30.3 at San Jose for his best mark. Tim Owens pured two full seconds off his previous best 880 with a 1:54.3 clocking.

Mustang Tom Murphy is one of the top high jumpers in the field. His season's best is 6'10. The toughest competition comes from Doug Jones of San Fernando and Ron Coleman of Westmon (0-11), both 6'11.

Doug Jones of San Fernando and Ron Coleman of Westmon (0-11), both 6'11.

mustang this season is 8:17.0. The performance was the most encouraging thing about last week's performance was the improvement of his half milers. Even Nielsen went 1:30.3 at San Jose for his best mark. Tim Owens pured two full seconds off his previous best 880 with a 1:54.3 clocking.

The Mustangs finished the season with a 31-18 win-loss record and a second place finish in the California Collegiate Athletic Association.

Wednesday's Mustang Daily will carry a complete wrap-up on the season.