DE BELLIS SERIES WILL OPEN SUNDAY; VARIED PROGRAMS PLANNED

The music, art, books, science, drama, and architecture of the Italian Renaissance will all be featured during a program series and exhibit to be presented during mid-April at Cal Poly.

Based on the Frank V. de Bellis Collection, both the programs and the exhibit will be presented in the Julian A. McPhee College Union under sponsorship of the School of Communication Arts and Humanities.

The programs and exhibit will begin with an opening reception on Sunday (April 9) and continue through April 20. Admission will be free and the public is invited.

Highlights of the program series will be an opening talk by Mrs. Serena de Bellis, curator of the de Bellis Collection and wife of its late benefactor; a lecture by historian Gene A. Brucker of University of California at Berkeley; two commedia dell'arte (drama) performances; and two concerts.

Subjects of programs to be offered during the 10-day-long program series at Cal Poly include patronage in Renaissance Florence, Renaissance architecture, and author and philosopher Boethius, the drawings and paintings of Da Vinci, and science and technology in Renaissance Italy.

Concert Performers Listed

Performers for the concerts will be harpsichordist Ronald V. Ratcliffe; soprano Nella Girolo; a string quartet composed of Michael Poleinski, David Cook, Carol Kersten, and John Hoyt; the Cal Poly Chamber Orchestra under the baton of Clifton E. Swanson; and the Cal Poly Chamber Singers under John Russell's direction.

Commedia dell'arte will be the subject of two programs of the series. One will be a combined lecture and demonstration and the other will be a performance only. Both will feature students of the Speech Department.

The exhibit will open for public viewing on Monday (April 10) and run through April 20 in daytime and evening hours in Room 221 of the College Union. Hours will be 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Sunday through Thursday, and 9 a.m. to 12 midnight on Friday and Saturday.

Highlights of the exhibit will include a grand piano manufactured by composer Muzio Clementi in 1805 and manuscripts, books, and other works by such men as St. Augustine, Cicero, Virgil, Plutarch, Herodotus, Petrarch, Dante, Boccaccio, Machiavelli, and Boethius.

Other Renaissance authors, composers, and artists whose work will be represented in the exhibit at Cal Poly are Michaelangelo, Galileo, Euclid, Archimedes, Aristotle, Scarlatti, Palestrina, and Raphael. (A schedule of activities for the programs and the exhibit follows on page 2.)
EVENTS FOR DE BELLIS EXHIBIT AND PROGRAM SERIES

One of the largest collections of Italian culture outside of Italy, the Frank V. de Bellis Collection, will be the focal point for an exhibit and program series to be held on campus beginning on Sunday (April 9) and continuing through Thursday, April 20. Both are being sponsored by the School of Communicative Arts and Humanities.

Arrangements for the de Bellis exhibit and programs are being coordinated by a faculty and staff committee headed by Russell Lascola (Philosophy Department). Other members are David Bodlak (Art Department), Arthur Frieztsche (English Department), John Russell (Music Department), Bob Stevens, a representative of the ASI Fine Arts Committee, and Frederick Wolf (Special Programs Coordinator).

The complete schedule of events for the 10-day-long de Bellis series reads:

CHANGES IN FOOD SERVICES STAFF ANNOUNCED BY PRESIDENT KENNEDY

The retirement of Lloyd (Jack) Bertram as foundation food services director for the Cal Poly Foundation and the appointment of John Lee as his successor has been announced by President Robert E. Kennedy. President Kennedy said the new appointment will be effective on September 1.

Bertram, who will have completed over 21 years of service as Cal Poly's food services director by the time of his retirement in late August, has seen the size of the college student body grow from about 2,600 to more than 12,000 since he joined the college staff in 1950. He played a leading role in the planning and development of the College Dining Hall during the late 1950's.

Lee, who is currently assistant director of food services, has been employed at Cal Poly since 1960. A resident of Arroyo Grande, he previously owned and managed two successful restaurants in the San Luis Obispo area.

Immediately prior to joining the college's food services staff, he worked in the food service operation of the California Men's Colony, a State Department of Corrections facility located near San Luis Obispo.

The Cal Poly Foundation is an auxiliary organization of the college administered by a board of directors, of which Dr. Kennedy is president. It operates campus dining halls, snack bars, machine areas, as well as the college's residence halls, and the agricultural production program of the college.

The foundation food services director is responsible for approximately $1.6 million of food service operations per year. The food services director reports to Al Amaral, the executive director of the Cal Poly Foundation.

BLACK PANTHER PARTY FOUNDER WILL SPEAK ON CAMPUS

Bobby Seale, co-founder of the Black Panther Party, will report on the Black Panther Survival Program when he speaks in the Cal Poly Men's Gym at 8 p.m. on Thursday (April 6). The appearance of the member of the "Chicago Eight" is being sponsored by the Speaker's Forum Committee of the Associated Students, Inc. The public is invited. Admission is 75 cents for students and $1.25 for all others.

Seale and Huey P. Newton founded a Soul Students Advisory Council while both were students at Merritt College in Oakland. In October, 1966, they co-founded the Black Panther Party for Self Defense. Seale established Black studies at Merritt College when he taught a class in Black history.

Since 1967, Seale has been jailed and released on a variety of charges stemming from his Black Panther activities -- including conspiracy, murder, concealed weapon, and contempt of court charges. As one of the Chicago Eight, he was gagged during court sessions after interrupting court proceedings in his attempts to act as his own counsel.

Seale will come to Cal Poly directly from a three-day Black Community Survival Conference in the Oakland area, where efforts are directed at organizing the Black community for political action. He is both the author and subject of several books.
WARNING ON POLLUTION ISSUED BY DR. LEAKEY

Mankind's past can be traced back for 20 million years but his future may not extend beyond the next 30 to 40 years, according to Louis S. B. Leakey.

The world-famous anthropologist told a campus audience last week that his fossil discoveries in Africa establish the existence of man as early as 2.6 million years ago, but that "Adam's Ancestors" lived side-by-side with the ancestors of the gorilla as far back as 20 million years ago.

Dr. Leakey told the audience of nearly 5,000 that science must dig deeper to find a common ancestor for man and other primates. And he urged a change of direction if man is to survive in the future.

His lecture as part of the Cal Poly College Convocation Series was illustrated with slides of his lifelong studies of fossil evidence of man and his primate cousins.

Dr. Leakey cited pollution as the major threat to man's future evolution. "We must not adapt to pollution, but fight pollution before it kills us," he declared.

"Today I believe that man is the most endangered species in the whole world, endangered by his pollution, endangered by his lack of forethought, endangered by his misuse of his resources, endangered by overpopulation and above all by allowing the invention of such things as germ warfare and hydrogen and atom bombs. It's got to be stopped."

When the audience applauded this declaration, Dr. Leakey said, "You won't stop it by applauding me. You must build public opinion."

He asked his audience to promise faithfully to work to influence others to influence world governments to apply resources to solving mankind's problems of poverty, overpopulation, disease, and use of resources.

The capacity crowd in the Men's Gymnasium frequently applauded Dr. Leakey's pleas for humanity and gave the 69-year-old scientist a standing ovation following his lecture and a question-and-answer period.

COLLEGE HOUR CONCERT PLANNED THURSDAY MORNING

San Luis Obispo area residents who like musical variety are invited to hear a concert to be presented Thursday (April 6) morning. Planned as a preview of the 31st annual Home Concert, which will take place on April 21, the concert will start at 11 a.m. in the Cal Poly Theater. Admission will be free and the public is invited to attend.

The program will feature the Cal Poly Men's Glee Club, the Collegians Stage Band, and the Women's Sextet, along with two smaller vocal groups composed of members of the Men's Glee Club -- the Majors and Minors and the Collegiate Quartet. All but the women's Sextet have just returned from a week-long concert tour which included 18 performances at high schools and colleges in the San Francisco area.

The program is being presented as part of the College Hour Concert series of the Music Department.

Monday, April 10, will be the last day to withdraw from Spring Quarter classes without penalty.
CAL POLY EXTENSION STUDENTS REGISTERING THIS WEEK

Registration for 26 Spring Quarter courses to be offered by Cal Poly Extension in communities throughout the Central Coast Area began with the start of classes yesterday (Monday, April 3). They will meet during evening hours in community locations in Arroyo Grande, Atascadero, Morro Bay, San Luis Obispo, and Santa Maria, and at Vandenberg Air Force Base, near Lompoc.

Subjects covered by the Winter Quarter courses range from construction engineering, animal science, architecture, and geology to industrial technology, language, philosophy, psychology, sociology, and speech.

A highlight of the Spring Quarter extension courses to be offered by Cal Poly is a course on the architecture and history of the Hearst San Simeon State Historical Monument, which will be taught by Carleton M. Winslow of the college's School of Architecture and Environmental Design faculty.

Persons wishing to attend any of the courses may register during the initial class meeting for each course. Fees are $12.75 per quarter unit for lecture courses, $16.75 per unit for activity courses, and $25.25 per unit for laboratory courses.

Information and free copies of the Spring Quarter extension booklet containing registration details and a full list of courses may be obtained from the Continuing Education Office, Adm - 546-2053.

A I D OFFICIAL WILL DELIVER KEYNOTE ADDRESS

The role college students and educators can play in international developments will be explored during the daylong International Education Conference at Cal Poly on Thursday (April 6).

Marshall L. Fields, education officer, Southern African Affairs, Agency for International Development, U.S. Department of State, Washington, D. C., will set the tone of the meeting in a keynote address at 8:45 a.m. in Chumash Auditorium of the Julian A. McPhee College Union.

The conference is co-sponsored by the student council of Cal Poly's School of Agriculture and Natural Resources and Office of International Education in cooperation with the College Convocation Series. Anyone interested is invited to attend. Admission will be free.

Fields, the keynote speaker, has been involved in vocational education since 1942 and has been associated with international education programs in the Mid-east and Africa since 1952.

Three panel discussions during the day will cover the direction of international programs, work experience abroad, and opportunities with U.S. business firms abroad. In addition, conference participants will join the Cal Poly Staff Club to hear Joseph N. Weatherby, Jr., (Social Sciences Department) discuss "Soviet Policy in the Middle East" during a luncheon meeting.

The end of the seventh week of instruction for the 1972 Spring Quarter will be Monday, May 15.
TALK ON BORAX MINING SCHEDULED WEDNESDAY EVENING

The historical development of Borax mining will be the topic when James L. Boone of Anaheim addresses the campus on Wednesday (April 5) evening. Dr. Boone's talk titled "100 Years of Borax Mining -- A Historical Perspective," will start at 8 p.m. in Room 207 of the Julian A. McPhee College Union on campus. Admission will be free and the public is invited to attend.

Presently a senior research chemist for U.S. Borax Research Corp., Dr. Boone is a graduate of St. Louis University, where he earned his bachelor's degree, and University of Southern California, from which he received his doctor's degree in inorganic chemistry.

The public lecture is part of a two-day stay at Cal Poly during which Dr. Boone will visit with students and faculty of the Chemistry Department and participate in seminars and class sessions. His stay is part of the national visiting scientist program of the American Chemical Society. It is being sponsored by the Chemistry Department and the campus student chapter of ACS.

PLANS FOR ANNUAL LUAU ANNOUNCED BY HUI O'HAWAII

Authentic Hawaiian dances and music will fill the air when the Hui O'Hawaii club presents its 18th annual luau on Saturday, April 15, in the Chumash Auditorium of the Julian A. McPhee College Union. The ritualistic Hawaiian celebration, which originated in the 18th Century, will feature a menu of roast pig, chicken, fresh pineapple, and yams.

Imported orchids and anthriums from the Island State will be in evidence in the decorations and entertainment will be provided by The Outriggers, a Hawaiian group that makes its headquarters in San Francisco.

Tickets for the traditional campus event are priced at $3.50 each. They may be purchased at Brown's Music Store in San Luis Obispo and the Information Desk in the College Union, or ordered by telephoning 544-7587. Members of the campus community, as well as the central coast area, are invited to attend.

VACANT SUPPORT STAFF POSITION ANNOUNCED BY PERSONNEL OFFICER

One vacancy on the support staff of the College has been announced by S. Milton Piuma (Staff Personnel Officer). A description of the position is posted on the bulletin board located outside the Personnel Office, Adm-110, 546-2236. Those interested in applying for the position should contact the Personnel Office to obtain an application. Cal Poly is an Affirmative Action Employer. The position is:

Clerical Assistant II-A ($457-$556), (Temporary Help), Security Department, Business Affairs Division. Duties and responsibilities include assisting supervisor in communications and correspondence; supervising the work of four student clerks; preparing material and typing payroll; editing and typing reports; and typing letters and answering some correspondence independently. Applicants must have passed the General Clerical Test, type 45 wpm, and have three years of experience in typing and clerical work.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, April 7, in the Office of Information Services, Administration-210.
CAL POLY WRESTLERS WILL MEET JAPANESE OLYMPIC TEAM ON APRIL 14

Coach Vaughan Hitchcock of the national champion Cal Poly wrestling team has arranged an exhibition mat program which figures to carry statewide appeal. The Japanese National team will conclude a tour of the United States in the Men's Gym on April 14. The stop at Cal Poly will be the final one for the Japanese team which will include many of the wrestlers who will represent that country in the 1972 Olympics at Munich, Germany.

Appearing on the Japanese team will be five wrestlers who placed first, second or third in last September's World Games in Bulgaria. The Japanese wrestler at 125.5 pounds is a two-time world champion while the 114.5-pounder placed second and the men who will wrestle at 105.5, 136.5 and 149.5 pounds all placed third in the World Games.

There will be eight bouts on the card. In addition to the weights mentioned the other three weights will be 163, 180.5 and 198 pounds. Competition will be in the international style of wrestling used in the Olympic Games. Preceding the bouts which will get underway at 7:30 p.m. there will be a resume of the international style of wrestling which differs quite a bit from the Collegiate style of competition in which the Cal Poly team members are accustomed.

INTERNATIONAL TALENT SHOW SCHEDULED ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Modern and ancient cultures of many lands will be displayed on the stage of the campus theater at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday (April 8-9). International students at the college will present their annual International Talent Show at that time.

The public is invited. General admission tickets are 75 cents for students and $1.50 for all others. They are on sale in advance at the information desk of the Julian A. McPhee College Union.

Intricate dances of the Orient, rhythmic and symbolic dances of Africa, joyous song and dance from Hawaii, and the colorful steps of Mexico will unfold on the stage. There also will be lyrical music from Vietnam, strident chords from Portugal, and ancient musical sounds of Thailand and Iran and Pakistani students will offer a tableau.

Nine student organizations representing foreign lands have joined in the presentation of this year's talent show.

NATIONALLY-KNOWN ARTIST WILL JUDGE POTTERY II

Paul Soldner of Aspen, Colo., will judge Pottery II, the 2nd annual pottery show to be held at Cal Poly. The showing will open on April 20 and continue through May 8 in Room 221 of Cal Poly's Julian A. McPhee College Union. Admission will be free and the public is invited to view the exhibit.

Soldner, one of the most respected and popular pottery jurors in the country, has won numerous national awards for his work in the field of pottery and ceramics. Pottery II, sponsored by the Pottery Club at Cal Poly, is a professional and amateur showing of various forms of pottery and ceramics from throughout the United States.
STAFF CLUB ELECTION SLATED THIS MONTH

Cal Poly Staff Club members will vote during the week of April 17 to select a vice president for the 1972-73 term of office. Charlie Mendenhall (Information Services Office), present president of the club, says ballots will be mailed to members. Those failing to receive ballots by April 21 should contact Mendenhall by telephoning 546-2577.

The Staff Club's Nominating Committee headed by J. Barron Wiley (Education Department) announced this week that candidates for the office of vice president are Capt. Leonard Gringras (Military Science Department) and L. Harry Strauss (Director of the College Library).

J. Philip Bromley (Agricultural Management Department), Mrs. Ruth Gran (Student Health Center), and James Neelands (Physics Department) were elected as president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively, during the club's March 30 luncheon meeting. A unanimous ballot was cast.

The Staff Club's 1972-73 officers will be installed at the luncheon meeting of the club in the Staff Dining Room on May 4.

CAMPUS GROUPS WILL HOST NATIONAL COMPETITION ON FRIDAY

Collegiate flower judges from the eastern seaboard to the Pacific Ocean will test their skills at the National Intercollegiate Flower Judging Contest at Cal Poly on Friday (April 7).

The Ornamental Horticulture Club and the Ornamental Horticulture Department will be co-hosts for the event, which is sponsored by the Pi Alpha Xi fraternity and the Society of American Florists.

Ray Houston (Ornamental Horticulture Department) says 10 teams representing universities and colleges offering instruction in floriculture will be on hand for the competition. Houston is coach of the Cal Poly team.

The judges will spend about two hours rating entries in 22 classes of flowers in three categories -- cut, potted and foliage plants. A portion of the flowers will be produced by students at the Cal Poly Ornamental Horticulture Unit.

Trophies for team winners and certificates for individual winners will be presented at a banquet in the Staff Dining Room following the competition.

CAMPUS GROUP SLATES BALLET PERFORMANCES APRIL 12, 16

Modern ballet will be featured in Chumash Auditorium of the Julian A. McPhee College Union on Wednesday, April 12, and Sunday, April 16. The performances, open to the public, are sponsored by the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. They will feature students of the Academy of Dance of San Luis Obispo. Admission will be 50 cents for the public, 25 cents for students and children. Proceeds will go to the building fund of the fraternity.
James R. Landreth (Director of Business Affairs) has been elected to membership on the executive committee of the Directors of Business Affairs of the California State University and Colleges during their recent meeting in Sacramento. Thomas Williams of California State College at Fullerton is the new chairman of the group which normally meets one day each month in Los Angeles.

Arthur F. Billy (Welding and Metallurgical Engineering Department) presented a paper on hyperbaric underwater welding before a meeting of the Los Angeles Section of the American Welding Society in Los Angeles on March 16. Dr. Billy's remarks were illustrated with slides which included photomicrographs of underwater welds made at atmospheric conditions. He also spoke recently at the El-Descanso School in Camarillo and at California State College at Long Beach.

Robert J. Rodin (Biological Sciences Department) gave an illustrated talk before a banquet of the Military Engineering Society at Vandenberg Air Force Base. Titled "Are the Dunes Worth Saving?" Dr. Rodin's remarks were based on his recent report on the Nipomo Dunes, which has been submitted to the Registered National Landmark Program of the National Park Service.

Curtis F. Gerald (Computer Science and Statistics Department) was a member of a panel that discussed "The Role of Education in Preparing Effective Computing Personnel" at the UCLA/Informatic Symposium held at University of California at Los Angeles on March 22-24. The symposium was devoted to examining the question of how electronic data processing can serve more effectively. Dr. Gerald was among 128 representatives from industry and government who took part in the meetings.

Howard F. Smith (Economics Department) is the author of an article titled "The Forced Pace Modernization of Micronesia", which appeared in the December, 1971, issue of Pacific Viewpoint. Pacific Viewpoint is a periodical published by the University of Wellington, New Zealand, which has a special interest in Micronesia. The article resulted from a trip by Dr. Smith to Micronesia in December, 1971, under terms of a Cal Poly travel grant.

Robert L. Hoover and Alan K. Settle (both Social Sciences Department) have appeared in brief interviews on news broadcasts on KSBY-TV, Channel 6, San Luis Obispo, recently. Dr. Settle discussed a student-conducted survey on projected voter behavior in the 1972 Presidential elections and Dr. Hoover talked about the then-impending campus appearance of anthropologist Louis S. B. Leakey.

Charles Quinlan (School of Architecture and Environmental Design) is a member of the National Committee on Planning Education for the American Institute of Planners. A member of the Cal Poly faculty since 1966, Quinlan formerly had a private practice in planning and architecture and taught at University of New Mexico.

John Y. Hsu (Computer Science and Statistics) is the author of a research report titled "Recommendations and Corrections on All Mathematical Modules of the Post Flight Data Reduction Software System," Vol. I, II, and III, recently published by Federal Electric Corp. Dr. Hsu, whose doctoral studies at University of California at Berkeley were in computer architecture, is presently consulting on data base management, computer architecture, and operating systems for Federal Electric.
FACULTY TEACHING POSITION APPLICANTS BEING SOUGHT

Applicants for three teaching positions on the faculty of the college are presently being sought, according to Larry Voss (Director of Personnel Relations). Those interested in learning more about any of the positions, or in applying for any of them, are invited to contact the appropriate school dean or department head. Cal Poly is an Affirmative Action Employer. Brief descriptions of the available positions read:

Intermediate Instructor ($777-$992), Economics Department, School of Business and Social Sciences. Duties and responsibilities include teaching undergraduate service courses for non-majors. Applicants must possess a master's degree and must show evidence that the PhD can be expected by the fourth year of employment. Women and ethnic minority candidates are encouraged to apply. Two positions available for the 1972-73 academic year.

Lecturer, Range C or D ($777-$992), Economics Department, School of Business and Social Sciences. Duties and responsibilities include teaching principles of economics and survey courses for majors and non-majors. Applicants must possess a master's degree with teaching experience and/or PhD preferred. Women and ethnic minority candidates are encouraged to apply. A PhD and/or Clinical Competence Certification with the American Speech and Hearing Association preferred. Those of minority groups and women are encouraged to apply. Position available for Fall Quarter, 1972.

HOSTING PROGRAM FOR FOREIGN STUDENTS REACTIVATED

The hostessing program for foreign students at the International Lounge (the former Post Office Building) has been reactivated by the Cal Poly Women's Club with the assistance of the Student Affairs Division. Under the program members of the women's club are joined by women from nearby communities in carrying on the office work of arranging for host families for international students. A byproduct of their work in the lounge are the visits with foreign students who come to the lounge.

Mrs. Elva Rodin, who is working in the hosting program emphasized that both volunteer workers and new host families are needed in the reactivated program. Those wishing to volunteer for either are invited to contact the International Lounge either by mail addressed to "International Lounge, Box 5731, Cal Poly," or by telephoning 544-2610, or by contacting Mrs. Rodin (543-9244). Hours at the lounge are 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 2 to 4 p.m. on weekdays.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, April 7, in the Office of Information Services, Administration-210.
