Robert Gordon (Ornamental Horticulture Department), who is president of AIFD, invites the public to join the AIFD members at the art and fashion show and dinner to be held at the Madonna Inn in San Luis Obispo at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, July 11. Tickets are $12.50 per person and are available at the Madonna Inn or at Flowers From Plantz, also in San Luis Obispo.

AUDIO VISUAL PRODUCTION SERVICES FOR SUMMER LISTED

Summer staffing of the Audio Visual Production office will continue to make most of the regular services of that operation available during the summer months. An announcement sent out last week by the production office invited faculty and staff of the university who need slide duplication, photo copy, and photo enlargement service, as well as art services such as charts, illustrations, graphs, overhead transparencies, drymounting, and posters, to send their requests directly to BAandE-24 or telephone 546-2214. Photographer services will not be available during the summer, however.

The 1972 Summer Quarter will open with registration on Saturday, July 1, and continue through the final examination period, Sept. 11-14. The first day of classes will be Monday, July 3.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE June 23, 1972

LOS ANGELES -- Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke today issued the following statement on 1972-73 budget allotments for The California State University and Colleges:

"Actions on the 1972-73 budget requests of The California State University and Colleges are now completed. They culminate more than a year's preparation and deliberation by Presidents, Trustees, the Legislature and the State Administration. In recent weeks differences between Senate and Assembly versions were reconciled by the supportive efforts of a Conference Committee comprised of Senators Randolph Collier, Fred W. Marler Jr. and Stephen P. Teale, and Assemblymen Willie L. Brown Jr., Frank Lanterman and Carley Porter. The report of the Conference Committee was adopted by the Legislature and the final version of the budget was signed yesterday by Governor Reagan.

"These actions project overall improvement in the 1972-73 financing of The California State University and Colleges. They start us along the path of overcoming severe fiscal restraints under which we have been operating in recent years. We have much catching up to do.

"Although our final Support Budget is substantially less than recommended by the Board of Trustees, some improvement will be possible in the levels of educational service we provide to students. This is primarily due to the transferring of funds related to modified enrollment projections into funds for additional staffing. The net allocation per full-time equivalent student will increase from $1,442 to $1,524, the first increase in this index in three years.

"Our faculty will receive 7.5 per cent general salary increases. Support staff will receive 5 per cent general increases. I am pleased at the Governor's approval of an additional $5.6 million to alleviate specific inequities in our salary structure. Our faculty, however, will continue to lag behind levels of compensation at colleges and universities approved for comparison purposes by the Coordinating Council for Higher Education, and the need for rectifying this deficiency will be addressed by my office.

"Our capital outlay program will proceed at a restricted pace. The 1972-73 allocation includes funding for projects that are critically needed for further utilization of existing campuses, as well as for planning, opportunity land acquisition, correction of structural deficiencies and mandatory work to make existing and funded buildings operable.

"Higher education must devise valid improvements in the ways we bring scholarship, professional expertise and meaning to the lives of students seeking baccalaureate and advanced degrees. It must do this through innovations having strong potential to produce economies without departing from basic standards essential in our colleges and universities. A year ago January I presented Trustees with a program of New Approaches which I believe to be eminently sound to meet the changing needs of the 1970's. This program is under way and the outlook is promising. Its basic premises are reflected in a newly issued report by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education. The new budget will provide approximately $1 million to support these innovative projects stressing the increasing motivation, self-reliance and changing learning requirements of many students. Our innovative approaches will proceed with vigor. The California State University and Colleges will retain leadership in affecting timely, creative change that is needed everywhere in higher education.

"Inevitably in the legislative process there emerge both hopeful and disappointing results. I am pleased by gains in the level of support for overall educational programs and believe that this is reflective of an improving atmosphere of support for higher education. Approval of $2.15 million for Educational Opportunity Program grants is encouraging. EOP funds are essential in light of recent federal reductions. Difficulties will occur as the result of lack of funds to plan conversion of campuses to year-round operation. I regret legislative curtailments for our libraries, and the deletion of recommended improvements for the Statewide Academic Senate and for the strengthened administration of our campuses.

'The California State University and Colleges have, over the years, amassed a notable record of providing quality higher education to tremendous numbers of students at comparatively moderate costs to the California public. Our graduates represent the leadership cores in dozens of professional fields. Their accomplishments should be a matter of pride for all of California. The relationship between the progress of this State and the quality of its educational institutions is close and direct. The 1972-73 allocations for The California State University and Colleges are reason for encouragement about the future."
Names of 16 campuses in The California State University and Colleges were changed, effective on June 1, 1972, as a result of actions by the Board of Trustees and, in instances which include university designation, by the California Coordinating Council for Higher Education.
