Blake opposes agency on control on coastlines

A contender for the District 5 seat on the County Board of Supervisors said he is opposed to the state control called for in Proposition 30. Emmons Blake, speaking at an open forum in the College Union plaza, said local government has been protecting the coastline for many years. Proposition 30 calls for a state-wide agency to control use of California’s coastline.

Blake said that seven years ago a state recreational vehicle park for “down the shore” of Caution urged in cancer fight

Washington (UPI) — A leading cancer specialist said Friday an anti-tuberculosis vaccine offered new hope in the war against cancer, but a government panel urged researchers to use caution in proceeding to widespread tests of the agent in humans.

Another scientist suggested that the anti-TB agent, a strain of bacteria called BCO, might work against cancer, but a government panel urged researchers to use caution in proceeding to widespread tests of the agent in humans.

The reports were made during a two-day conference sponsored by the National Cancer Institute and attended by private and public specialists in cancer, including two Nobel Prize winners. The two-day conference was the first of a series of one-day conferences designed to bring together private and public specialists in cancer.

Aid in solving money matters

Students in hook up to their necks could have their money problems solved if they had just a little help from their friends. This is the view of ASI Vice-Pres. Danny Johnson who is trying to form a committee of business students that are interested in giving financial counseling to students.

Johnson is looking for volunteers willing to give a couple of hours a week to help students on campus. Sources of loans and scholarships, the kinds of loans that are best to take out, and hints on establishing adequate spending systems are some of the matters students need advice on. All advice given to students will be confidential.

Johnson feels that this area of campus of counseling is extensively beneficial to students that are going into the accounting field.

Johnson hopes that the service will be available this quarter and urged interested students to contact him in the ASI office.

Allies offer a new plan

El Paso (UPI) — Usually well-informed American and South Vietnamese officials have said Friday the Allies have prepared a plan under which President Nguyen Van Thieu would offer to resign and the United States would withdraw all troops in exchange for release of American prisoners and North Vietnamese withdrawn from South Vietnam.

The United States would also end the bombing and the naval blockade of North Vietnam under the plan, the sources said.

Thieu’s resignation would fulfill a basic political demand of the Viet Cong’s seven-point plan for peace. The sources said he would offer to step down under the plan in favor of Nguyen Van Hung, speaker of South Vietnam’s Senate.

A chain letter scheme has weak links of illegality

A chain letter with a pay-off of $80,000 is currently being circulated throughout San Luis Obispo County, according to District Attorney Robert N. Talal. Talal said that the letter was a violation of Penal Code section entitled, “Endless Chain Schemes.”

If circulated the plan was “protect our shoreline, the need for employment of San Luis Obispo’s young people.

But the legality of the scheme. The D.A.’s assistants have received many calls asking about the legality of the scheme.
Interviews for Finance Committee being held

The Finance Committee is now interviewing students to fill the current eight vacancies. Interviews began Oct. 2 and will conclude tonight in C220 at 7:30 p.m.

"Fall quarter is always slow as far as student involvement goes and by the time the spring budget comes not many students, are unhappy," said Mike Meiring, Finance Committee chairman.

"Schools complain about not getting their fair share of the money and the reason for this is that they are not representing themselves," said Meiring. "Now is the time to get involved!"

The vacancies are as follows:

Two each from the Schools of Architecture and Environmental Design, Engineering and Technology, Communicative Arts and Humanities and one each from the schools of Agriculture, Natural Resources, and Finance and Math.

Drug deaths

A special survey undertaken by the Los Angeles Times has found that methadone—once proclaimed as a kind of miracle drug for the treatment of heroin—is now causing more deaths than heroin is in three major cities. The Times said that coroners in Buffalo, New York, Minneapolis, and Washington, D.C. are now reporting more methadone than heroin overdose fatalities.

Is there a solution to the transportation problem in San Luis Obispo? Blake said, "The bus is not practical. Its increase would be too difficult to assess. It would be fantastic expensive."

Hellmann said he was not so much concerned with "strong, white, bored college students having to walk 3 miles to campus, but with young children who have to travel 8 miles to school."

Wheatholts added that "buses won’t help university students."

How can the county communication problem be solved?

Krejsa said, "We should install several hundred students in the county government to break down some of the barriers."

Hellmann said, "Officials do their best to communicate, but people don’t listen. My door is always open. I try to make personal calls whenever possible."

Reign for Homecoming

Deadline for entries in the university's 1973 Homecoming Parade are April 1. Quinn, who shares the responsibility of the chairman of the parade with his wife, Courtney, said entries may be made by filling out the float entry form available in the Activities Planning Center and submitting the completed form to the Quinn.

Quinn offered an explanation for the small number of float entries so far. "The forms have only been out since last Thursday," he explained.

The parade this year will include the university band, various high school bands, nonfloat entries, and Muir hall's "Muck-a-Mucks," along with other entries, according to Quinn.

The parade is scheduled for Oct. 21 at 9:48 a.m. Starting point is to be the corner of Santa Rosa and Higuera streets.

No youth fare

The youth air fare will be abolished, probably after the November elections. The decision came after four years of study by the Civil Aeronautics examiner Arthurs. Present ruled off a final decision until a study by the Government Accounting Office, initiated for this purpose.

Why they work

Most people know how missionaries work but not the reasons behind that work. Intervarsity Christian Fellowship will present reasons for missionary work on Friday at 7 p.m. in CU 120.

Along with this there will be singing, a time for personal interaction, and refreshments. Everyone is invited to come.

BOISE TAKES A DUMP

Mustangs explode in 4th, win 26-21

They didn't get rolling until the final quarter of the game, but when they did, the Mustang football team exploded for four touchdowns and grabbed a 26-21 victory from the visiting Boise State Saturday night.

For a while it looked pretty grim to the capacity crowd in Mustang Stadium. The Broncos offense marched down the field twice in the opening minutes and ran up a 14-point lead with six minutes still left to play in the first quarter.

In the third quarter the tide began to turn. Mustang runs of 27 yards without a single pass, and a 69-yard gain on the ground by one. The visitors pulled into the lead by one, 21-20. The Mustangs marched right back into Bronco territory, using the ground game almost exclusively once again.

With less than 30 yards to go for the score and less than two minutes to do it, Pettas pitched out to reserve tailback Rich Robbins who began to weave his way to the right. Then the former all-CIF quarterback stopped suddenly and hit Mike Amos with a perfect touchdown strike.
