Crew denies charges

A 1968 Triumph Splittfire was totaled late Friday night when the driver lost control on Foothill Blvd. and struck a curb near Carpenter St. The driver, William Douglas Jones, was not seriously injured when the car went out of control and overturned.

It seems that the controversy concerning the proposed expansion of the San Luis Obispo County Airport is being heated up. A farewell to the airport, 'fairweather' airport has given rise to some pretty cloudy issues recently.

Charles Waivel, president of Swift Air Lines, A. Smith, POGE representative, and various members of the San Luis Obispo Chamber of Commerce are among the active proponents of airport expansion. The clouds come into the picture in pointing the precise reason for doing so.

Expansion proponents claim that safety is their prime concern. But Norman Jackson, a college English instructor, insists that they are only "clouding the issue with the smoke of small accusations." He also points out that safety is not the number one concern.

The main point covered in the measure include the question of the necessity of flashing lights, which, in the words of Jackson, "turn nighttime for the people of San Luis Obispo into the nightmare of the mad fliers' dreams." Another argument is the construction cost, which will be met, whether or not jets are permitted to use the airport.

"If jets are permitted to use the airport," Waivel said, "it will mean a very large influx from problem-ridden metropolitan areas."

As it now stands, the airport is used by Swift Air Lines, aviation hobbyists, and a POGO plane.

SAC hostesses helping out busy representatives

Student Affairs Council (SAC) meetings are running more efficiently with the help of the new SAC hostesses.

The girls' names are Linda Glenn and Linda Greenwood, both journalism majors at this school. They are both members of Roundhouse, a student service organization, people call to get advice on problems of any kind.

Linda Greenwood said "Denise called me and said she needed some help and told me what exactly was the problem with the efficiency of the meetings, and here we are." The job of the hostesses is to run errands for the representatives while the meeting is in session. They run down to the Burger Bar to get drinks and food. They also refill the supply of paper and pen at the meeting table.

"I haven't worked at a meeting yet, I was still last meeting, but Linda Glenn did and she said she was thinking of the people of San Luis Obispo and Greenwood. She said everyone was very nice and made her feel welcome."

Miss Glenn and Miss Greenwood are not the only girls who are going to be helping at the SAC meetings. "Some more girls at Roundhouse are going to start helping out too," said Miss Greenwood. "We enjoy helping out and it promises to be fun too."

The 'dirtiest' campaigns

Washington (UPI) — Claiming this year's campaigns seem the dirtiest in years, the Fair Campaign Practices Commission said Monday: "we will have a new high in political low blows during 1973" if the present trend continues.

A spokesman said mid-campaign analysis showed the committees had handled more complaints about dirty politics in the first five weeks of the race than during any comparable period in the last two weeks of the campaign.

"We have received 21 complaints of alleged violations of the Code of Fair Practices. Since Labor Day alone.

"This is more than twice as many complaints as we received at the same point in the 1969 campaign year and an increase of 80 per cent over 1968, the last presidential campaign year," said Commissioner Chairman Charles P. Tait.

Tait said that on the campaign date in 1971 only 10 complaints had been received. "Historically, dirty politics always seem to peak during the last two weeks of the campaign," said Tait.

"If the present trend continues," said Tait, "it promises to be fun too."

An emergency blood drive for Chris Christman, an 11-year-old hemophiliac, will be held Wednesday from 3-6 p.m., but this time there is a change in procedure.

Instead of merely showing up at the Monday Club at 180 Monterey, blood donors must make an appointment for the special time.

Appointments can be made with Joanne Thorner at 546-3223 in the evenings.

At the present, Joanne has roughly 100 possible donors, but only 84, under ideal conditions, can be handled. Therefore, another drive will be held Oct. 20, at same time, same place.

Prospective donors may not set during the four hours prior to giving blood. They must bring identification to prove they are over 18, or proof of parental consent if they are under 18. They must weigh at least 110 pounds. They must not weigh more than 240 pounds. They must be in good health. They must be free of colds.

Cheerful, the art of Japanese flower arranging, will be discussed and demonstrated today in CU 204 at 2:00 p.m.
CAMPUS CRUSADE

Christian activist due

A Christian activist will hit campus this week for a series of speeches. The speaker, Josh McDowell, has spoken to over half-a-million students in the past year alone, and is an international traveling representative for Campus Crusade for Christ.

McDowell has a degree in Economics, Language and Theology and received the Laymen Strauss Award in 1966. The 33-year-old speaker has already appeared on 400 campuses in 43 countries, including many pro-Marxist universities in Latin America.

Newspaper Week...

however, according to Healey, "in the past few years a great challenge to the newspaper has developed," said Healey. He referred to the increasing use of gag rules on court proceedings and subpoenas on the press to reveal its news sources.

"National Newspaper Week... is a chance for the newspaper to tell its own story," said Healey, "sentiment against the press started with the national movement to me". The Supreme Courts are major factors controlling that sentiment.

The Mustang Daily is unique among state university papers because it has break-even (i.e., all of its advertising revenue pays for printing). The other facilities used by the paper are furnished by the Journalism Department.

Although Miss Beasley considers the Mustang Daily a newspaper first and a lab class second, she pointed out that people sometimes forget that the paper is put out five days a week by students who have other classes and social lives to worry about.

His topics will include "Resurrection: Hoax or History?" and "Prophecy" at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday in Chumash Auditorium. During College Hour of this week he will speak on "Campaign '72 Is Not Revolutionary Enough." Friday his topic will be "Maximum Sex," to be presented at 8:00 p.m. in the Men's Gym.

McDowell will also lecture in two classes: U.S. and Foreign Affairs, Building 10 - Room 209 at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, and Home Economics, Home Ec. 127 at 1:00 p.m. on Thursday.

Keith Raybarn, chairman of Campus Crusade for Christ, said that McDowell will be talking about the emotional and physical relationship of sex with the Bible. Raybarn said that McDowell's talk on the Resurrection will be based on historical facts (not biblical) attesting to the Resurrection of Jesus Christ. He's a forceful, dynamic, authoritative speaker," Raybarn said.
Colts edged in opener
by JOE BARNES

A 15-yard touchdown pass on the final play of the game gave the University of California a narrow 10-7 victory over the Cal Poly football team in its season opener Saturday afternoon.

The Mustangs, who lost 7-3 to the University of California at Ooleta only to be turned back by UCSB, 9-4, and top-ranked USC, were tremendously improved against UCSB.

"It took the team only a short time to adjust to this pool, which is a lot bigger than the one we've been using," said coach Dick Anderson.

The Mustangs next play at Santa Barbara, which lost to Cal 9-0.

Cal Poly recovered a fumble deep in their own territory with 90 seconds remaining in the game drive 78 yards in eight plays for the score. A determined Colt defense had thwarted numerous Cal scoring drives earlier and had forced the Ramblers into playing catchup ball all afnovation.

Fullback John Henson plunged into the end zone from one yard out, the second quarter for the Colts' only score. The play capped a 25-yard drive in eight plays after a short punt and personal foul penalty had given the J.V.'s outstanding field position.

Workhorse Henson was persoyards in the drive.
