Spanish dance master to appear on campus

by DEBBIE PIEDRAFITA

"There is no reason why an educational experience cannot be lively, stimulating and certainly entertaining," says Jose Greco, a recognized master of Spanish dance.

Greco with his dancing partner Maria Luna, and his musician, is conducting a lecture-demonstration-recital program 8 p.m. Friday in Chumash Auditorium.

Admission to the Friday evening lecture-demonstration-recital program is free, being sponsored by the Fine Arts Committee.

The survival of Spanish dance is written in the character and history of the Spanish people. Everyone dances in Spain. It is organic and essential," Greco says.

The crack of bones, the strum of the guitar, the wave of the flamenco dress, express the enthusiasm of the gypsy people.

Since his introduction to Spanish dance when he was a child, Greco has become the undisputed master of the dance. His success and devotion has made him career and he has returned on annual concert tours.

Philbin, forms the opposition to the initiative. Their stand is that the sponsors of the measure, the Edna Valley Homeowners Association, represents only a small minority of the residents of the county. Instructor Norm Jackson, who heads the homeowners association, pointed to the County Aviation Plan, which was adopted July 30, 1970. That plan calls for an ultimate runway length of 9,000 feet.

Philbin insists that the plan was only adopted to get federal funding for the airport and in no way mandates a 9,000-foot runway -- it only recommends it.

Philbin and Forrest say the plan favors the Master Plan, which was accepted for consideration, written in it, seeks a 4,800-foot maximum length for the runway at the airport. The opposition to A, the citizens' group plus Swift Airline, says that they will vote on even the 4,000-foot extension which would still leave runway to 4,800 feet. At the moment, they want a landing locator, a less sophisticated type of an instrument landing system. If Proposition A were passed, even minor improvements would be held up on a vote, according to Philbin, Philbin and Charles Wellswell, president of Swift Air.

Proposition A also claims that even minor improvements, such as adding a third runway, would hinge upon a vote. Jackson denies this. He said that he is sure that there would be no objection on the citizens' part if such improvements were made.

It is expansionary development that Jackson and the Edna Valley Homeowners Association object to. This development not only includes more schools but also according to Jackson, but all the related industrial and population increases. He wants a stop vote, which he calls "inaudible development" in the San Luis Obispo area. He views the proposed enlargement of the terminal facilities of Swift Air as the addition of more tie-down space for aircraft as the first steps in such development.

Jackson said that the proposition states that there is no objection to maintaining the airport at its present level, nor would it the proposition's passage encourage the city to use the airport, as well as the commerce commission to allow jet aircraft, if the airport were allowed to be expanded.
Proposition 22 would destroy Chavez' gains'

Editors:

In response to another student's letter in the October 16 issue favoring passage of Proposition 22 on the November ballot, a letter from Assemblyman John Burton and Monument Brown Jr. appealing for funds for "Friends of Chavez" was the best argument I have seen against the proposition.

Just a few years ago, farm workers were getting less than ninety cents an hour working on the fields. They were raised in the state legislature and the state government continued to pressure on behalf of striking farm workers would be outlawed. The farm workers and other labor union representatives will meet on Tuesday to discuss the matter.

"This is not a gesture (including all companies, banks, railroads and other huge companies) that every student has to give up thousands upon thousands of dollars to get this measure on the ballot and to see if it passes, and if it up to us to stop them.

"In this election year, giving support to Chavez and the Farm Workers Union is more important than ever—a campaign—it's a cause."

A request for funds follows in this issue among the students who have demonstrated their concern that the farm workers' rights would be eroded. The letter expresses the hope that students will step forward and support Chavez and his companions in their efforts to secure fair treatment for the farm workers.

The letter continues, "If passed, it would, for all intents and purposes, destroy the Farm Workers Union. The Farm Workers' right to organize and strike would be taken away at a time when it could not adversely affect the growers. Consumer groups who are concerned about the high demand for fresh produce in the winter months, on behalf of striking farm workers would be outlawed. "In my opinion, this is a threat to the future of the collective bargaining process."

"The Farm Workers' Union is more important than ever. Together, we can make a difference."

"If you have any questions, you can contact me."

"Thank you for your support."

Jackson wants to know why there are scheduled flights out of the airport now, if it is safe from an air-fighting standpoint. Opponents say that the aircraft create less pollution than if every dorm were to house its own private jet. The Pilots’ Association says that the additional surface traffic created by expanded airport service would more than make up for the lack of passengers’ cars.

Jackson referred to the Dolittle Commission Report, issued in 1969, which recommended a clear zone around an airport at least two miles long and 500 feet wide. He contends that the recommendation has allowed airlines to land to the point where it violates those recommendations.

The Pilots’ Association says that the report was never adopted by the Federal Aviation Administration and that the airline industry, in an attempt to keep students living in dorms, schools may install academic and administrative facilities. Cal Poly has rented Tenaya Hall with a possibility of 877 students into administrative offices. Cal Poly has more dorms to come. It is likely a lot more dorms will close in the future.

I believe that it is the changing face of today’s students that are the biggest reason dormitory vacancies. Students desire to combine a way of life with school and not letting the school be the way of life. People are searching for individuality.

Controversy, Civil Rights and creative photography will be the topics of lectures to be presented by the Convocation Series.

All talks will begin at 7:00 p.m. with the first one to be given by Robert Andry, author of three controversial books on the news of the man. He will speak on May 31. Andry has written three books in which he attacks the conventional ideas of evolution and society. His books are “African Genesis” (1961), “The Territorial Imperative” (1986), and “The Social Contract” (1910).

Coordinator named to elect
Robert Nimmo

Misa Jan Christiansen, a journalism major, was named today as the campus coordinator of the committee to elect Bob Nimmo in the State Assembly from the 19th district.

Active in numerous campus activities, including the Young Voters For The President, Jan also serves on the editorial staff of El Mustang, the campus daily newspaper.

Jan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Brunel Christiansen, a pioneer ranching family of Modoc county. Her father was named recently as state director of agriculture by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

She is urging fellow students to participate in the election process by studying the candidates as well as the issues in preparing to cast their ballots in the general election on Nov. 7th.

The clearest choice for a generation

So McGovern can't win, eh? Where have you heard that before?

In the primaries last Spring, that's where.

But you fooled the political experts and rewrote the history books. You provided the manpower and womanpower for the largest, smoothest, toughest vote-canvasing operation this country had ever seen.

Now it's time to do it again.

And the job this Fall is even more important. For the choice between Nixon and McGovern is the clearest choice voters have had for a generation.

McGovern has opposed the bombing of Indochina, while Nixon has been inflicting the exploding equivalent of 7 Hiroshima atom bombs a month on a that-ready devastated area.

Nixon believes in putting people out of work in order to hold down prices. His policies have put 2 million more people out of work.

McGovern believes that there should be a job for everyone who wants to work, with the U.S. Government itself as the employer of last resort.

Nixon started his campaign with $10 million in secret money.
McGovern’s campaign is financed almost entirely by contributions of $8 to $28 from the people.

Nixon has nominated conservatives and mediocrities to the United States Supreme Court.
One or two more Nixon appointments if he is re-elected, and you'll live with a heavy-handed Nixon court for the rest of your life.

McGovern has pledged to appoint a woman and members of racial and ethnic minorities, and will appoint highly qualified liberals.

Ralph Nader says the Nixon Administration is “the most corrupt in our history.” The late Robert Kennedy called George McGovern “the most decent man in the Senate.”

McGovern wants the millionaires and the large corporations to start paying their fair share of taxes. Nixon wants to maintain the status quo.

Get an absentee ballot if you need one. Get some money together to help us make get-out-the-vote phone calls. And get together with your local McGovern Committee to find out how you can help.

You started this campaign. It's up to you to finish it.

Send money while there's still time!
Help us buy get-out-the-vote phone calls.

Age of McGovern:

McGovern is 52 years old.

He was born in 1925.

He has been in public service since before the current administration.

He has been a labor organizer, a pacifist, a professor, a writer, a legislator, and a federal judge.

He has a degree in law from Yale University.

He is married to Eleanor McGovern.

She is a lawyer and author.

They have three children.

Propositions are studied

Prop. 8
A "Yes" vote on this legislative constitutional amendment is a vote to authorize the legislature, by a majority vote, to exempt from taxation, in whole or in part, air, water, and noise pollution control facilities from property taxation, with one provision of local governments for taxes thereby lost.

A "No" vote, according to the legislative analyst, is a vote against granting this authority to the legislature.

Under the existing provisions of the constitution, the legislature may exempt real property from property taxation only where the constitution specifically authorizes the exemption.

The legislature may exempt personal property from taxation only where the constitution specifically authorizes the exemption.

This measure would authorize the legislature, by majority vote, to exempt from taxation, in whole or in part, air, water, or noise pollution control facility. Such facility would be defined to mean any structure which produces little or no pollution; any plant or facility with filters, etc., which is part of an effort to control the pollution.

To pass, the measure must have the approval of the voters, the one receiving the majority vote in the county, city, or special district for which the exemption is proposed.

Supporters of the measure argue that the measure is a vote to permit schools to be safe by mid-1976 if they are not allowed to be abandoned or made unsafe by mid-1979 if they are not replaced.

Prop. 9
According to the legislative analyst, a "Yes" vote on this legislative constitutional amendment is a vote to authorize the legislature, by a simple majority vote, to exempt all school buildings in California.

Supporters of the measure contend a "yes" vote on the measure would "allow California's school districts to meet the legislative mandate that all school buildings in the state 30 or more years ago be brought up to earthquake resistant standards. The children in many of these buildings will be made last and memorable gifts. Try this year.

HOMECOMING EQUESTRIANS

Riding winners named

Dale, with Vive Honey, her Apache mare, won the Intercollegiate showmanship class; her high-point trophy, however, was awarded to her winnings in the "open" division. She acquired 19 points in open classes as well as 13 points for the Intercollegiate team.

Melinda Gill, riding both Tailer Queen and Be In Time, acquired 24 points for the team after winning both Western equitation points and pleasure, and stock horse. The last Intercollegiate class - trail - was won by Lydie Peck, riding her Arabella, Rebeka. Lydie's Intercollegiate points totaled 31, which she accumulated in six classes.

The two other team members, Debbie Buage, on Aim n' Fire, and Jeri Tomson on Late Deal, acquired 18 points and 4 points respectively.

The University's horse show team revived the high-point plaque, having won every intercollegiate event. It was surely a most successful show.

Soccer retraction

Don't believe everything you read...

In a soccer feature article which appeared in the Homecoming edition of Mustang, the writer talked about the "hard physical contact" and block which he associated with a good soccer game.

Mustang coach Carmen Sacco says that "soccer is basically a non-contact sport. It requires mostly skill with the body - especially the feet."

Sacco says that soccer is not supposed to be rough... that it requires endurance much more than raw physical strength.

Bike will be peddled for Rose float donations

"We're trying for our ninth consecutive major award and we think we've got a chance," says Jim Cottrell, member of the Rose Float Committee.

To finance this year's Monster Matinee entry, the committee is selling buttons commemorating the 88th year of joint participation by the Cal and UC universities.

Besides contributing to the float and getting a button, the purchaser will also be eligible to win a 10-speed bicycle donated by San Luis Obispo Transit Authority.

The buttons are available from committee members, at the CU information desk, and at San Luis Obispo Transit Authority until Nov. 17. The bicycle will be awarded Nov. 30.

Strong scrum positions filled

After tying (or the Southern California Rugby Football Union Championship last year, coach Dave Ritchie anticipates an even greater season this year. Open to all interested male students, Ritchie expects to have two teams this year, the second team made up primarily of freshmen.

Starting their new season January 13 against the Be Hawks, Ritchie is confident in the ability of returning veterans Vic Eckardt, Vic Rivera, Ian McPhee, and Mark Bandel. Each of these veterans are former Mustang football greats and are now showing their skill on the rugby field as well. The four will anchor a strong scrum.

"I feel the backbone will be our strongest asset," said Ritchie. Although riddled with injuries last year, Steve Anderson, Jim Husserman and Ritchie will all be returning from recent knee surgery. So far, according to Ritchie, things look pretty good. Taking care of the back positions will be Jim Goddard, Shayne Wallace, Mike Miller and Fred Sawatsky.

More recent graduates of the football field are Mike Church, and Nick Westa.

White House: No secret fund

Washington (UPI) -- The White House denied Wednesday that President Nixon's campaign committee ever maintained a secret fund to finance political espionage or that Nixon's chief of staff, H.R. Haldeman, was ever questioned by the FBI about political spying or sabotage.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler attacked the Washington Post which reported in today's edition that a federal grand jury said Haldeman was authorized to approve payments from a secret cash fund created for political security operations. Ziegler said Haldeman never "had access to funds as reported in the Post," and that Haldeman had never been questioned by the FBI, as the Post also reported.

And he added, "I'm told that there is no such secret fund."
False economy: A threat to America’s finest higher education system.

Every UC, state and private university and college student knows that the present administration is diverting tax money to other purposes at the expense of higher education. As a matter of record, many departments have been reduced and, in some cases, entirely eliminated. President Hitch of UC confirms that many top faculty members have already fled to greener pastures.

Governor Reagan likes to put the blame for campus unrest on the administration and faculty while, at the same time, making it impossible for them to operate effectively.

A positive reply.

Now, those of voting age can answer in a positive way.

You can protect the quality of your own education by supporting a reasonable and logical answer to the political games that threaten to destroy a great educational system.

You can work for, and vote for Proposition 15, the State Pay Amendment, on November 7...

What’s 15 all about?

Proposition 15 is not one of the emotional, glamour issues on this year’s ballot, but as a student, faculty member, or support service employee, it is of critical importance to you.

Proposition 15 will see that faculty members, other college personnel, and 115,000 other state employees receive the same average pay as others doing similar work in private industry, or at comparable colleges and universities.

Did you know that UC salaries now rank 76th in the United States when they used to be among the top ten?

Can this happen to California’s great universities and state colleges? Is it too late to reverse the trend?

"...University of California President Charles J. Hitch claimed that low salaries had destroyed faculty morale, and many top-level professors were leaving the University for better-paying jobs. In addition, he charged, the vacancies could not be filled."

- CITY NEWS SERVICE

Los Angeles, Jan. 31, 1972

Takes politics off the payroll.

Proposition 15 will remove politics from the state payroll once and for all. Recommendations for pay scales will follow study by skilled wage analysts—a scientific approach, not a meat cleaver approach.

Finally, these recommendations will become part of the state budget, but still subject to legislative review and approval.

Ends walkout threat.

Employee walkouts? That threat will be a thing of the past under Proposition 15. There will be no reason to walk. Salaries will be at parity. All other disputes will be settled by voluntary, binding arbitration, the method used by progressive labor-management across the nation. Talking is much better than walking.

You are all familiar with the history of collective bargaining in the American labor movement. After a long and bitter struggle in the 1930’s, collective bargaining became a basic right enjoyed by millions of union members. Public employees in 21 other states and in many California cities and counties also have that right, but not California state employees. They will have their Magna Carta under Proposition 15.

Proposition 15 makes the state live up to its own commitment in Government Code Section 16400, calling for parity pay, and Gov. Reagan’s own campaign pledge of 1966.

Does not raise taxes.

Best of all, absolutely no tax increase is required by Proposition 15. The State General Fund now has an unappropriated surplus of more than $800 million—far in excess of the $75 million or less needed to take care of any and all adjustments in state pay levels.

Stop the destruction derby.

Let’s stop wrecking our state universities and colleges with cutbacks, pay slashes, and phony savings! Don’t turn our campuses into intellectual deserts!

What you can do...

Faculty and other campus personnel have endured this abusive treatment long enough. They were the most likely targets of a Governor looking for new ways to punish students. You can help to make your professors and other college employees first-class citizens again. You can help to return our universities and colleges to their former status.

To save our schools, retain our best professors, keep our colleges strong...

Vote YES on 15 State Pay Amendment Nov. 7

Californians for YES on 15

Officially endorsed by the Democratic Party of California
Bill Cosby once admitted he saw little in the sport of cross country that appealed to him. He said, "I could never figure out why anybody would want to run eight miles just to make themselves feel better." Cosby further remarked that the reason there are never any spectators at the finish line in a cross country meet is due to "all the counting." The fact is, spectators are seldom found anywhere at cross country competition. Unbeknownst to the runner in a track meet, whatever everything that happens along the way is classified. But, in a cross country meet, courses are laid out through the streets where it is unusual to find any form of animal life, let alone humans. For those who like to run, the rewards must come from within, even if it's the mere satisfaction of knowing you did a good job. Cross country is not the place for the super athlete who thrills to the roar of the crowd. Bridges pointed out, the sport is not even for the dandy, "It's a sport for the frustrated athlete, who couldn't make it in something else. It doesn't require a specific skill, just a lot of determination and running. A runner has to be able to perform well without having the people in the stands. He has to be an introvert and a misanthropist." The possibilities of making a successful story along the line of a kid getting out of a cast, climbing out of his bed and going out to win a race are nil. And the natural athlete who can party all night long and knock baseballs to the centerfield wall the next morning would die in a pile in a cross country meet. "There's just no such thing as a surprise runner in this sport," Bridges said factly, "you've got to work out." Some people have said that maybe running over hill and dale is really not all that bad. "Those runners see the most beautiful scenery along the beaches and in among the trees," the casual observers contend, "running cross country for time is like eating caviar for protein." Not so says Bridges. "Running takes total concentration. "It's a tortoise looking around at the scenery, he stops thinking about what he's doing and begins to feel back." He says, run, run, run...and think of nothing but running while they do it. When they cross the finish line it may be after dark and everybody may be gone, but no matter. When your team is undefeated, who cares about having somebody around to watch you throw up?"
