To vote or not to vote—is that a question?

You should vote today. Your vote can make a difference.

For the first time today the under-21-set will have direct voice in government by voting in a general election. The majority of the California voting populace has realized individuals in their late teens (like Blacks...like women) have minds and are concerned and can deal with political logic. But don't let a blanket label sway you. If you want to enjoy youth without burdensome responsibility a little longer, enjoy it today. Don't vote. Your vote can make a difference.

On the ballot today will be 22 propositions and two county ordinances. Some say this is the longest list of the most ambiguous propositions in the history of this state. If you were overwhelmed by the 108-page "Proposed Amendments to Constitution" booklet jam-packed with arguments in favor of, rebuttals to arguments in favor of, arguments against, and rebuttals to arguments against the 22 propositions, then throw away your general election notice, too.

Also on the ballot are 18 choices for the six county, state and national offices. It was important this year to listen to the candidates and yet keep in mind that all campaign promises don't turn into actualities. And there wasn't really much offered for the moderates this year. No. Don't vote. Not if you are poorly informed about the candidates or uncertain about your own political philosophy. Remember, your vote can make a difference.

To vote or not to vote— is that a question? Kite flying is fun. A kite can be supported by any wind lifting it up into the sky. But the power of one vote gets tangled up in other people's lives. Don't cast your vote to any political wind just because someone gave it to you and you think you have to do something with it. It isn't yours alone, you know.

Voting is a right. Voting is a basic, unalienable right—that should be treated as a privilege. If you were too busy being a student and being young to really seek out intrinsic qualities about the propositions, ordinances and candidates, then don't exercise this privilege.

If you like being young and don't feel you are ready to vote today, take in a Walt Disney movie instead and help prevent this from turning into a Mickey Mouse election.

If you care, vote today. If you don't care, then don't vote. Your vote can make too big a difference.

Paul Tokunaga, ASI Coordinator of Communications, said the contest was held because of a suggestion from ASI Business Manager Roy Gersten to have a new seal for the Associated Students, noting that they belong to a university. The winner will receive a $60 cash prize.

Pomona calls for a duel

by ROBIN SHEFFIELD

You've heard of the rivalry between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.

You've heard of the rivalry between environmentalists and urban planners. Between the offices of a sign painter and a graphic artist. Between a heavy-equipment operator and a landscaper. Yet perhaps the most significant rivalry in the world is between the oil companies and the environmentalists. The tug-of-war will take place on the football field this fall when the Cal Poly BSO vs. Cal Poly Pomona game is played.

The tug-o-war is the result of a friendly annual "rivalry" between the two universities, in the form of a tug-of-war.

The tug-o-war will be the grand finale to the football season, and will be decided by the number of team members pulling on the rope. The team with the most team members will win.

The integrity of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo has been challenged by a sign-emblazoned school along the freeway in Pomona which has the nerve to call itself Cal Poly, too. Steve Cox, Campus Affairs Commissioner at California State Polytechnic University in Pomona, has issued a challenge to start a "friendly annual rivalry" between the two universities, in the form of a tug-of-war.

The tug-o-war will take place on the football field this fall when the Cal Poly BSO vs. Cal Poly Pomona game is played. A trophy, provided by the Pomona campus, would be kept by the winners until the following year.

Cox is asking for one member from each chartered club to comprise the team. There will be an equal number of contestants on each team. The losers, he said, will be pulled through a "delightfully appropriate mess," tentatively set at 100 gallons of jelly, which Pomona has offered to provide.

WOW Week: seeking new improvements

After completing a very successful 1973 fall week of welcome program, and with only a couple of weeks to catch their breath, a group of zealous WOW counselors are already preparing for next year's program.

The goal of WOW is to orient new students to the university in a personal way by answering their educational, social, and institutional questions, at the same time providing a friendly environment and good old-fashioned fun.

At a meeting in early October the new board was elected. Its members are compiling data to evaluate the fall program and improve upon future welcome weeks.

Members of the new board are: Mike Loudon, chairman; Bruce Brown, first vice chairman; Don Dion, second vice chairman; Linda Ashworth, recording secretary; Gay Draxler, corresponding secretary; and Gary Johnson, treasurer. Don Coates is the President's representative.

These positions remain to be filled. Publicity and social chairmen are needed along with a historian. Any student with one year of WOW experience, either as a counselor or counselor, may apply for one of these positions by signing up at the Activities Planning Center. Interviews will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 8 in College Union.

For information on 1974 Week of Welcome, contact Mike Loudon at 644-3441 or Bob Waters at 646-8471.

Denny Johnson, ASI Vice-president, will be visiting the dorms once a week to educate the student body on the functions of student government.

Beginning this week, Johnson and Roundhouse Director John Holley will go from dorm to dorm explaining what student government is, why it works, and why it is important.

Johnson said they will explain the number of services—everything from legal aid to tutoring—available to the student.

Those ID cards that were not picked up last week are available in Admin. Bldg., according to Elva Pankey in the ID card office.

The committee evaluates the effectiveness of the bookstore's operations and is responsible for making recommendations on policy and bookstore operations procedures to the Foundation Board of Directors.

The committee has the authority to remove words no longer in use today and some of the more obscure references. The result is an easier to follow play and it will be easier to follow the play off to Washington D.C. Success at this level would send the play to Nevada, Arizona, and Hawaii. Netters win a pair

The men's volleyball team of the school turned in an impressive performance against the Hanford Volleyball Club here Sunday, as the 'A' team won two and the 'B' team of the win.

Women grab volleyball wins

In women's volleyball action this weekend the 'A' team pulled off Occidental Friday but fell to a powerful UCLA team the following day, and the 'B' team picked up two wins, one against Occidental and one from the University of San Diego. Both teams won their best-of-three series in the Occidental encounter but the 'A' team had a rougher go of it, losing the first and coming from behind to win the final two games. The 'B' team won handily, sweeping their opponent throughout the second game, 15-10. Captain Max Boveri was pretty happy with the afternoon and felt the game was a good morale booster for the team. "The team played together more as a unit than a group of individuals, something we will be striving to improve throughout the season," he said.

Both teams won their beat-of-three games to USD but came back to win a pair of games. In woman's volleyball action the Mustang 'A's swept by the University of San Diego, won handily, sweeping their opponent, and come from behind to beat the Woman grab a perennial power In volleyball, losing two in a row, 15-10. Following the 'B' game, winning the first, the Mustang 'A's swept by with the game being a good morale booster for the team. "The team played together more as a unit than a group of individuals, something we will be striving to improve throughout the season," he said. But Boveri admitted the team was far from ready for the winter, when the volleyball season reaches its peak.

Students interested in officializing local high school basketball games are urged to attend a meeting of the Northern Channel Coast Officials Thursday night in the Allan Hancock College gymnasium at 7 p.m. in Santa Maria. A second meeting will be held Saturday for instructional purposes according to Dr. Jim Crabbe, an instructor in the Men's Physical Education Dept. "The training session is scheduled to go all night and should last till about four," said Crabbe. There will be a testing meeting Nov. 30 to select the officials for the season. All of the meetings will be conducted in the Hancock College gymnasium.
