Animal shelter authorities in San Luis Obispo say that between 16,000 and 18,000 dogs were put to sleep in 1973. They cite the rise in the dog population as the major source of the problem, and suggest that sterilizing dogs is one of the best solutions to the canine "population explosion."

CHEAPER Vegetarianism

While the meat boycott was a temporary and partial solution to the meat crisis, another concrete and feasible answer to the current problem is vegetarianism. Unless strict vegetarianism is considered, which excludes dairy products, a good nutritional diet would have to be very carefully planned. But according to Mrs. Marilyn Luke, home economics and foods instructor here, the nutritional content of meat and fish can be easily supplemented with foods such as milk, cheese, and grains.

"A healthy vegetarian diet is simply a good combination of foods," said Mrs. Luke. She added that soy beans and corn alone are substantial meat substitutes. Her only caution to those choosing such a diet was to make sure a good combination was maintained. She suggested the book Diet for a Full Planet by Frances Moore Lappe which contains many vegetarian recipes and is available in the campus bookstore.

Frank Ashton, a junior here, said his past three years of vegetarianism has reduced his weekly food bill to $10 and he eats three hearty meals daily.

"I want the students to become more sensitive," Bostrom said.
Censorship—voluntary and senseless

Censorship is a dirty word—and one often used too lightly. The ASI Films Committee has a membership of 17 students and administrative advisors. They meet weekly with the express purpose of censoring by selection what movies will be shown on campus throughout the year. It is a form of censorship that few complain about.

Wednesday morning a small group of people watched a film and decided to advise Pres. Robert Kennedy that the movie should not be seen on campus. There is little doubt that the president will accept the recommendation.

In effect, then, a dozen people have decided that 11,000 students will not see "The Beat of the First Annual New York Erotic Film Festival." And that is censorship—the kind that film be shown in effect, then, a dozen people have decided that 11,000 students will not see "The Beat of the First Annual New York Erotic Film Festival." It is censorship, the kind that has already begun to fill the Mustang Daily mailbox with letters to the editor.

Student urges ‘objectionable’ film be shown

At this enlightened place of learning, 11 members of a preview board will decide whether "erotic" is "suitable" for the other 11,000 students. If we want to get to the real nitty-gritty, President Kennedy will ultimately decide what we can watch.

Back in 1966-67 when I was chairman of the Fine Arts Committee the same thing happened. We were not allowed to show "questionable" films without first previewing the flicks. So we'd have our meetings, observe the films and then decide to show the films. In some cases we had to install the intelligence of our audience by announcing that if any of them might be offended by objectionable, excuse me, explicit films that they could leave and that their money would be refunded. Never happened.

It is student money that is slated to bring the "Erotic Film Festival" to campus. The request for a review board came from the administration, however, not from the likes of women being the equal of men. Maybe he fears the competition (possibly he feels that he would lose in a fair evaluation for employment or something)

Whatever his problems are, I pity him, for the poor twisted little person that he is. If he feels that the ideas held by the supporters of Women's Lib (and there are many more than he realizes) would force him to go live in a monastic world with other men this is all well and good. For I would much rather live with a woman who loves me than live with other men.

Vegetarian diet may substitute for meat...

It is student "welfare" that is at question, yet students could not freely enter the meeting to observe criteria used in the decision.

It is student planning that is involved, yet two-thirds of the board were non-students.

When the ASI Films Committee students voted to bring the film to campus, perhaps they made a mistake or a decision that students in general would not have agreed with.

Pres. Kennedy, please leave my mind alone in this matter. Thanks.

Women lauds liberation need

In retaliation to the most eloquent statement made by a gentleman in your column of Tuesday, April 10, I would like to say that this man is blind to the reality of the women's movement.

His negative attitude probably stems from misinformation or over-possessive mother. In any event I suggest that he tries this...

But when the administration decided to baby-sit morality they made an even larger mistake—that of senseless censorship.
Representative Gayland Berry will be on campus today and Friday. He will interview seniors interested in working overseas in countries such as Bangladesh, Laos, and Algeria in fields such as agricultural engineering, crops, mechanical agriculture, and others.

Rich Harvey, an agriculture major and the local IVS representative, was placed in Laos 30 miles from the Ho Chi Minh trail. Rich and other IVS workers experimented with improving agricultural methods in rice production and fertilization. Rich felt their particular accomplishment was introducing the foot-truddle thrasher to replace previous hand threshing methods. Their further activities were running a demonstration farm, administration of American aid, and distribution of mail, and special community problems that arose.

IVS is a private, non-profit organization which has been sending volunteers overseas since 1933. It is not under government controls so is able to enter countries where Vista is not politically accepted. Most volunteers are from the United States, but IVS is now recruiting technical specialists in a variety of fields. Though most volunteers are from the U.S., there is an effort to have multi-national representation.

For further Information contact Rich Harvey, Tenaya Hall at the office of International Education or call 899-2147.

Students get involved

Jane is a 44-year-old emotionally and physically handicapped adult at Avila School for functional living. Jane is one of 12,000 patients at Atascadero State Hospital. Jane is a 10-year-old with a reading problem.

We need not really one person with all these problems but Student Community Services offers students on this campus a chance to help many Jane throughout the community with a variety of problems and needs.

"Our biggest problem is letting students know that we exist," said Rocky Camp, student director. "There are many students who want to get involved with the community and are doing so through this organization."

A variety of programs need student volunteers to help keep them going and growing, according to Camp. One of the most successful programs is the tutorial project. It is broken into two projects. One half of the project involves only black children and the other half involves tutoring students from Pacheco Elementary School and Ben Luís Obispo Senior and Jr. High Schools. About 80 tutors are working in this program.

"The whole program is open to anyone who can spend a few hours a week teaching and helping children," said Camp.

"Teachers refer children to us when they are in need of help, and the child they want to help from the card file."

Another program involving work with children is the viewpoint. In this program, work with multi-handicapped children. Children are taught games, swimming and taken on tours throughout the country.

The Community Breakfast Program provides a breakfast and recreational and educational programs for children from low income families every Saturday in one of the parks. Volunteers are needed to cook the breakfast, teach games, lead field trips and transport children.

"Volunteers are really needed.

"The only bad feelings on the subject of the 24 hour visitation was the fact that Muir Hall, and one other Hall, did not get the visitation right. There was a poll that was taken and at the time, these two Halls did not show enough votes for the visitation right. Jim Finlayson, an Independent, Engineering major, who lives at Muir Hall said, "I am opposed to the limited hours still enforced at Muir Hall. We do not have 24 hour visitation, but I think it's great and wish we had it."

Historian talk slated Friday

The Science and Society Colloquium sponsored by the Physics Department will be presenting Dr. Carroll Pursell, historian at the University of California, Santa Barbara as guest speaker. His talk entitled, "The Promise of Technology Assessment," will be given Friday at 2 p.m. in the Science Building Room E-27.

Pursell will review both our government's programs assessing the technology of this century and the weaknesses in current approaches.

Dr. Pursell, who is active in and notable for studies into the nature of technology in political-historical contexts, has in recent years edited or coedited five books addressed to topics such as the military-industrial complex, politics of American science, and the impact of technology on American life and Western civilization.

Dr. Pursell will also be giving one of the lectures in the Leonardo Da Vinci celebration entitled, "The Challenge of Technology to Christianity". The lecture sponsored by the School of Communicative Arts and Humanities will be delivered at 8 p.m. on Friday in the Cal Poly Theatre.

Human Liberation

Women's right advocate Shirley Boccaccio will speak in Chumash Auditorium, Thursday night, April 11. The free program begins at 8:00 p.m. The title of her talk will be "Sex Stereotypes versus Human Liberation."

Shirley, a member of the National Organization for Women (NOW), is a multi-talented woman who became interested in the Women's Movement. She believes that human achievement is no longer an individual matter but one "where everyone must have freedom of opportunity regardless of sex, race, or national origin." Being an active member of the NOW for over two years, Shirley has contributed her time and talent in supporting its goals.

Shirley has observed that women who commit themselves to the Liberation Movement find it a great source of strength, courage, and confidence. She also feels that women must organize to effectively change the conditions that women are put into in the society today. It's part of an evolving social ethic, where NOW is trying to bring women into the mainstream of American life "in truly equal partnership with men."

Shirley has always been a women's lib activist, for she first studied art, earning her Bachelor of Arts degree from Lake Forest College, Illinois. Professionally she is a free lance artist, participating in many shows and gallery exhibits. Recently, she began combining art with writing, and she has begun designing and writing books for young children. Ms. Boccaccio feels that the present "school text books are sexist, they are degrading to the dignity of the female, as well as to the male child, and are probably violating the constitutional rights of children."

MOSE ALLISON

Mose Allison, pianist-singer-composer since the mid 1950's will perform in the Men's Gym on April 11th at 8 p.m.

Allison began his career in New York playing with Stan Getz, Gerry Mulligan, and Al Cohn and Joe Pass among other jazz men. It was with these people that he began developing his own individual and "arresting" style of vocal and piano performances. As Allison puts it, "one of the things that is most important is my approach to the interplay between the voice and the way I accompany myself."

The first album, called "I Don't Worry About A Thing," was released in 1960. Since that time he has managed to release hits "Ramble Mambas," "The Word From Mose," "Mose Alive," "Wild Man On The Loose," "I've Been Doin' Some Thinkin' " and "HELLO There, Universe."

Standing Allison are Lee Chariton on drums and Clyde Flower playing bass. As one reviewer put it, "it's not often that wisdom seems close to home. Or is so easy to swing with..."

Grad seeking seat on council

Kenneth A. Silva, city council candidate.

Some campaign issues in the San Luis Obispo City Council race have been overshadowed by the topic of AIDS education. However, one candidate is not overlooking urban problems. Kenneth Silva, a Slayer resident of San Luis Obispo, is basing his campaign on three central issues: the development of a city transportation system, the establishment of more effective planning and greater citizen participation in city government.

A recent graduate from the School of Architecture and Environmental Design at this university, Silva has worked on city and university projects studying transit problems and alternatives to the car. Silva is vice-chairman of the transportation committee and a member of the Community Advisory Board. In addition, Silva has spent a six-month internship in the management resources planning portion of Information Mater Plan Action.

According to Silva, he is seeking a council seat to initiate work on a public transportation system.

Effective city planning and citizen participation are key issues in Silva's campaign platform.

"The way the city is growing, the city staff doesn't have time to work out specific plans for development of the city. The alternatives are to beef up the city staff and receive more citizen input," Silva explained.

Asked if he could reach his objectives, if he is elected, Silva said: "I believe I could work effectively with the council to present these opinions. I'd like to be an aggressive and active councilman, doing research into each issue, so I can make the right decision."

Kay Hauser, city council candidate.

One city council candidate's name will reappear on the 1978 council ballot even if he wins on April 17. Council hopeful Ray Hauser plans to resign his seat after two years and seek re-election for the remainder of his term.

"The first hunt is scheduled for tomorrow at Chris Jasper Sen School," said Camp. "The second hunt is scheduled for Wednesday, April 18 at the United Church Care Center and the final hunt is at Avila School on Thursday, April 19." The 48-year-old instructor announced last week that he had filed a notarized document with the city clerk to present three Easter egg hunts. Forty dozen eggs will be dyed and hidden.

Intramural football ends The with Tropicanna on top

by DEBBIE WILLIAMS

The 75-73 intramural flag football season finally ended Sunday afternoon when Tropicanna was defeated by the Mob Squad. A touchdown from quarterback Larry Enoa to wide receiver Randy Ramos. Tropicanna fell behind for the first time ever when wide receiver Pat Dardone of the Mob Squad received a kickoff from Kurt Anderson and carried it 50 yards into Tropicanna territory. Split end Gary King scored a touchdown for the Mob Squad two plays later.

With five minutes remaining and the score at 19-19, Tropicanna and Rich Hawkins intercepted a Mob Squad pass intended for flanker Dan Wukmir and completed the play for a touchdown. Captain Joe Tilton scored the conversion point.

The intramural football program is developed through the intramural department on campus. Participating in the program this year, were five leagues, each of which consisted of approximately eight teams. Among such league were dorm, fraternity, and off-campus teams, the only prerequisite being that the participant be a student.

A series of eight games within each league determined the best teams of the league who would enter the playoffs. The four playoff games ended Sunday and named Tropicanna the championship team.

The undefeated Tropicanna team consisted of twelve students, most of whom are residents of Tropicanna Village. As a reflection of Tropicanna’s victorious season, the team never lost the opening toss.

Captain Joe Tilton attributes the team’s success to the close-knit relationship between the team members. “We play together and stand together; we don’t lose our composure,” said Tilton.

“The Australian Environment and Protection Programs” will be the topic of a speech by Jack C. Fraser, Regional Manager of Region III of the California Department of Fish and Game. Archie’s to study East

Venice, the Adriatic Sea, Istanbul, Turkey, Byilla, and Persia are just a few of the places visited, finally, by the students of Architecture 301, as they traced the steps of Marco Polo.

The non-western architecture class is following the medieval traveler’s steps geographically to study the specific architectural style, or “architecture of the by gone.”

The new pilot class is the first of its kind offered and is taught by Verna Swanson, and Carlton Marshall both architecture professors. The three unit class, open to anyone, is mostly a slide and lecture presentation.

The professors are using Marco Polo’s travel route as a guideline to study the architecture of the non western world. They are following Polo’s written route through the modern countries, China, Korea, Japan, Southeast Asia, and the Himalayas. However, on the water route back to Venice, the class will change the route and stop over in ancient America, taking in the architecture of Mexico and Peru.

The class looks at the architecture of each area from the beginning of history to the present time.

Stanford comes for volleyball

The Stanford University volleyball club visited here today for an 8 p.m. match with the Mustangs slated for Cranial Gym. "It should be one hell of a match," said Mustang player-coach Mike Fialaun. "They are an awesome club just like ours are and they suffer the same problems.

The host club has a season record of 13-4 and is coming off of an eighth-place finish at last year's annual 49er Tennis Classic being hosted through Saturday by California State University, Long Beach. The Mustangs, who were down 3 through six innings, battled back to score six runs in the seventh inning as they sent the game into extra innings by tying it at 10-10. The rally started when Joe Zagarlin started the rally as he got hit by a pitch, then Silvola followed with a single, and pinch hitter Ted Bailey followed with a single to drive in one run and Oreg Clark was hit by a pitch to force in another run. Second baseman Dave Oliver had a single to drive in two runs. The Mustang rally, however, fell short as the Bulldogs scored two more runs to put the game out of reach. Outfielder Zagarlin collected three hits in the loss and outfielder Marple had two hits.

ON A HIKE YOUR FEET ARE THE BEST FRIENDS YOU HAVE

Your feet carry you along the trail to get you where you want to go. As such, you should treat them right—because a failure here will make your adventure an unpleasant experience.

Boots make the difference between smiling or frowning while hiking. The currently popular "waffle stomper" boots are the fashionable replicas of hiking boots. They look like hiking boots, but lack the essentials which make a hiking boot a better shoe.

There are certain parts of hiking boots—like the Shank and the toe counter—which make them stronger and safer. These parts carry your weight while protecting your feet from abrasion (which causes fatigue and injury).

You must talk to hiking boots like that! We want you to know about boots so your outdoor adventures are not marred by hurt feet. Drop by and hear what we have to say about boots. Your toes will thank you for it.

Tennis team in 49er Classic

The Mustang tennis team started competition today at the 10th annual 49er Classic being hosted this weekend by California State University, Long Beach. The 4-day event will see competitors from Pepperdine (the Mustangs' first opponent); California State University at Fullerton, Northridge, San Diego, Fresno, Los Angeles, and Long Beach; UC Santa Barbara and Irvine; Arizona; Redlands; University of San Diego; Utah; and University of Washington. The final of the elimination tournament will be played Saturday at the Billy Jean King Tennis Stadium.
